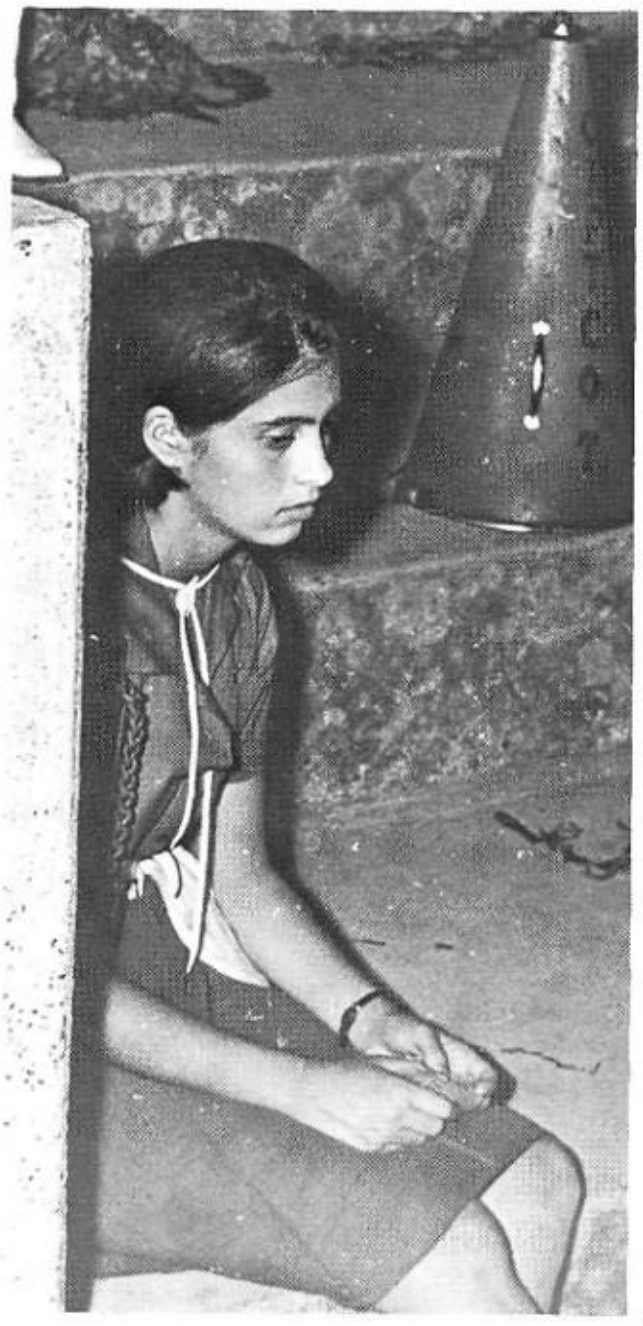
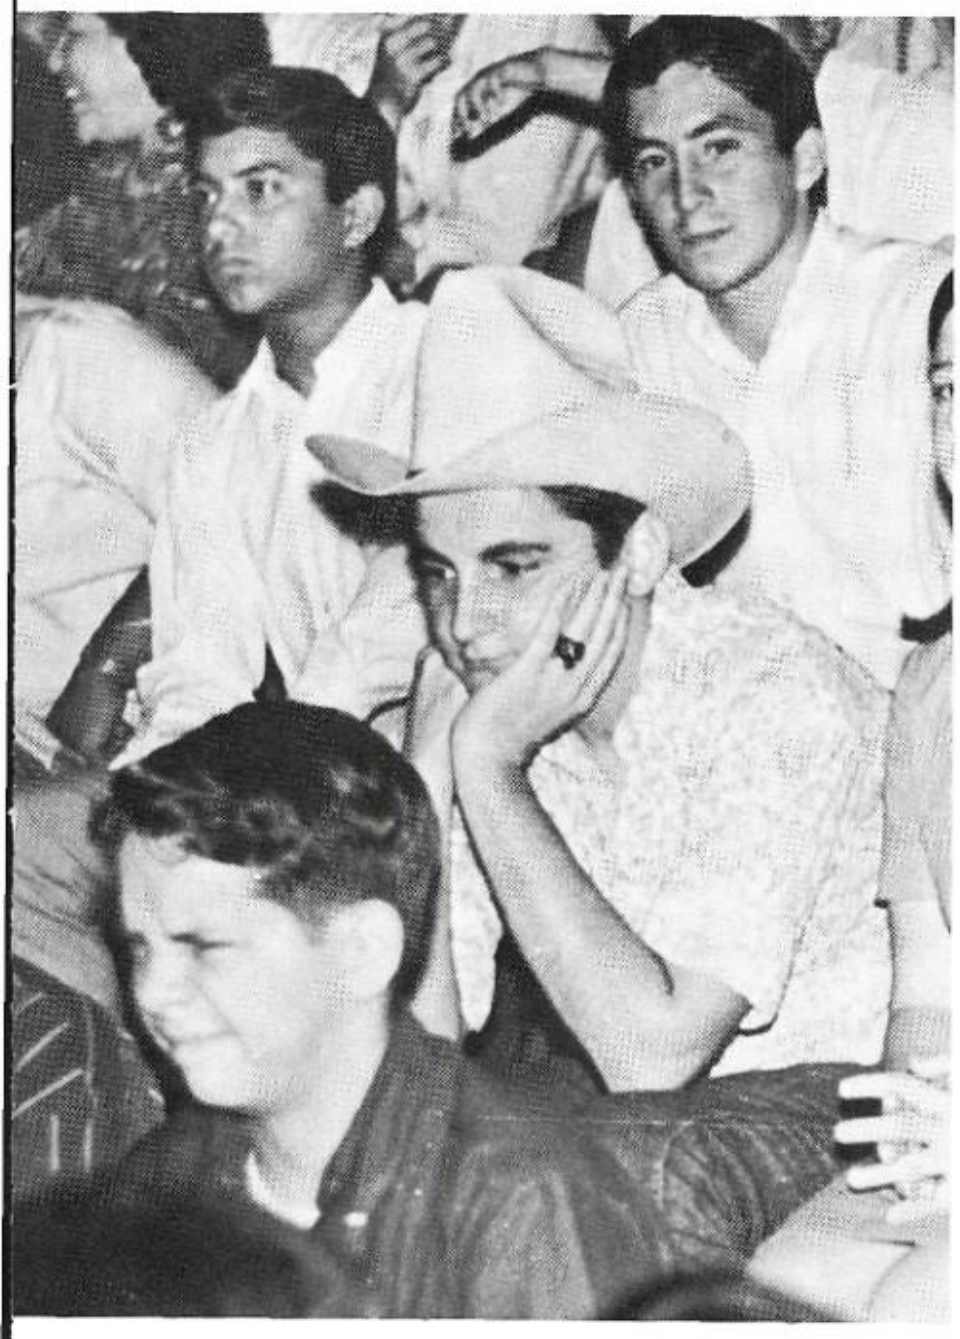
A confluence of teachers benefits students in their search for knowledge.

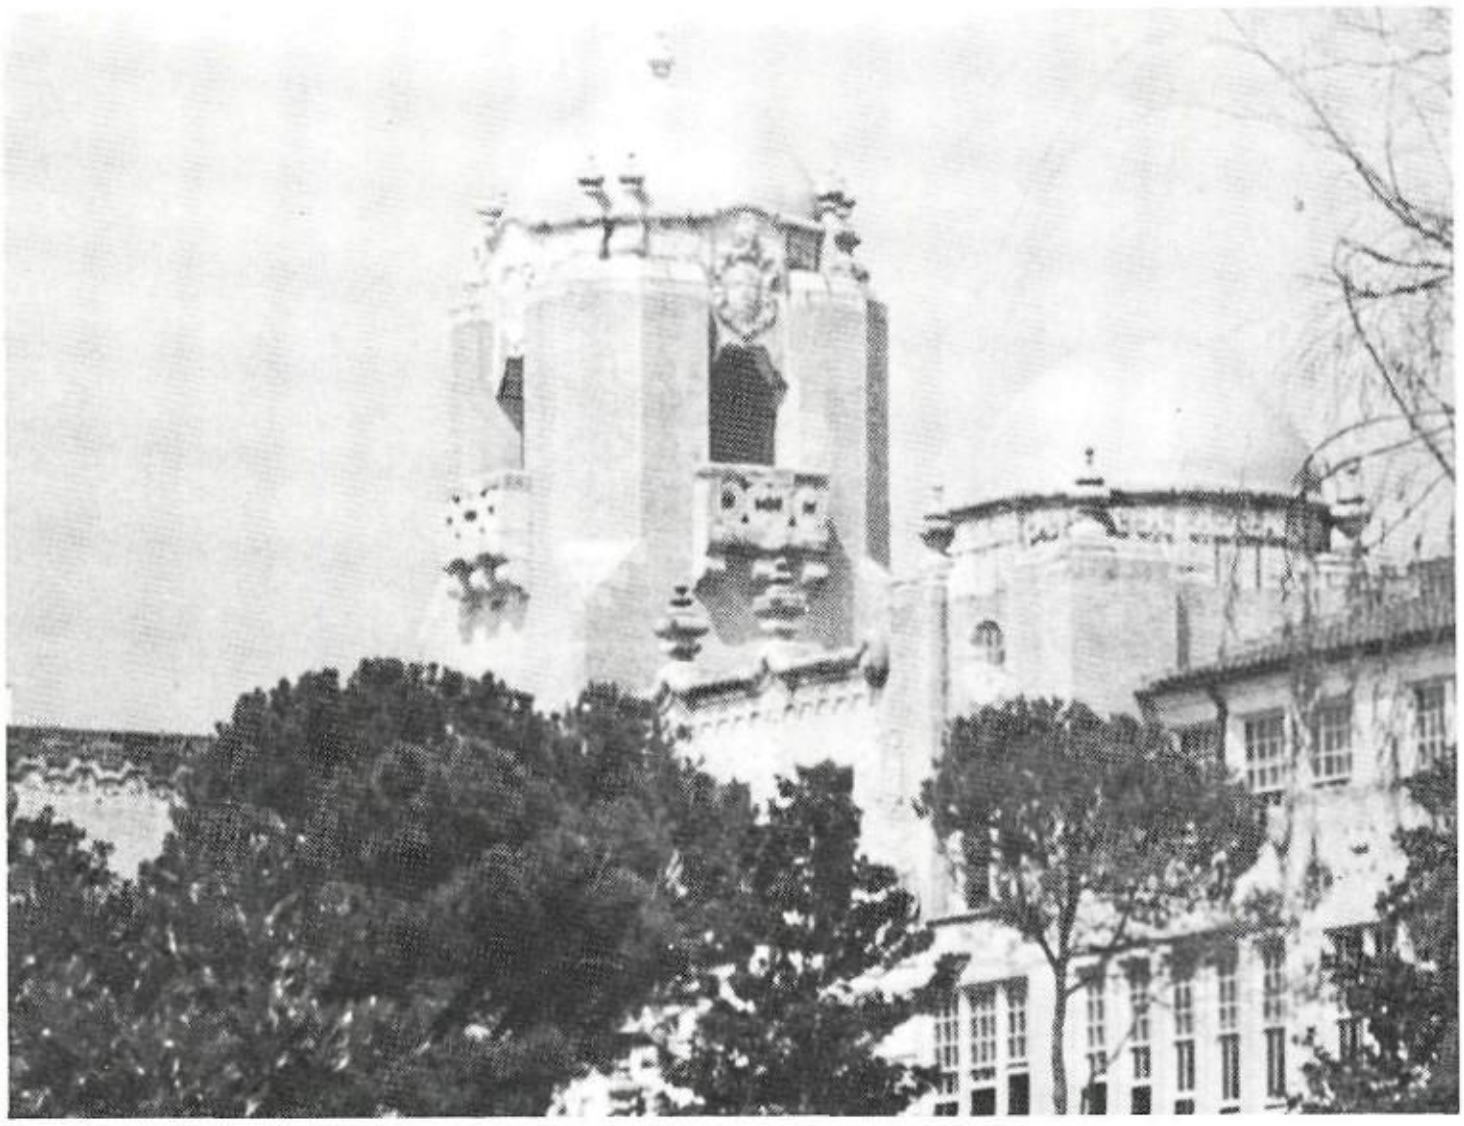
JOYCE

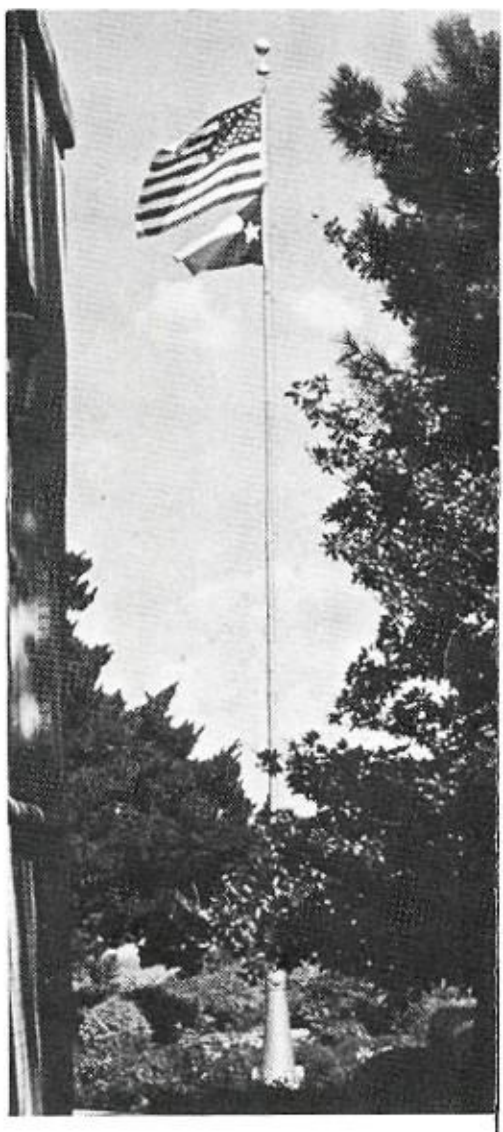


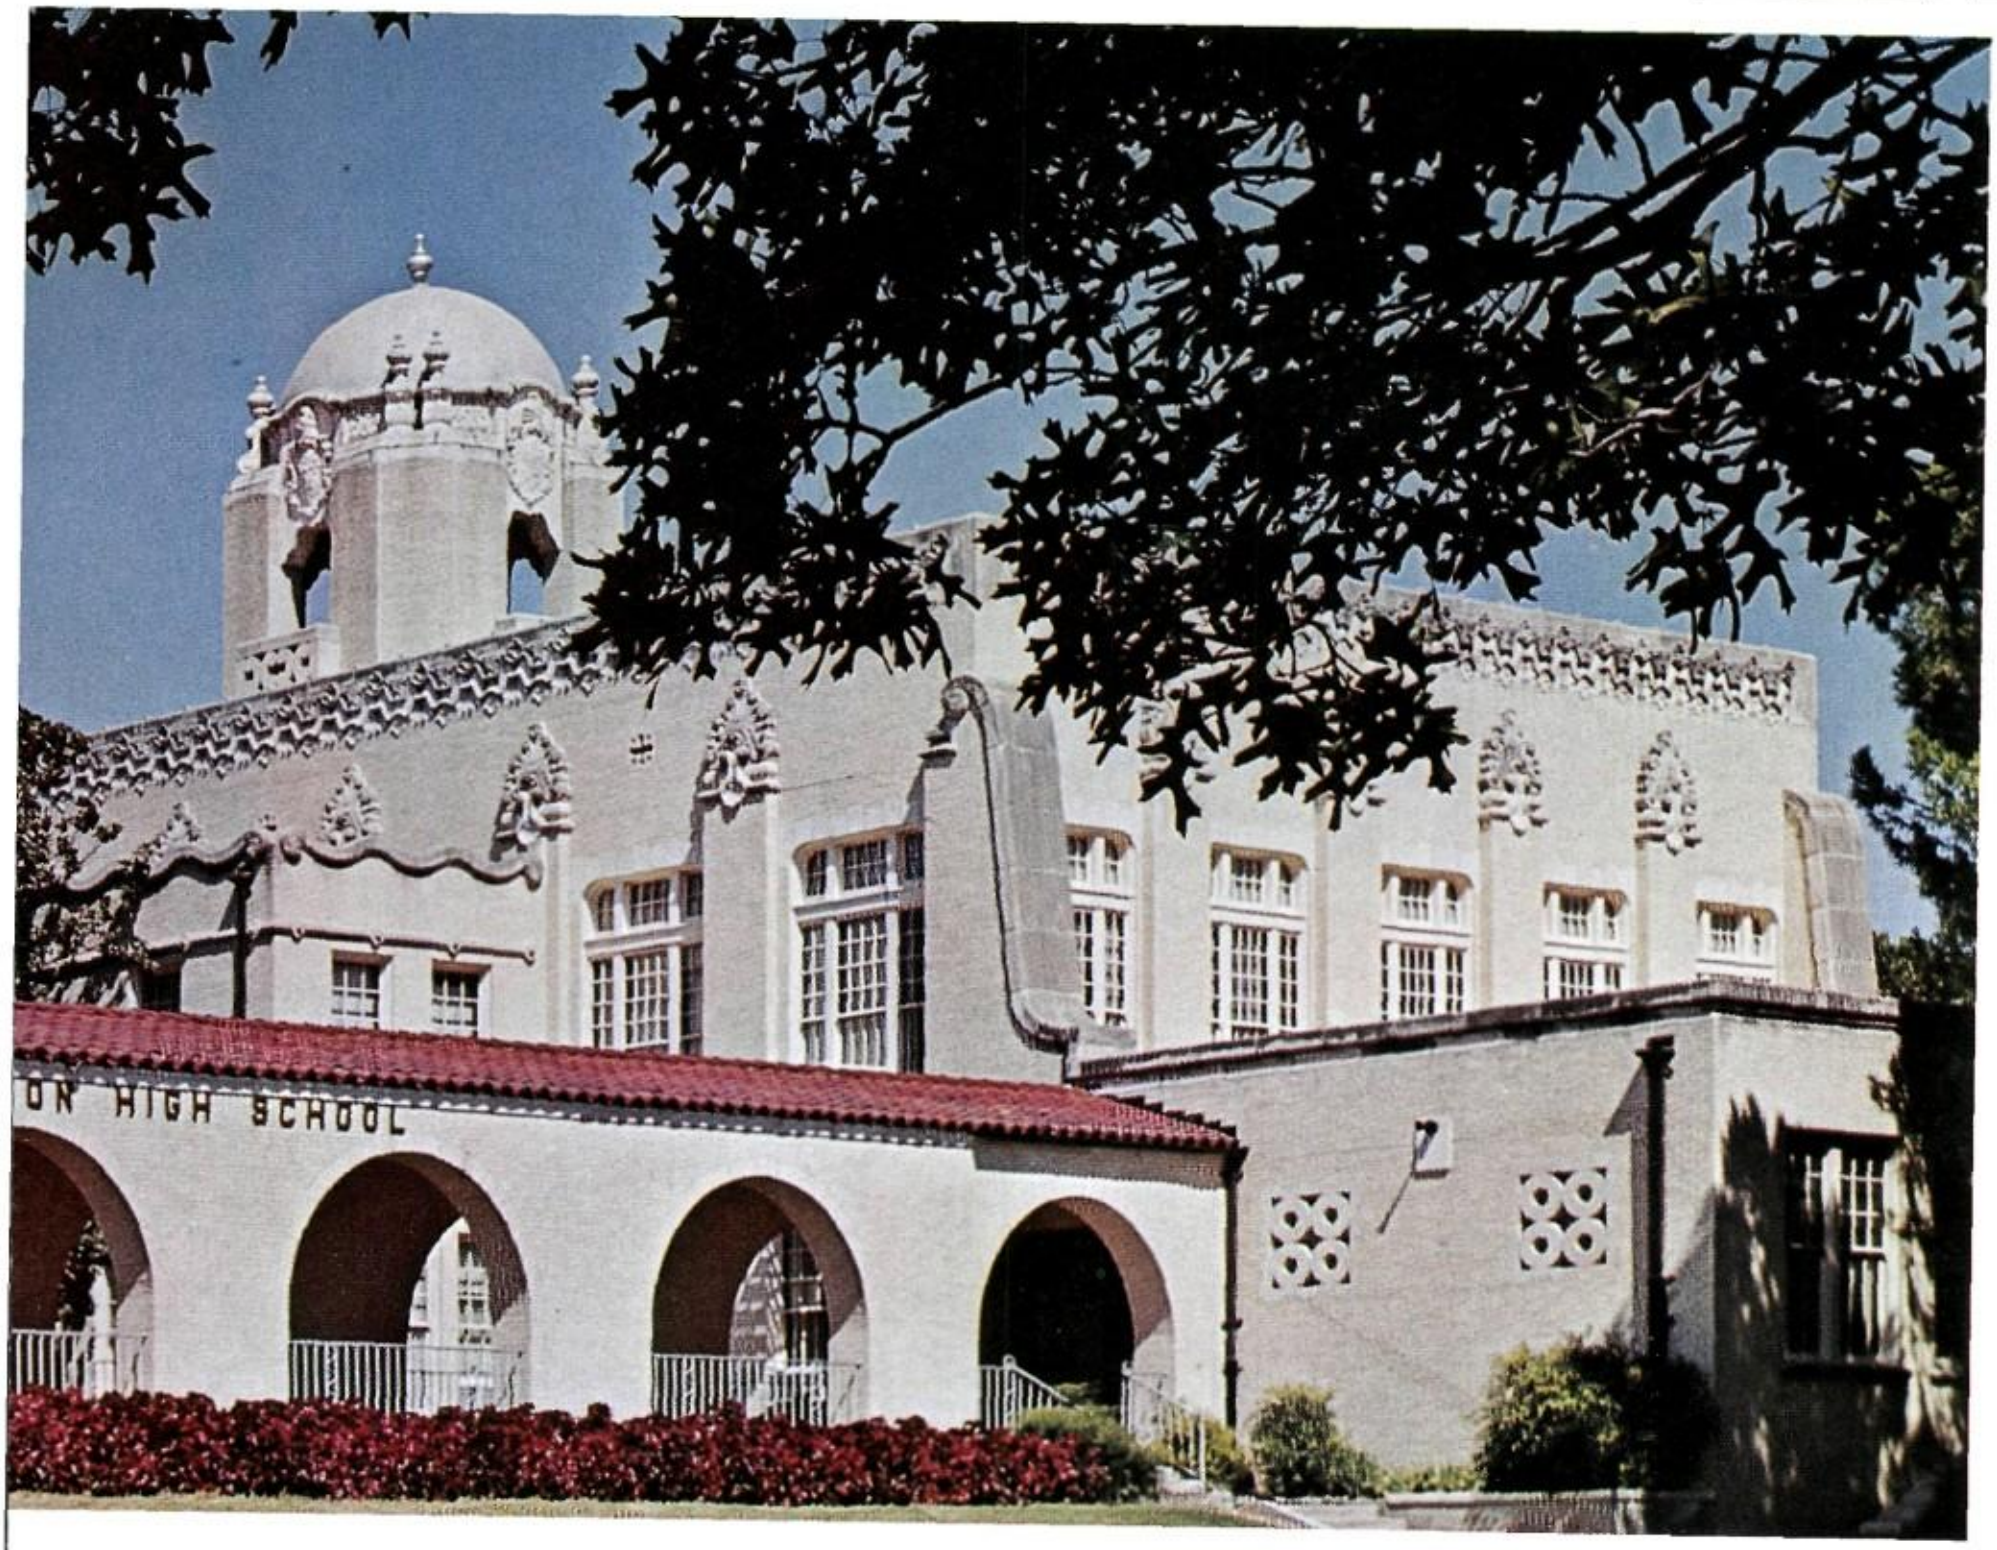


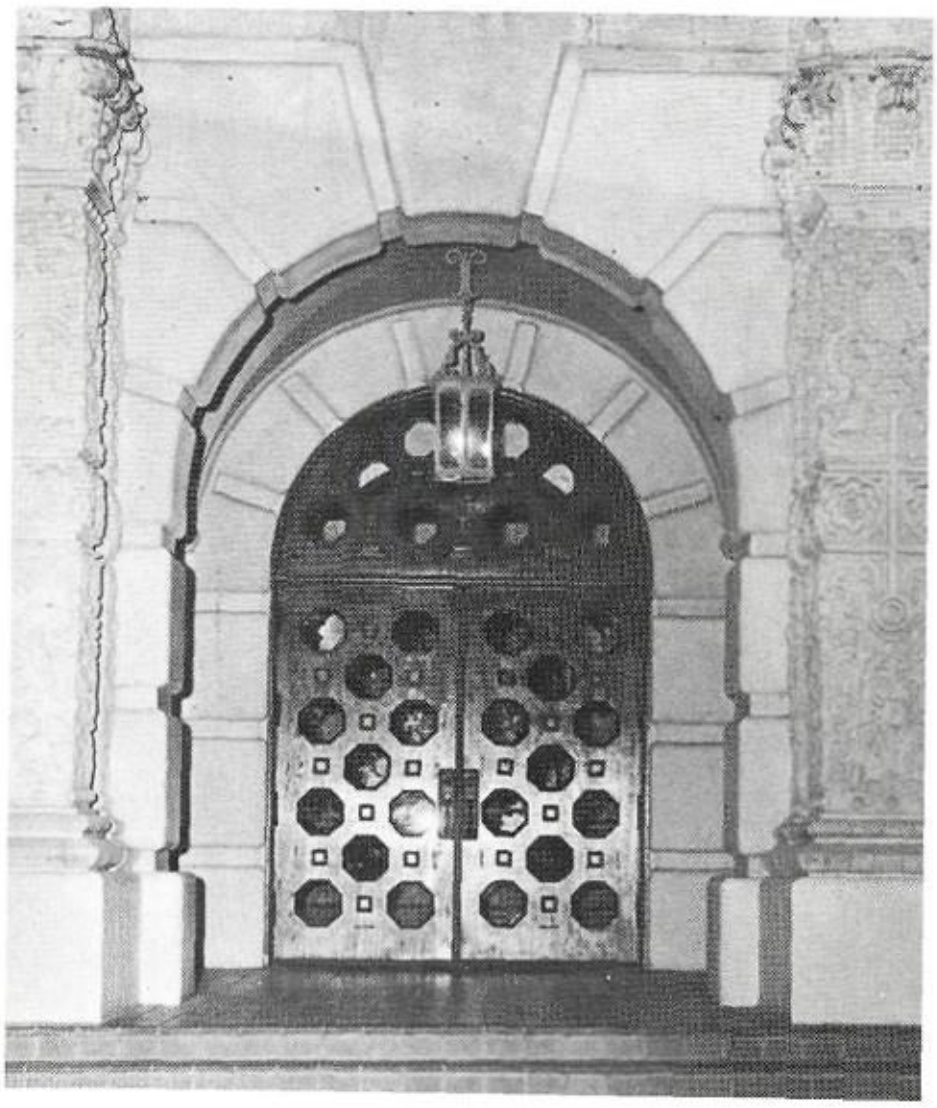
A confluence of students shares the trials of life as they prepare for the future.

THOMAS JEFF



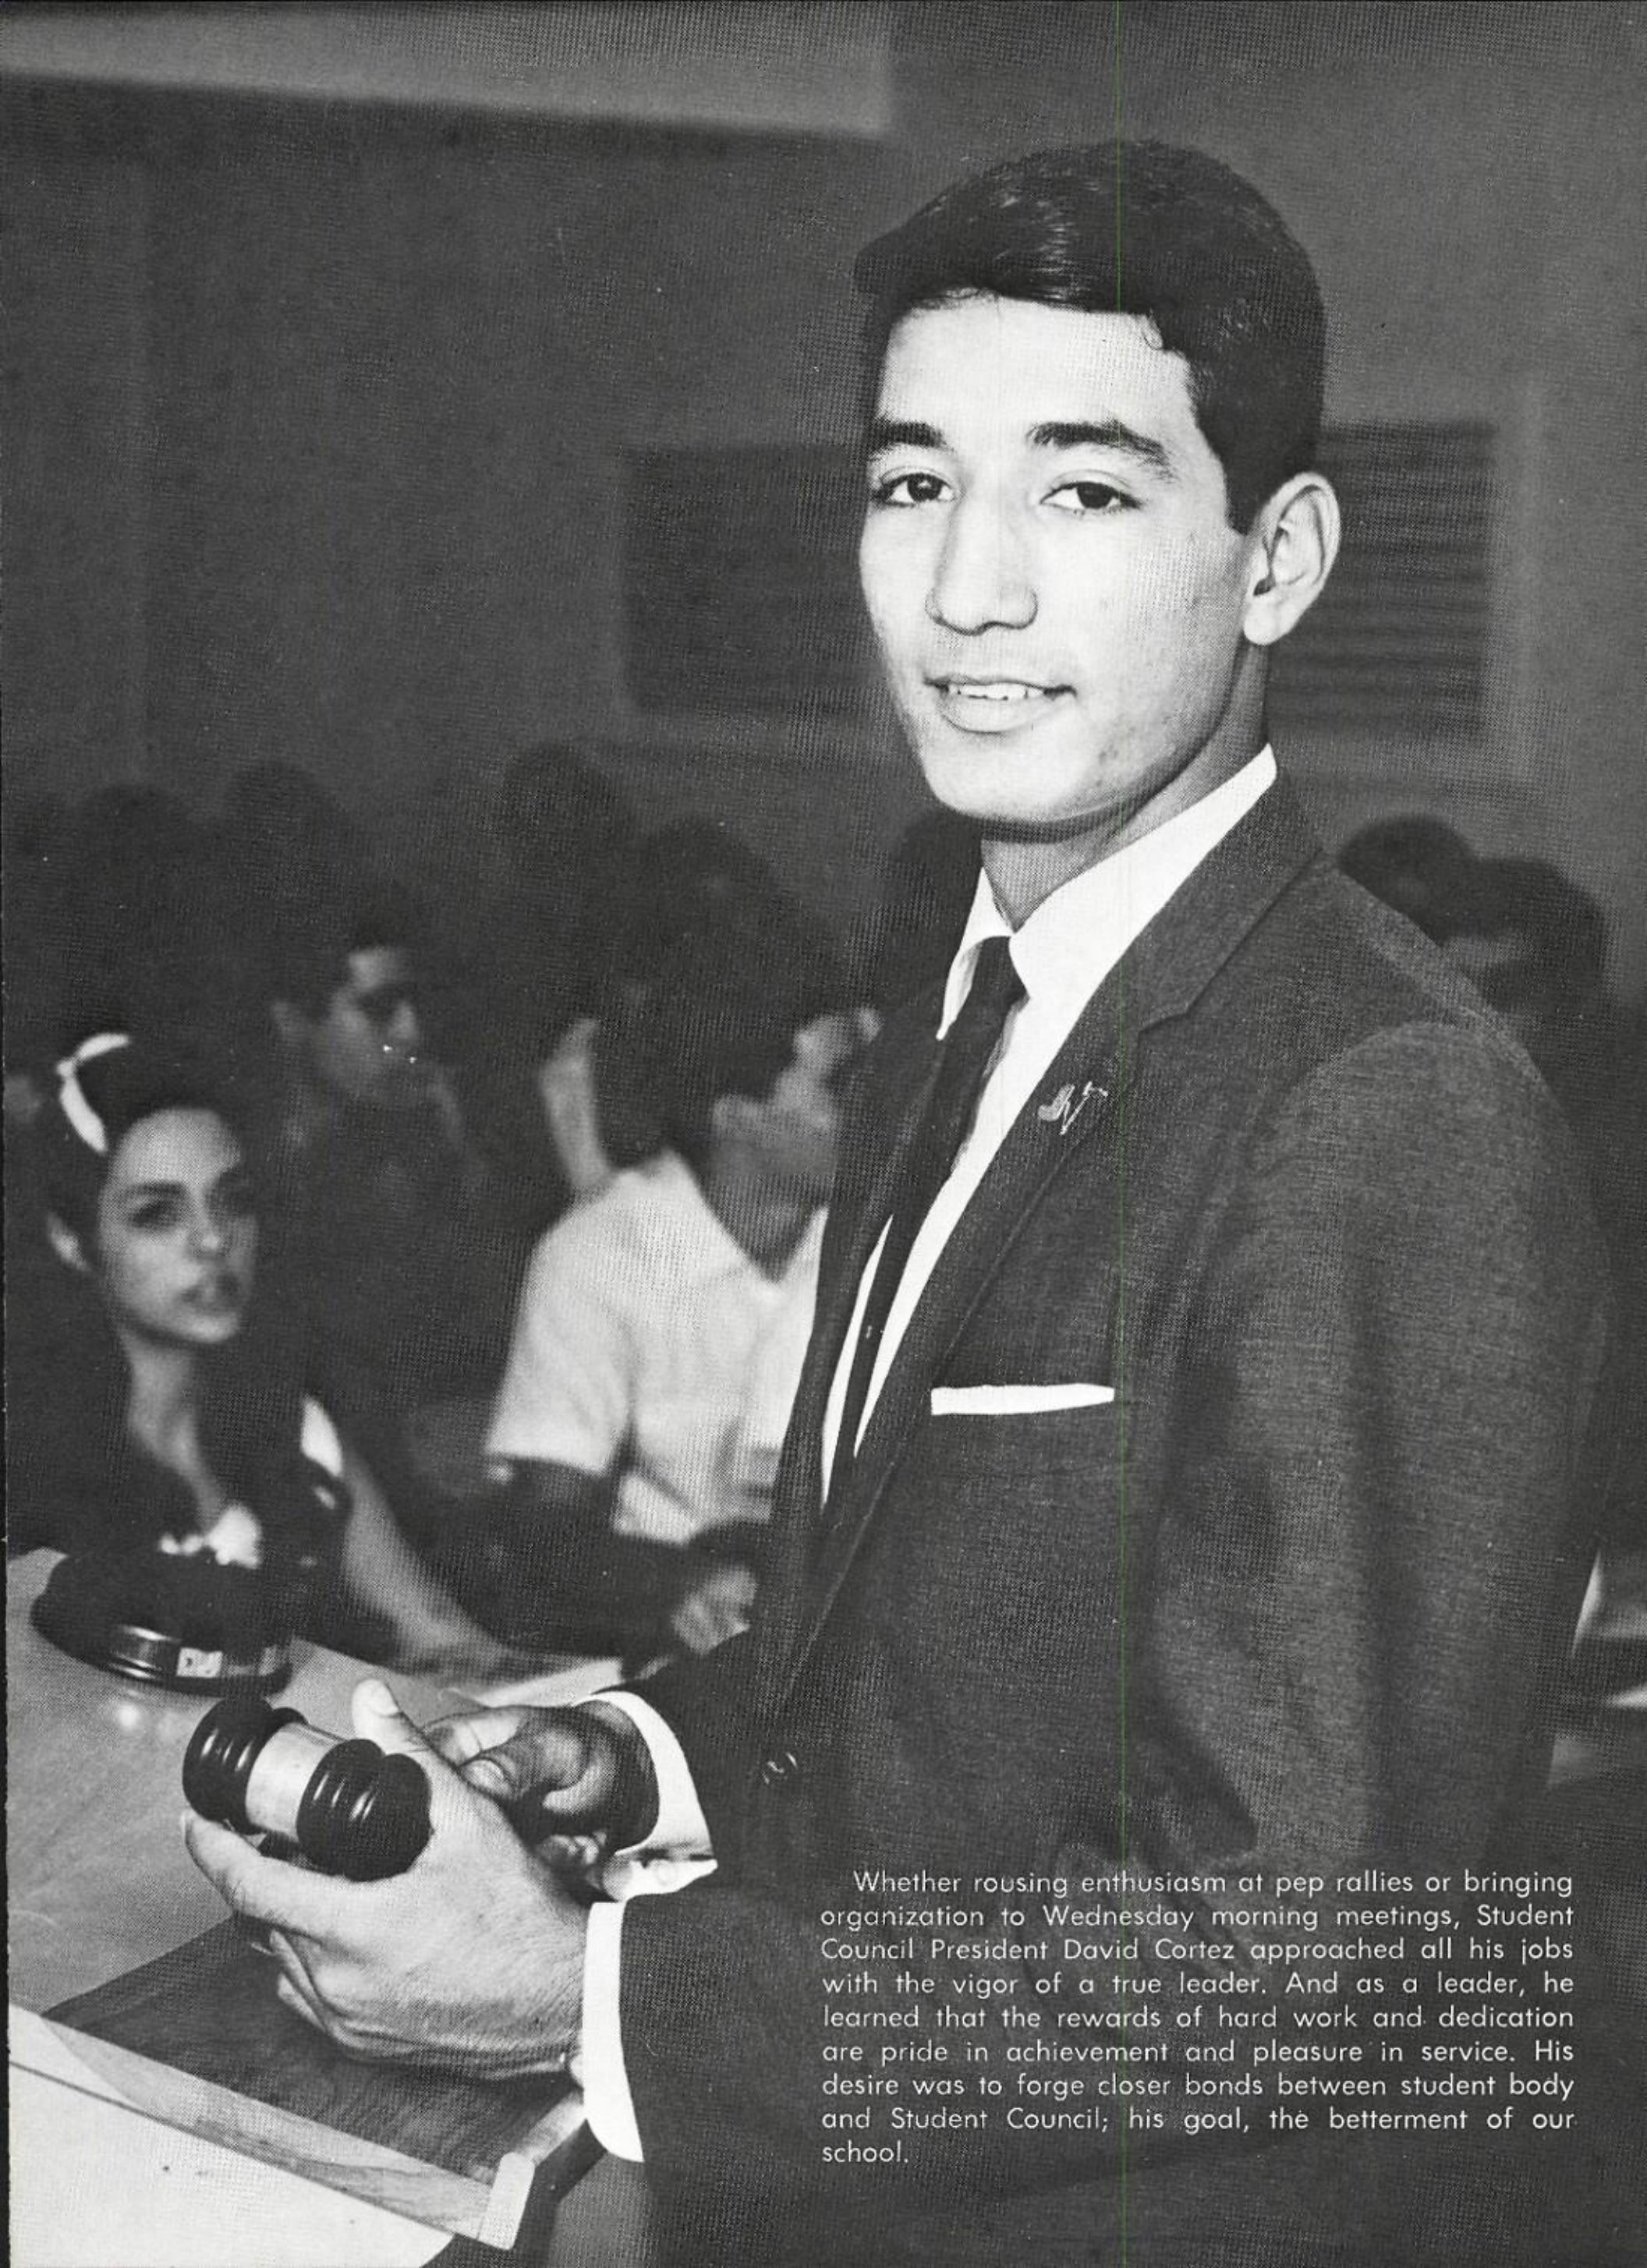




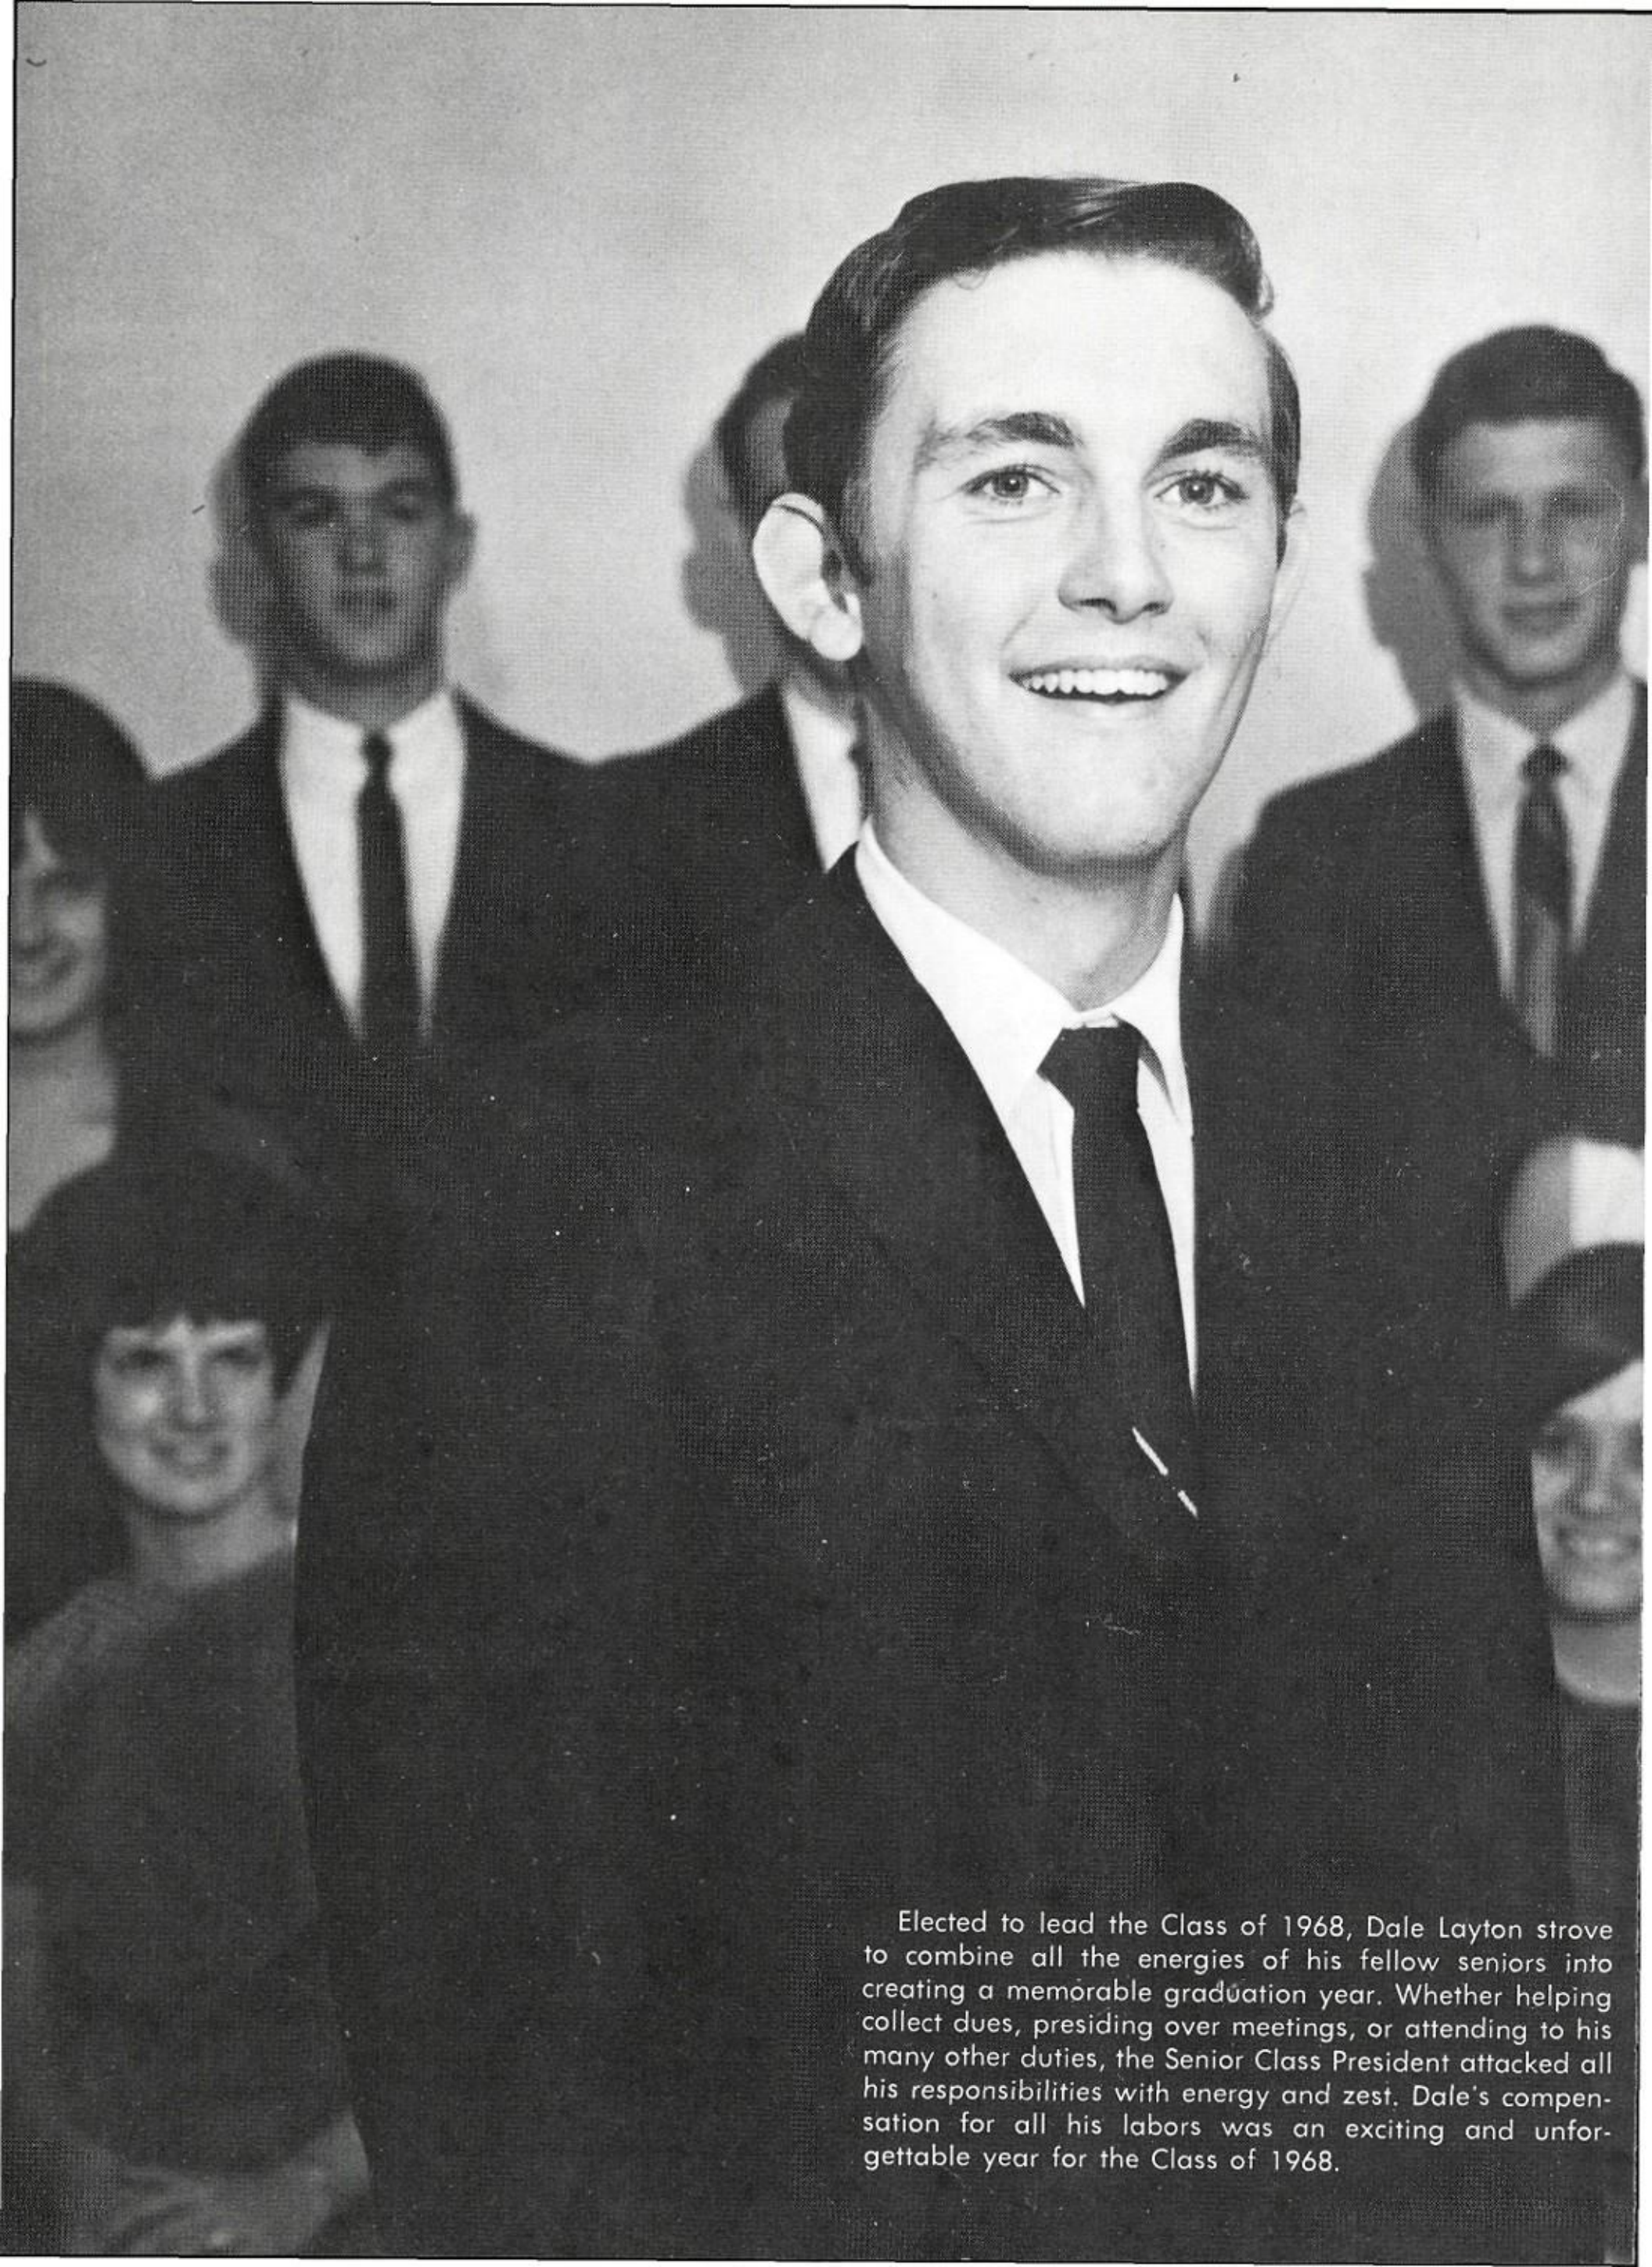


A confluence of people unites under one roof for a universal aim.

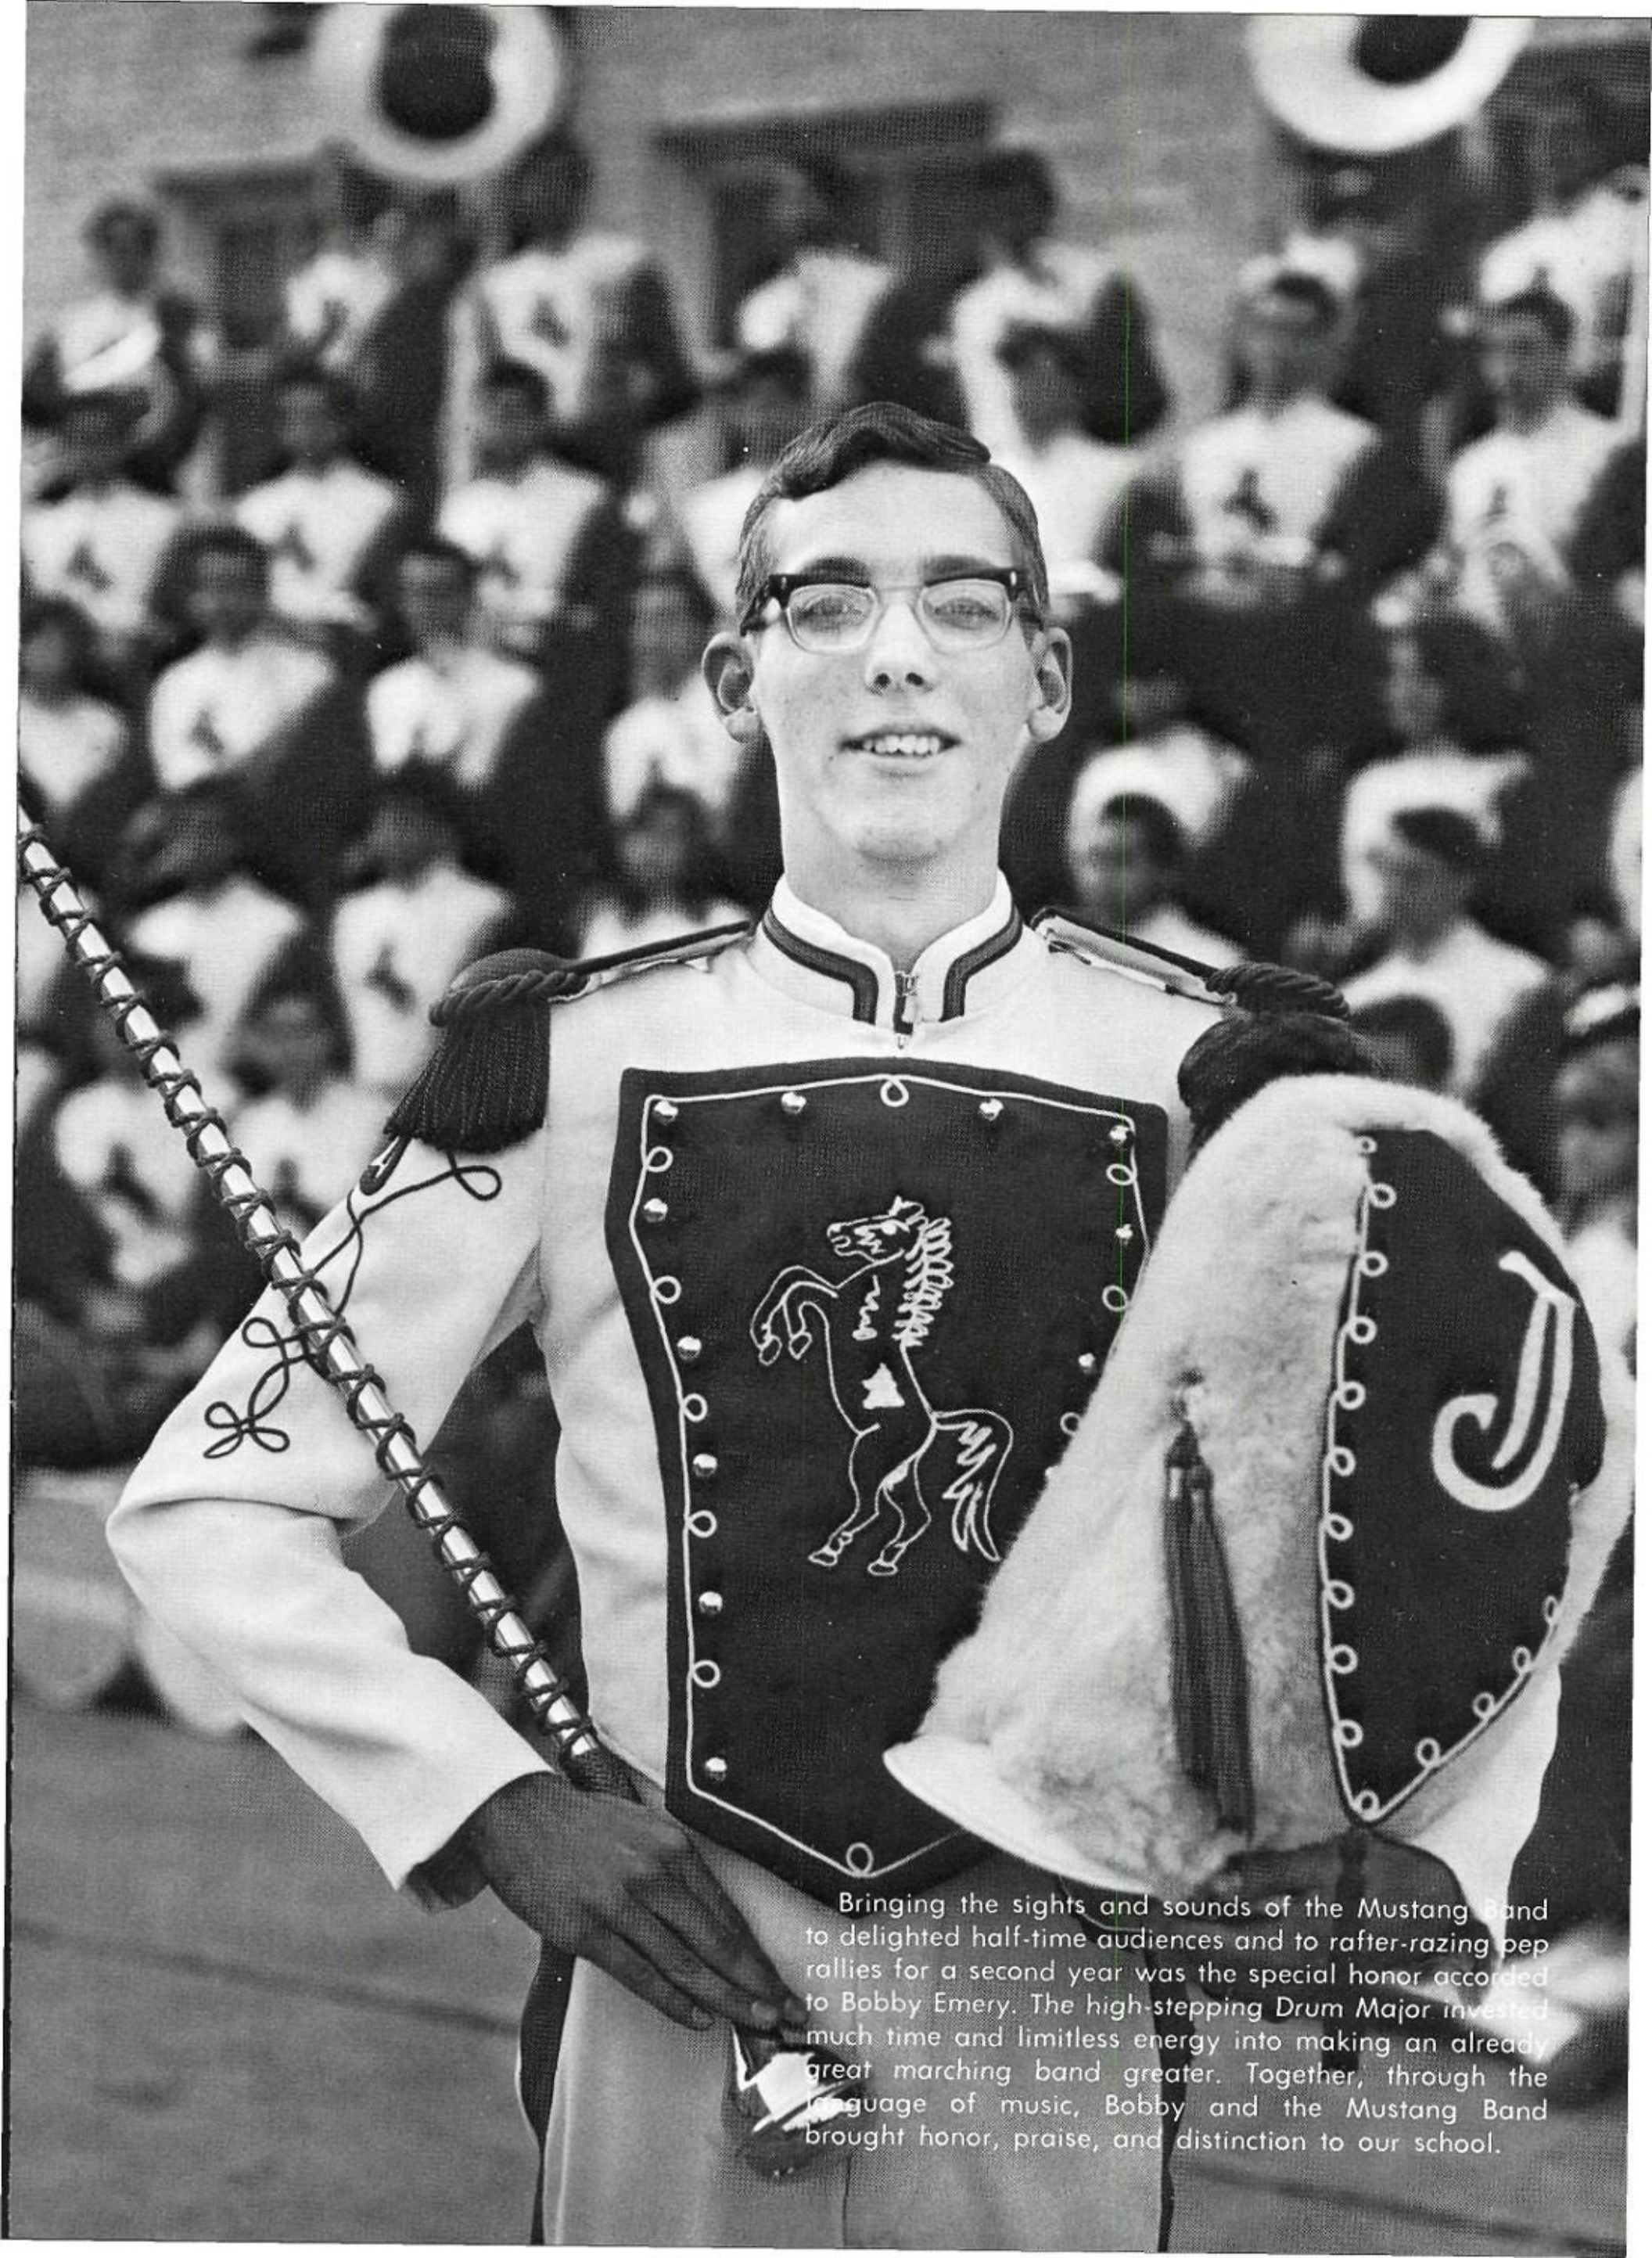
Assuming upon themselves more than the motions of importance and the routine of responsibility, Jefferson's ten point officers are daily molded into better leaders. Each fulfills more than his assigned duty. For every bang of a gavel or sound of a whistle, there are hours of untold toil and concern, work and worry. As a product of their time and effort each individual sees a more coordinated student body and a finer Jefferson.



Whether rousing enthusiasm at pep rallies or bringing organization to Wednesday morning meetings, Student Council President David Cortez approached all his jobs with the vigor of a true leader. And as a leader, he learned that the rewards of hard work and dedication are pride in achievement and pleasure in service. His desire was to forge closer bonds between student body and Student Council; his goal, the betterment of our school.

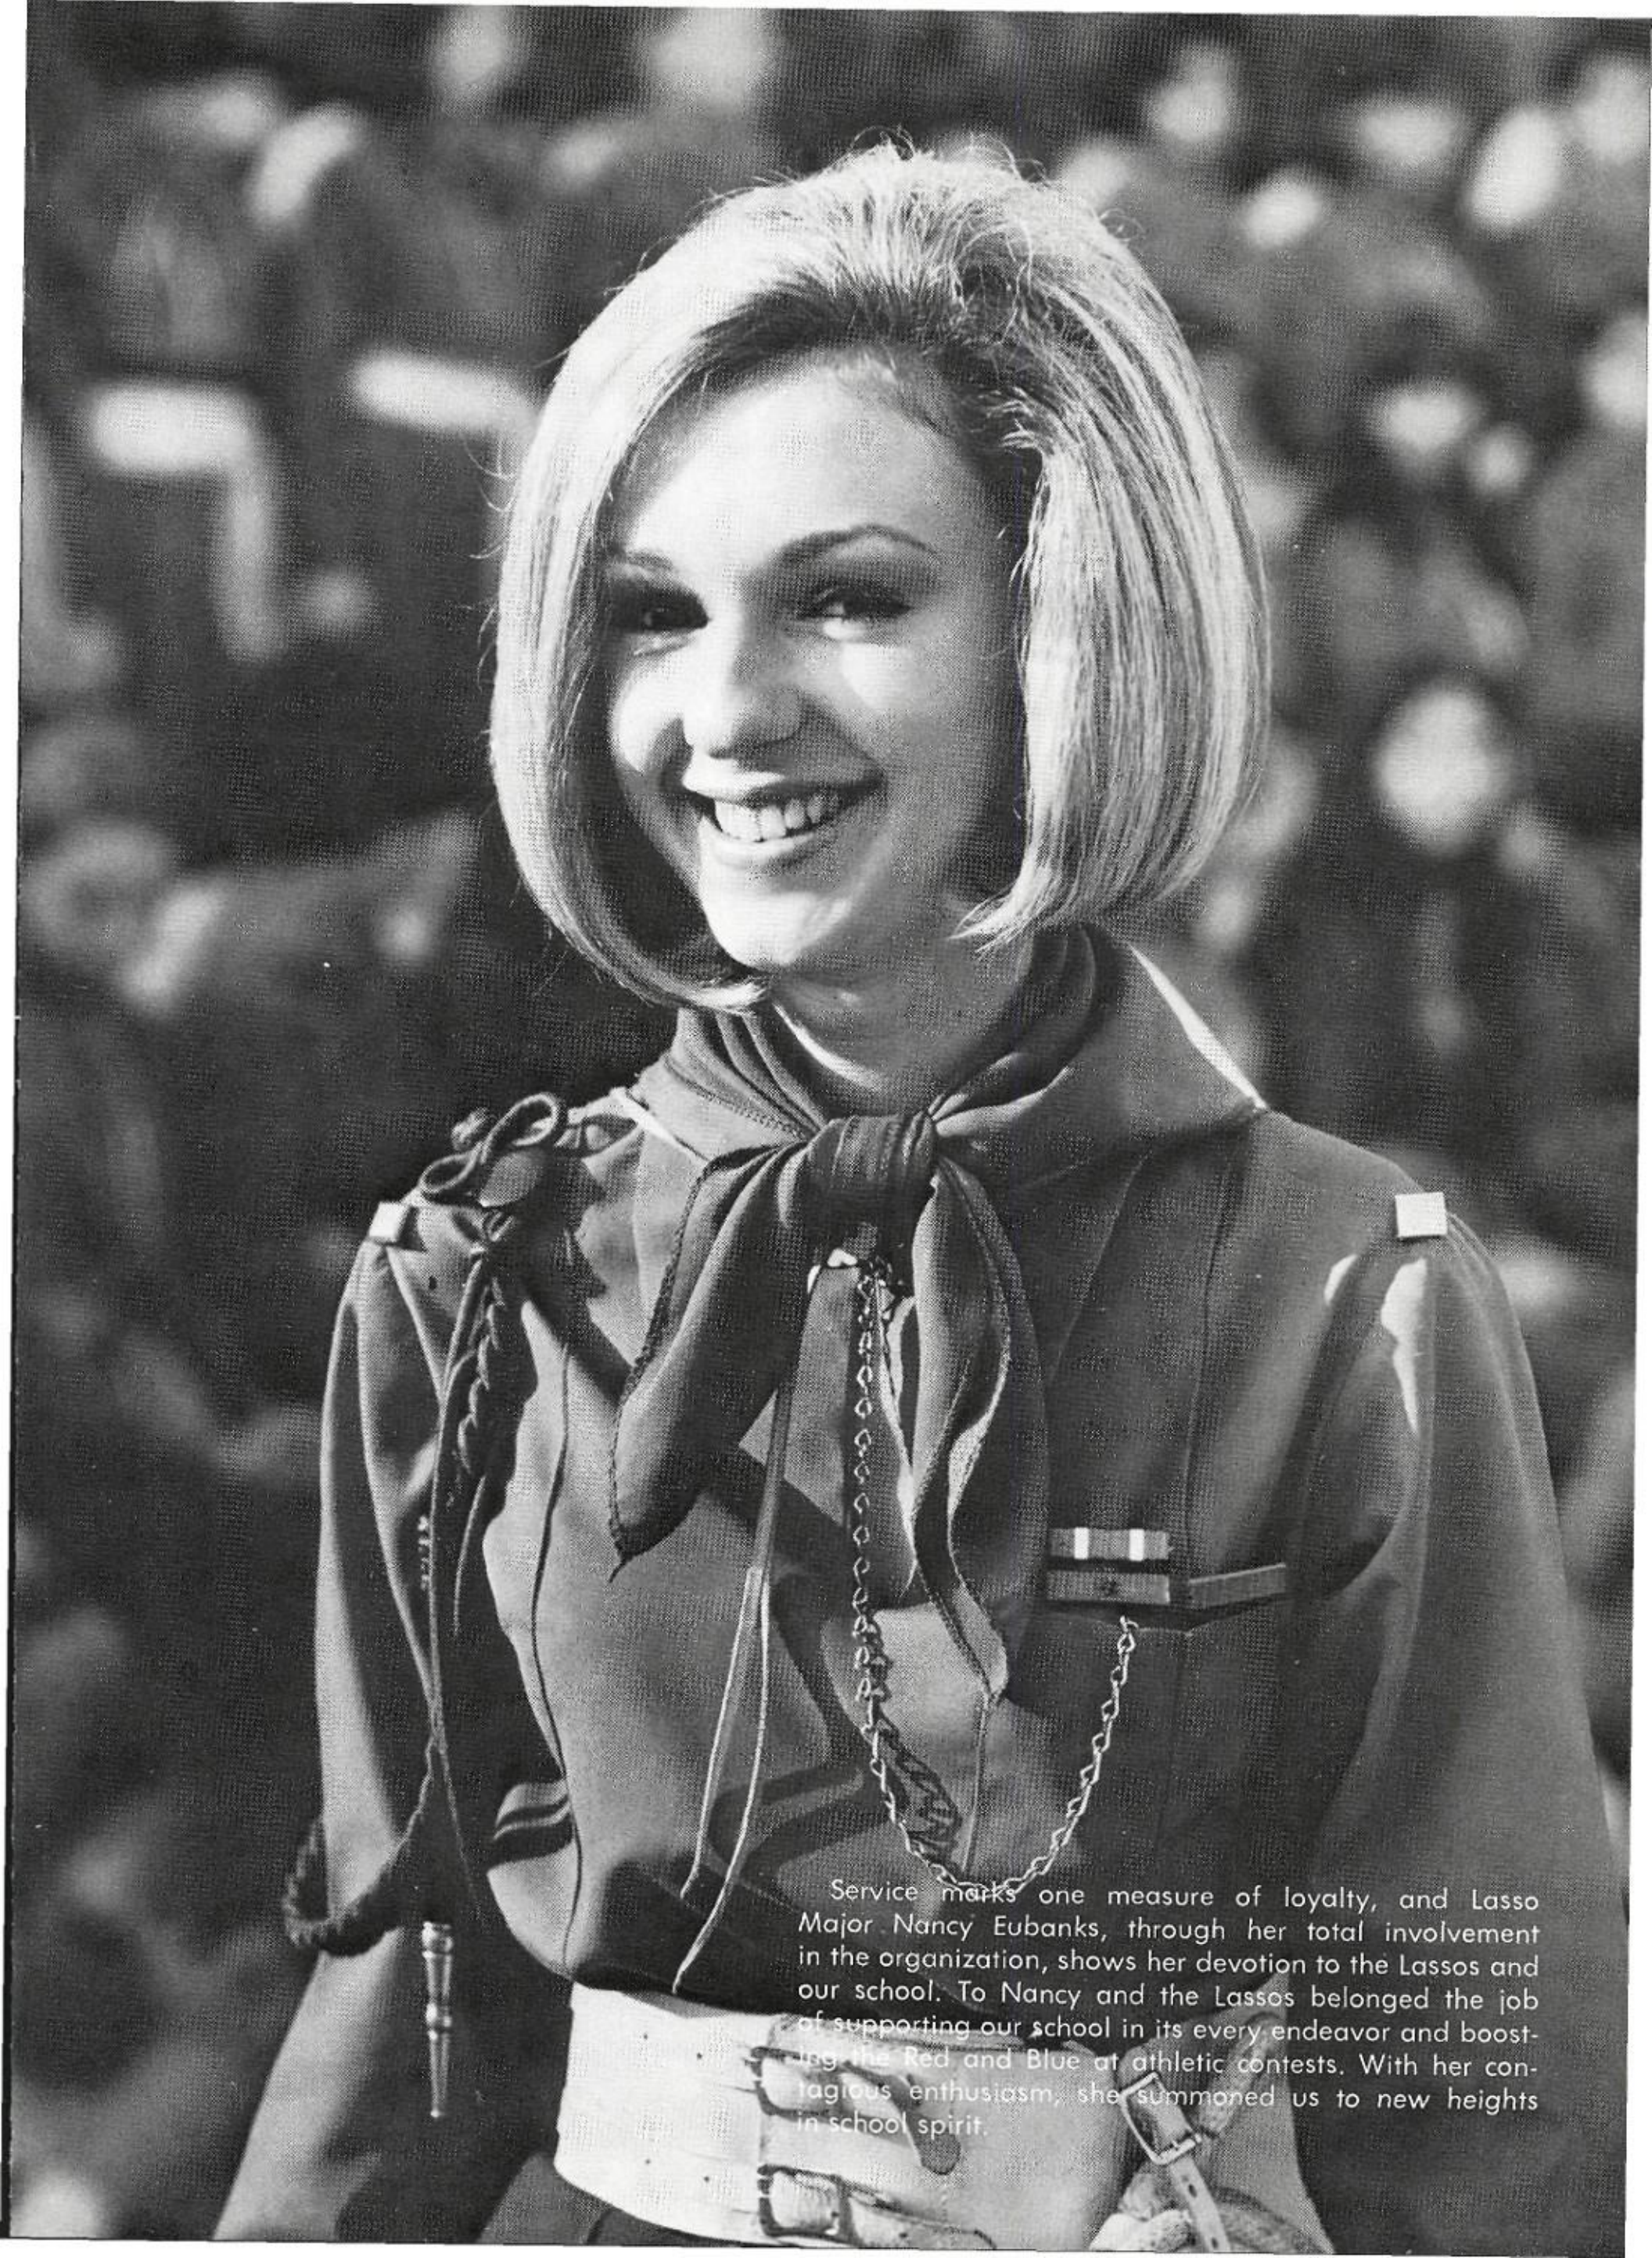


Elected to lead the Class of 1968, Dale Layton strove to combine all the energies of his fellow seniors into creating a memorable graduation year. Whether helping collect dues, presiding over meetings, or attending to his many other duties, the Senior Class President attacked all his responsibilities with energy and zest. Dale's compensation for all his labors was an exciting and unforgettable year for the Class of 1968.

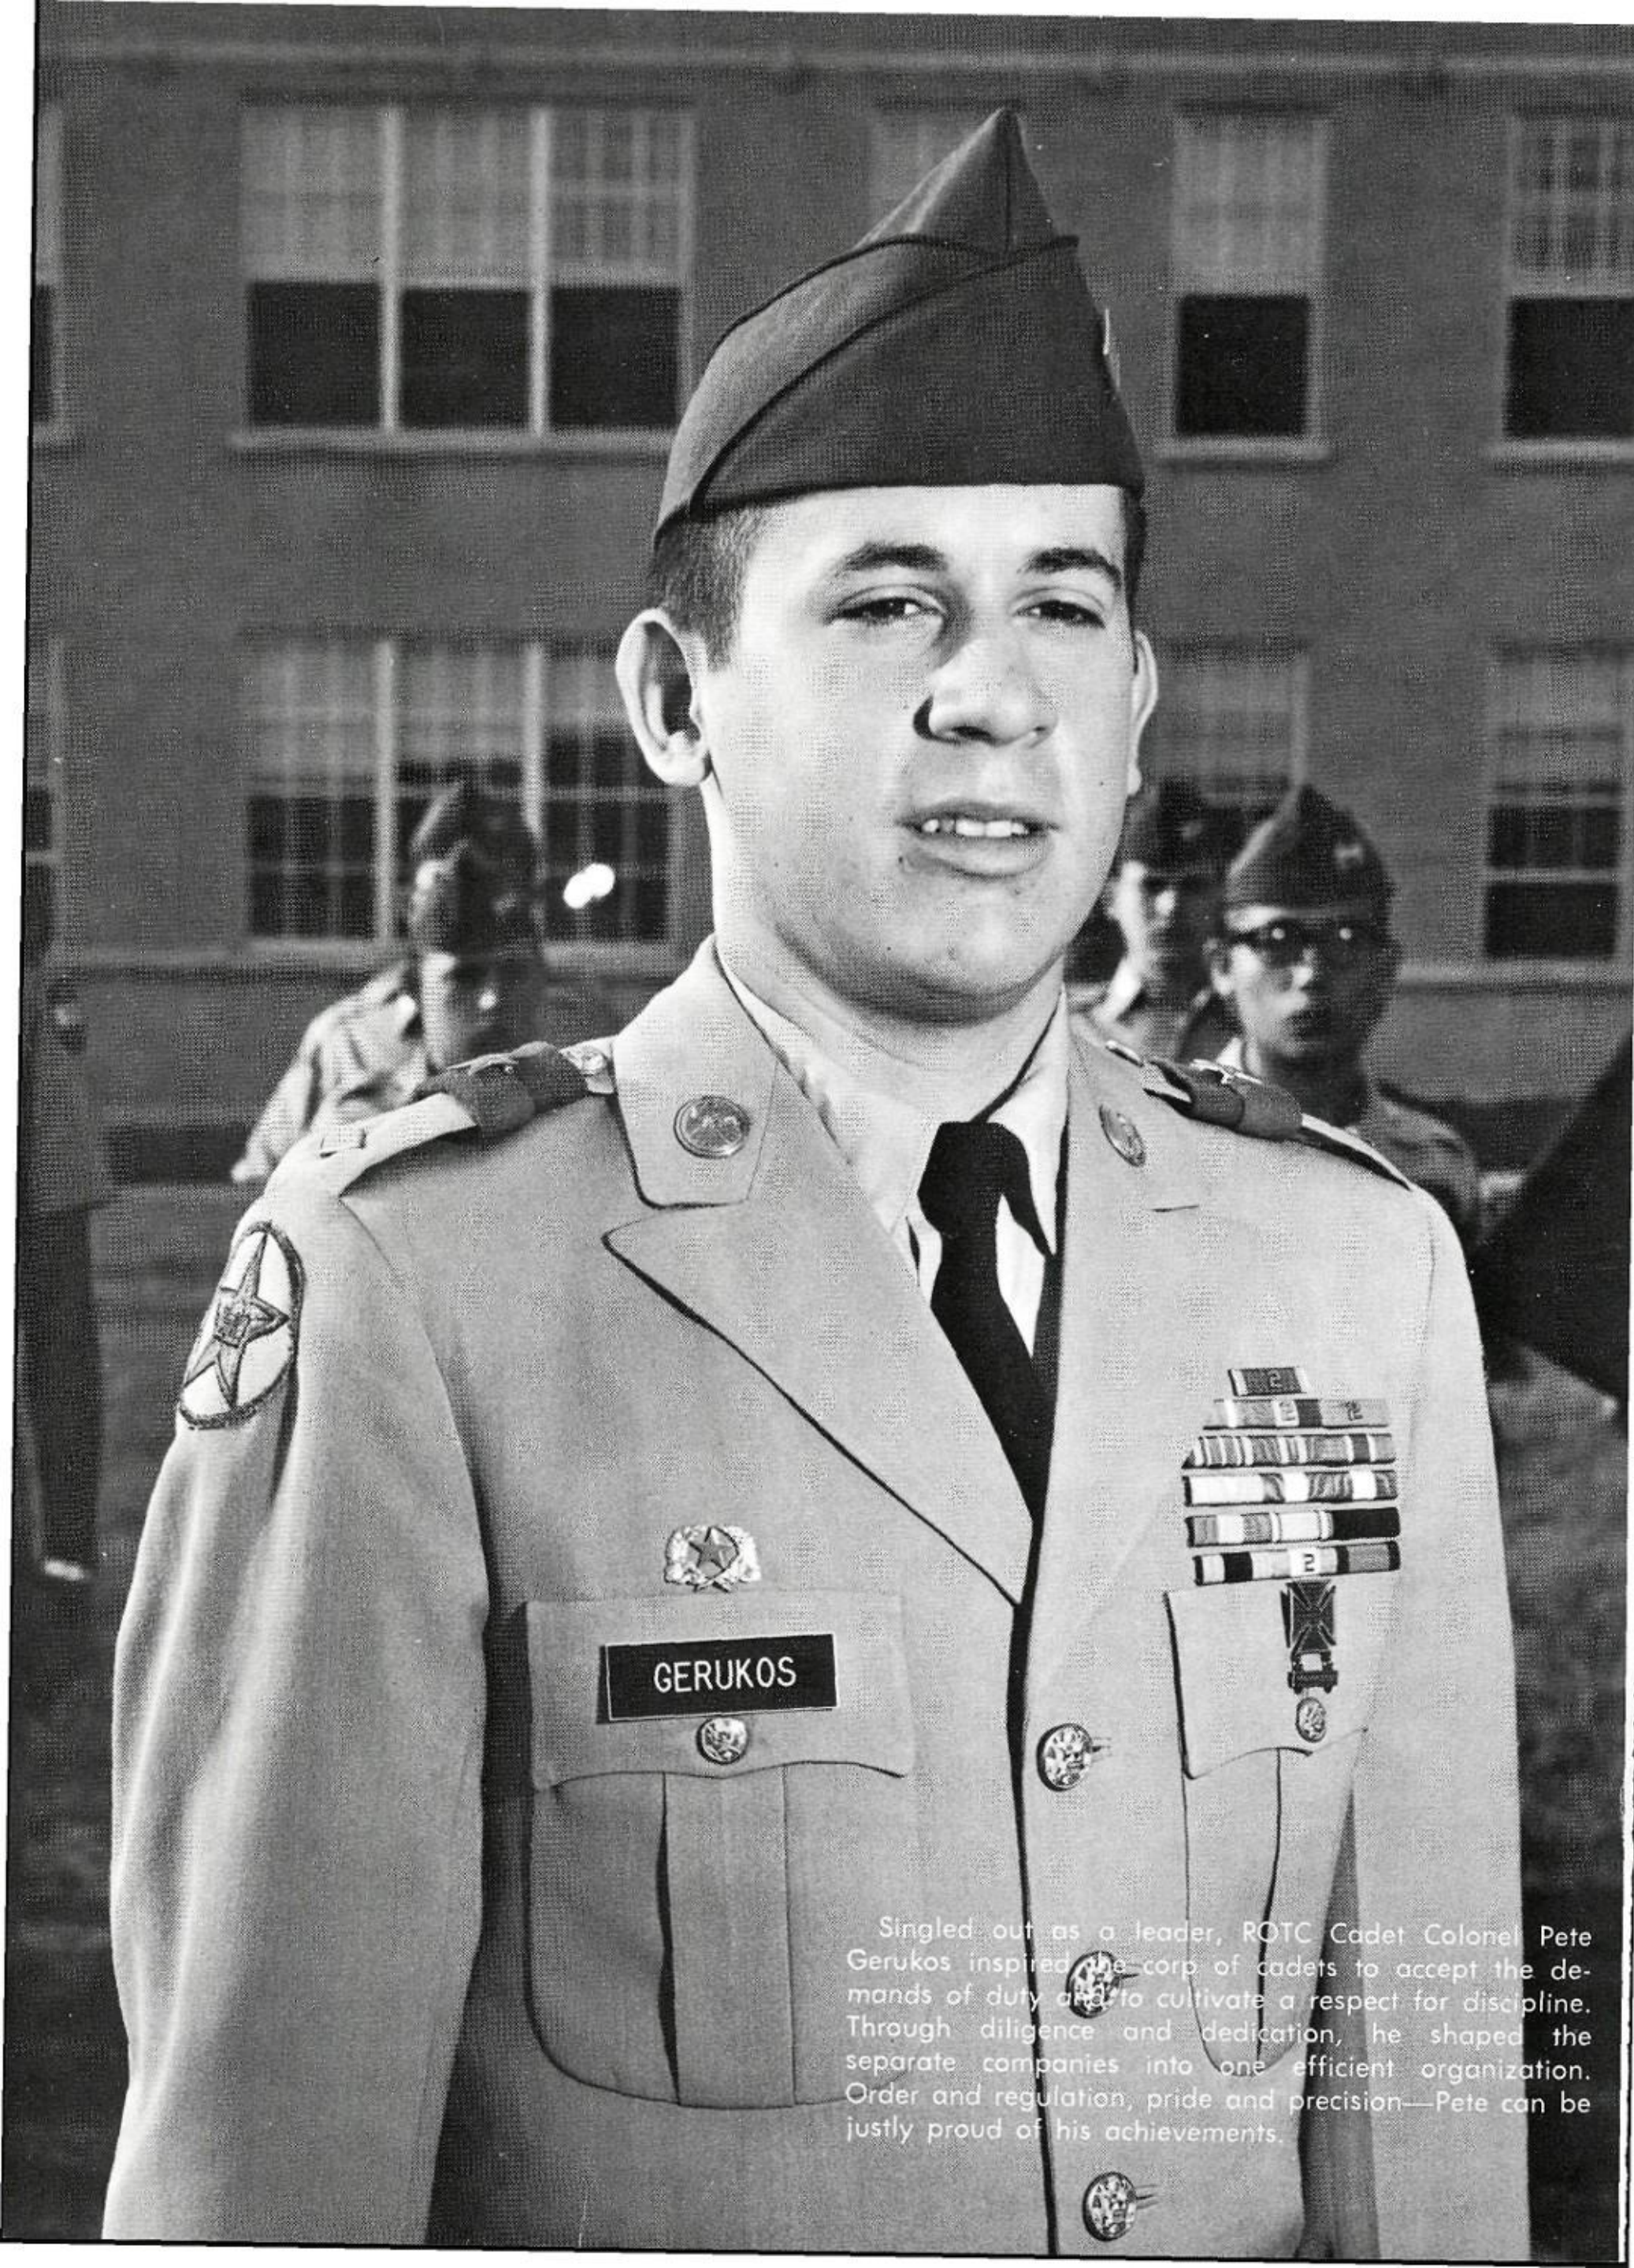


Bringing the sights and sounds of the Mustang Band to delighted half-time audiences and to rafter-razing pep rallies for a second year was the special honor accorded to Bobby Emery. The high-stepping Drum Major invested much time and limitless energy into making an already great marching band greater. Together, through the language of music, Bobby and the Mustang Band brought honor, praise, and distinction to our school.

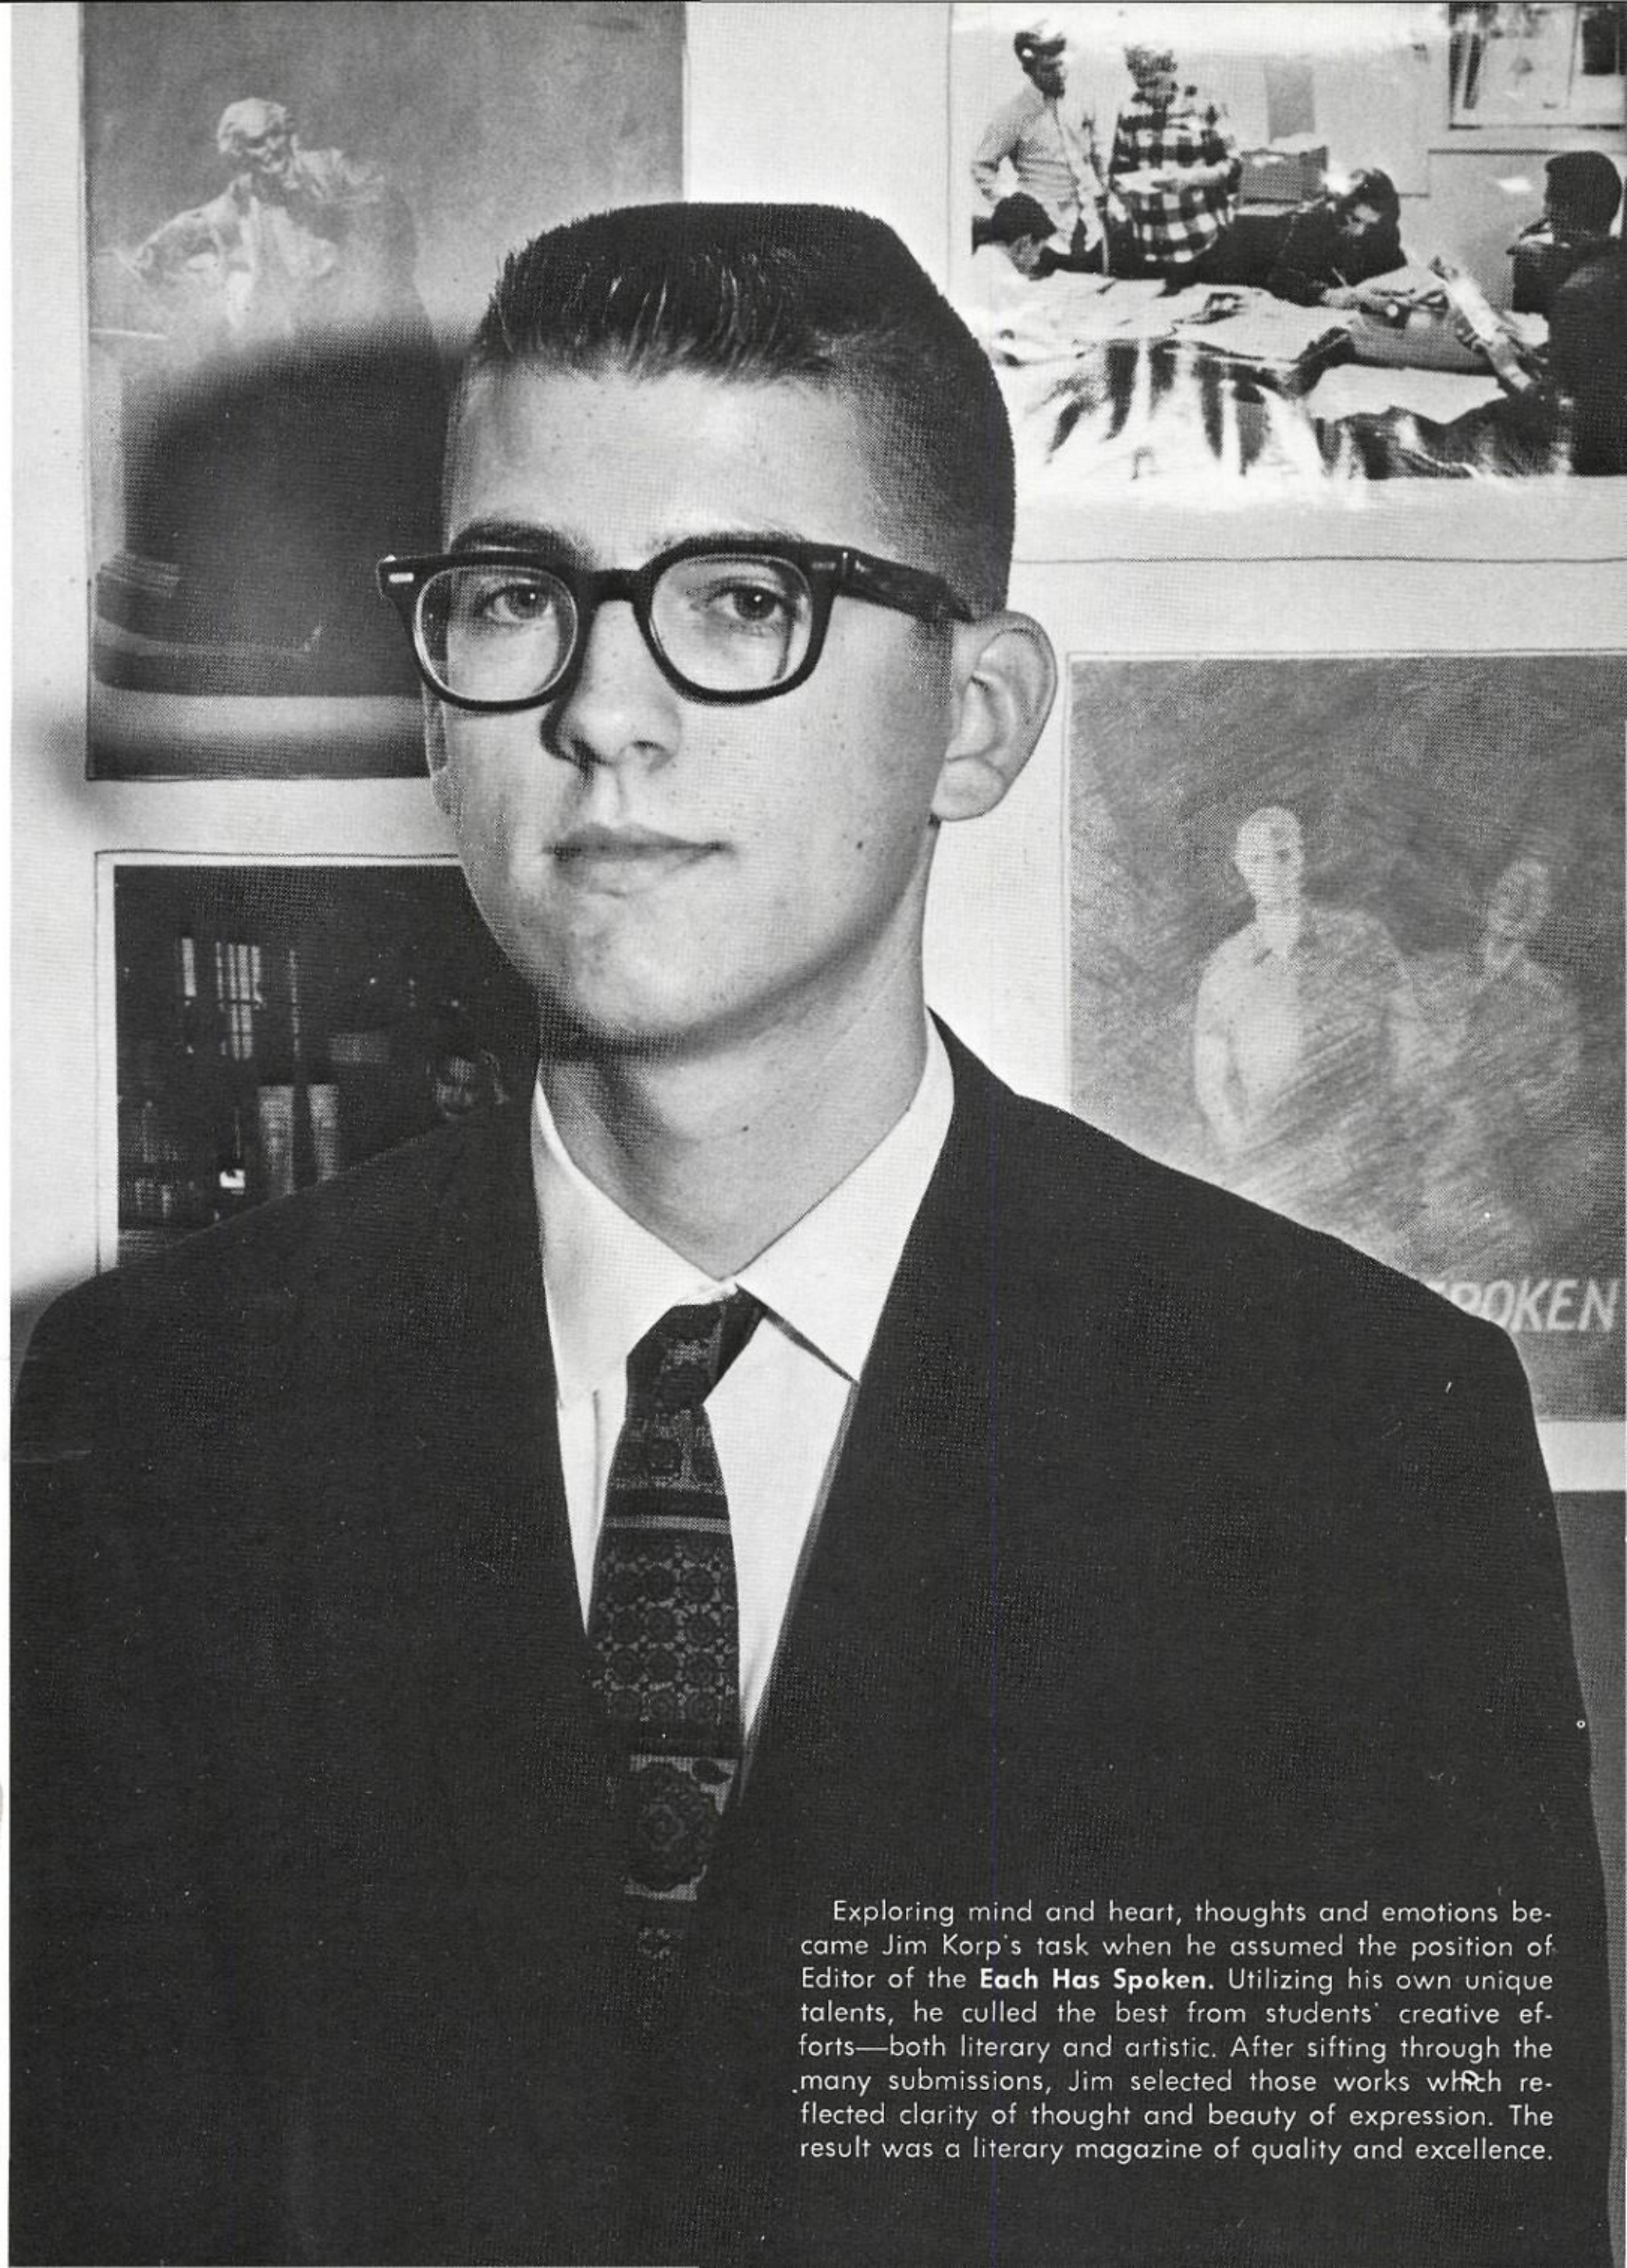
To lead the Lariats in boisterous yells at basketball games and to coordinate the red and blue pom-pon silent cheers at football games were just some of the responsibilities of Lariat President Barbara Gilmore. She met all her duties with indefatigable good humor and conscientious efforts. By collaborating in a successful year, Barbara and the Lariats gave the young organization the best of foundations for the future.



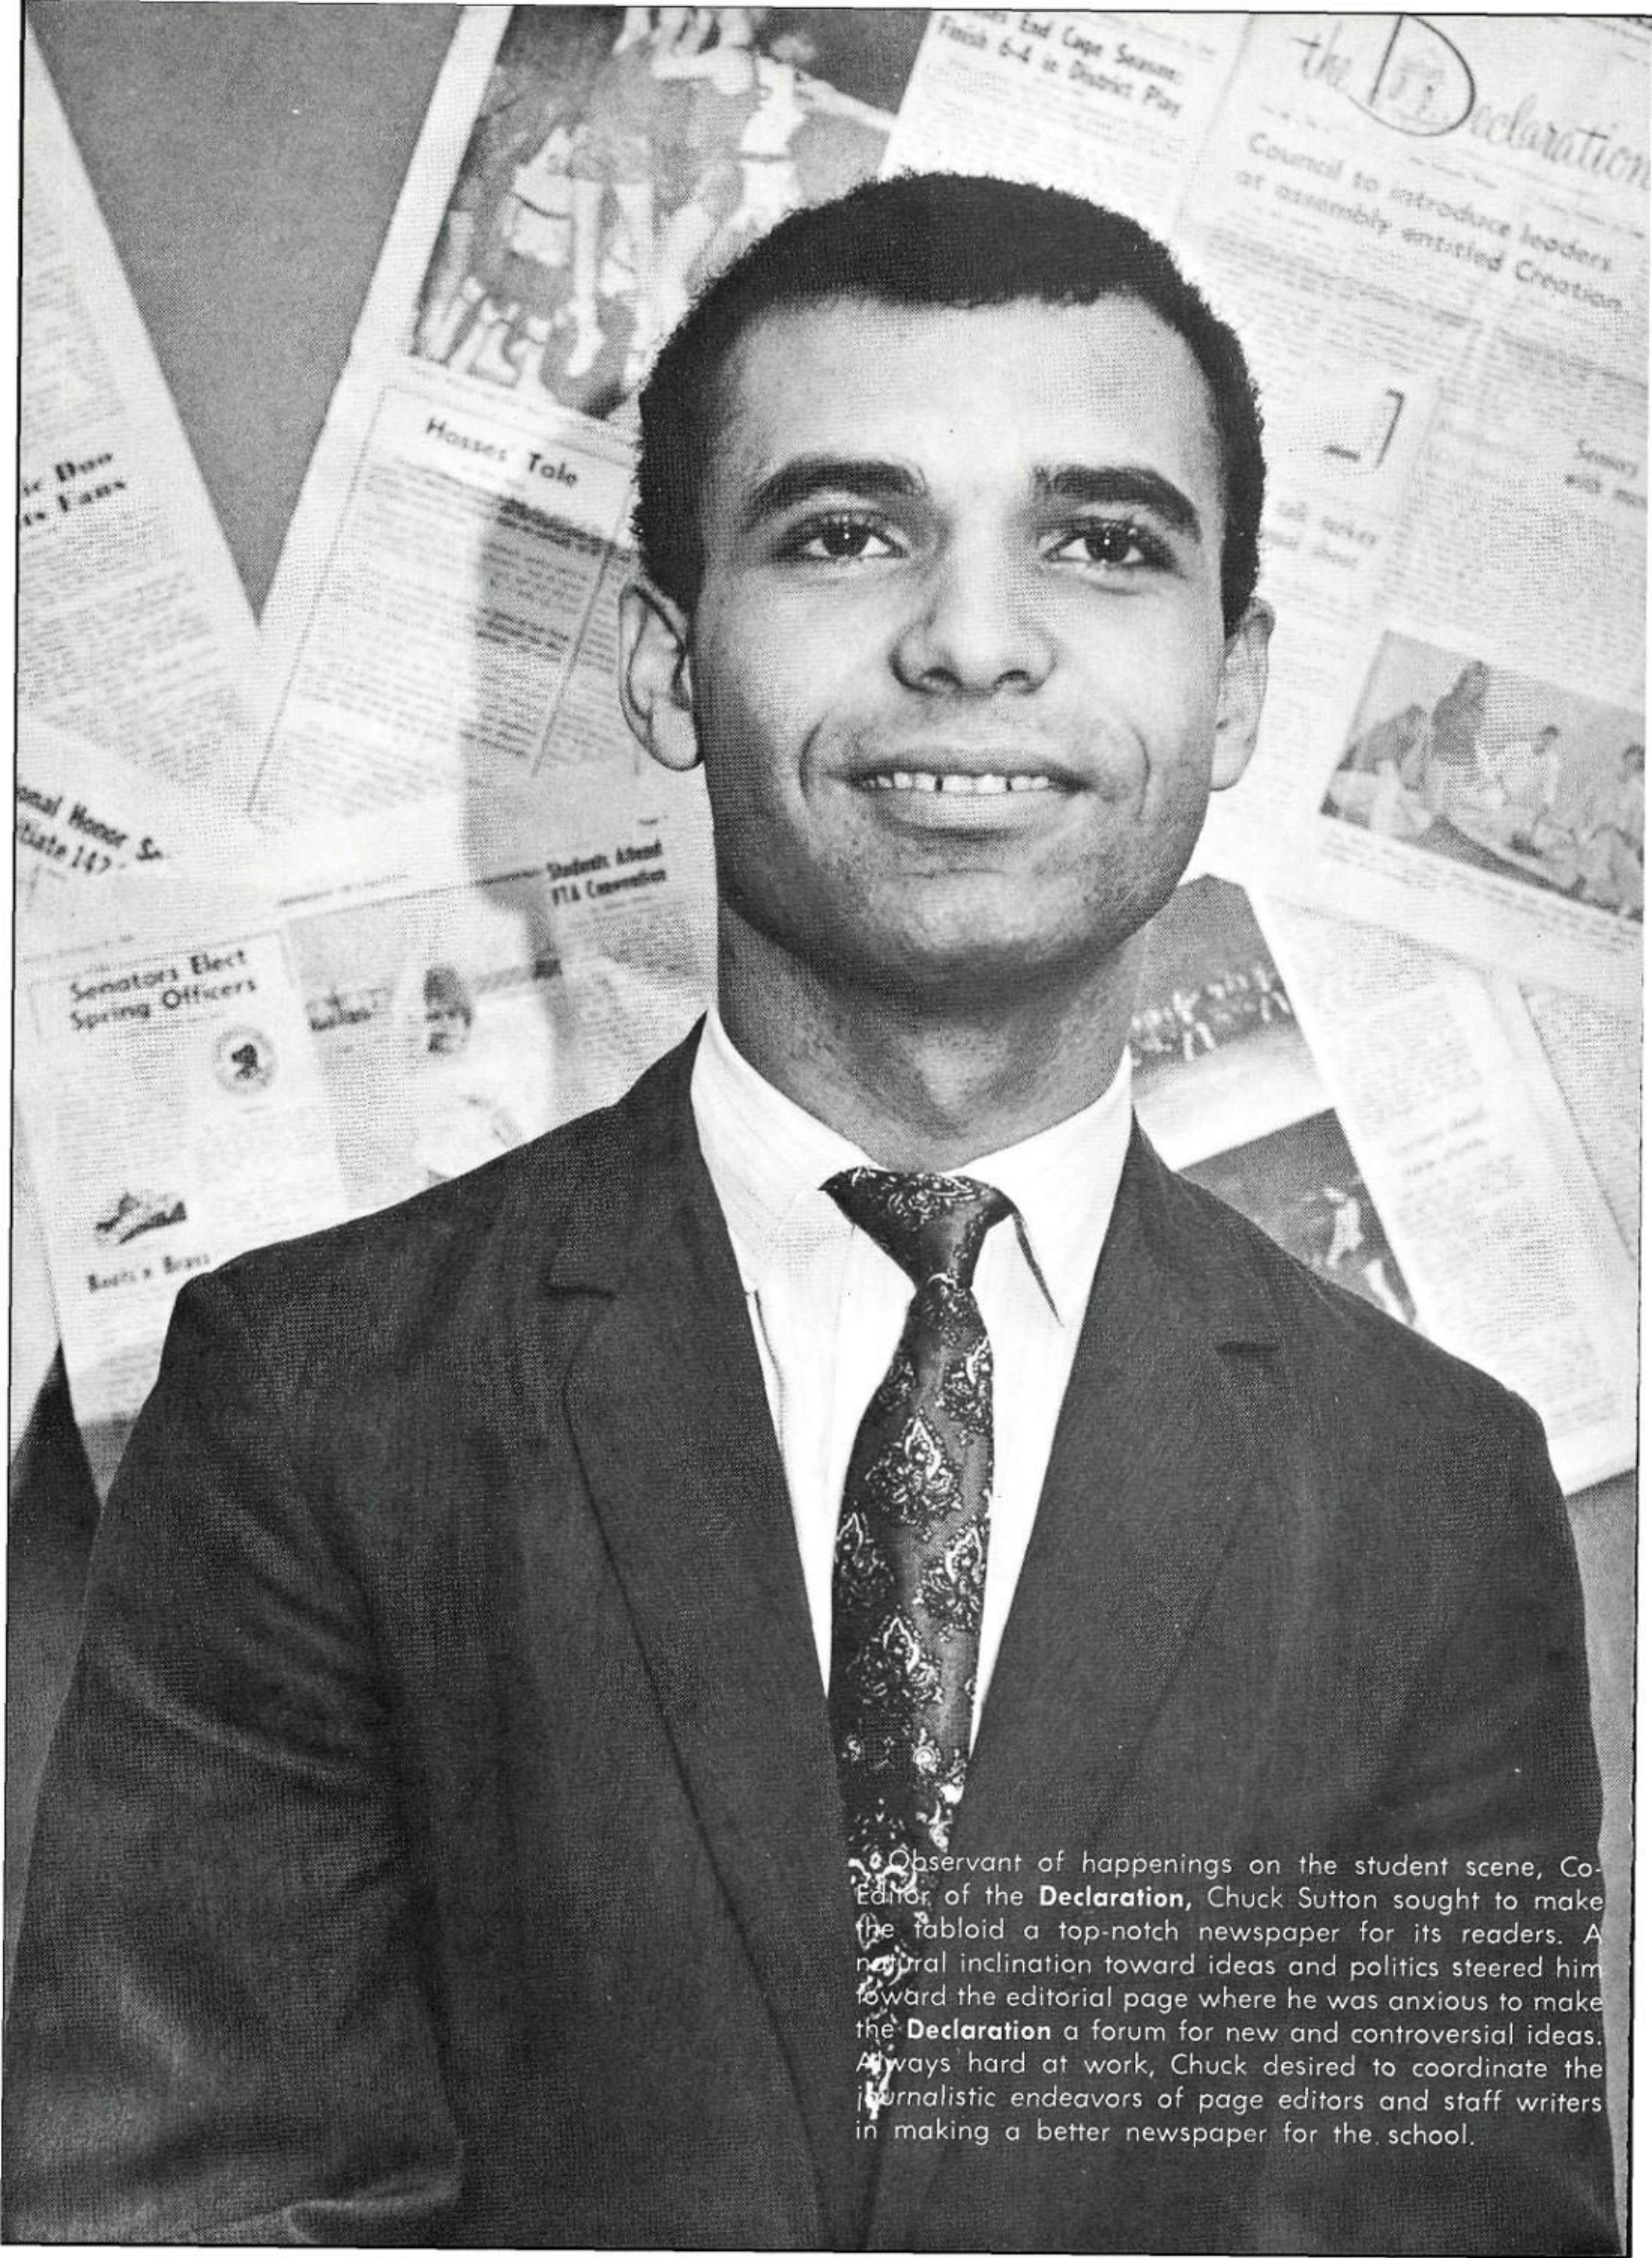
Service marks one measure of loyalty, and Lasso Major Nancy Eubanks, through her total involvement in the organization, shows her devotion to the Lassos and our school. To Nancy and the Lassos belonged the job of supporting our school in its every endeavor and boosting the Red and Blue at athletic contests. With her contagious enthusiasm, she summoned us to new heights in school spirit.



Singled out as a leader, ROTC Cadet Colonel Pete Gerukos inspired the corp of cadets to accept the demands of duty and to cultivate a respect for discipline. Through diligence and dedication, he shaped the separate companies into one efficient organization. Order and regulation, pride and precision—Pete can be justly proud of his achievements.

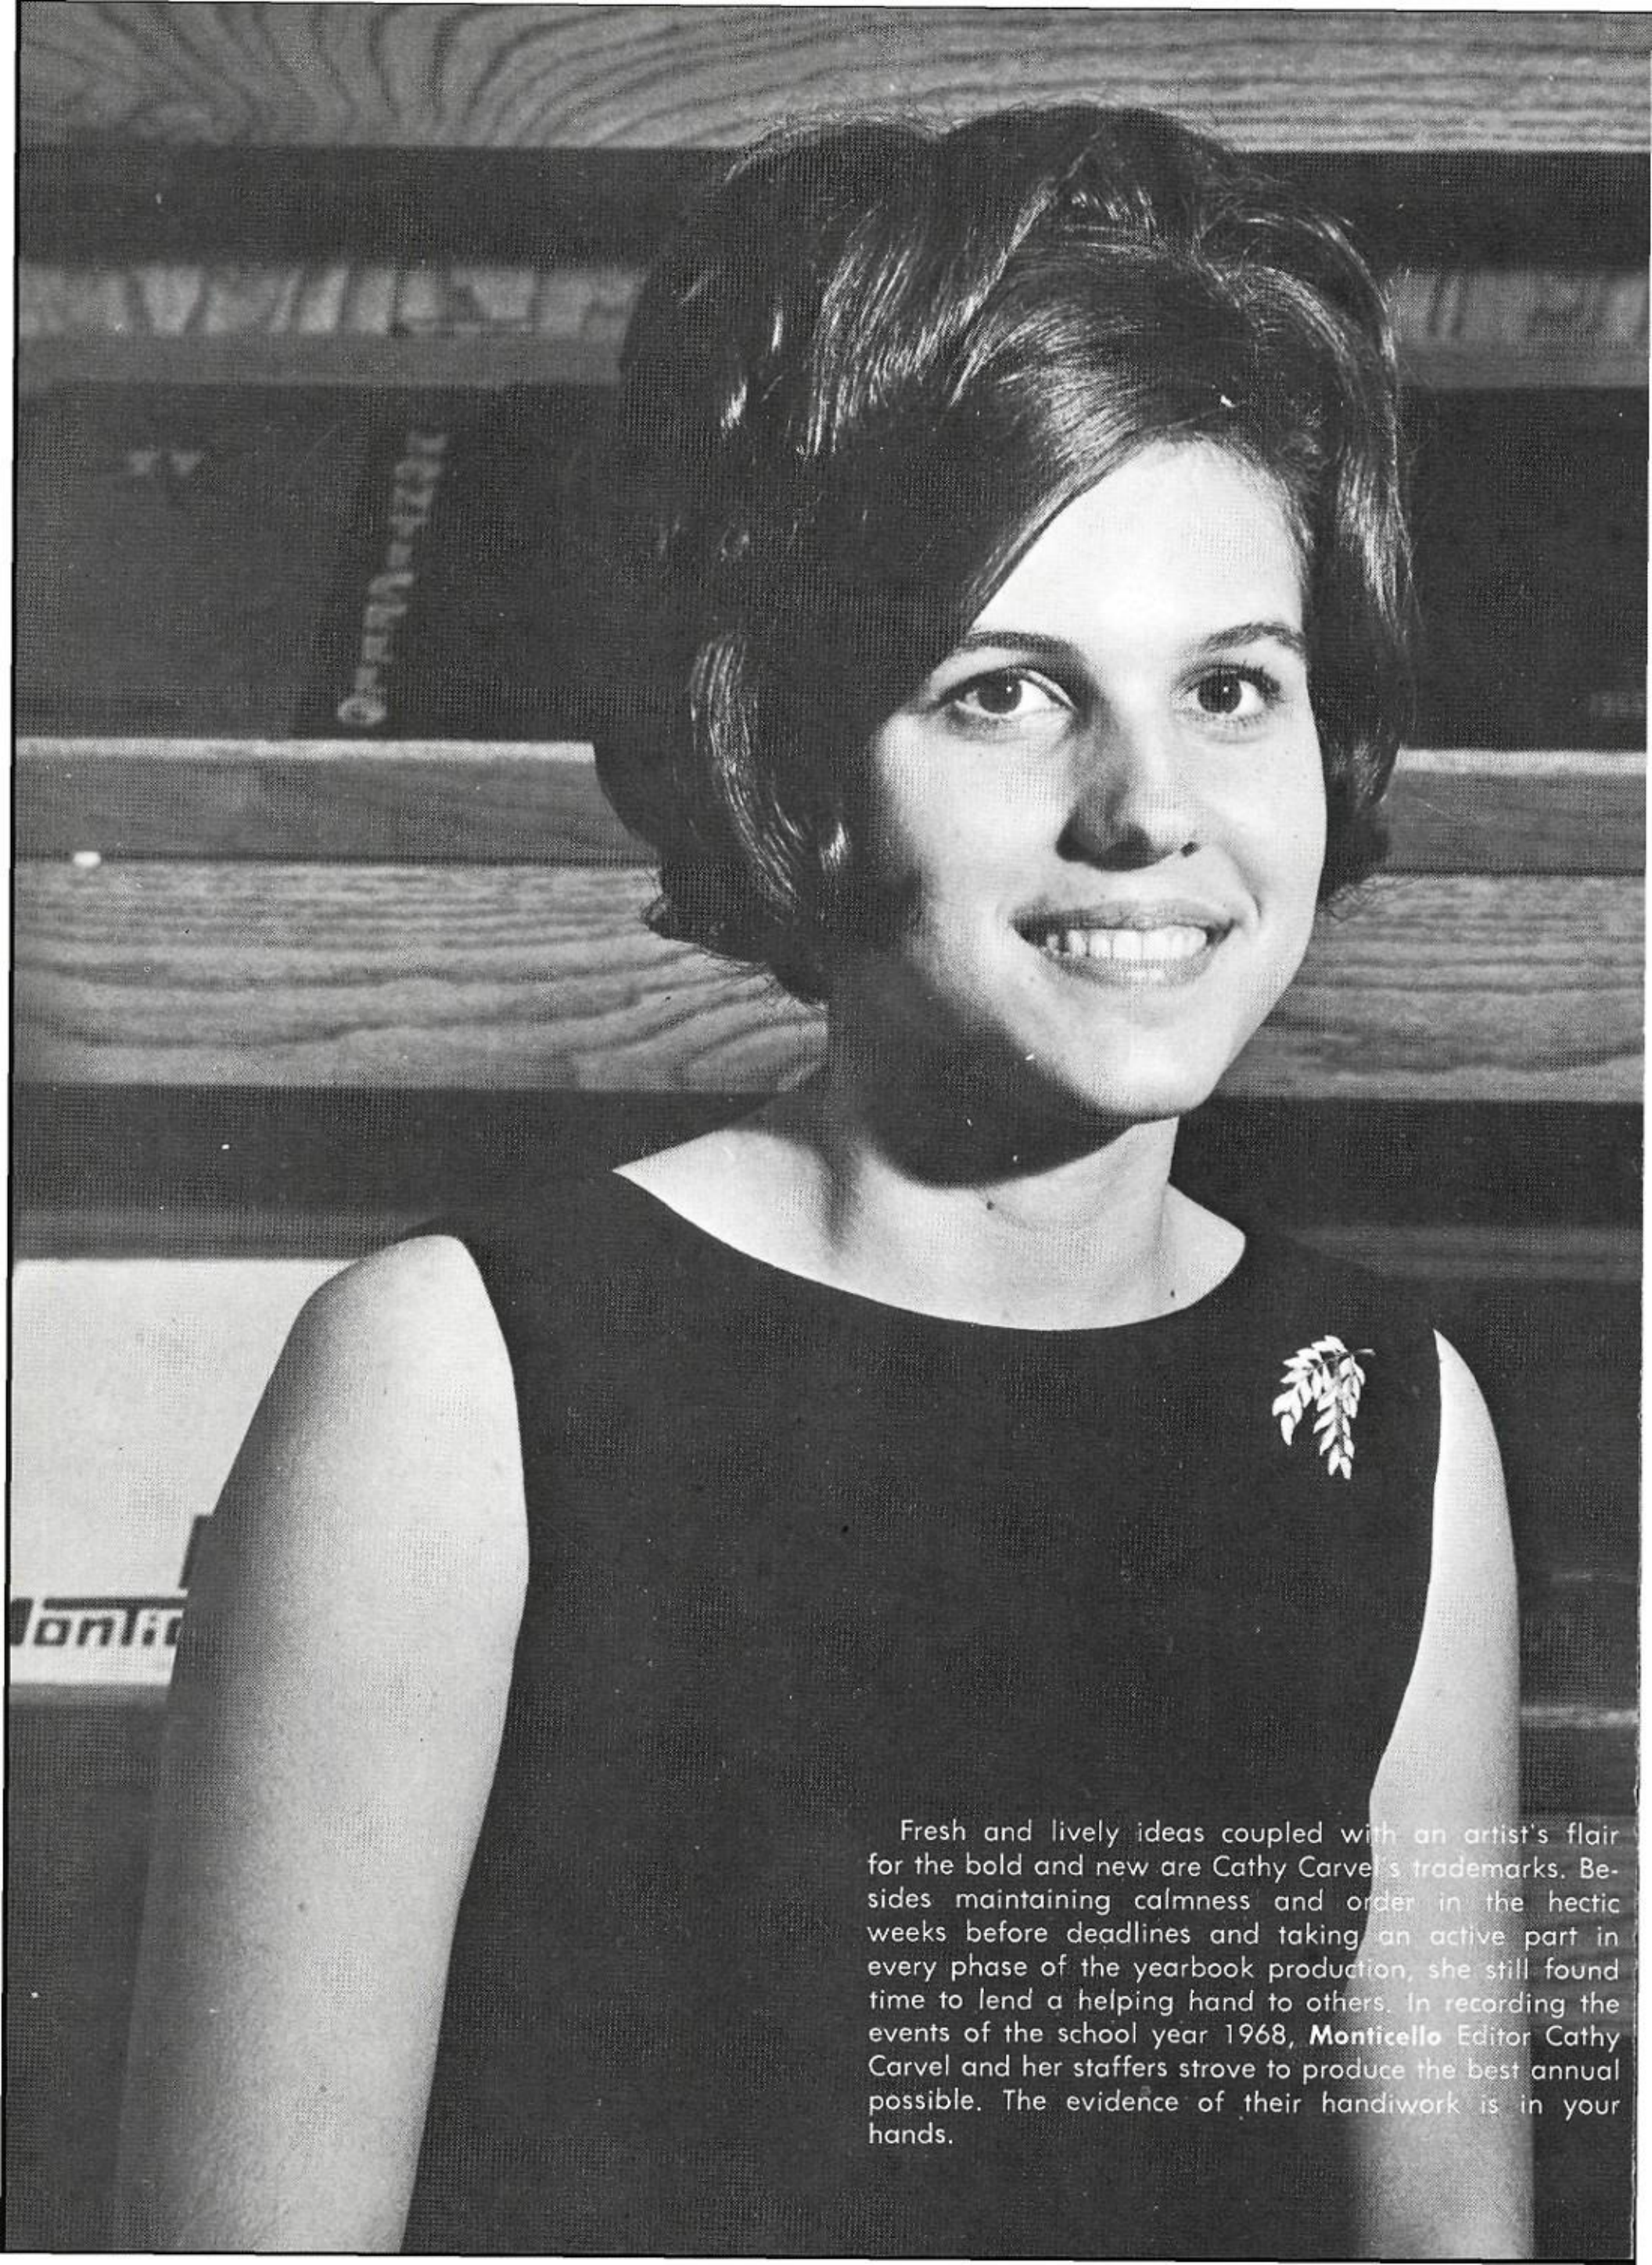


Exploring mind and heart, thoughts and emotions became Jim Korp's task when he assumed the position of Editor of the Each Has Spoken. Utilizing his own unique talents, he culled the best from students' creative efforts—both literary and artistic. After sifting through the many submissions, Jim selected those works which reflected clarity of thought and beauty of expression. The result was a literary magazine of quality and excellence.

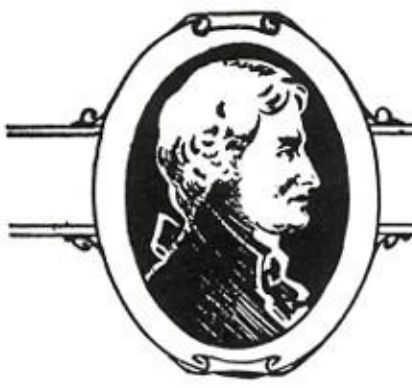


Observant of happenings on the student scene, Co-Editor of the Declaration, Chuck Sutton sought to make the tabloid a top-notch newspaper for its readers. A natural inclination toward ideas and politics steered him toward the editorial page where he was anxious to make the Declaration a forum for new and controversial ideas. Always hard at work, Chuck desired to coordinate the journalistic endeavors of page editors and staff writers in making a better newspaper for the school.

Comprising the second half of the Declaration duo was Co-Editor Ronnie Walker. His favorite domain, the sports page, claimed most of his interest and talents. Even though busy overseeing the work of the other members of the publications staff, Ronnie could always be depended on to help his fellow journalists. While working in unison with his partner and his staff, he succeeded in creating a newspaper that could serve as a barometer for student opinion and as a bonanza of information for student body and faculty.



Fresh and lively ideas coupled with an artist's flair for the bold and new are Cathy Carvel's trademarks. Besides maintaining calmness and order in the hectic weeks before deadlines and taking an active part in every phase of the yearbook production, she still found time to lend a helping hand to others. In recording the events of the school year 1968, Monticello Editor Cathy Carvel and her staffers strove to produce the best annual possible. The evidence of their handiwork is in your hands.



The MONTICELLO

Published by the Students of
THOMAS JEFFERSON HIGH SCHOOL

May, 1968

Dear Students and Faculty,

Progress has hade its way since time began. It is a slow but steady pace in which everyone plays a part. Our world has made its progress from gliders, yellow fever, one room school houses, and the wheel to astronauts, new medical discoveries, atomic energy, and new methods of education. All these are the highlights of today. Only from man's hunger for the betterment of the world are these possible. It is a trial and error process. Long hours of hard work and deliberation have been the key to their success. Men have dedicated their lives in order that life will be easier and safer for the next generation—the generation that will direct the world tomorrow. With this thought in mind, we can see that there is hardly room for those who have no desire for progress and betterment. The world itself is ancient, but the people themselves are those of the most modern ideas.

Moving to a smaller universe we find San Antonio—another world of progress. This year San Antonio is highlighted with HemisFair. The effect that HemisFair brings is another remarkable turning wheel. More employment, urban renewal, and the input of new money are only a few of the results. Promises of even greater things grow from this world's fair.

Yet the most important world to us is that of Jefferson. It is the world of a new generation, of new ideas, and of new progress. We explore the trials and errors of the other generations in order to find the best conclusion—the basis for another discovery. We become a confluence of people, and Jefferson becomes a major part of us. The tears of defeat never wane our spirit, but only strengthen our determination. The laughter of victory inspires further devotion. We come together to prove that Jefferson is better academically as well as athletically. Jefferson becomes a symbol of high quality. Each brings us together with a general ambition—the betterment of our school. This new generation must come together and not let small rivals become our downfall. In this way we will become another spoke of the Wheel of Progress. It will be our generation that will decide if progress will continue.

It is the purpose of the Monticello to record the historical events in the year of 1968. These include athletic events, club services, social events, and recognition of seniors, juniors, and sophomores. Most of the time we actually record the students being their natural selves. Yet our main purpose is to give the school a book that has their approval—one that they will treasure and say is theirs. Only then will the staff be satisfied.

Sincerely,

Cathy Carvel

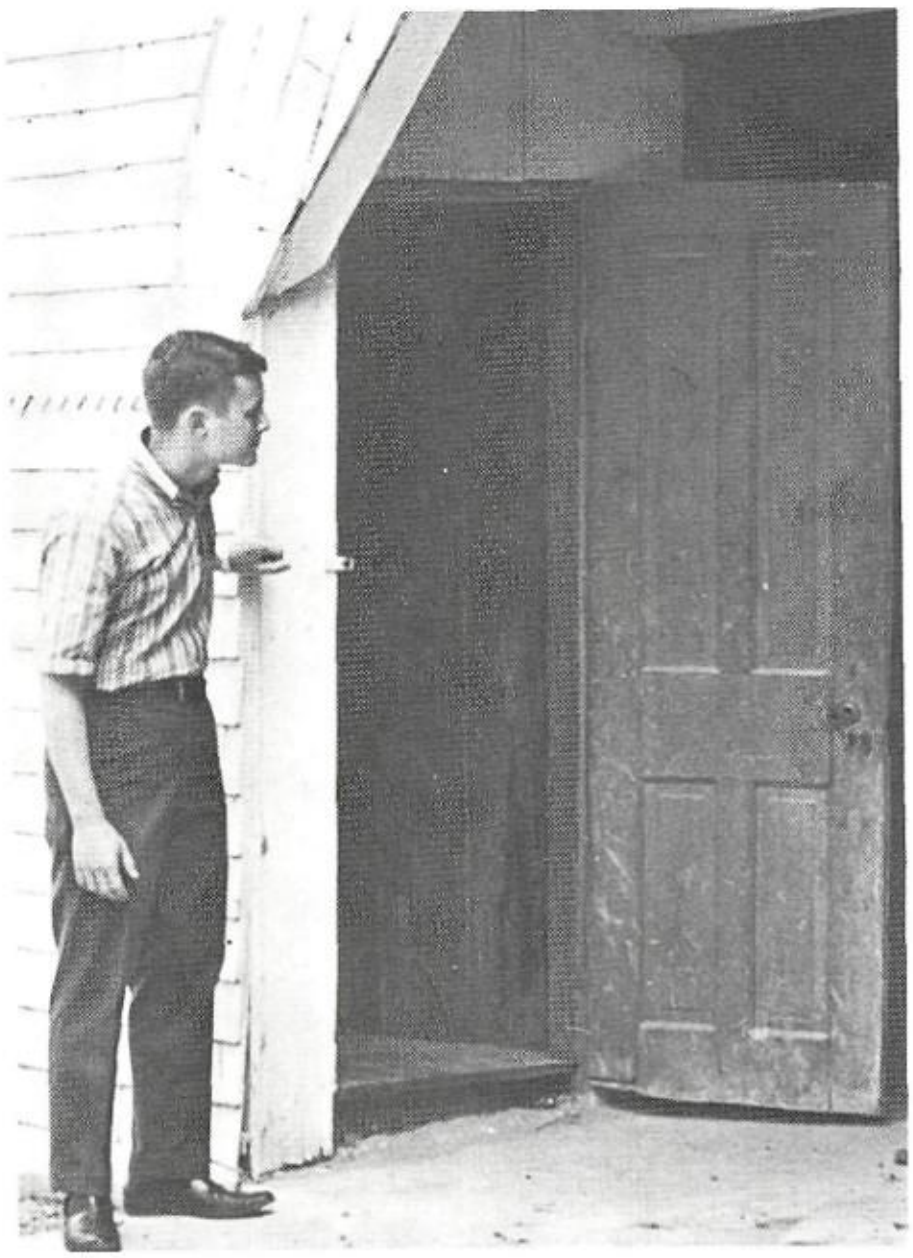
Individuality proved to be the spice of life as students delved wholeheartedly into the business of living. Whether dancing in the mystical magic of prom night, cramming furiously for finals, planing a block of wood, or investigating the mysteries of linguistics, they approached everything they did with zing and zest. The essence of individuality—being unafraid to challenge the powerful current of opinion in order that self-truth and self-fulfillment might be attained—sparked everyday life, lifting us out of a humdrum existence onto a plateau of life filled with the unusual, unexpected, and uncommon. Working or playing, each person left his own indelible stamp that branded events as memorable and unforgetable. These grace-notes of life resulted in a confluence of experiences whose sum total was a year unique in all the world of time.

Huge beams and girders hold the promise of interesting exhibits and eye-catching displays for fair-goers as the impressive United States Pavilion begins to take shape.

HemisFair

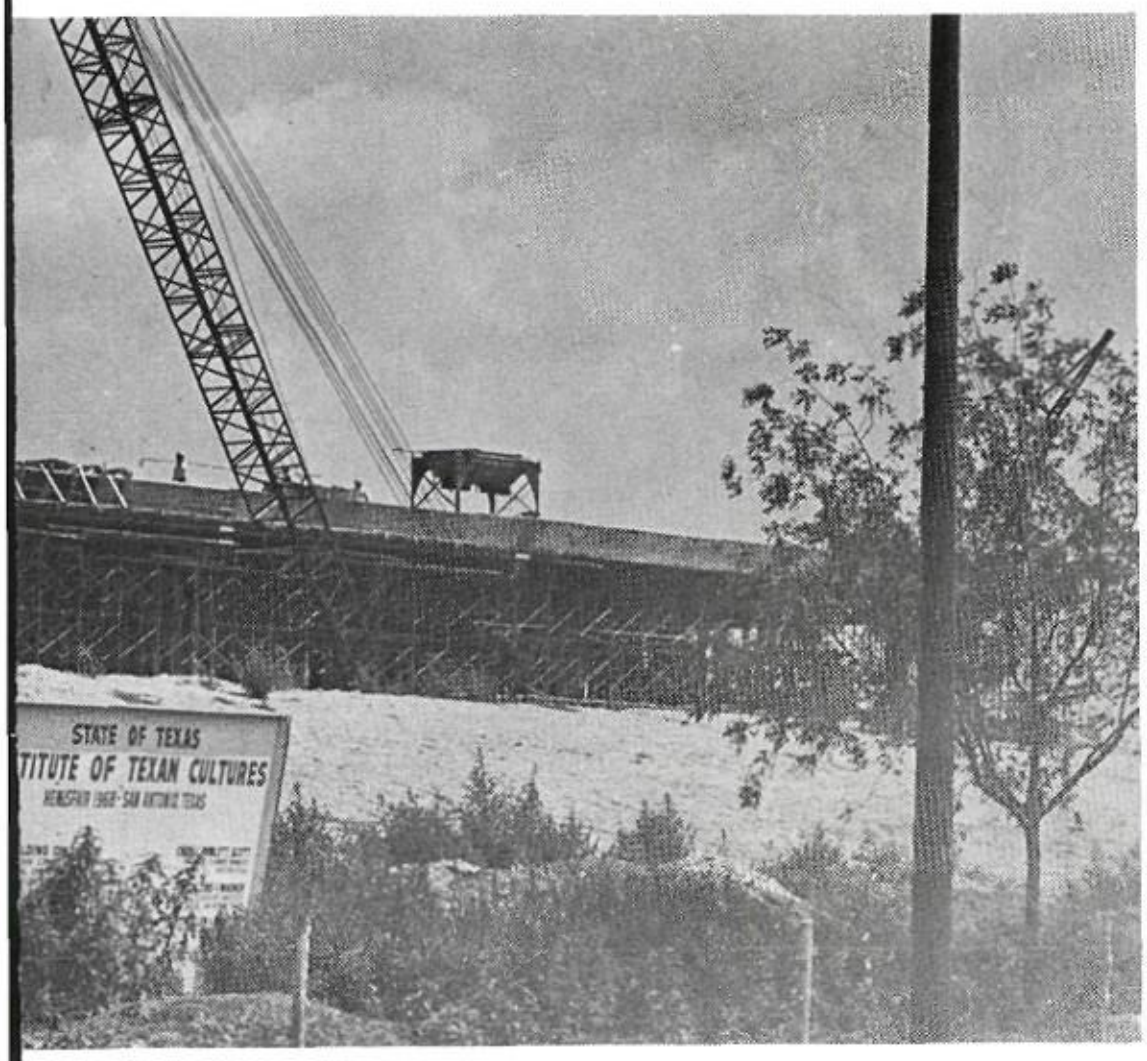


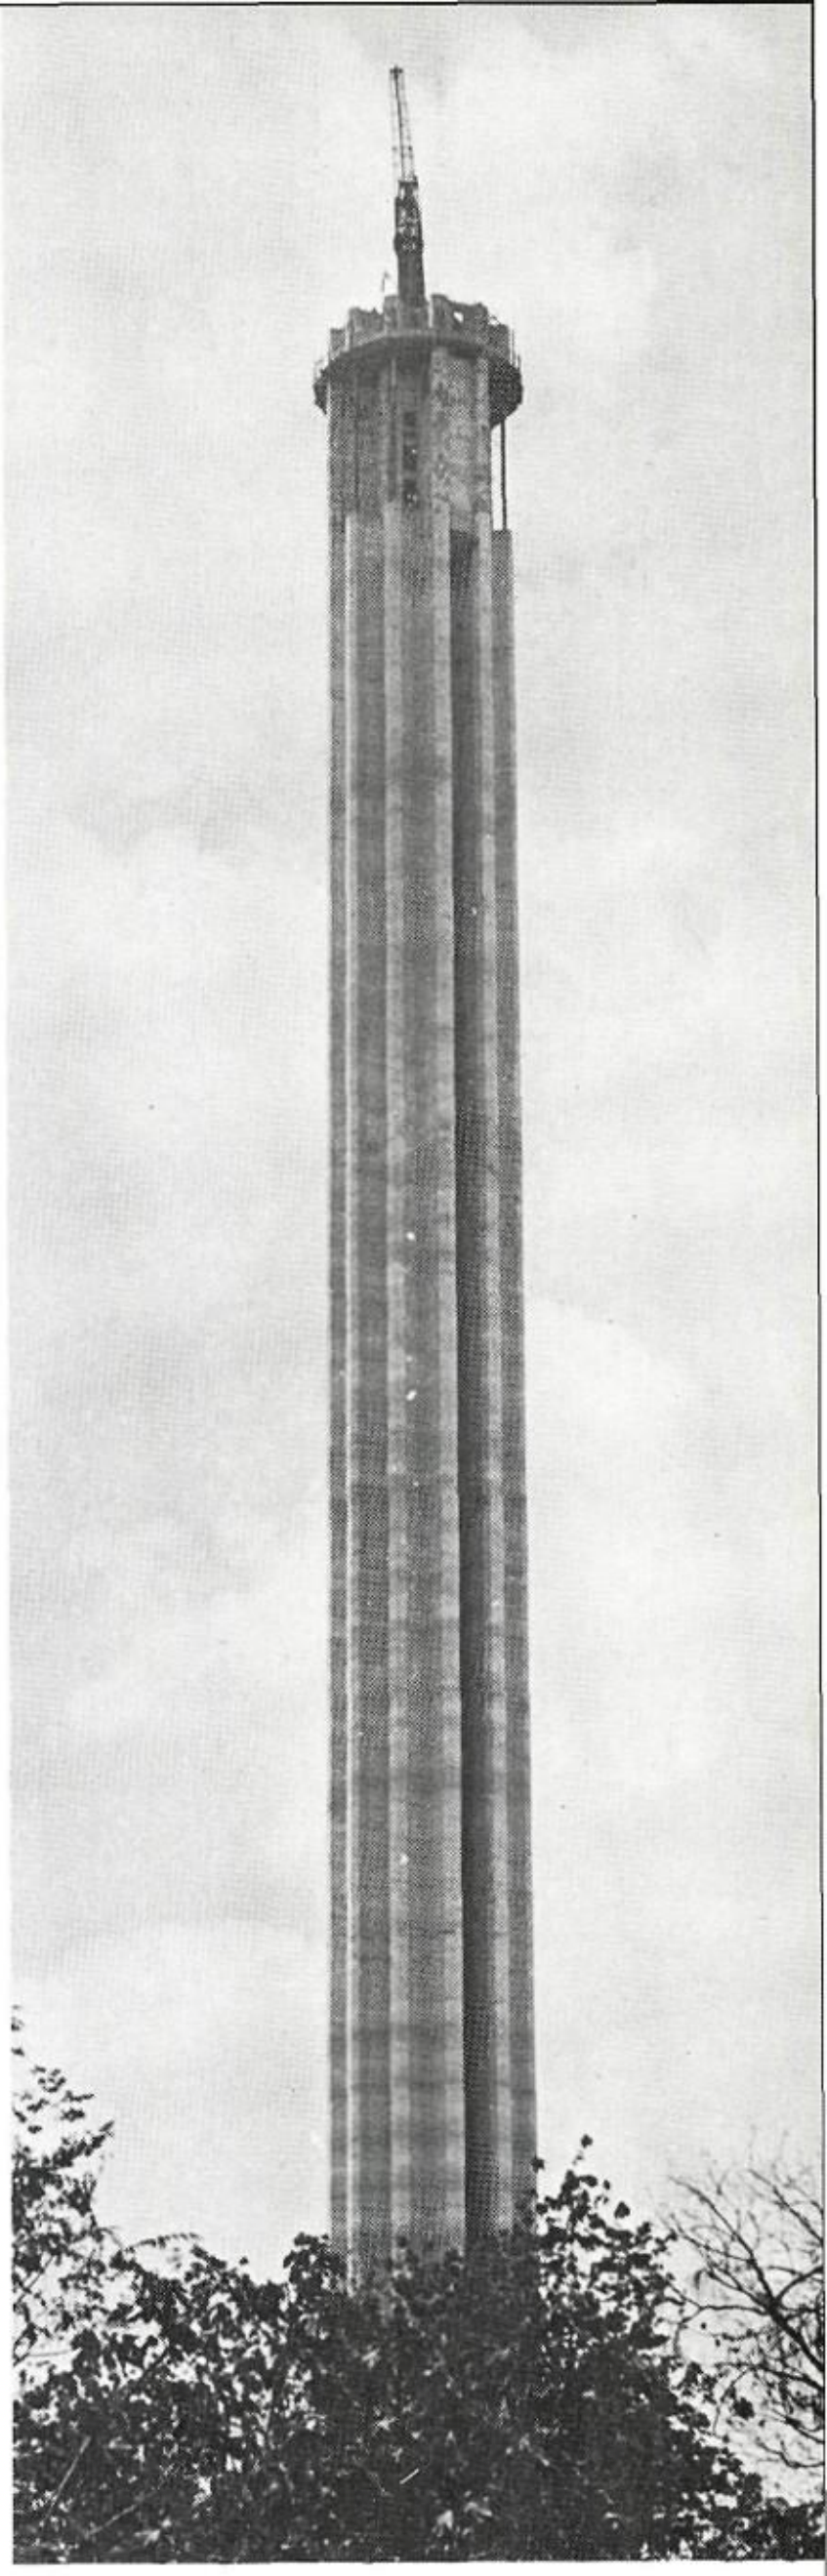
Restored buildings weave a special fascination for Nelson Block as he investigates this old house on the fair grounds.

When completed, the Institute of Texas Culture will be a main attraction of Hemisfair '68 with its storehouse of Texas artifacts, and treasure trove of Southwest folklore.

Bravely ignoring the warning sign, Nelson Block, Suzi Youngblood, and Janis Jay survey the world's fair at close range during its first stages of development.

Makes Progress





Even though only partially completed, the Tower of the Americas already strikes a majestic silhouette against the San Antonio sky.

New Lariat officers Lyda Winkenhower, Charlotte Forest, Jan Andrews and Patti and Barbara Glomski accept their braids, symbol of Lariat responsibility.

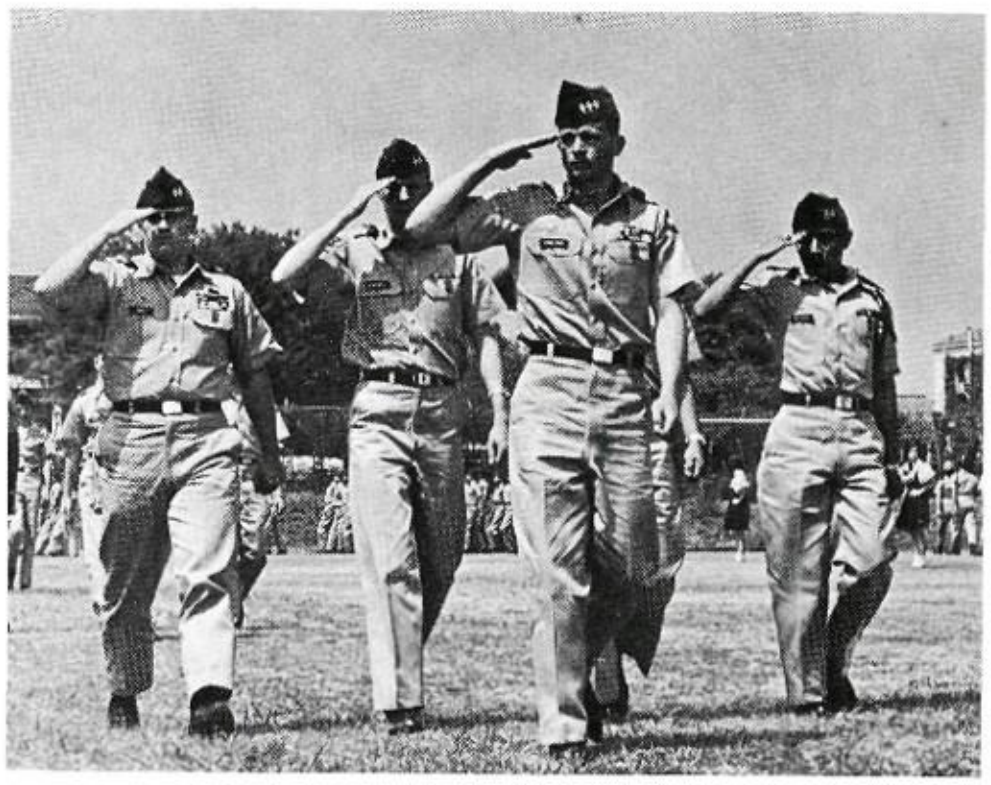
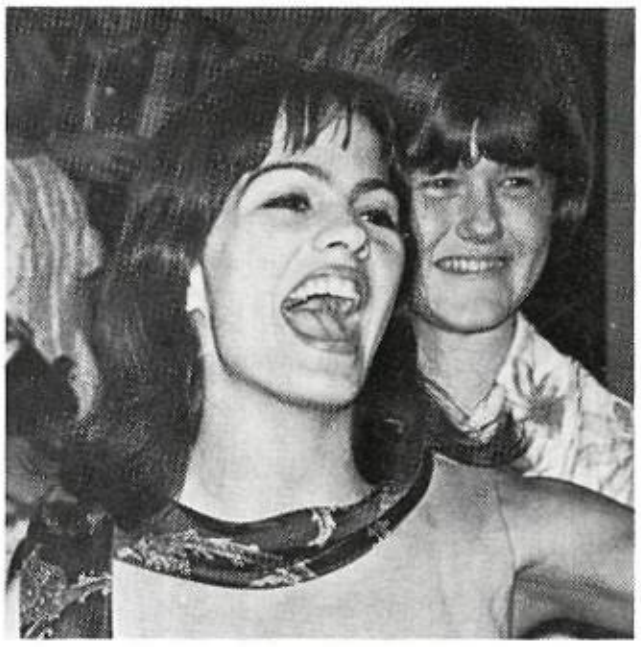
Chuckwagon Brings Rewards

Outstanding Lassos in every field come forward to receive their awards.



Giving their last salute as Jefferson's R.O.T.C. officers The Cadet Col. and company pass the reviewing stand.

One moment of joyous relief climaxes months of practice, anticipation, and preparation when Marlyne Riley, Kathleen Ferguson, and Sandy Perido are announced as new cheerleaders.



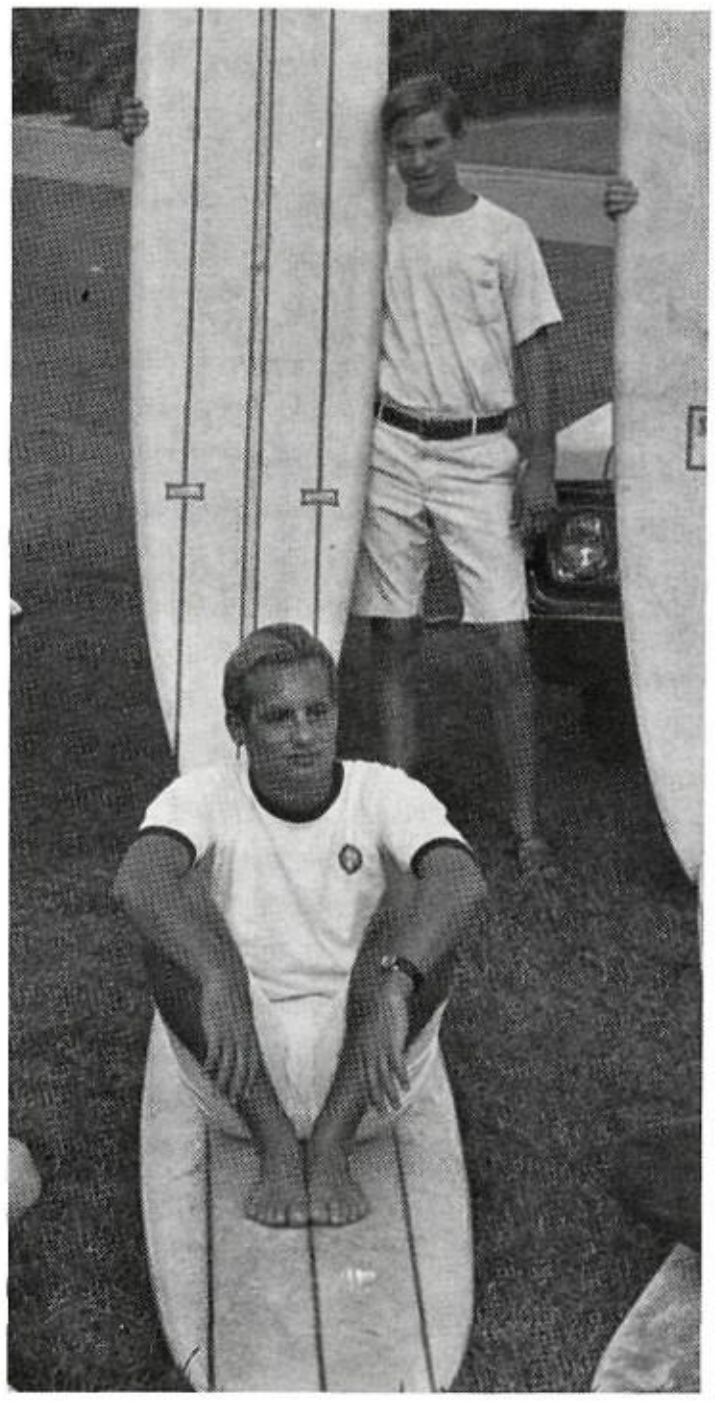
Overjoyed at her discovery that she is a new cheerleader Suzanne Gaskin screams with delight.

In the customary fashion Joyce Gensberg is dropped by her "big sister" Linda Guardia as Joyce is presented as a new Mustang cheerleader.

and Relief

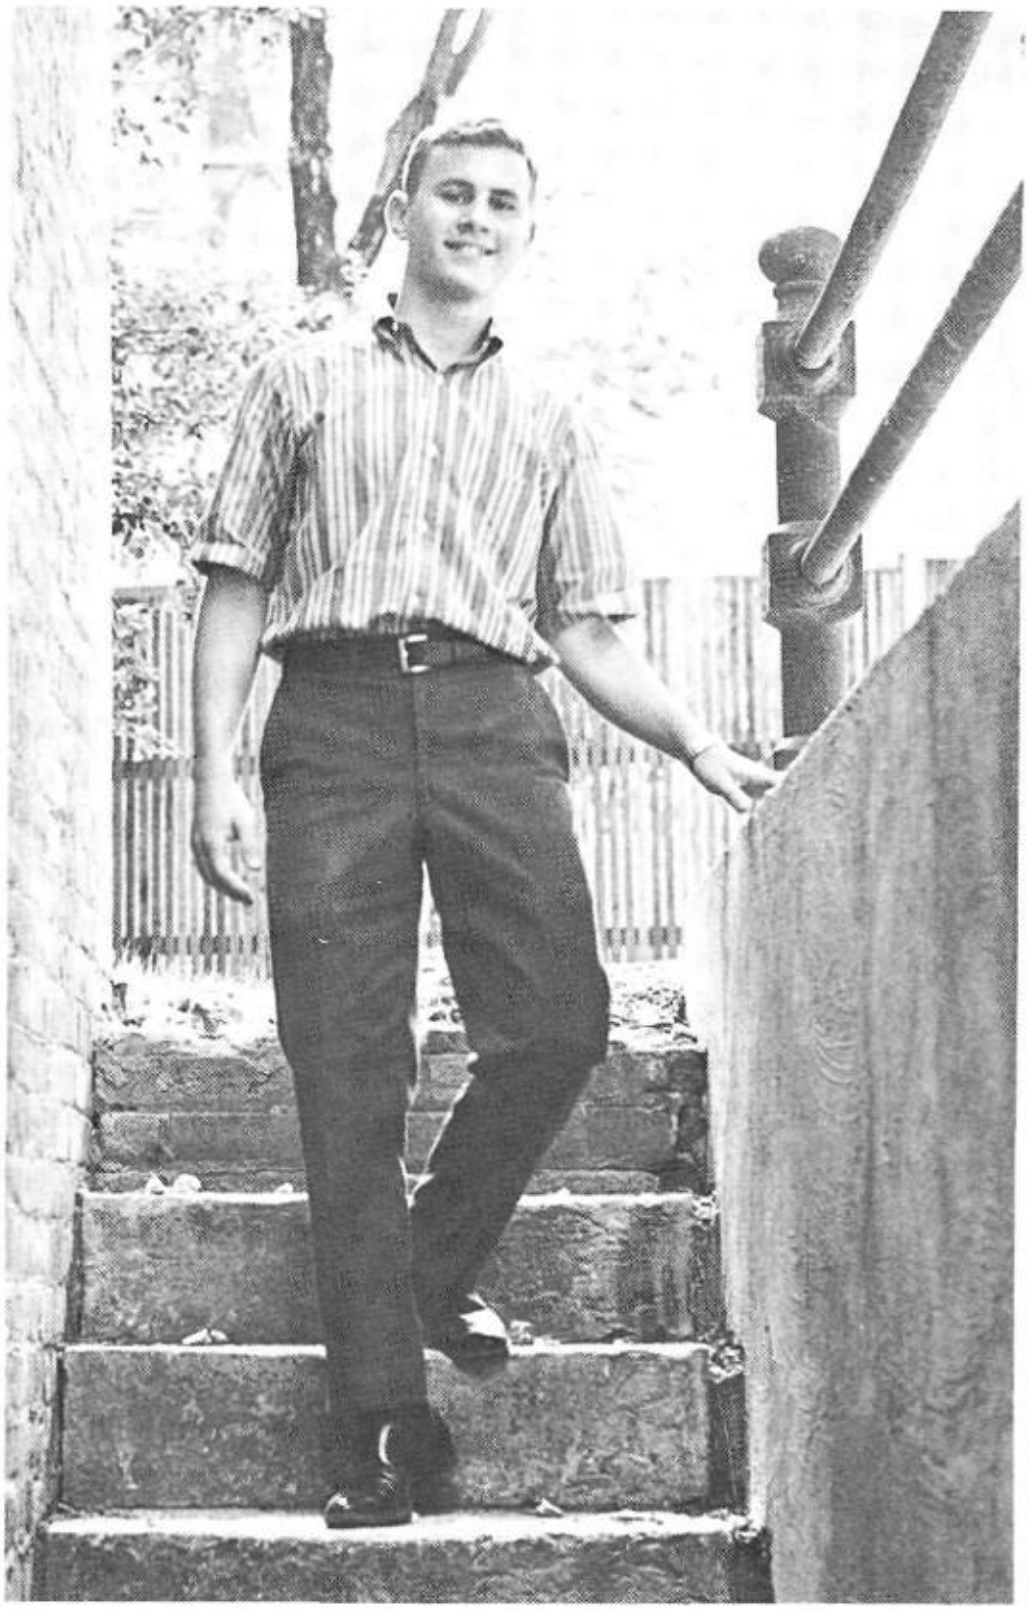
"The new Mustang cheerleaders for 1967-68 are . . . " Tears of happiness and giggles of delight from ten happy girls greet this anxiously awaited news. Linda Herring reflects all reactions in one elated expression, while Gail Bransford and Suzii Youngblood beam as they anticipate their new roles.

Spring Brings Special Sporting Fun



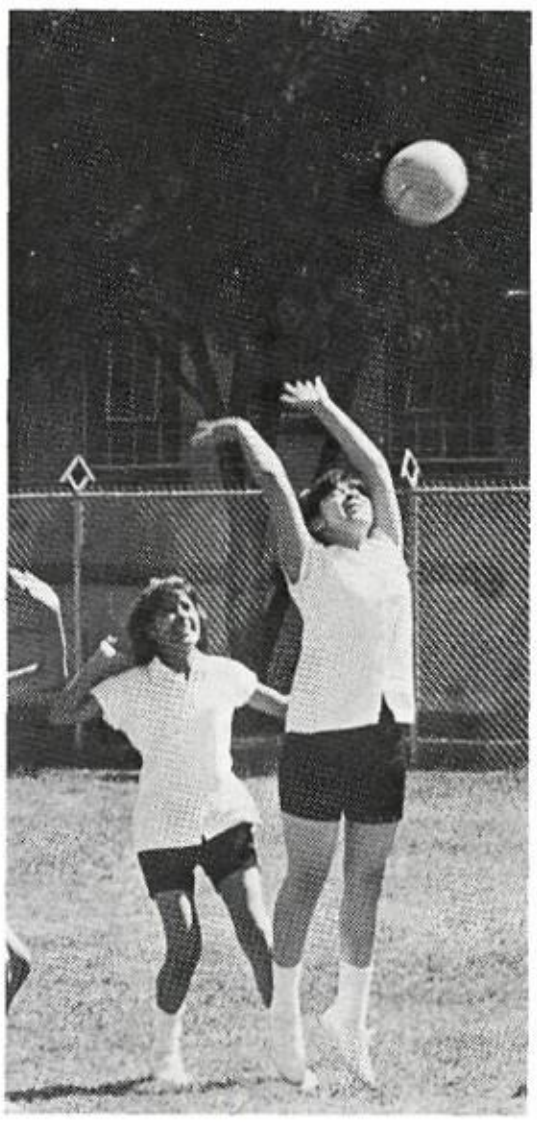
Along with April Showers and May Flowers comes the Surfing Season. Awaiting a Port Aransas jaunt are Paul Adkins and Larry Barrish with their waxed surfboards ready to go.

Exploring on his own, Nelson Block investigates an old house being remodeled as a restaurant for Hemisfair.



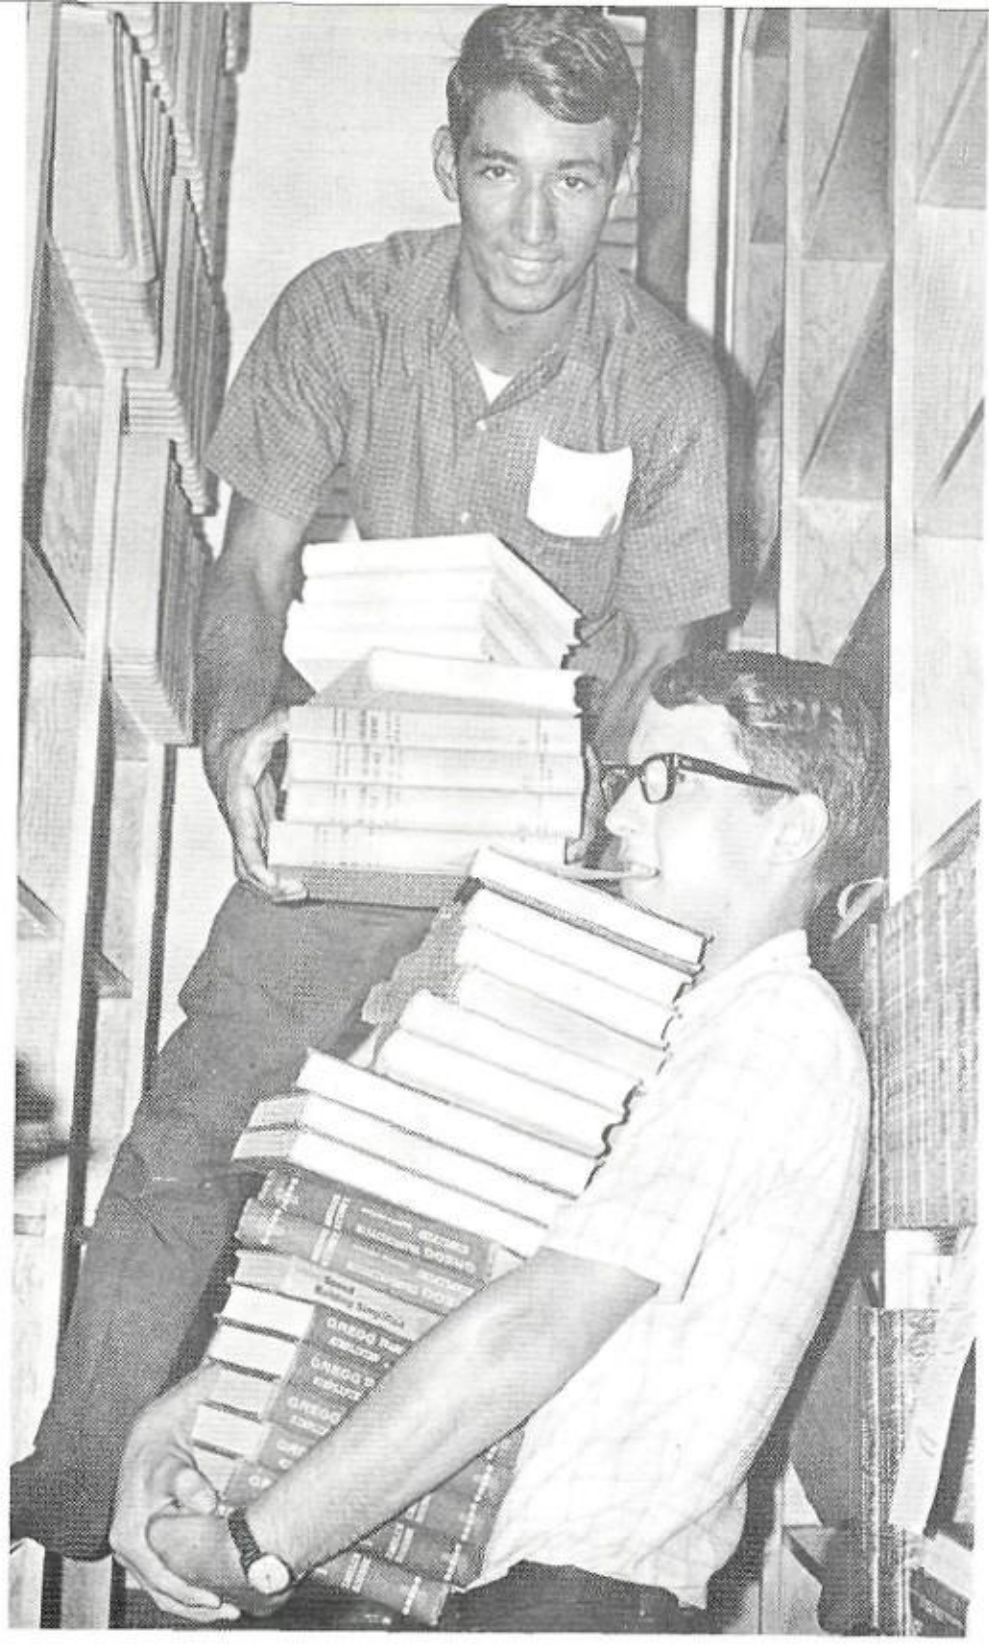
While waiting for the next set of waves, Ditto Davis shows Paul Adkins and John Reeves the size of an incredible Gulfbreaker.

Before leaving for the Texas Coast, Ditto Davis, Buster Byrum, John Reeves, Paul Adkins, Larry Barrish, and Pat Maddox prepare for the trip.

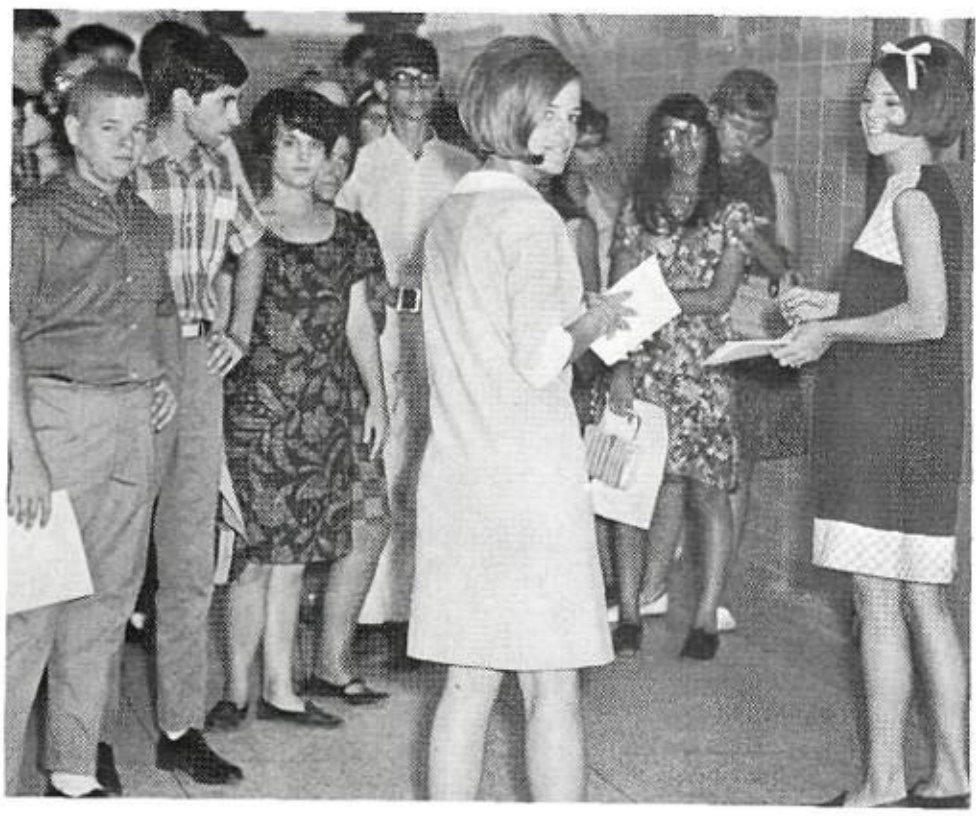


Among the spring activities enjoyed by Jim Hicks and Beth McMill are fun-filled class outings, while Girls' P.E. classes find pleasure in a fast volleyball game.

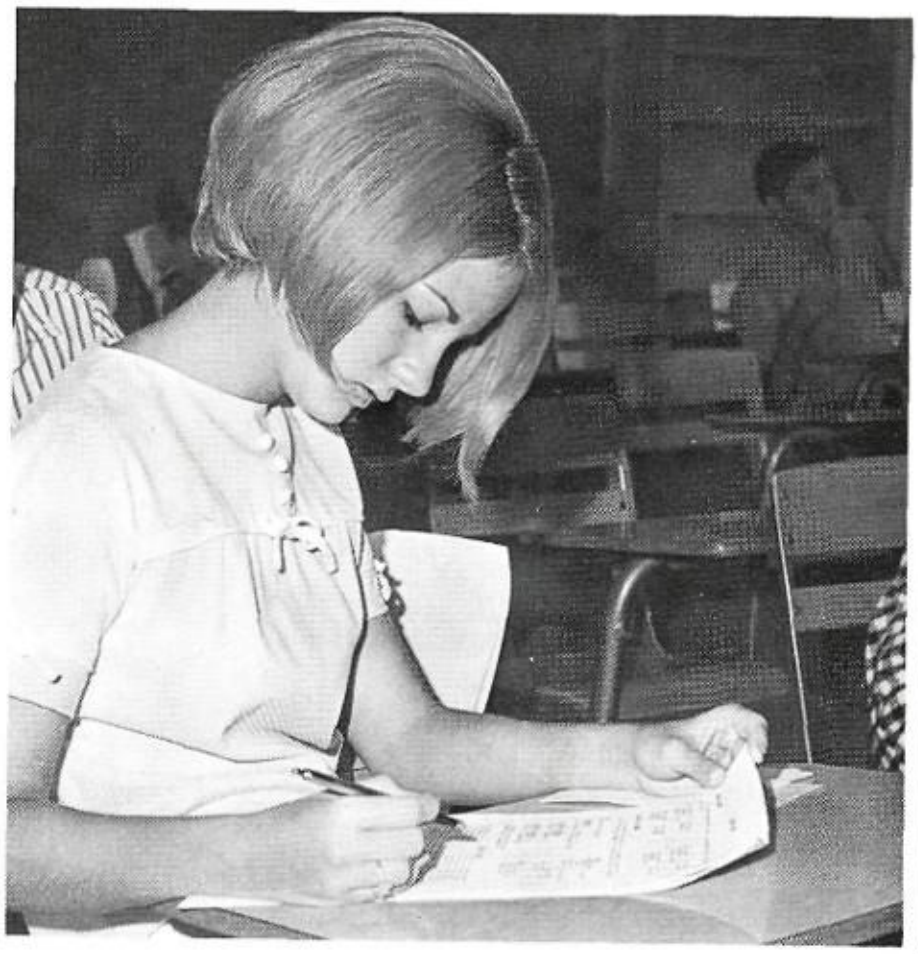
Old Students



Books just seem to keep piling up for David Cortez and James Graham when these Student Council members work in the room.

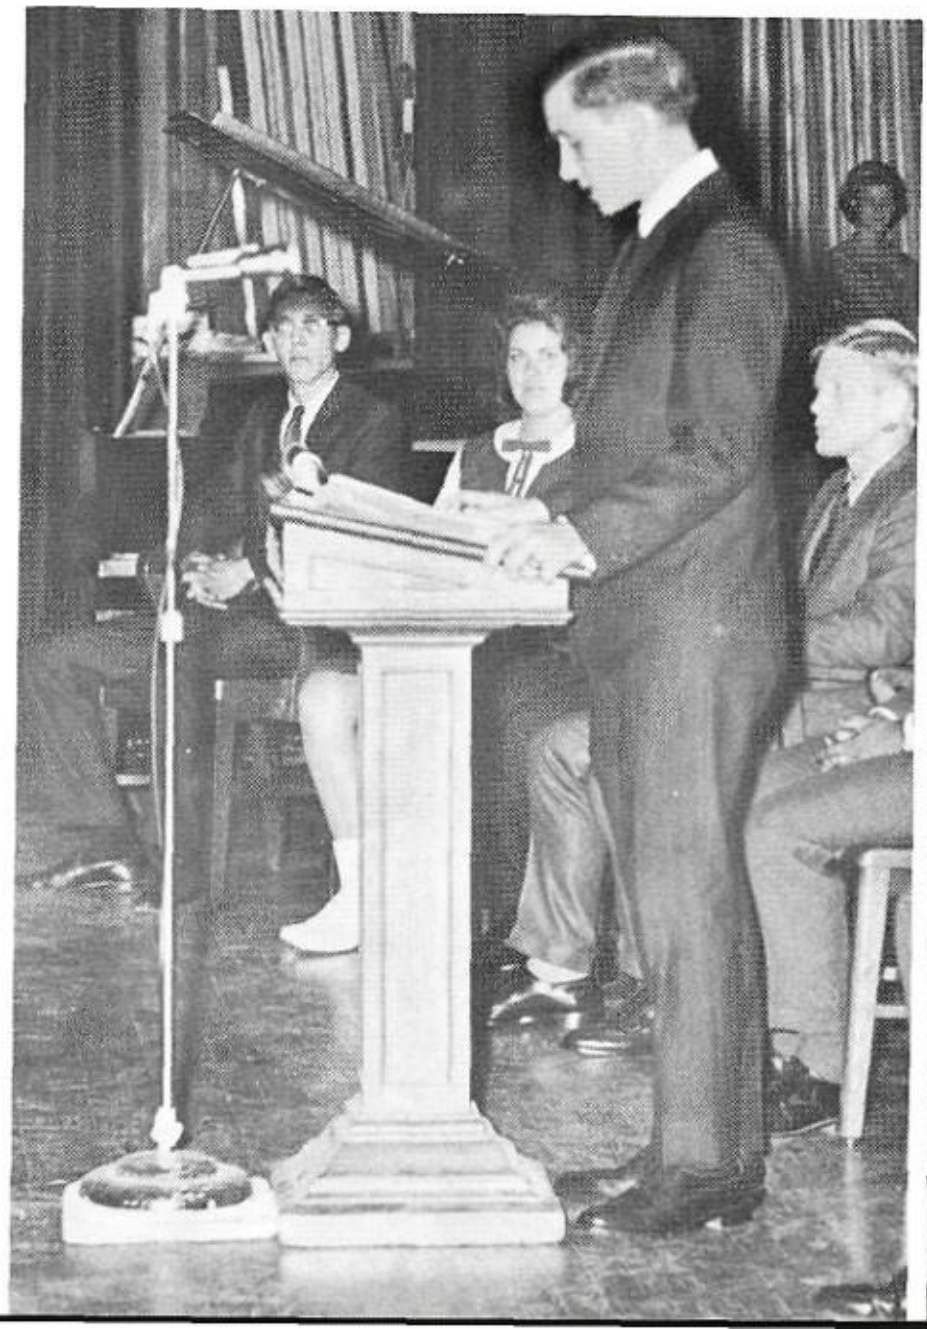


Seniors Jyl Harrison and Lynn Pieper escort new sophomores on an excursion around the campus on Orientation Day.



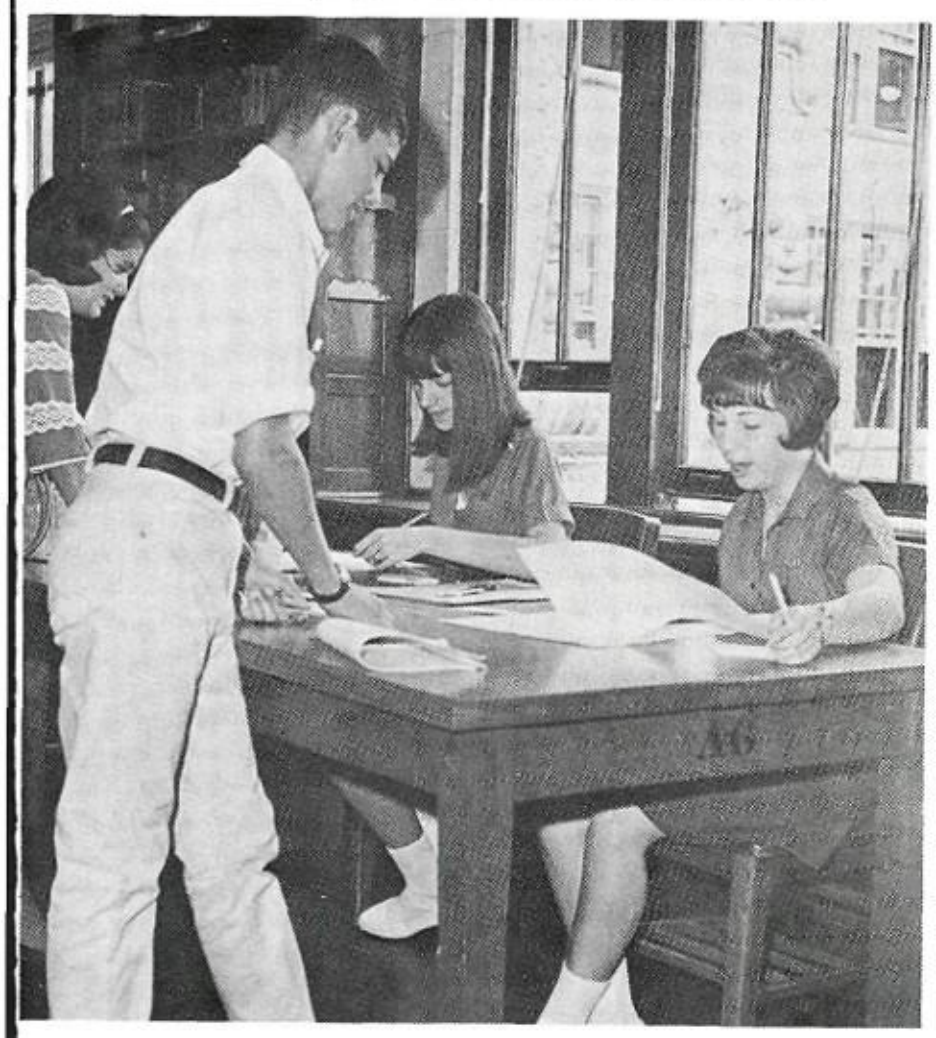
By beginning the day with a well planned schedule, Bobby Francis found it easier to run for classes.

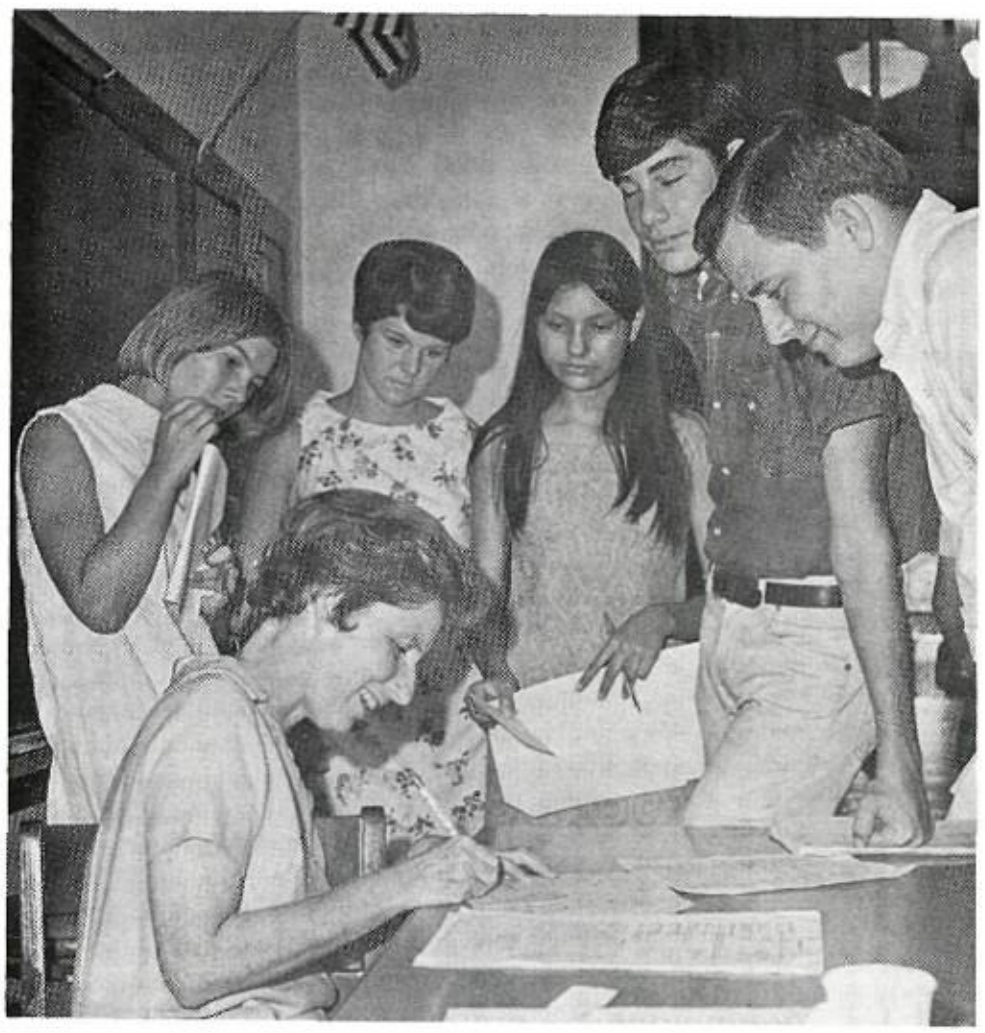
Explaining the many functions, activities and rewarding experiences clubs offer for new students is Donald Drane at the Sophomore Orientation in August.



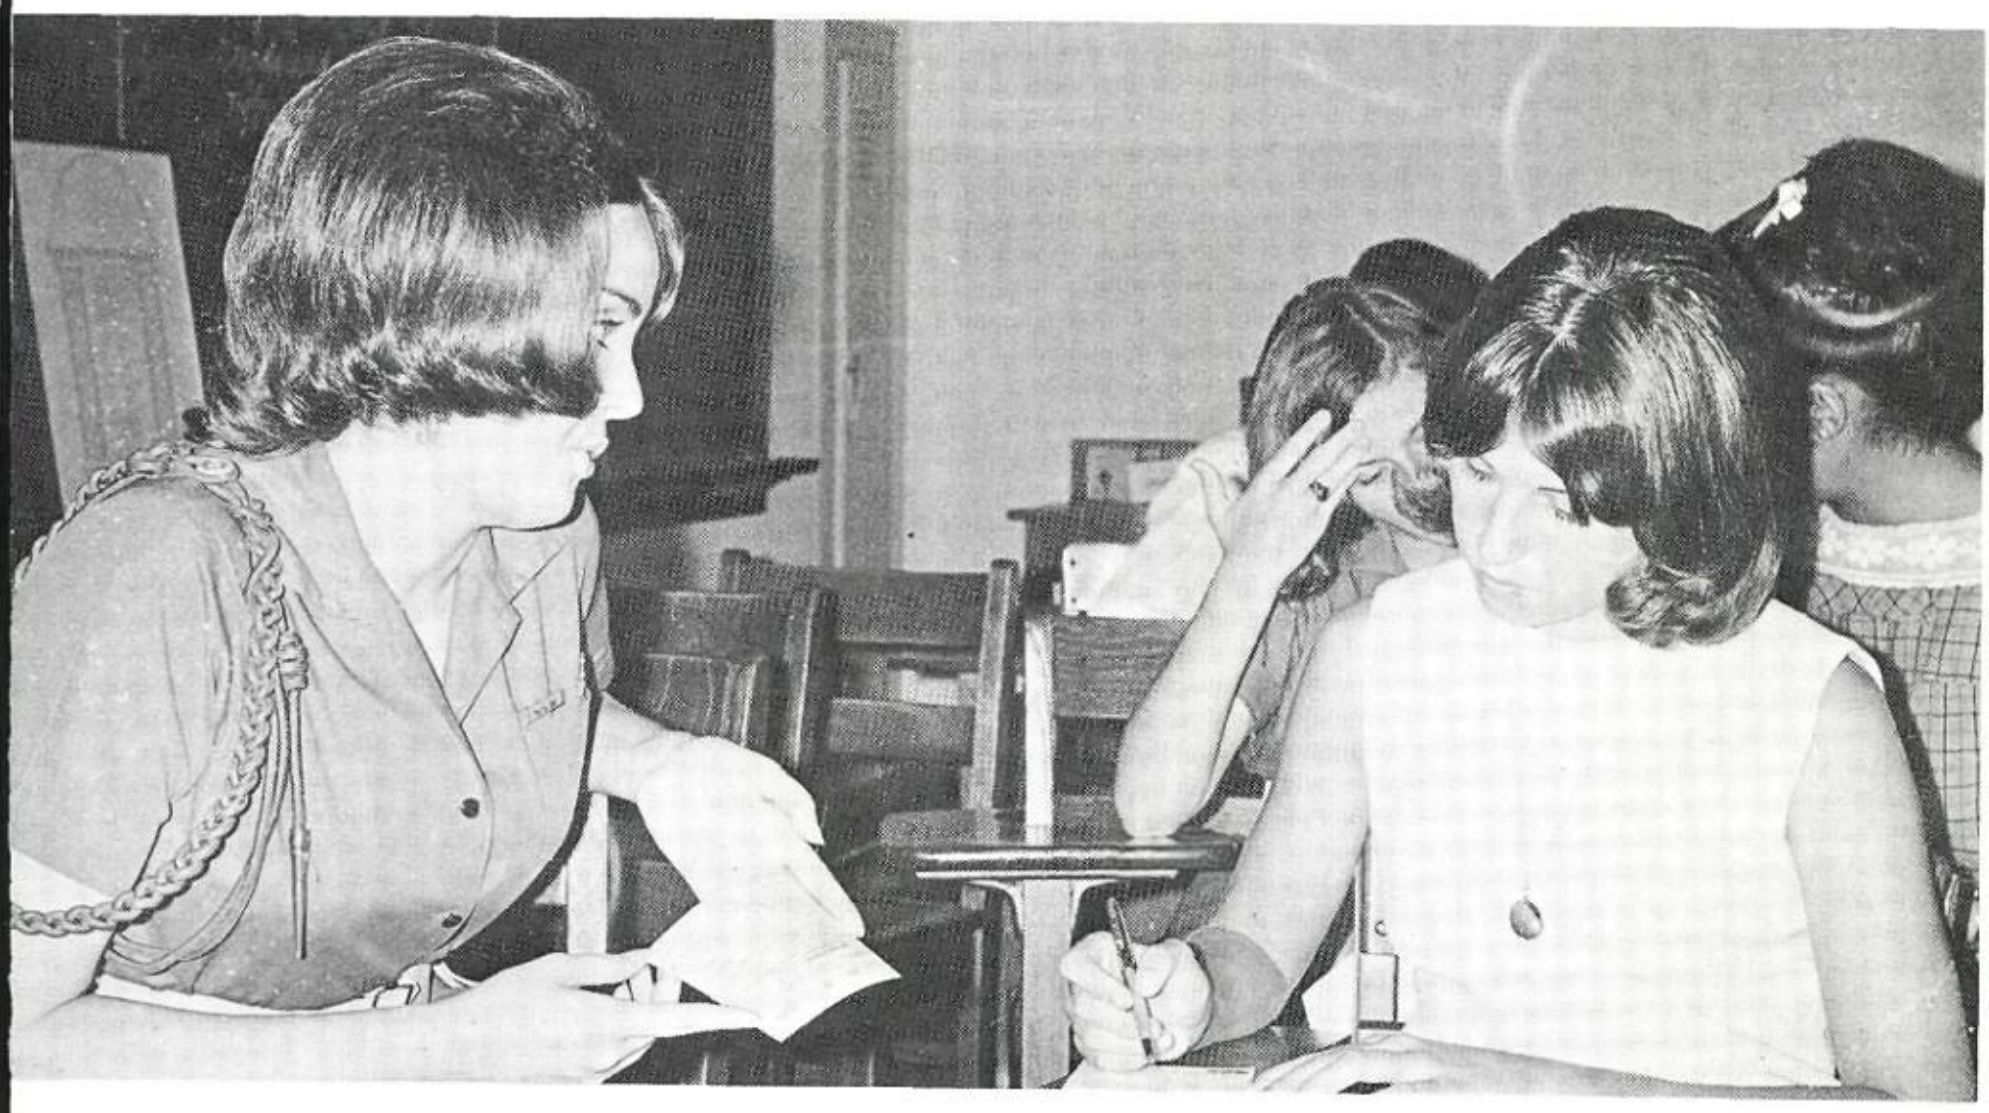
Help Newcomers

After walking through miles of halls and waiting patiently for classes to open, students finally come to the library for Lassos Sandy Roberts and Cathy Pryor to secure a seat for study hall.





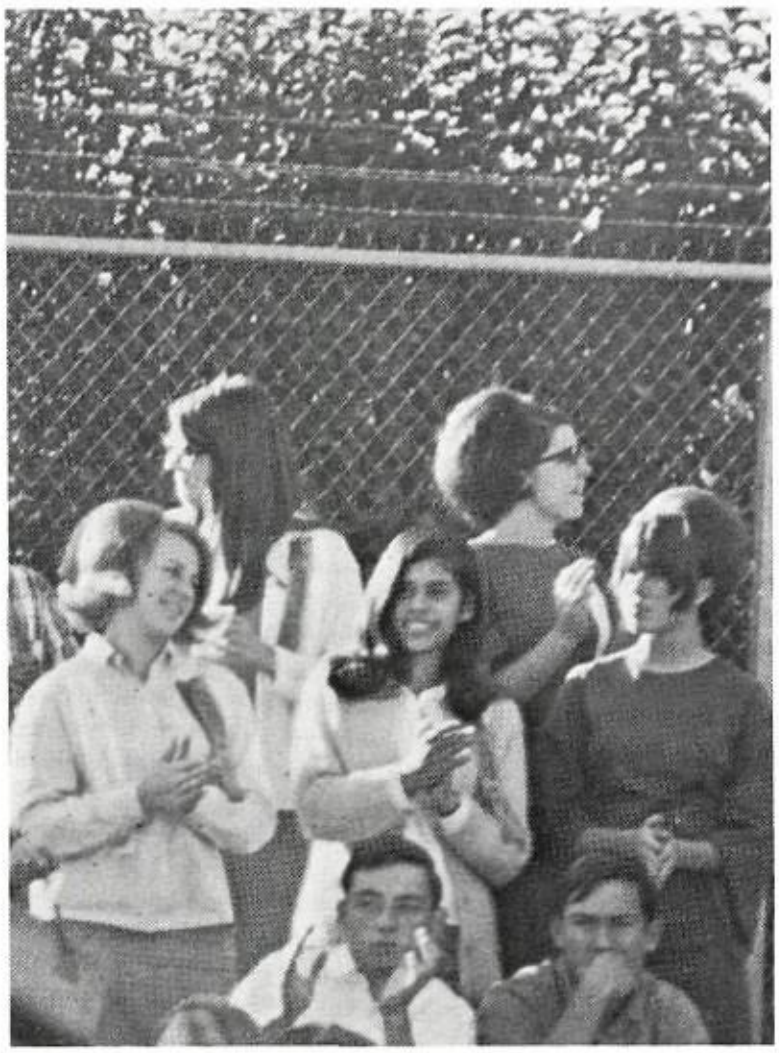
Registration Day can be a trying occasion not only for students but for teachers, also. Nevertheless, Mrs. Mary Jo Smith presents a welcoming smile to all prospective students.

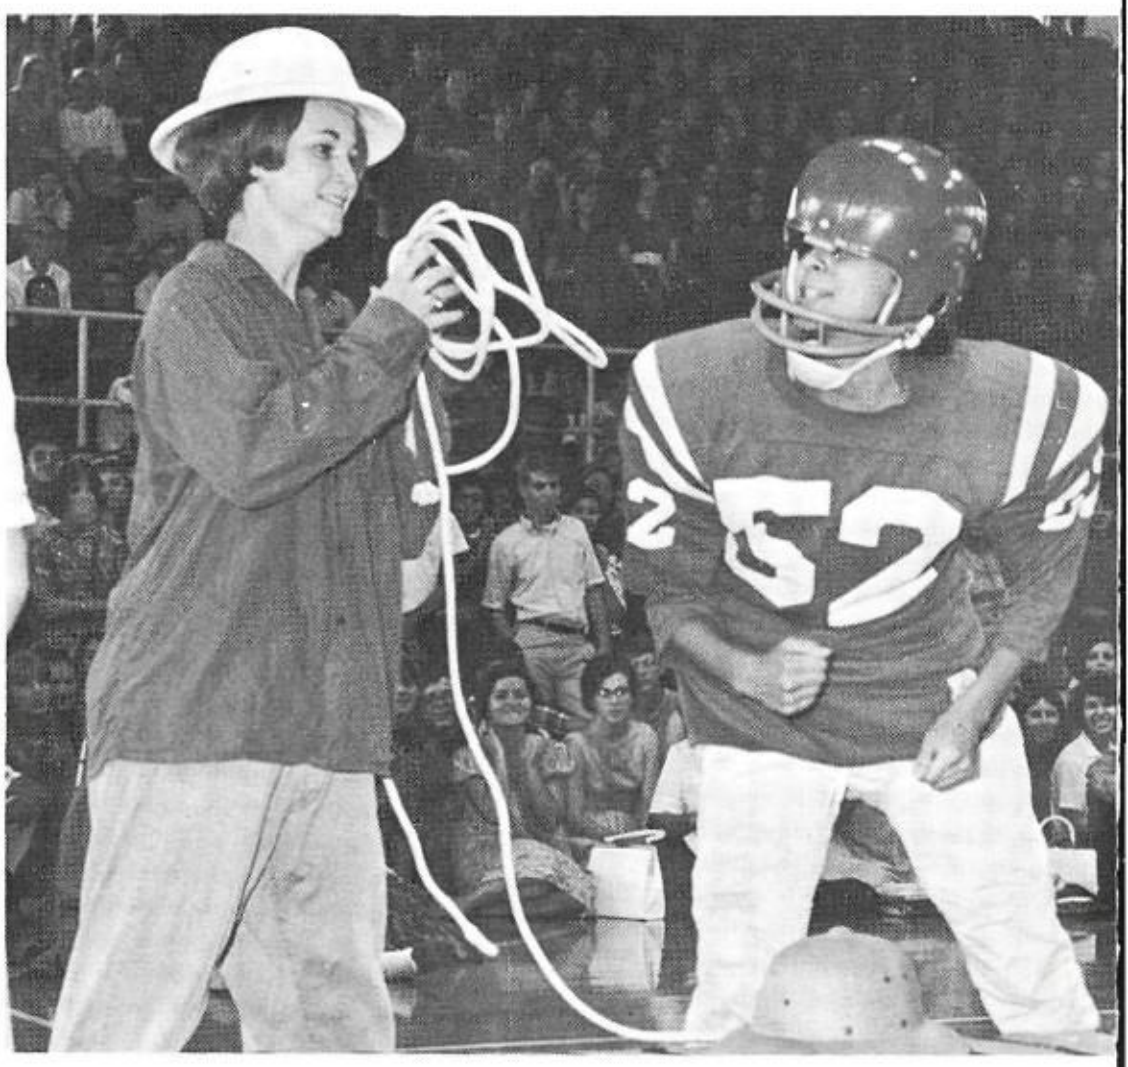


New sophomores, including Carol Ward, discover that arranging their schedules is not half as difficult as it seems when Lasso June Mitchell lends a helping hand.

Band members sway to the music of "Sunday Morning" as they entertain the crowd during a time out.

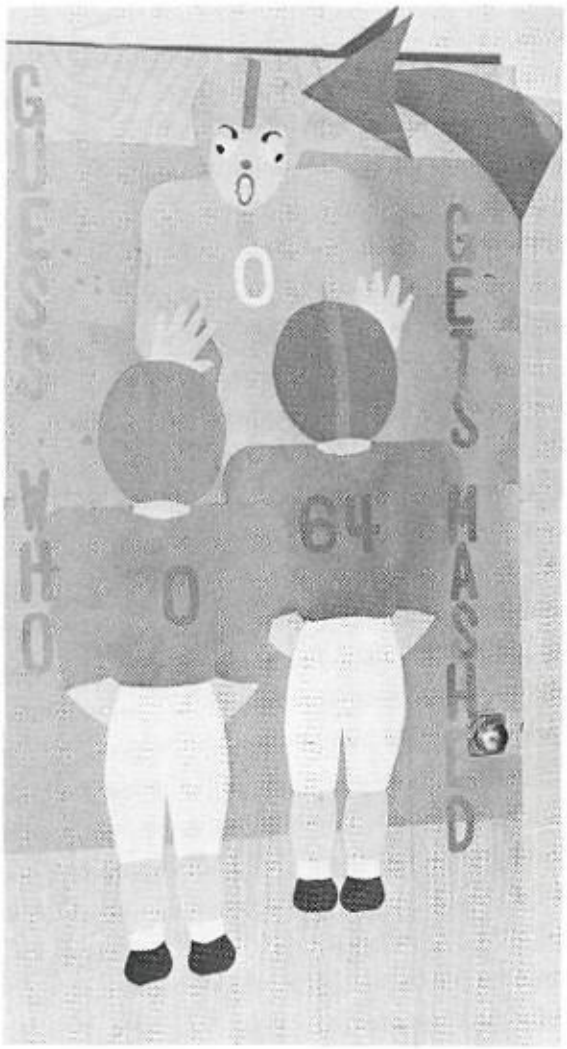
Victorious Ponies give Red and Blue supporters a lot to root about on sunny Thursday afternoons.





In their skit at the season's first pep rally, cheerleaders Janice Jay and Linda Herring success in poking fun at the Carroll Tigers.

Boosters Sway to the Rhythm of Spirit



Spirit week door decorations, such as Mr. Lanny Naeglin's, display much planning and ingenuity on the part of the students, not to mention their all-out effort to support their team.

Well-wishers give the Mustangs a rousing farewell as their bus departs for Corpus.

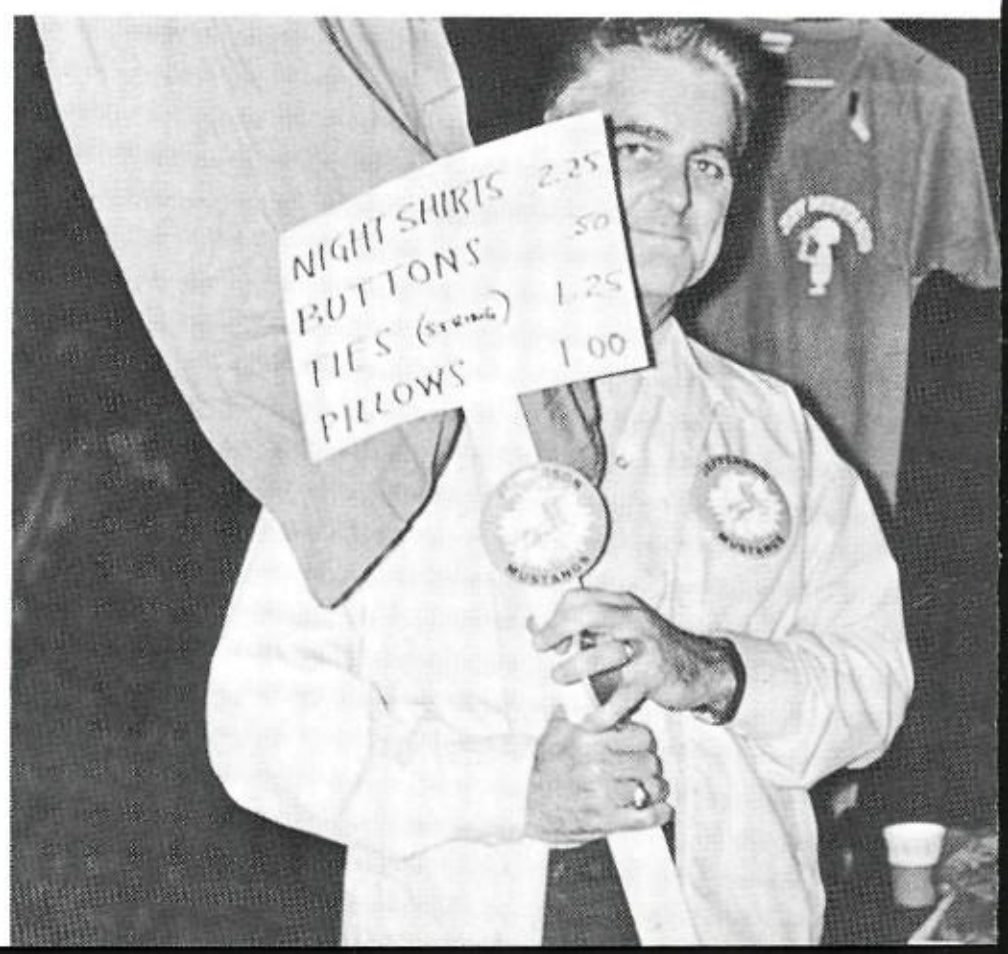
Cheerleaders, led by Marlyne Riley, swish their pom-poms as they lead the crowd in singing "Mister Mustang."

Proud to show that they are Mustang supporters, Gwen Williams and Pat Walker stop on their way to lunch to buy booster ribbons from Lynn Pieper and Sherry Oefinger.

People Show Varied

When Color Day comes each week, Basketball Coach Mr. James Heiser shows his individuality by donning his bright red sweat shirt, certainly a different Color Day attire.

Utilizing the soft grass in front of the Student Council pond, Jackie Greene and Larry Barrish find a new and different place to enjoy each other's good company.

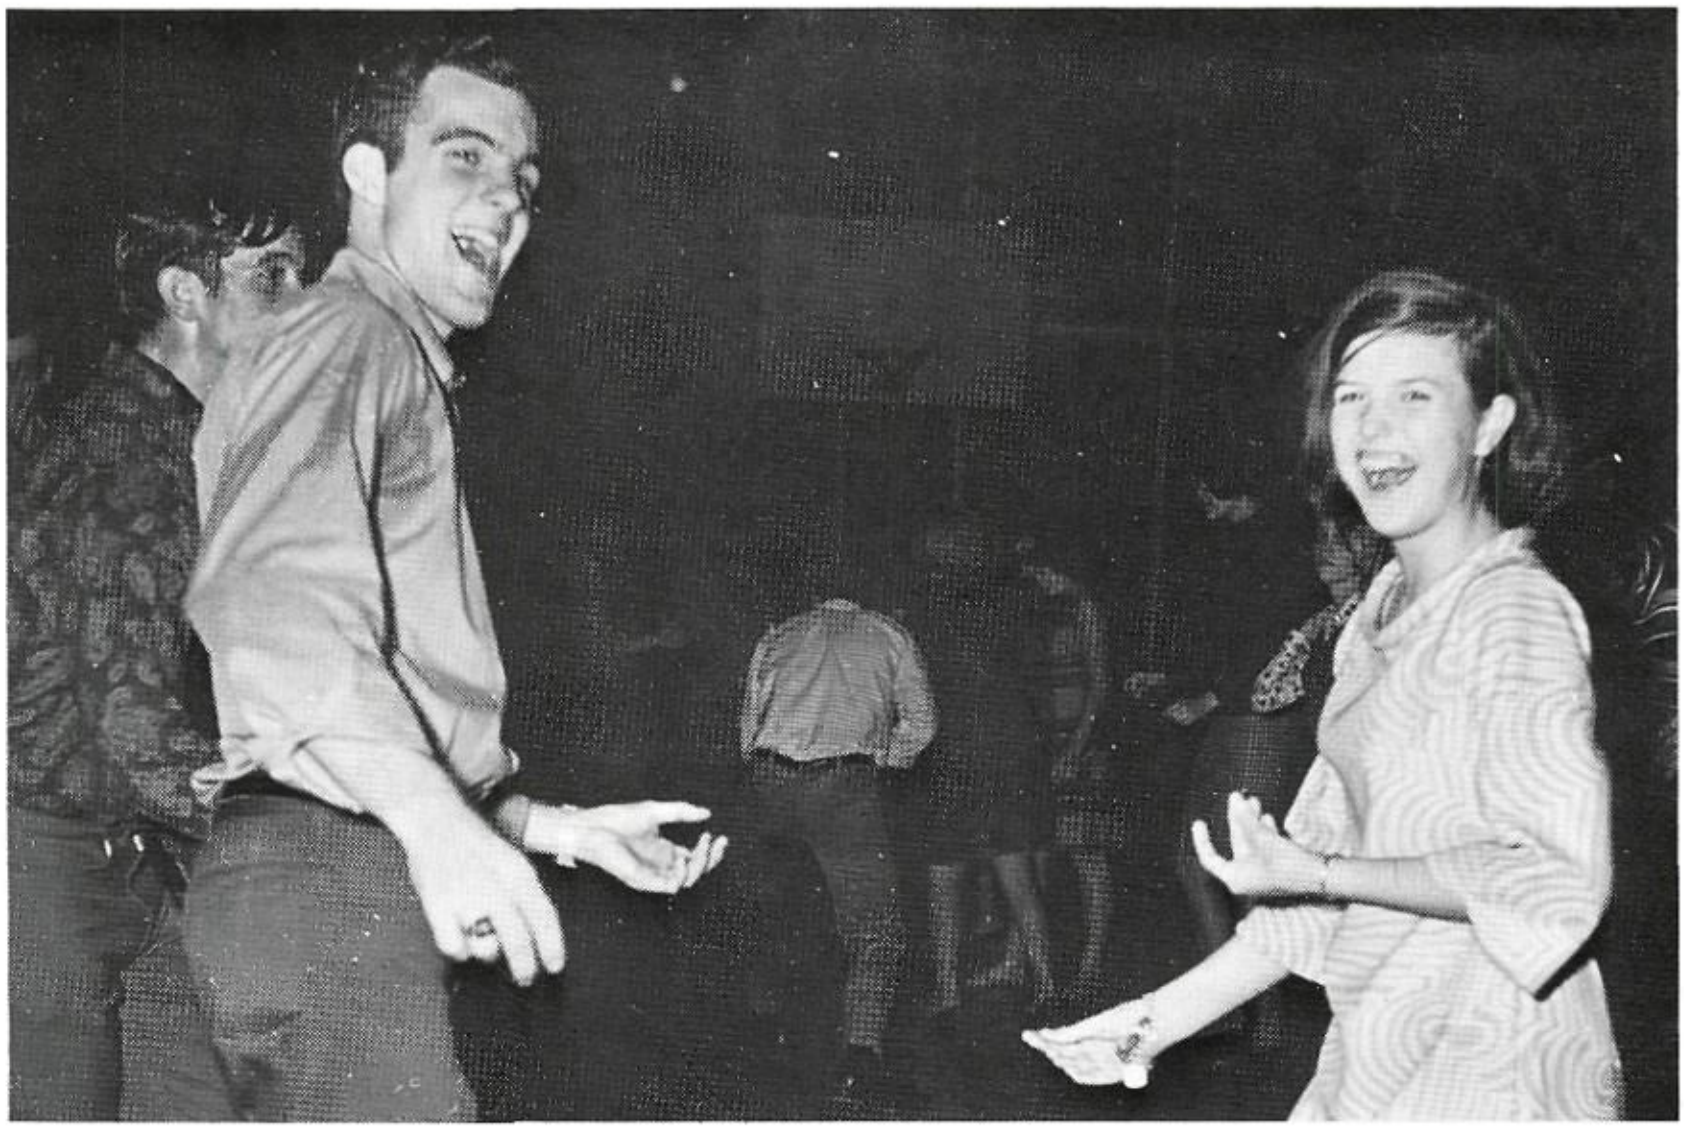


Interests

Loyal Mustang boosters find a new way to support their school by buying Jeff night shirts, buttons, ties and pillows from P.T.A. parents.

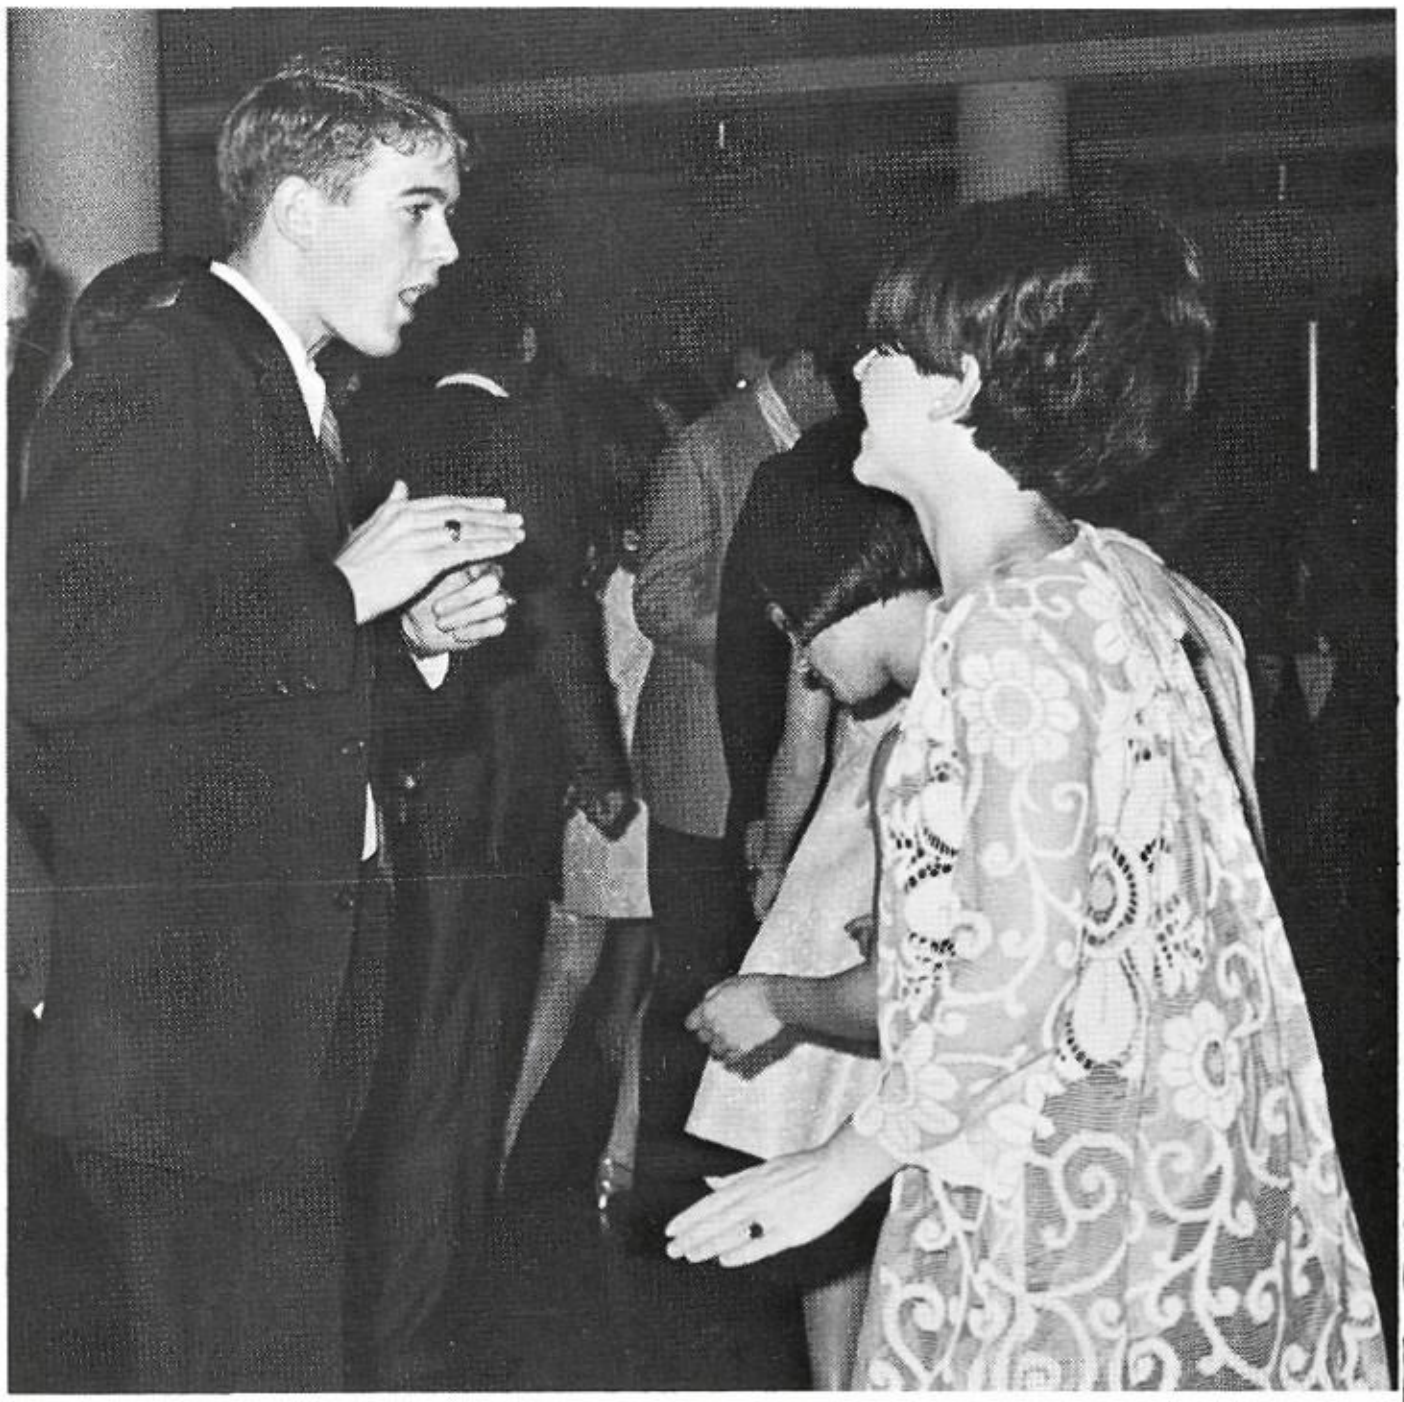
Either someone wants to drive a bargain with Donny Wideman for the English Bookstore's last copy of Hamlet, or a roving group of judges has just chosen Nancy Post as flower child of the week.

Finding a place to put her books and purse while she looks over the library roll requires some ingenuity on Cindy Hyman's part.

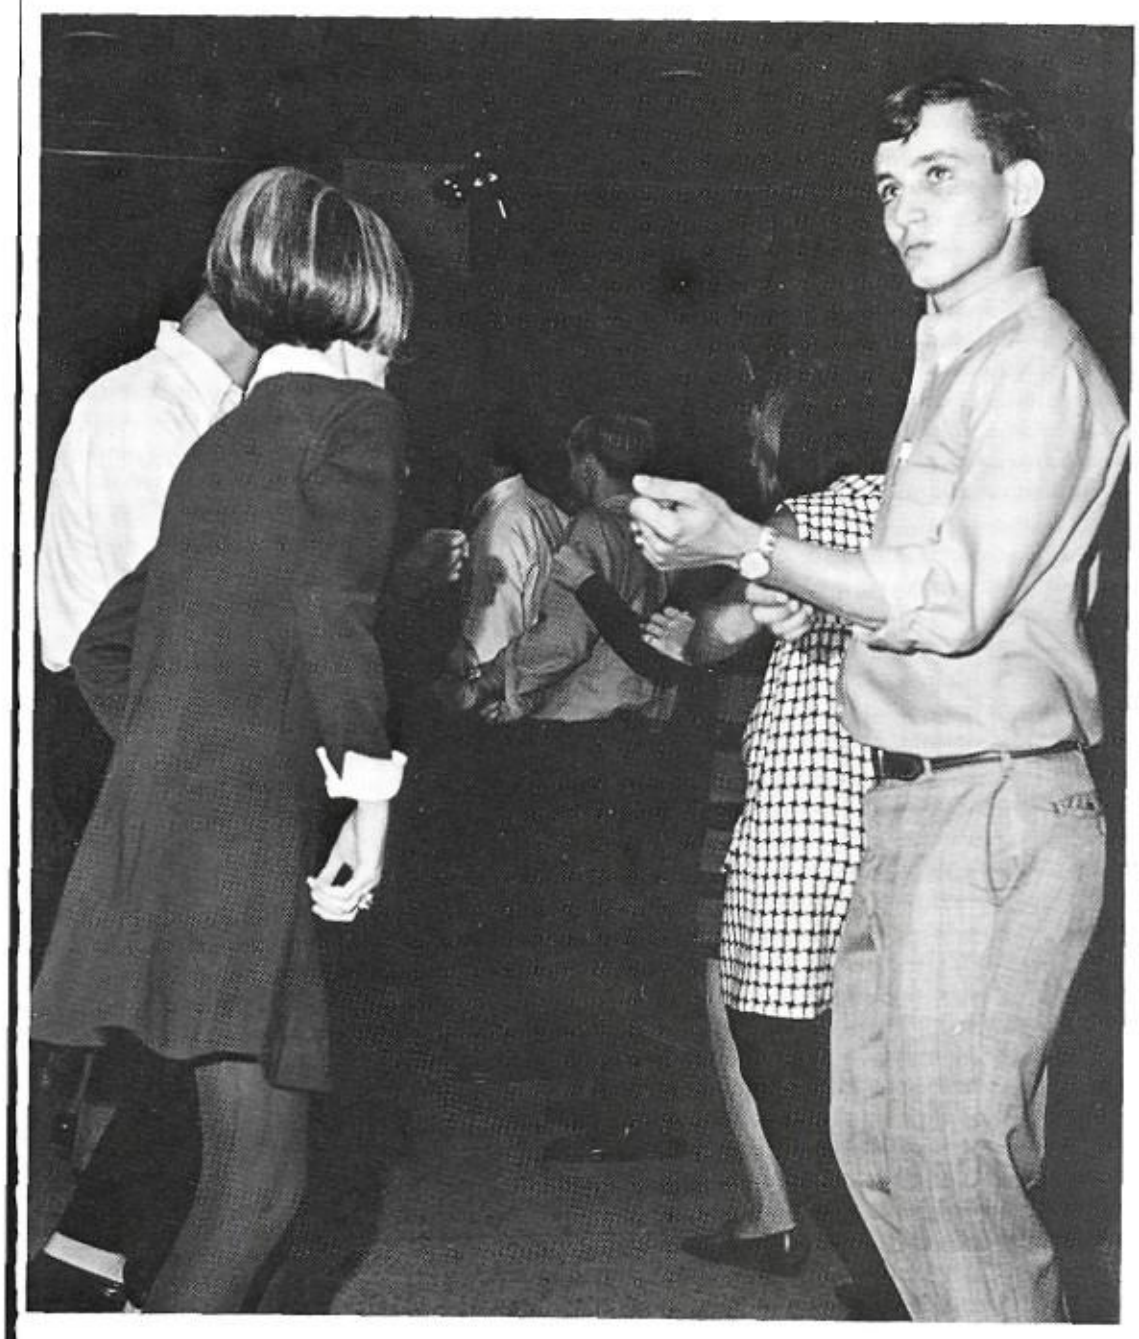


Certainly enjoying a Mustang spirit dance, Brian Haas and Cristi Shock join in the beat of a "soulfull" boogaloo.

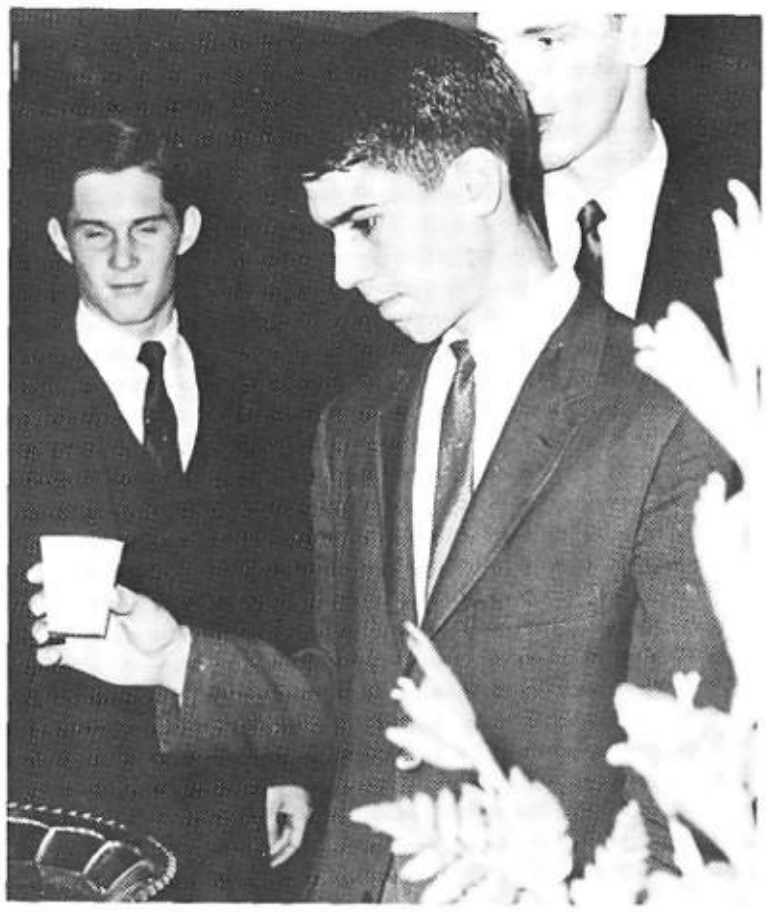
After a long day of decorating, Dottie Duffin pauses to admire her handiwork.



Groovin' to the music of the "Infinite Staircase," Jay Robison and his date Debby Mims enjoy the Senior Dance.



Awaiting a cup of punch for his date, Jojo Galindo takes a breather between dances.

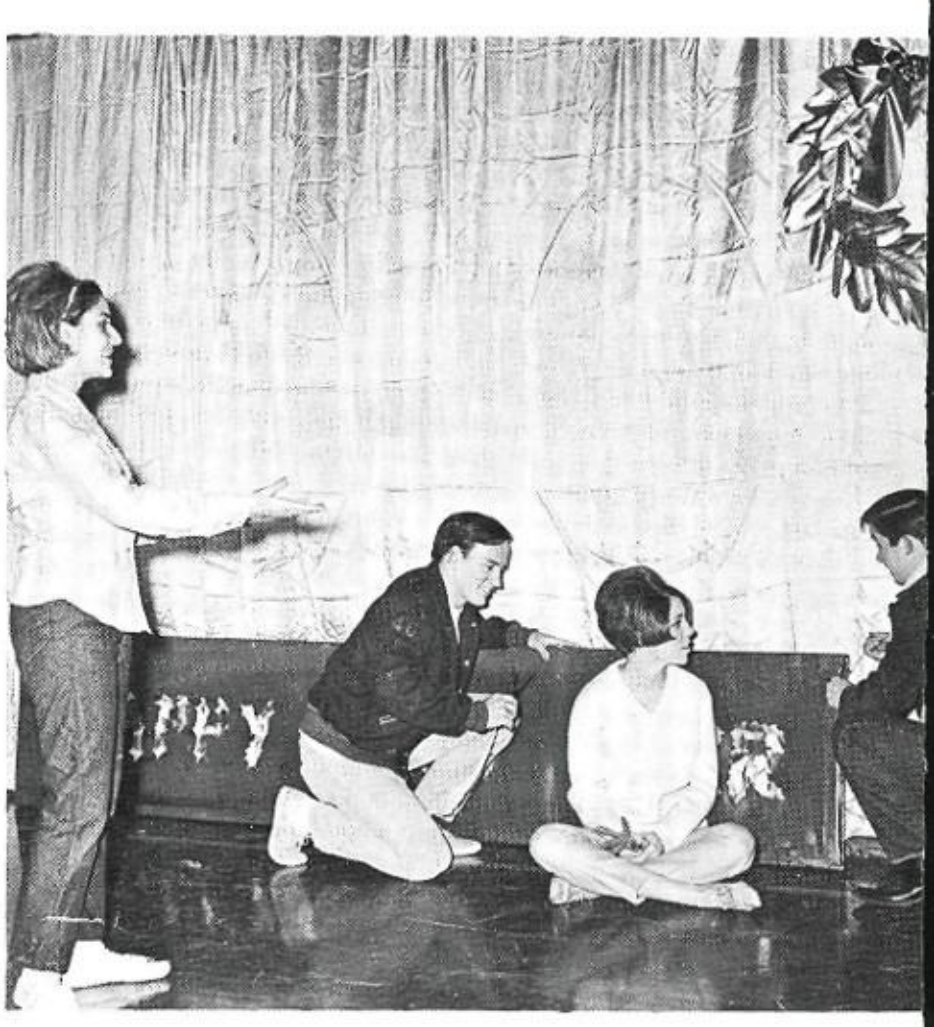


Heading the "Ring Dang Doo" lineup with a little soul is Donald Drane and his date Nancy Eubanks.

Dances Demand Super Fab Soul

Providing the enthusiastic beat for a Mustang spirit dance are the Fabulous V Canadians.

And the Beat Goes On



Dances flavored with romantic themes, dances celebrating a Mighty Mustang Victory, dances sporting a class' chosen colors—these events spiced the social scene at school this year. But long before the first note sounded, the dance had already begun. A confluence of students, teachers, and administrators had planned and worked for weeks to guarantee everyone a smiling good time. They had bargained, searched, and hunted for ideas to make their dance a really special occasion. Their reward? Quite often a smashed thumb, a wrenched back, or total exhaustion. But all the work and all the worry of those preceding days seemed to vanish quite miraculously with the first hello, the first dance, and the first beat of the drums. The night encompasses all the work, worry, and concern and consolidates it into enjoyment and excitement, as the beat goes on.

Trying to sell her hair so she can buy her husband a Thanksgiving present Karen Konze goes to Madame Sofronie's (Francie Pons) shop, in the Thanksgiving play, "Gift of the Magi."

Besides his duties as commentator for the student concert series, Mr. Harvey Biskin also performs as timpanist of the orchestra.

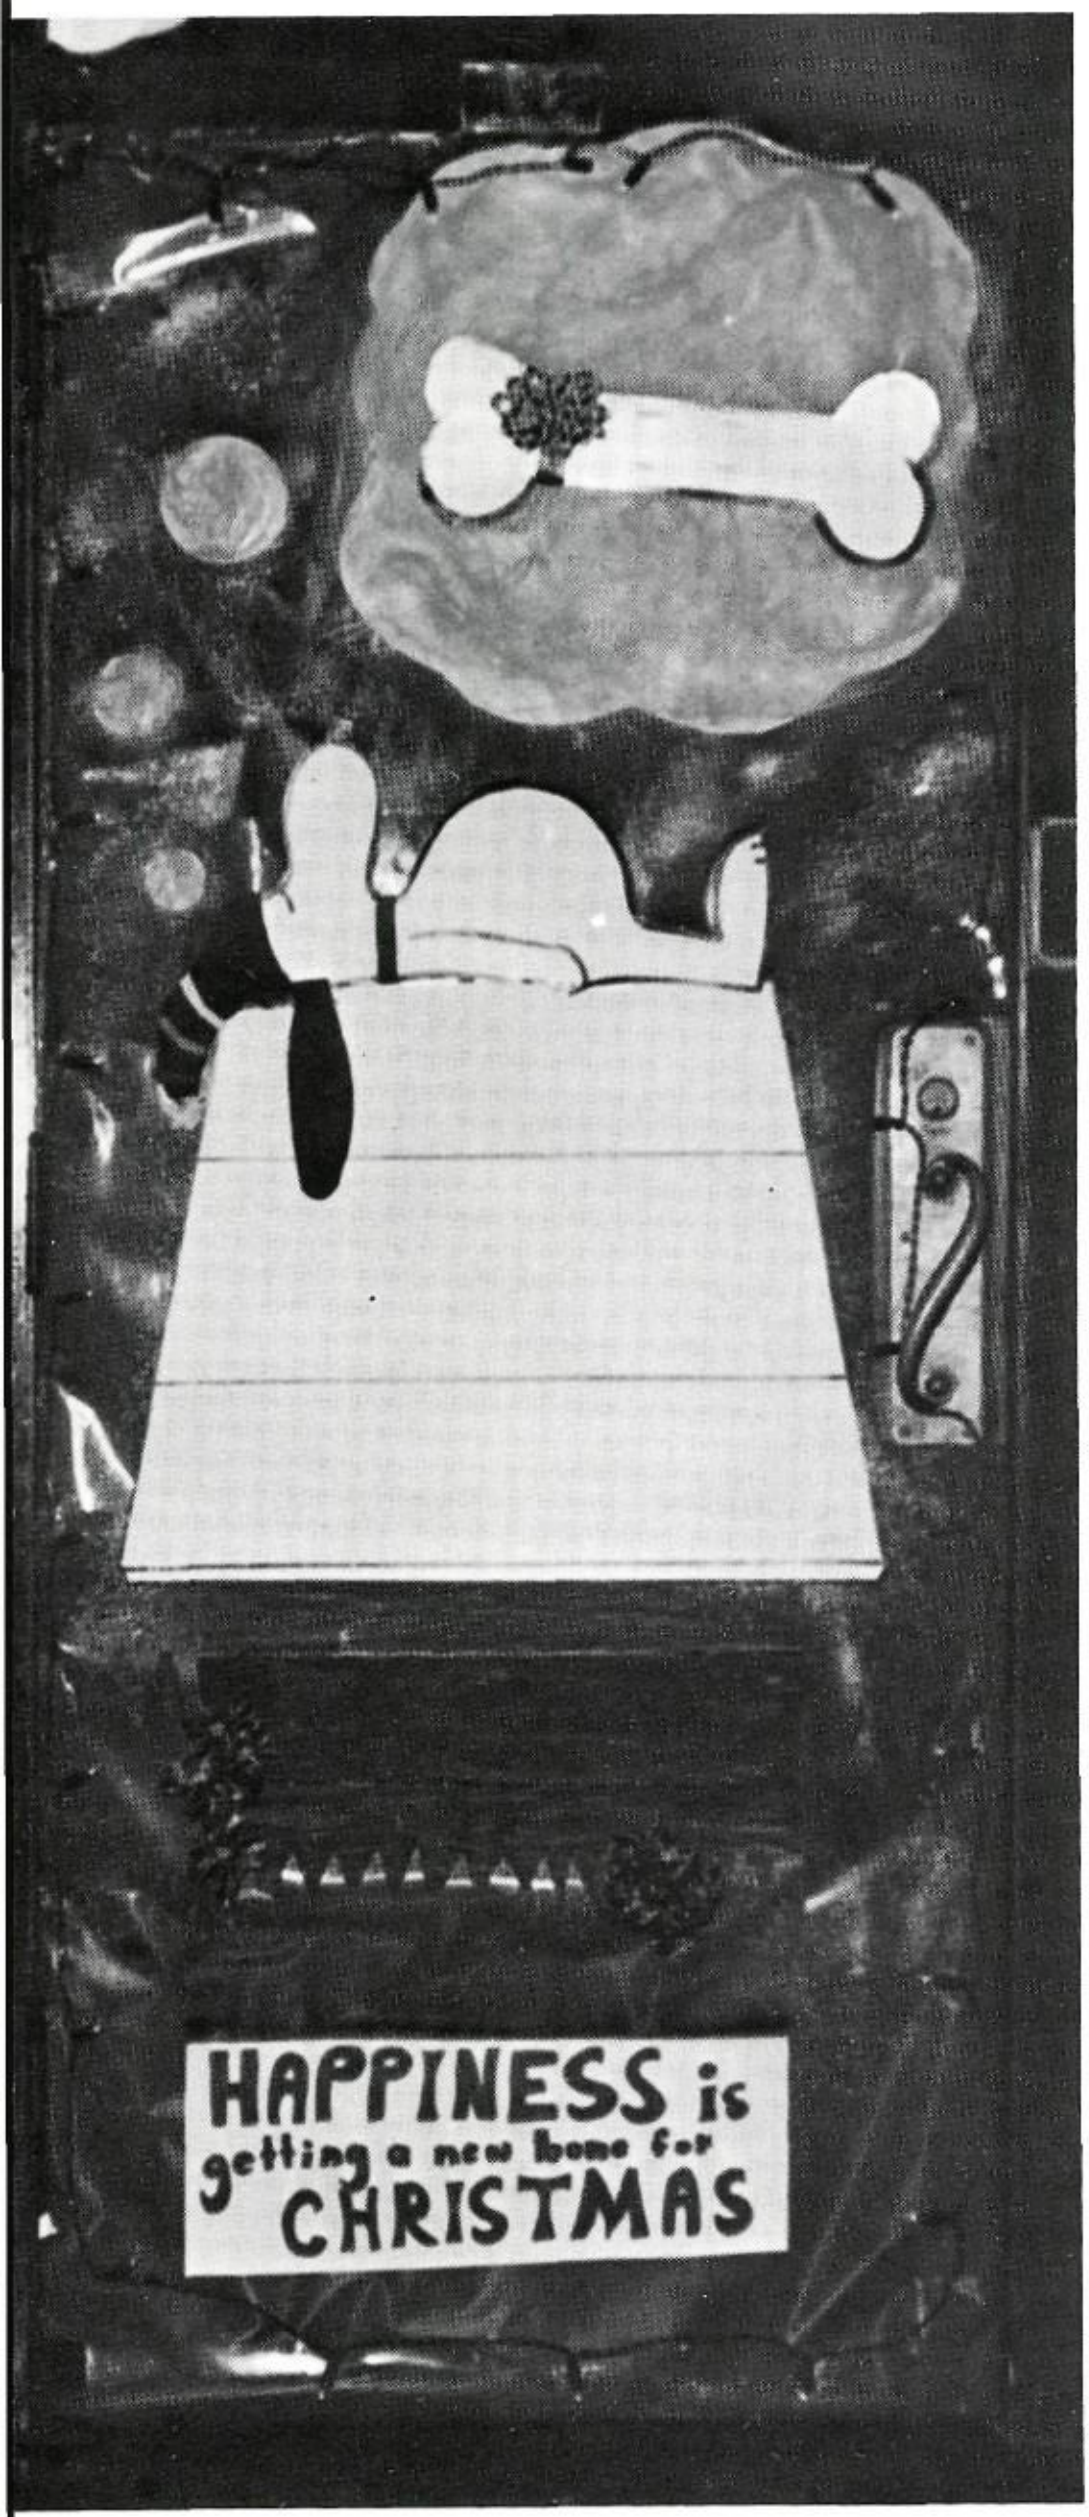
Assemblies Attract Attention

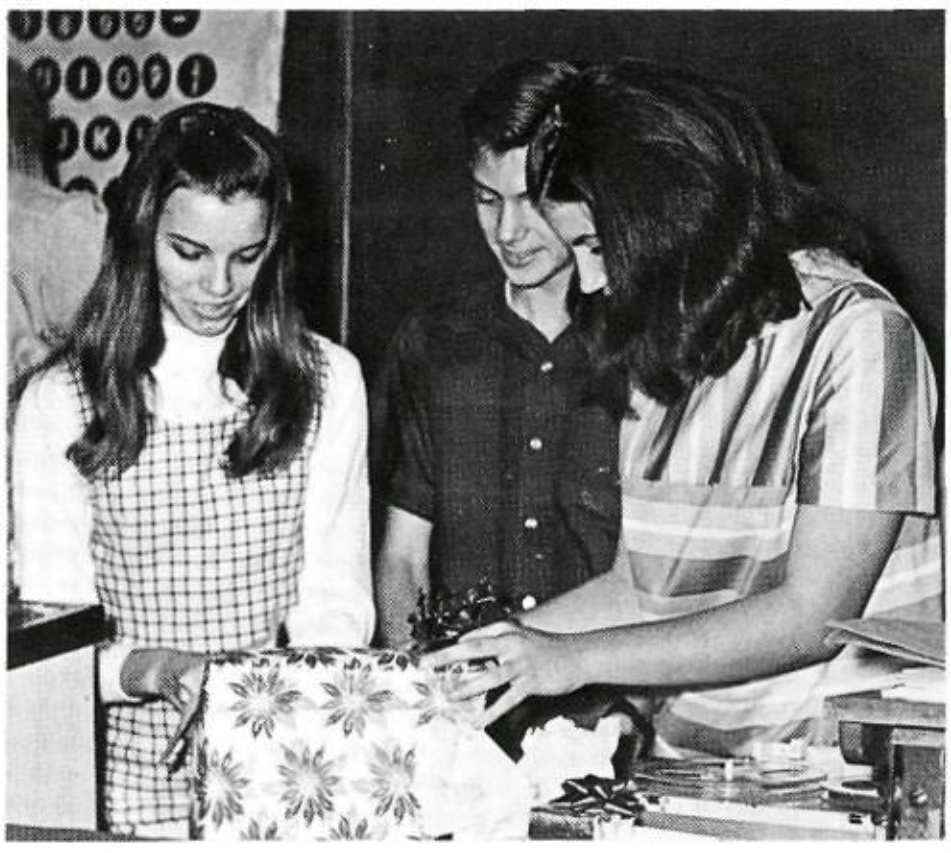
"Up With People," the title for the Sing-Out American group, invited fellow Americans to join in with them in singing their theme song, "Freedom Isn't Free."

New assistant conductor of the San Antonio Symphony, Mr. Harvey Garber guest—conducted the orchestra for their performance here.

Playing with great musical ability and sensitivity, the San Antonio Symphony Orchestra perform before the student body in November.

Holiday Festivities Capture Season's





Joyous Mood

This year the spirit of Christmas found its way to every corner of the school. The traditional Student Council Christmas tree glistened in the main hall as students stopped to drop their cards in the unique train-like array of boxes surrounding it. Thanks to imaginative advisories, the halls were brought to life with colorful door decorations, ranging from a papier-mache snowman to Snoopy sitting on top of his doghouse. Classrooms also reflected the holiday mood as streamers hung from the ceiling, and decorations decked the walls.

December 16 brought the Snowman's Ball, turning the gym into a wonderland by night. Partying became everyone's favorite pastime as Christmas vacation drew near. Advisories really took on a festive air as they feasted on fried chicken, pizza, and hamburgers to celebrate the holiday season.

But the real spirit of Christmas was never forgotten as advisories brought good tidings to needy families in the form of Christmas Cheer boxes, enabling those less fortunate to enjoy the holidays, too. In this way, students experience the joy of giving and made December, 1967, a merry time for all.

Intramurals Please

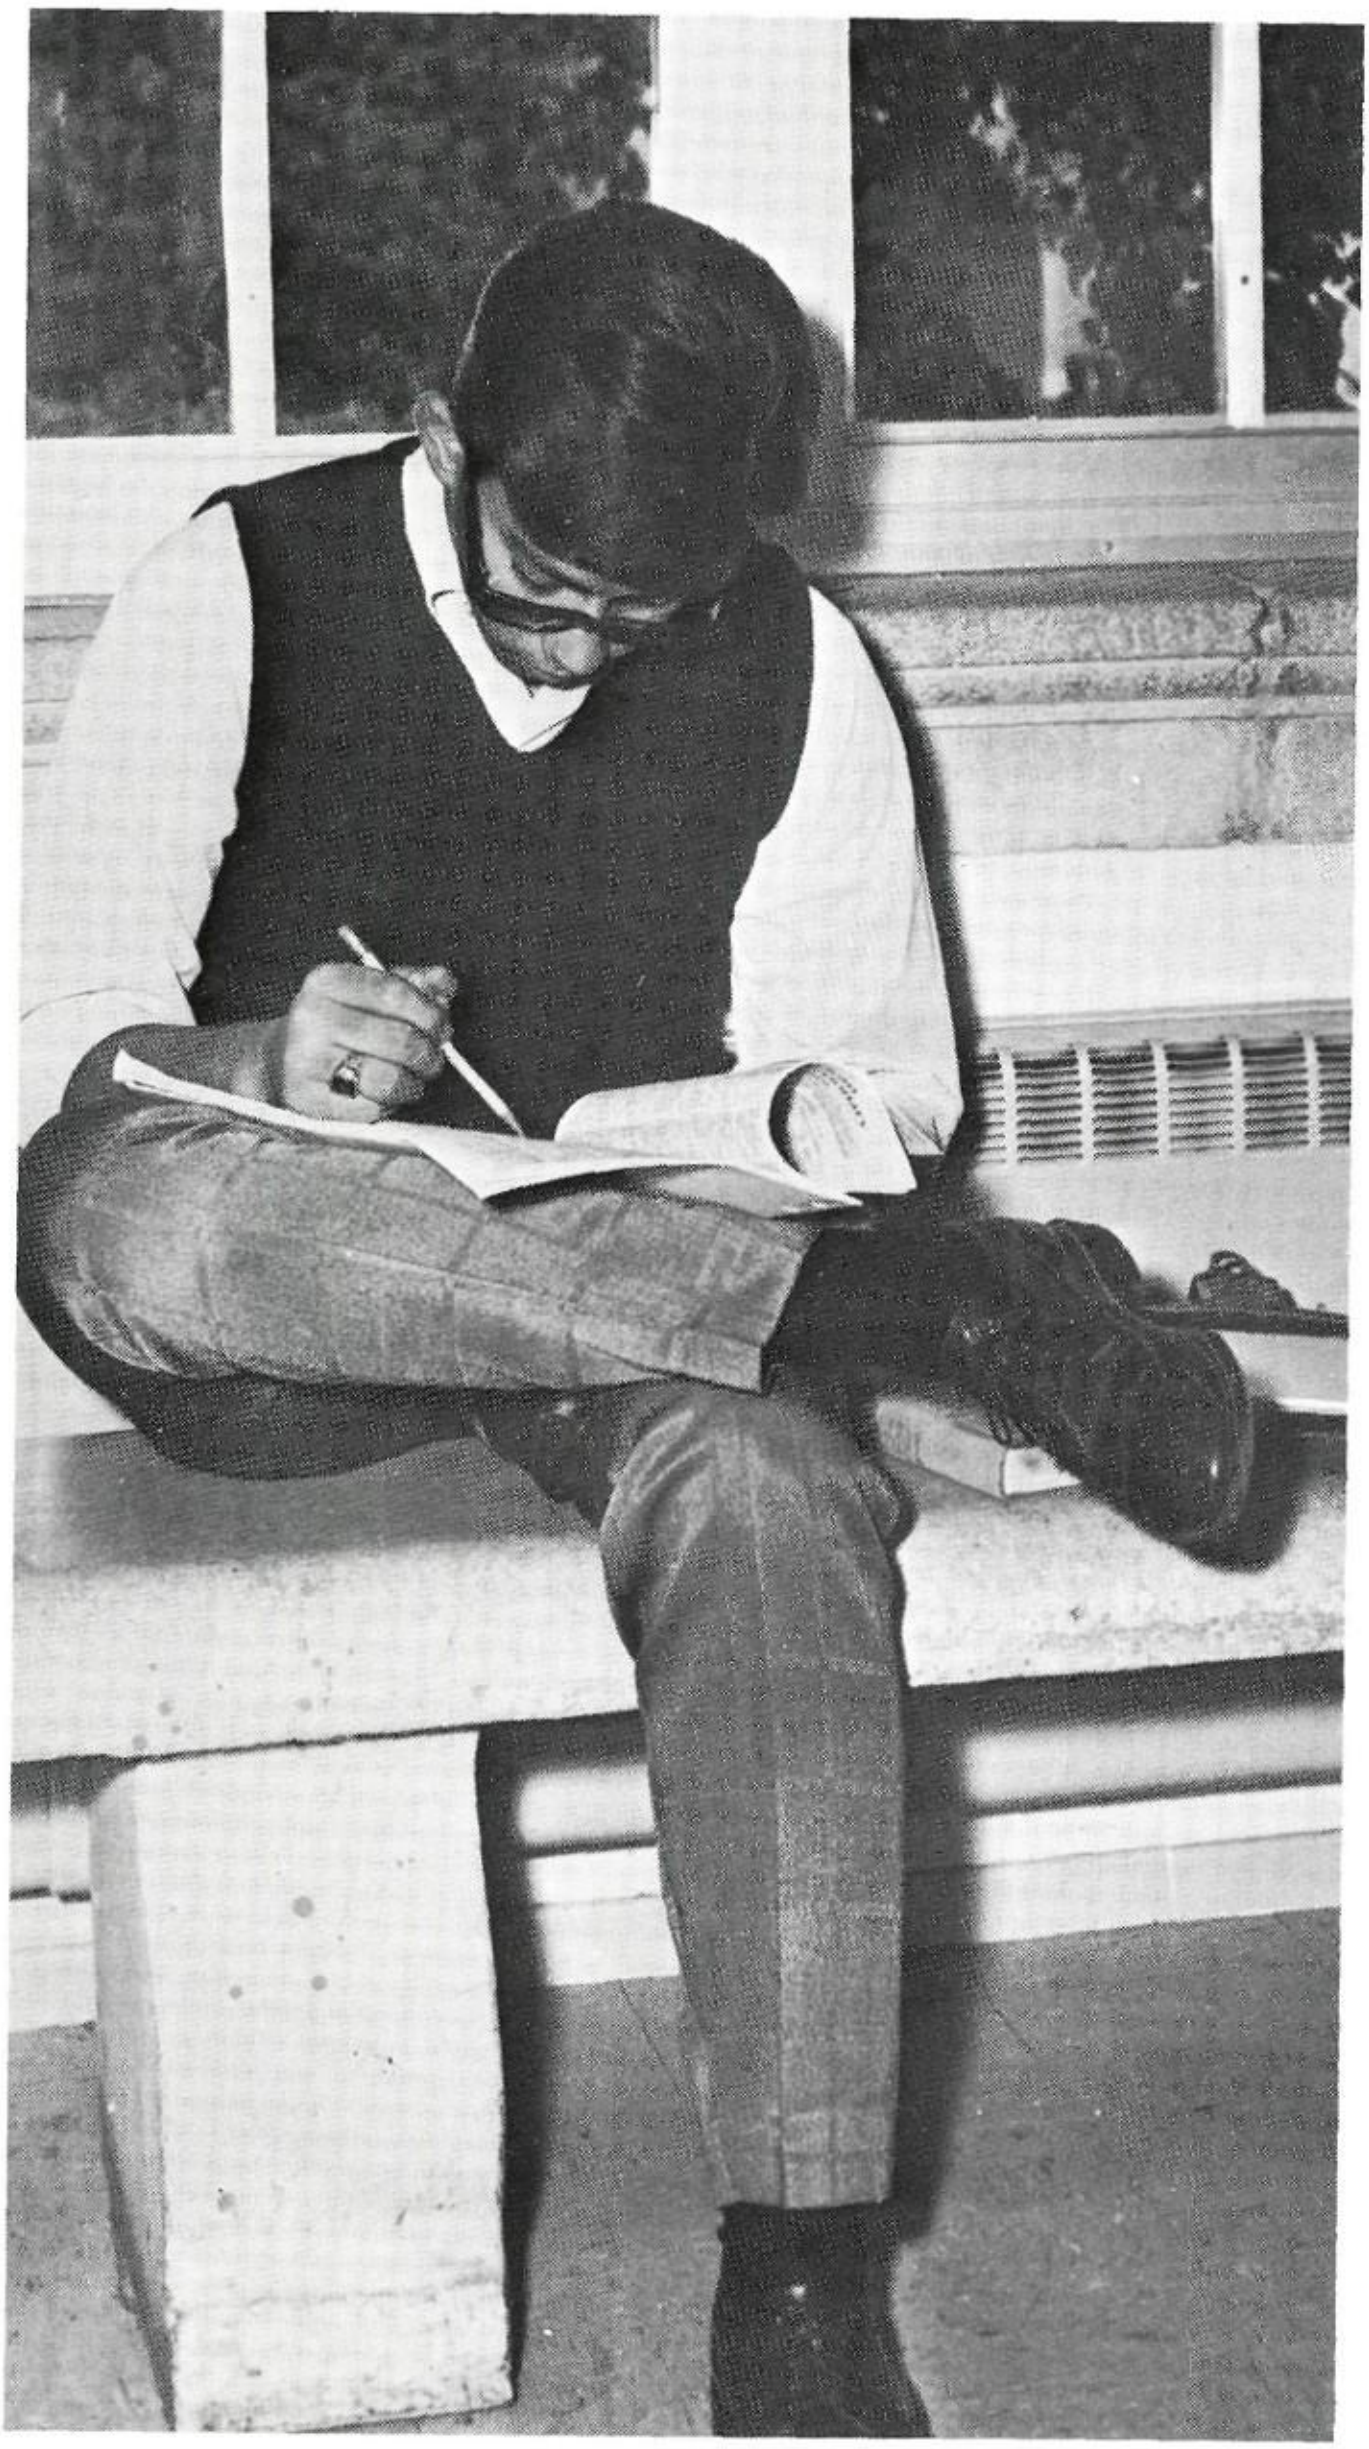
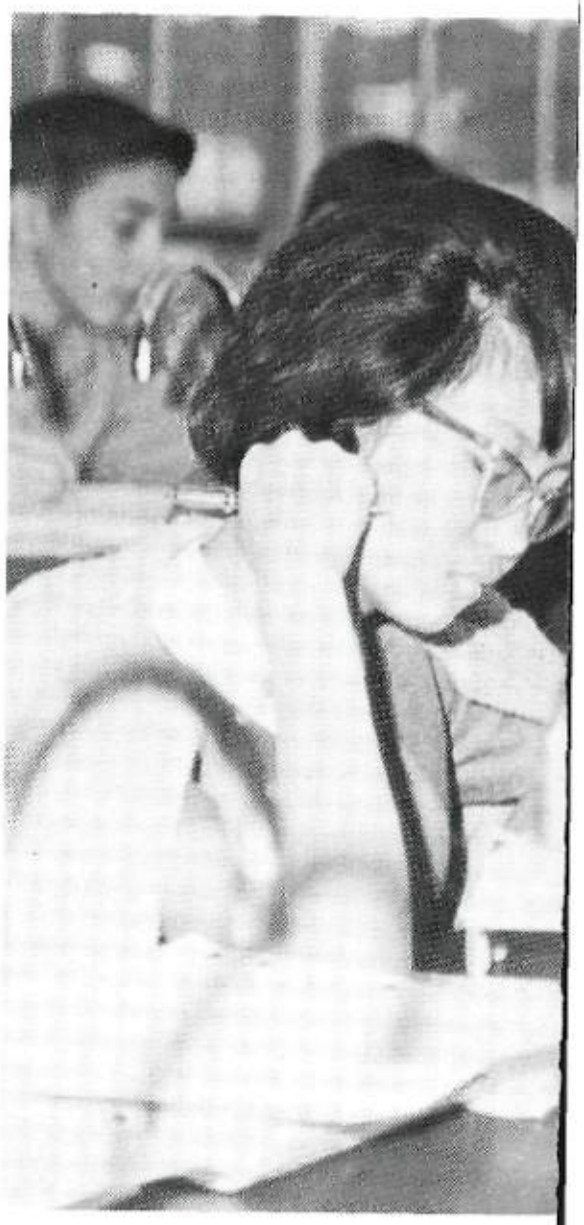
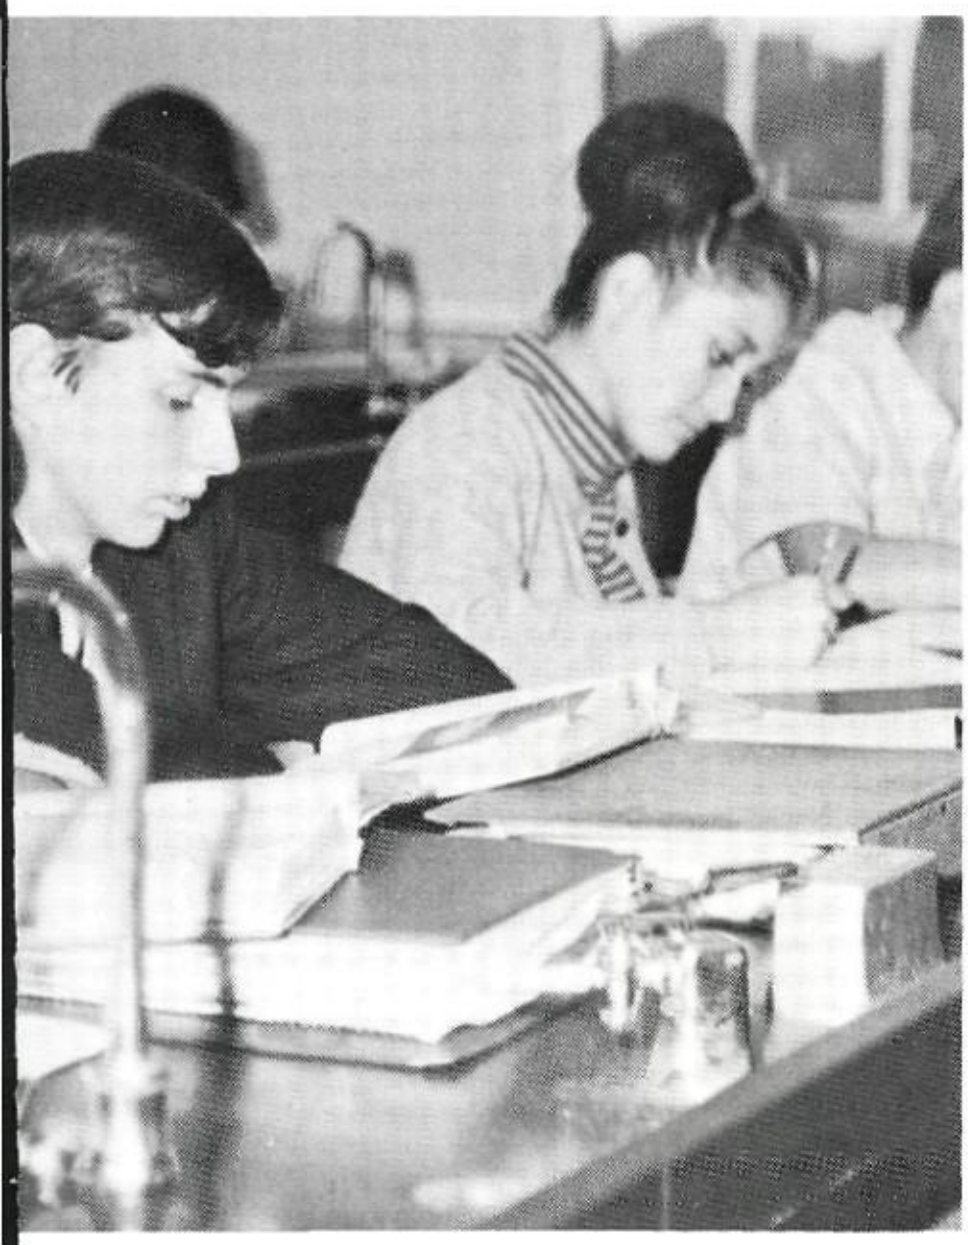
Pencils Scribble, Pages Turn,

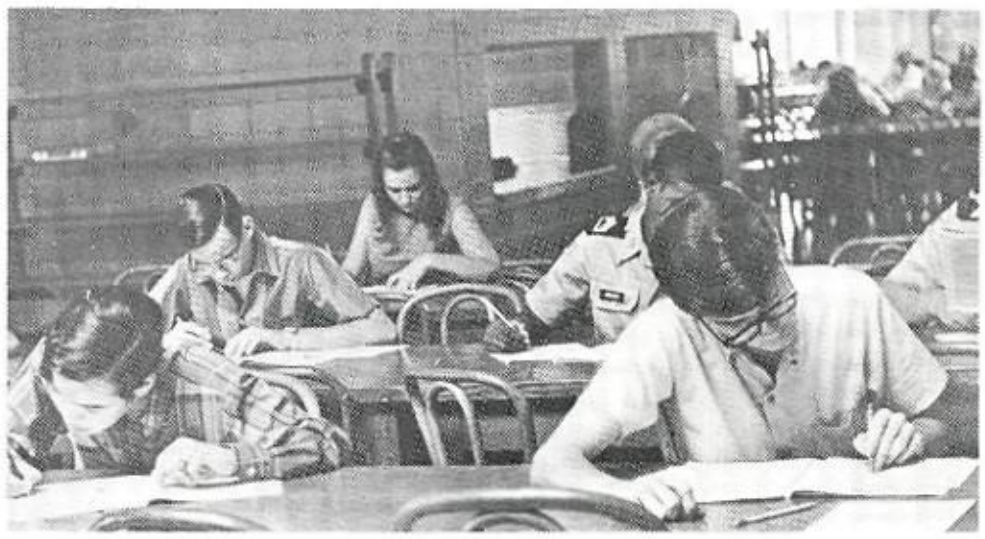


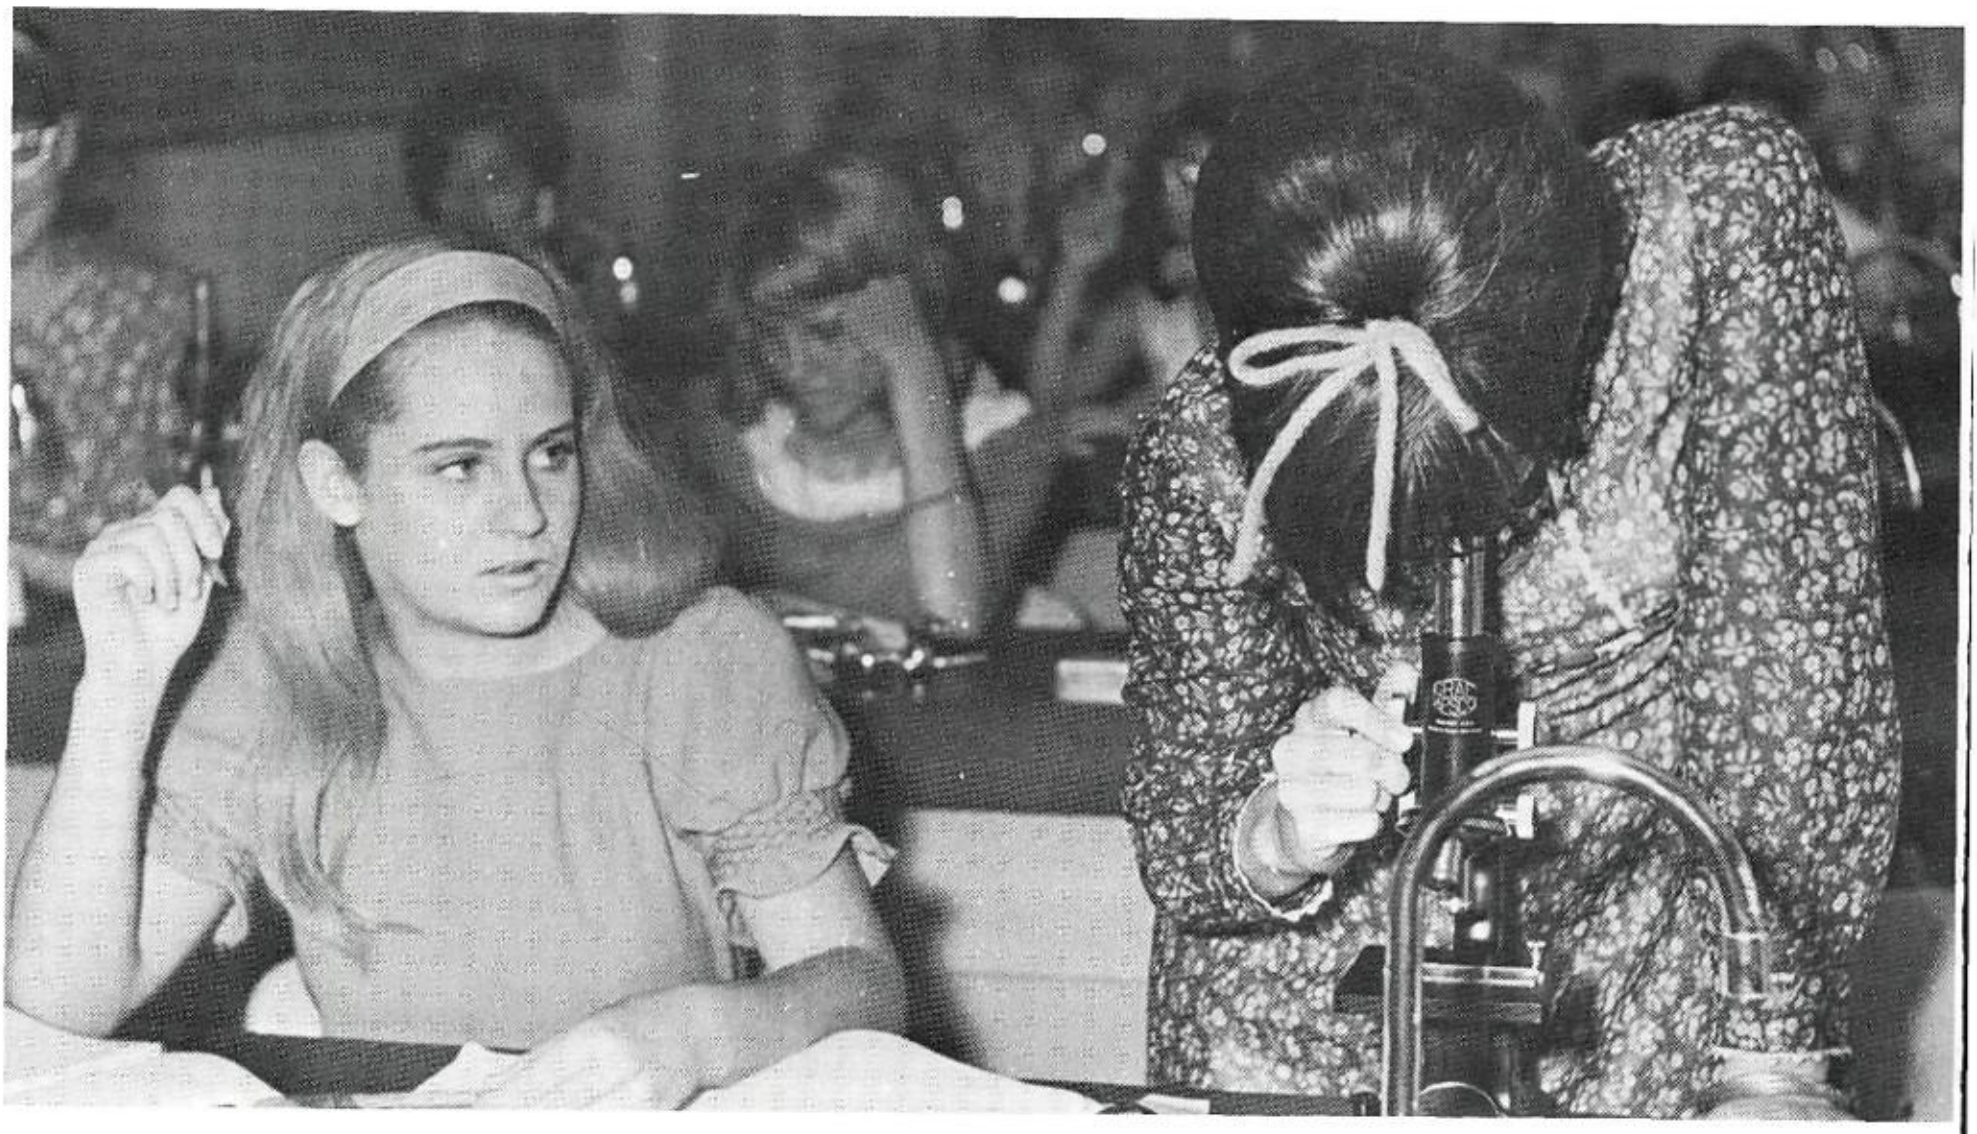


Minds Inquire, People Learn

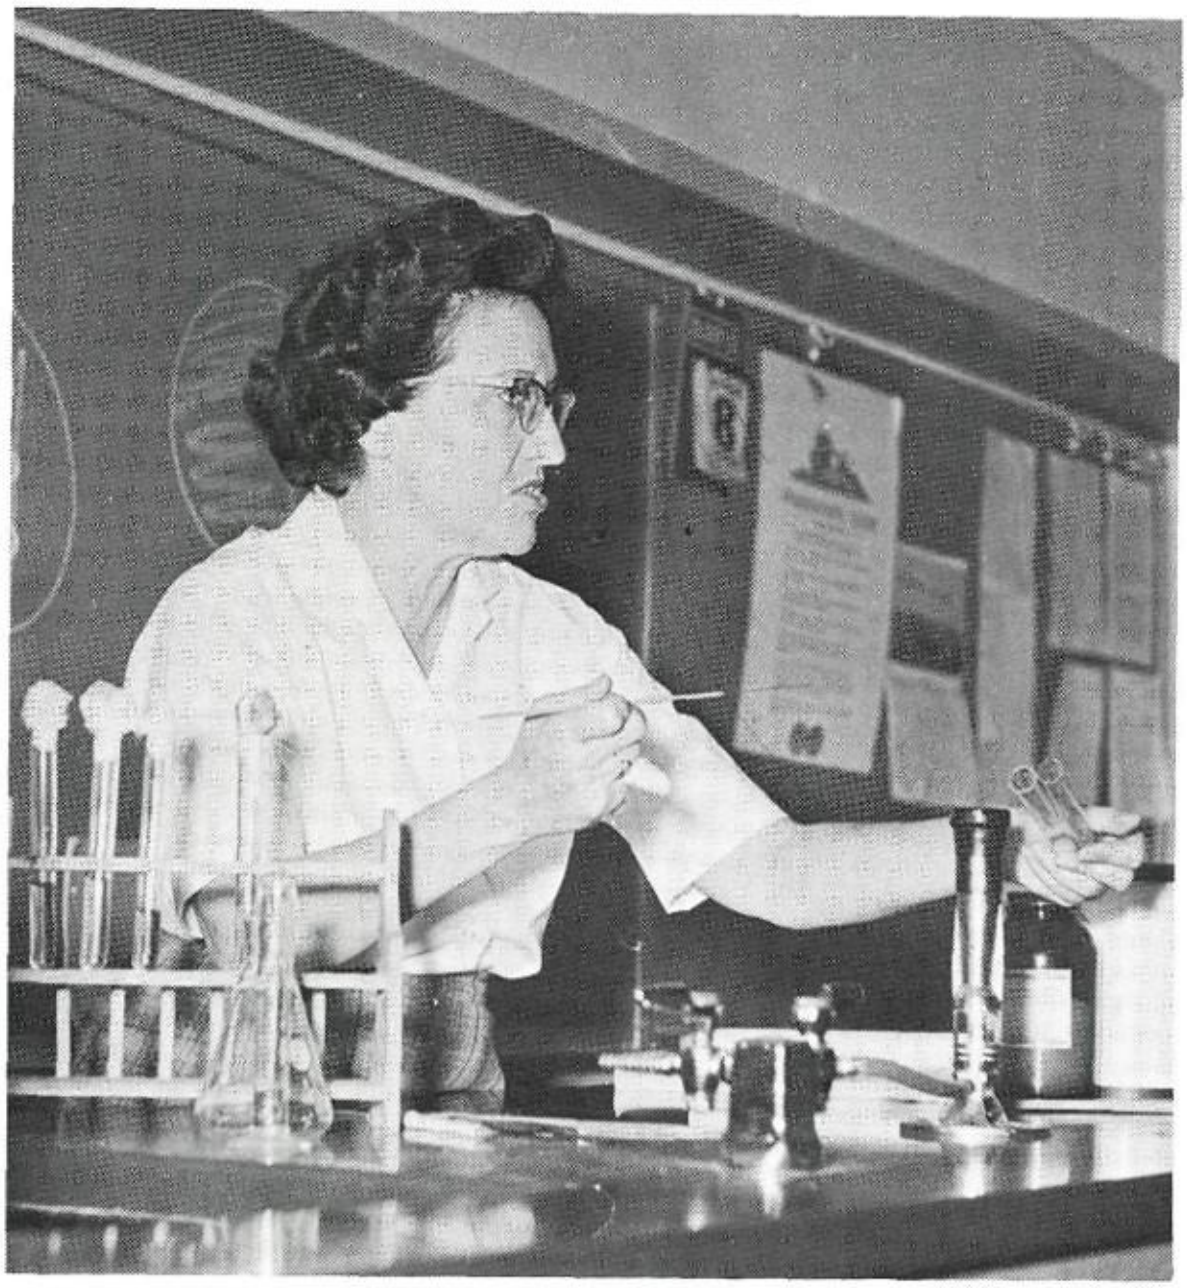


Education is the passkey to the future; it is the difference between a lifetime "incalculably rich in promise" and an existence void of expectations. Since days primeval, man's dream has been the quest of knowledge to appease his restless curiosity. Today we satisfy this curiosity with learning, but learning necessitates studying, and here at school, studying whether it be in class, out of class, during study hall, or during lunch demands time, energy, and perseverance. For learning without studying is like perfection without practice, success without work. One follows the other "as the night the day" —both inseparable, indivisible; for as pencils scribble and pages turn, minds inquire and people learn.





Biology experiments can uncover many mysteries as Patty Novak and Teresa Anderson discover.



Demonstrations by Mrs. Mary Inman preceeding an experiment often aid the students in obtaining accurate data.

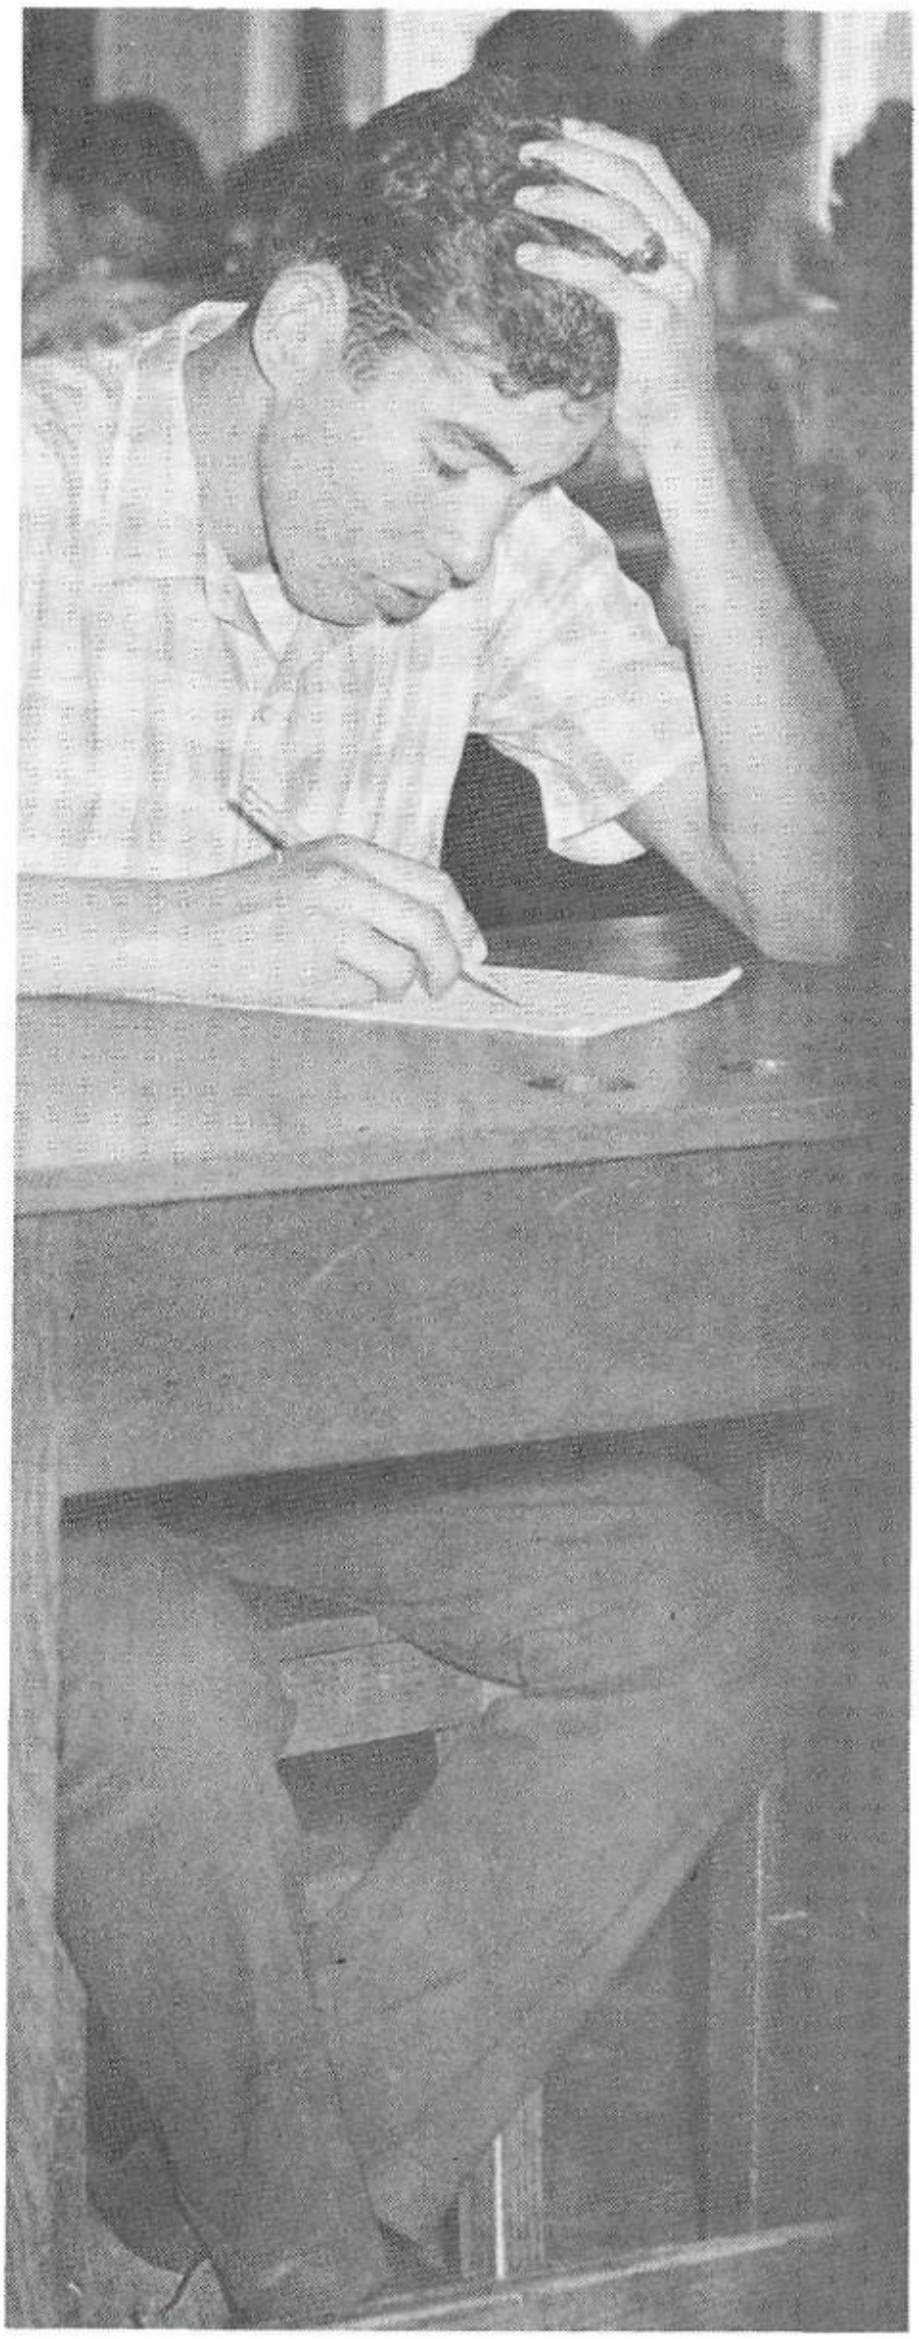
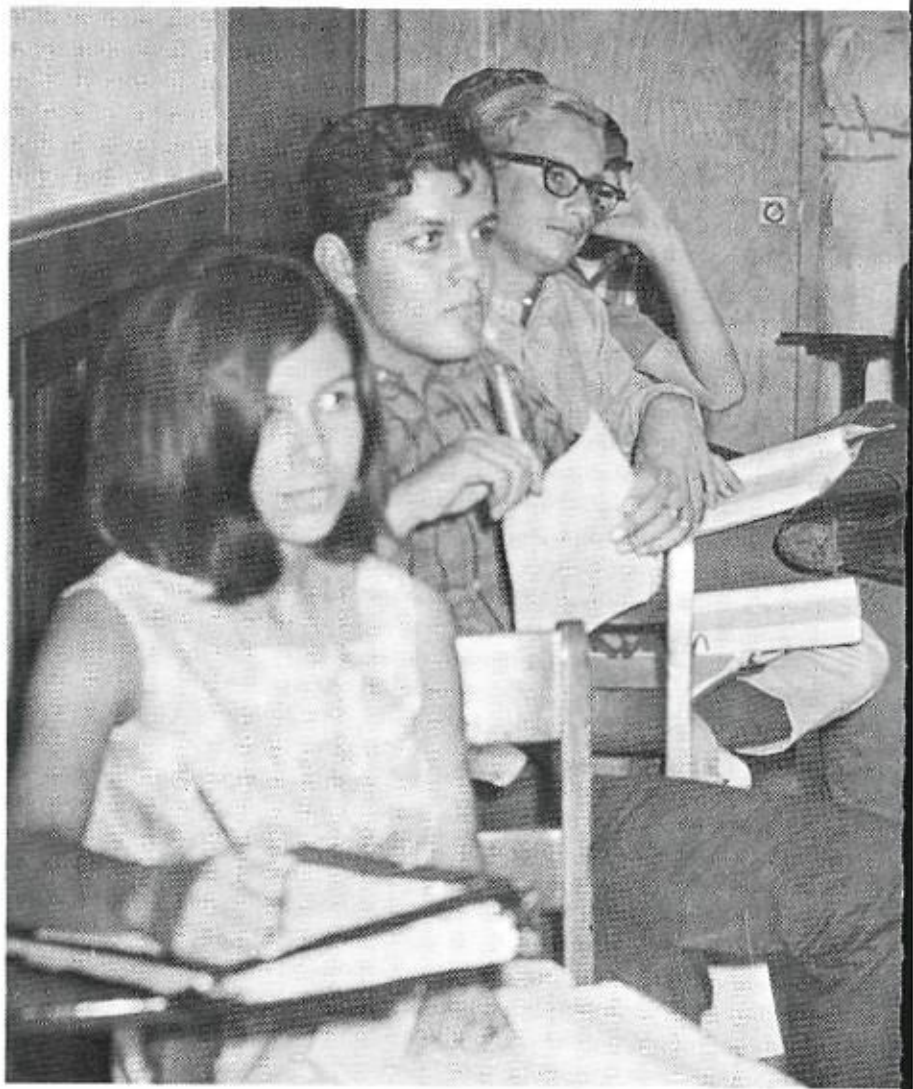
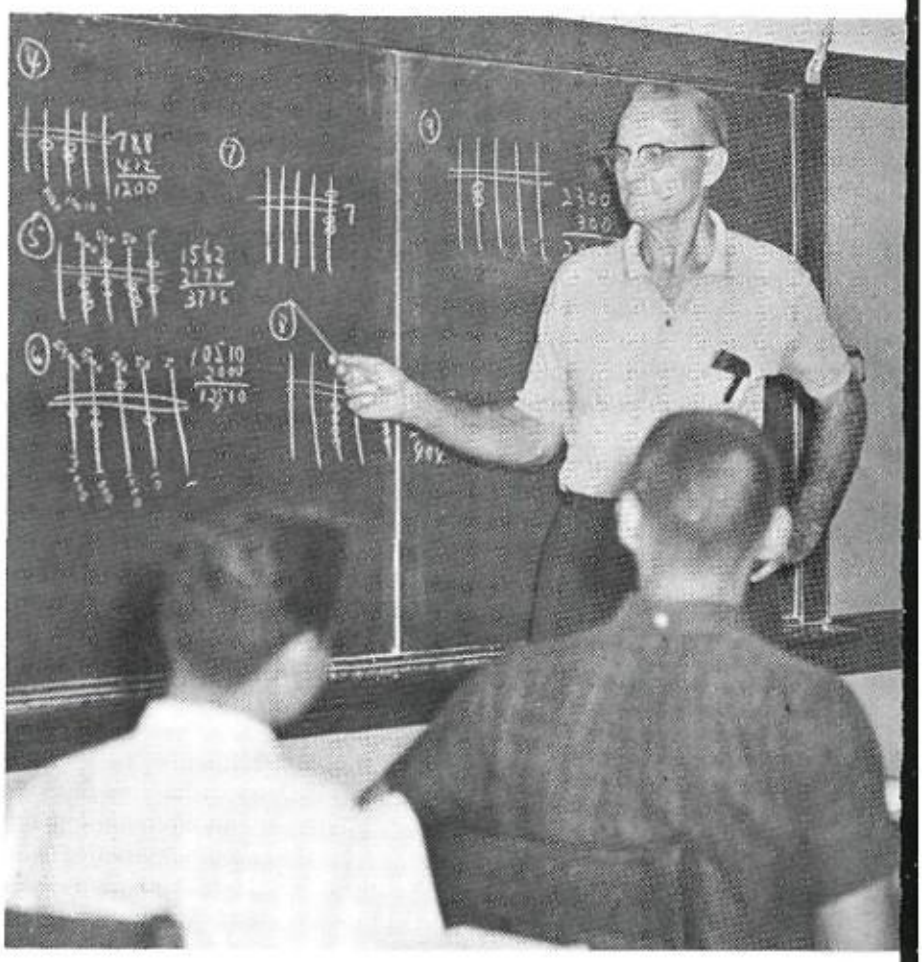
Bookkeeping quizzes tax the memory, rack the brain, and wear out a lot of pencils as Ramiro Arriaga can testify.

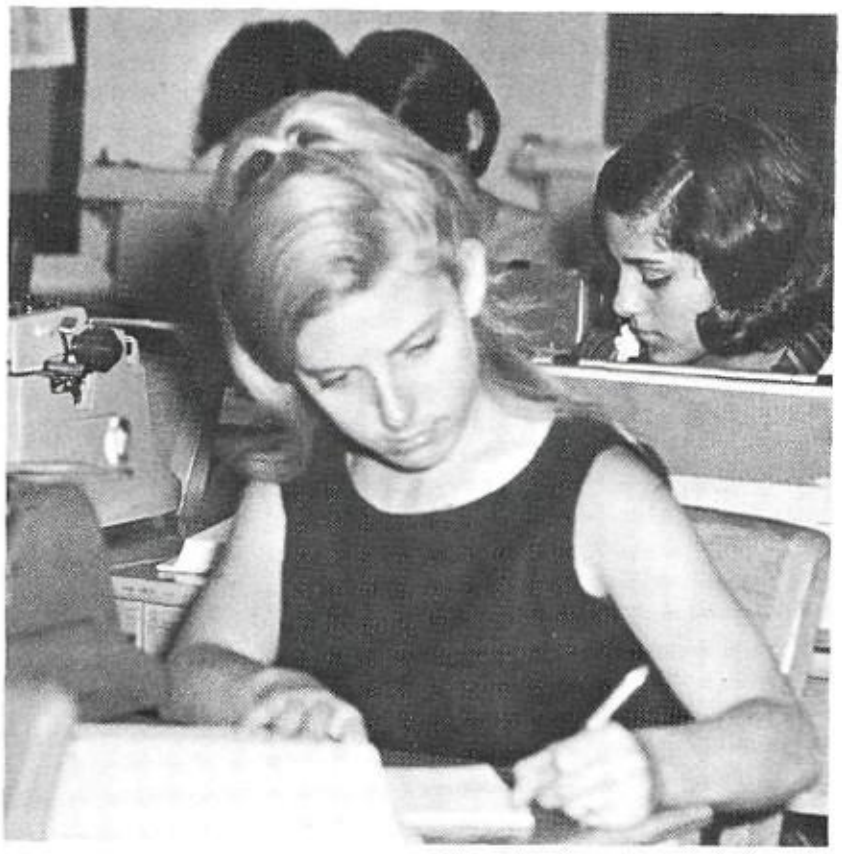


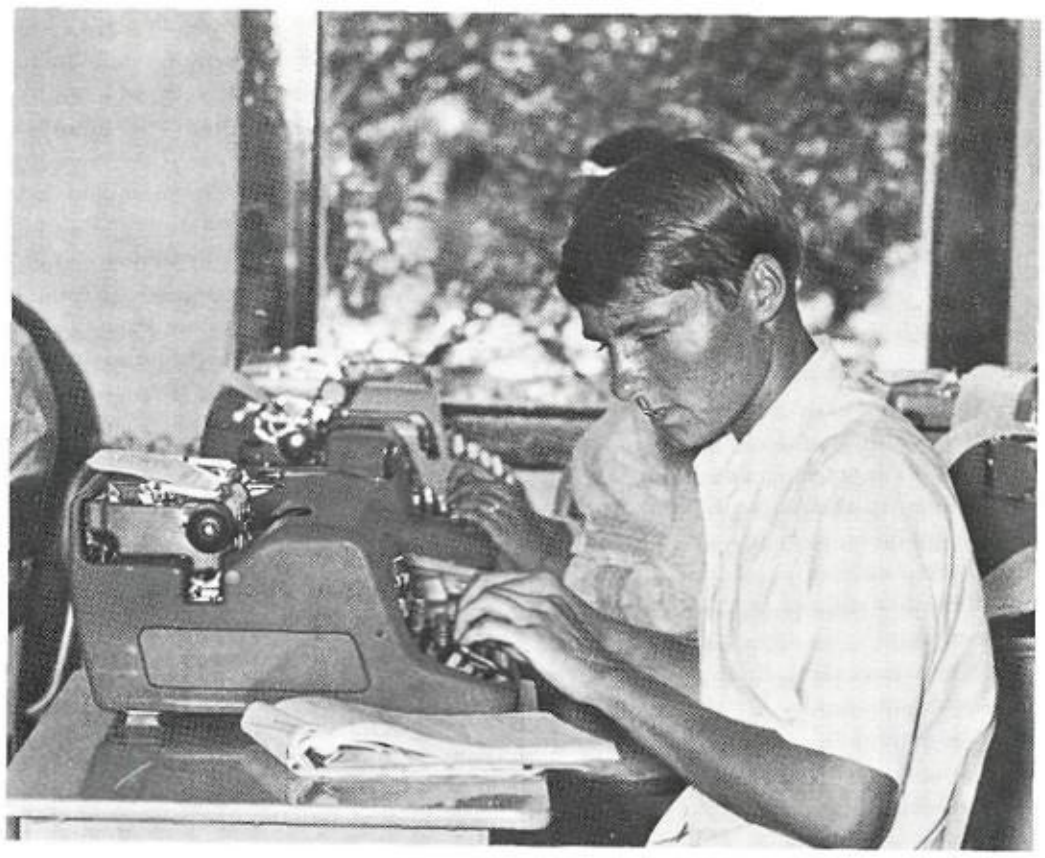
Students listen intently to Mrs. Asher's explanation of polynomial factoring in her Algebra II class.





One of Mr. Sprott's math classes learns about the age-old principle of the Chinese abacus.



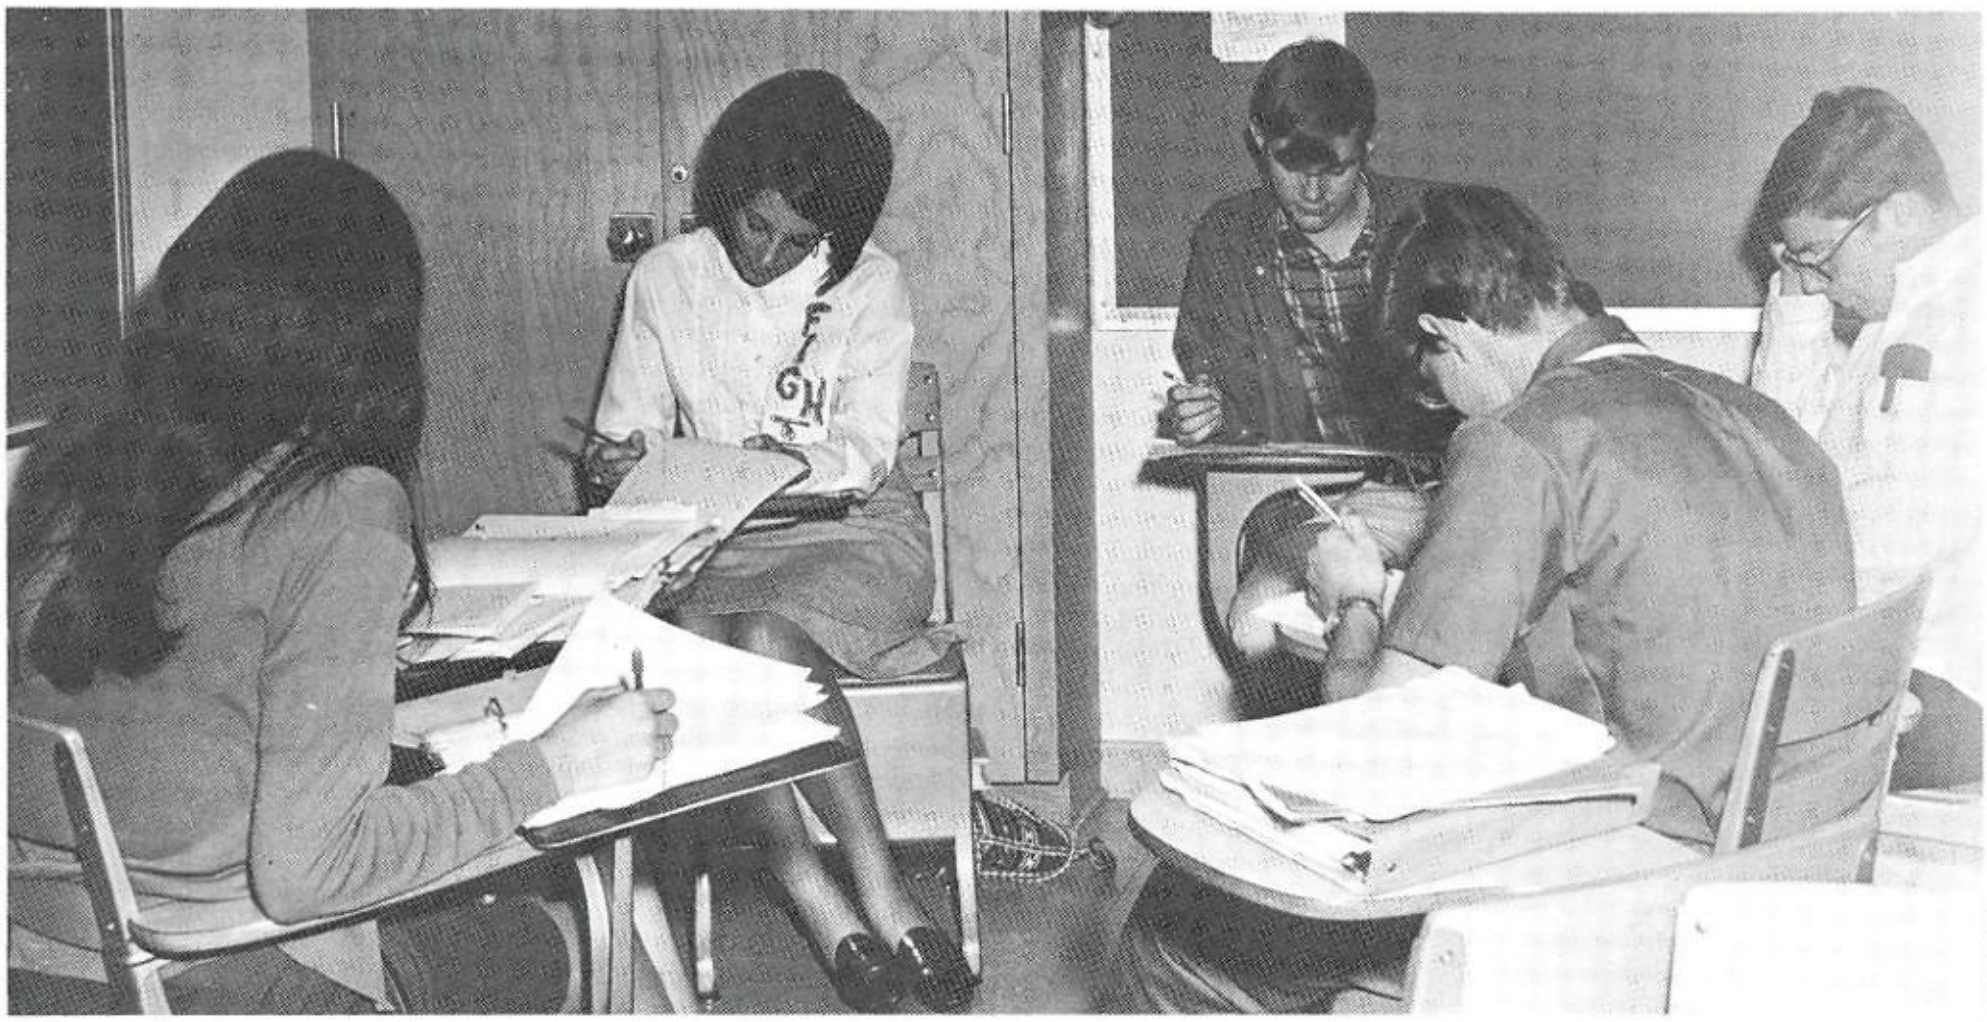


Diligently preparing typing budgets for their weekly deadline, Paula Piliggi and Alan Funk concentrate on submitting a perfect assignment

Compute, Compile, and Calculate

Giving practical instruction to an advanced bookkeeping student, Mrs. E. Flores assists in helping her balance the school books.

Group Discussion



Working together as a group, a method much praised and endorsed by Mr. Lanny Naeglin, often helps students grasp the subject matter.

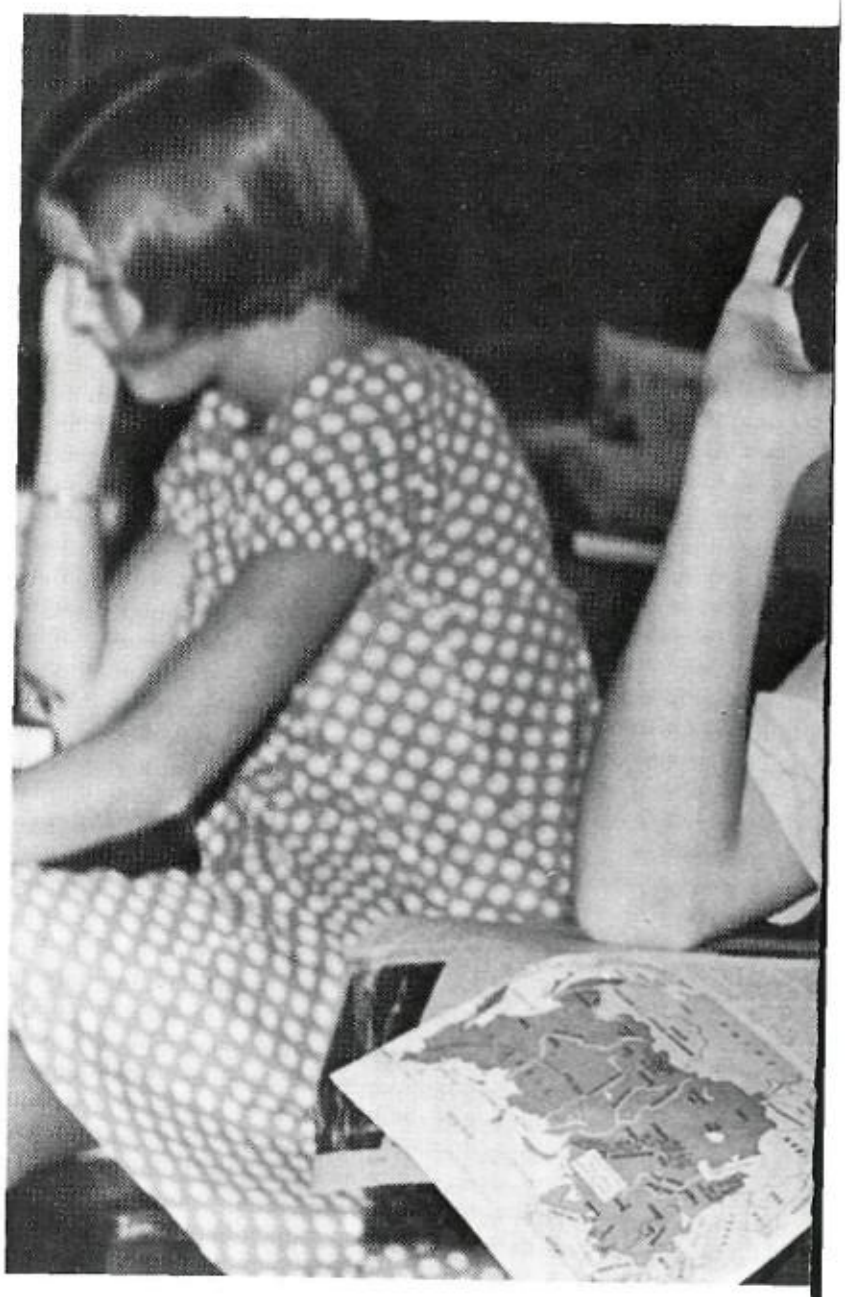
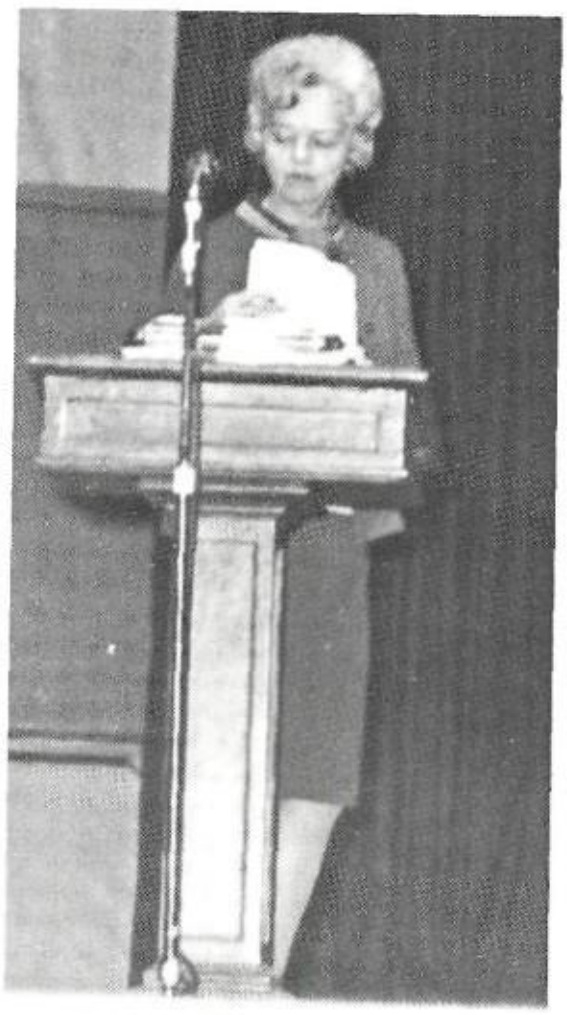
History Students Travel Down the Overhead projectors made their appearance in the history class this year. Miss Ona Marschall demonstrates how they can be used to her class.

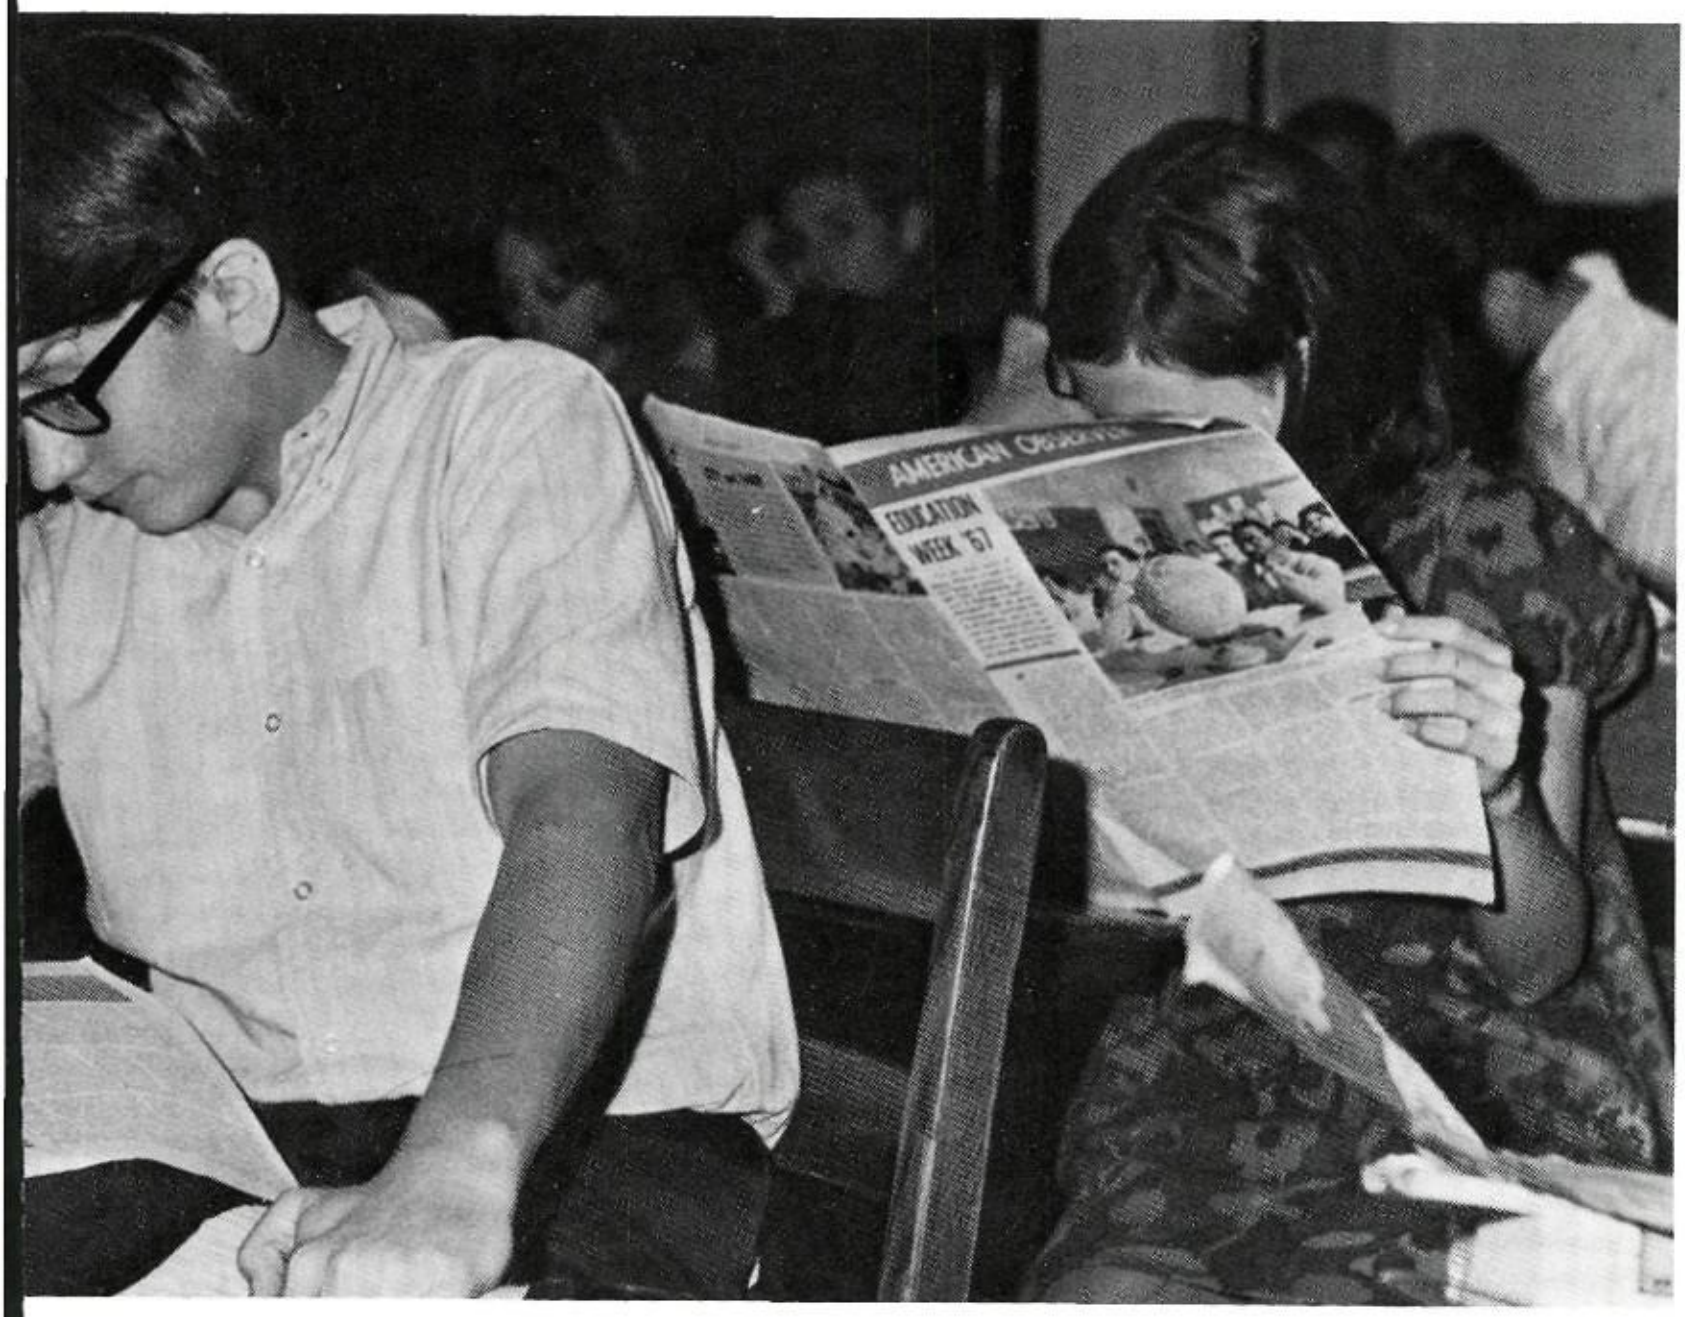


Active at PTA meetings, the history department represented by Miss Evelyn Hansen tells of the audio-visual aids that the department uses.



Conveying his avid interest in history to his students Mr. Robert Henderson lectures on the Crusades of long ago.

Corridors of Time and Events



By reading the American Observer, American History classes become well informed on world events.

For an upcoming test, Miss Carol Lee, American History teacher, reviews important dates and vital facts with her students.

Students Learn

As Mrs. Elizabeth Campbell knows, some students like Yolanda Longoria and Jeff Wooldridge find it easier to learn Spanish standing up.

¿Me pueden uds oir? "Can you hear me?" asks Mrs. Inez Palm.

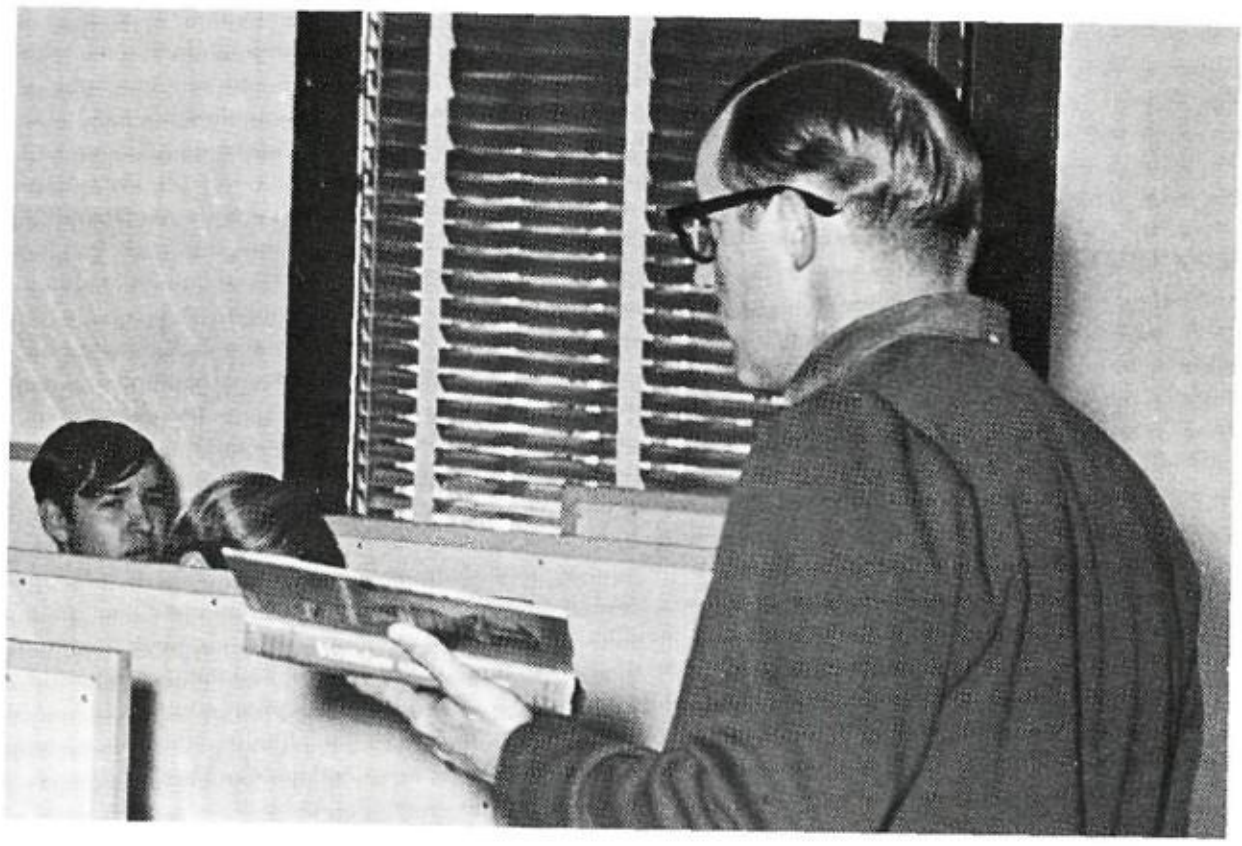
Perfecting their accents, Susan Weiner and Zulema Garza carry on a Spanish dialogue with Ray Kanter and James Graham.

Through Experience and Conversation

This language lab makes Mrs. Inez Palm's sixth period Spanish class more eager to learn.

All students are familiar with Mrs. Virginia Creed's friendly "Bonjour".

While Mr. Carl North explains a few German verbs, Robert Reyna tries to understand.



Hard Work Produces

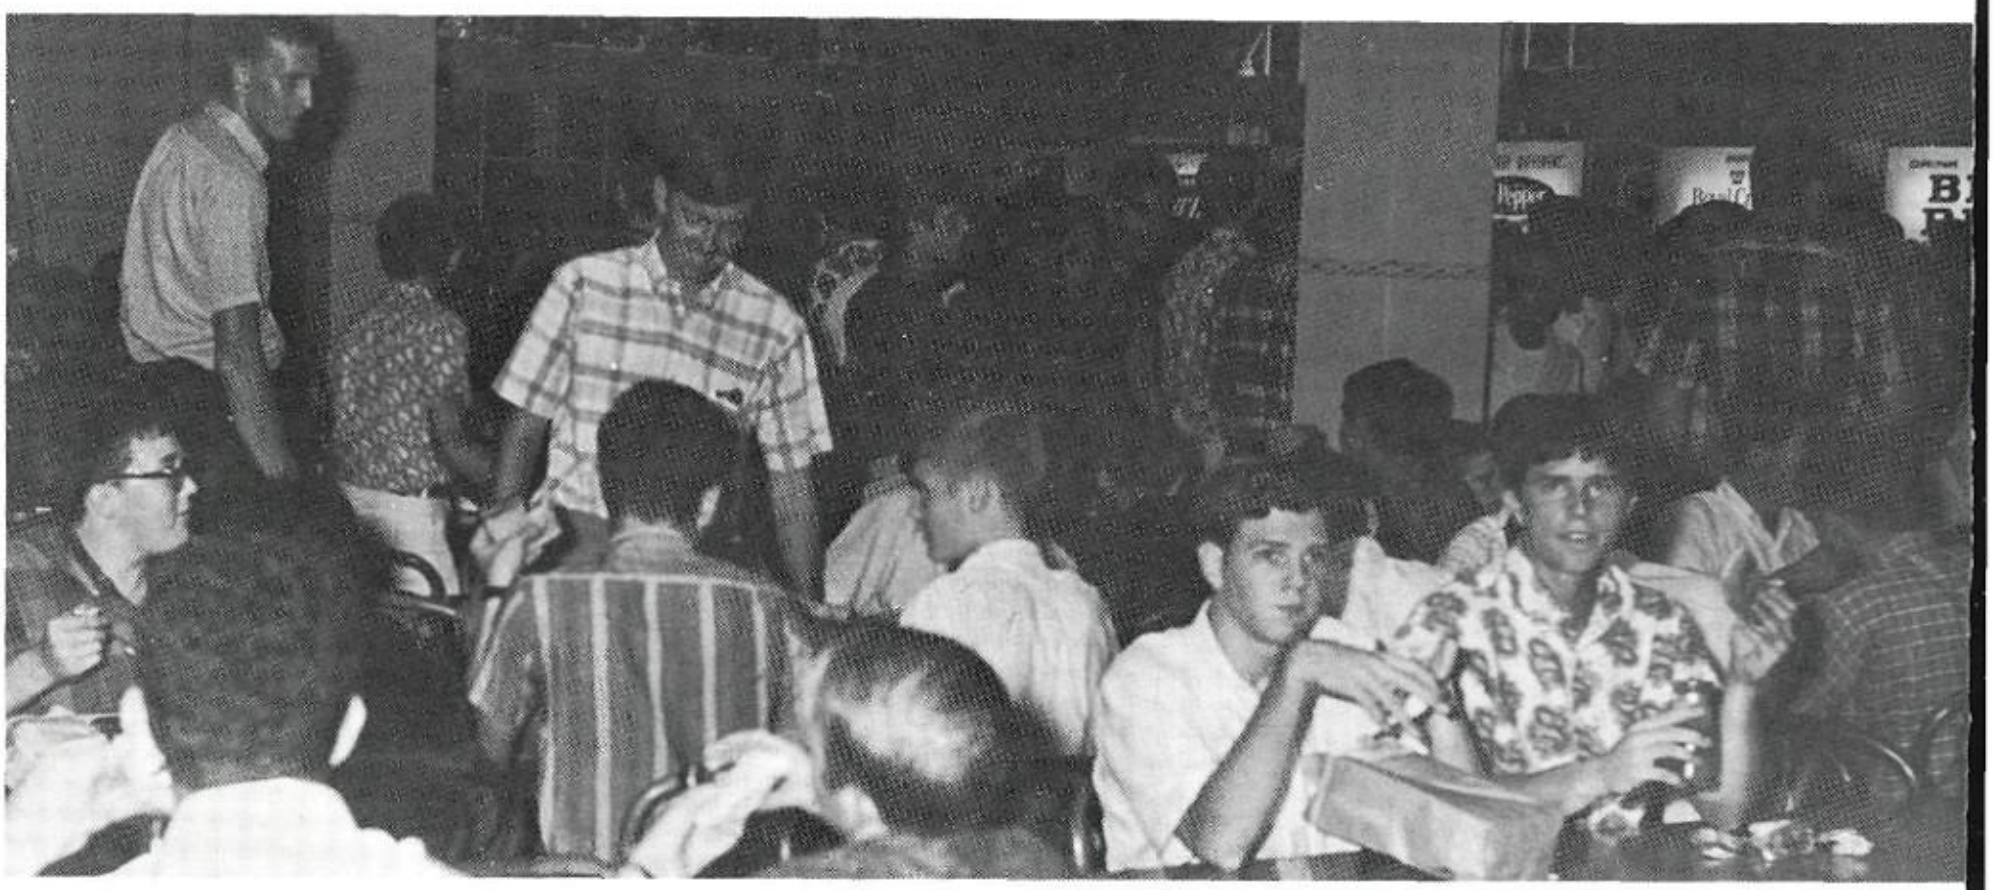
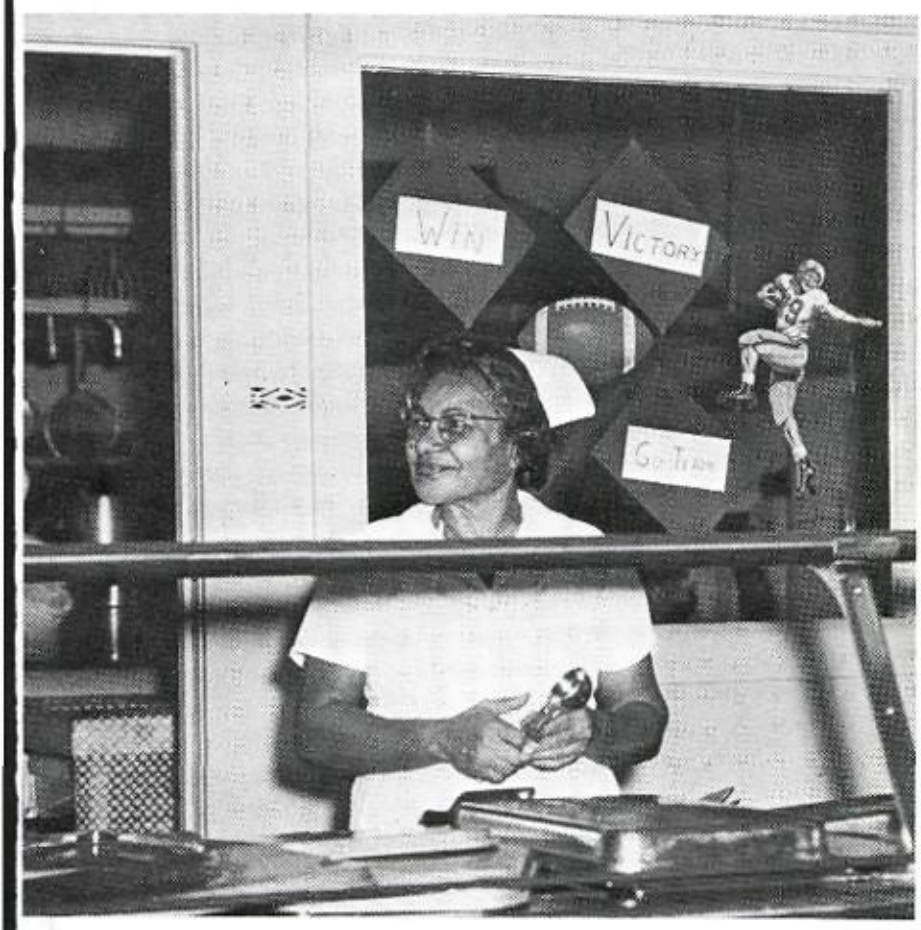
During the lunch hour, girls have a chance to relax and exchange tidbits of information and morsels of news

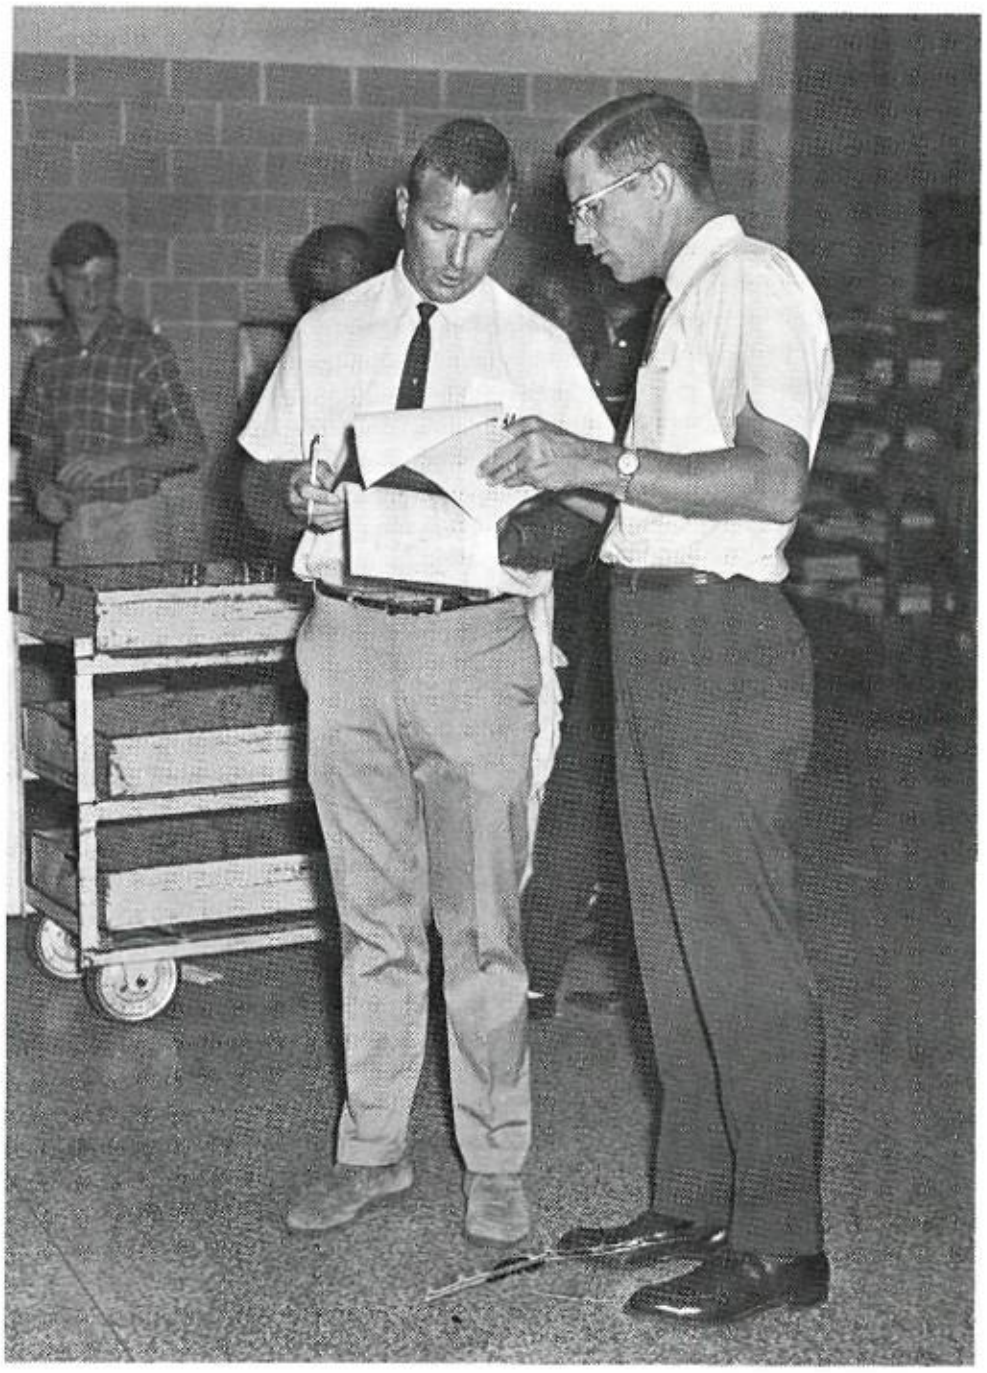


As the lunch period starts, lines begin forming at all points of the cafeteria, while some students already start on sack lunches.

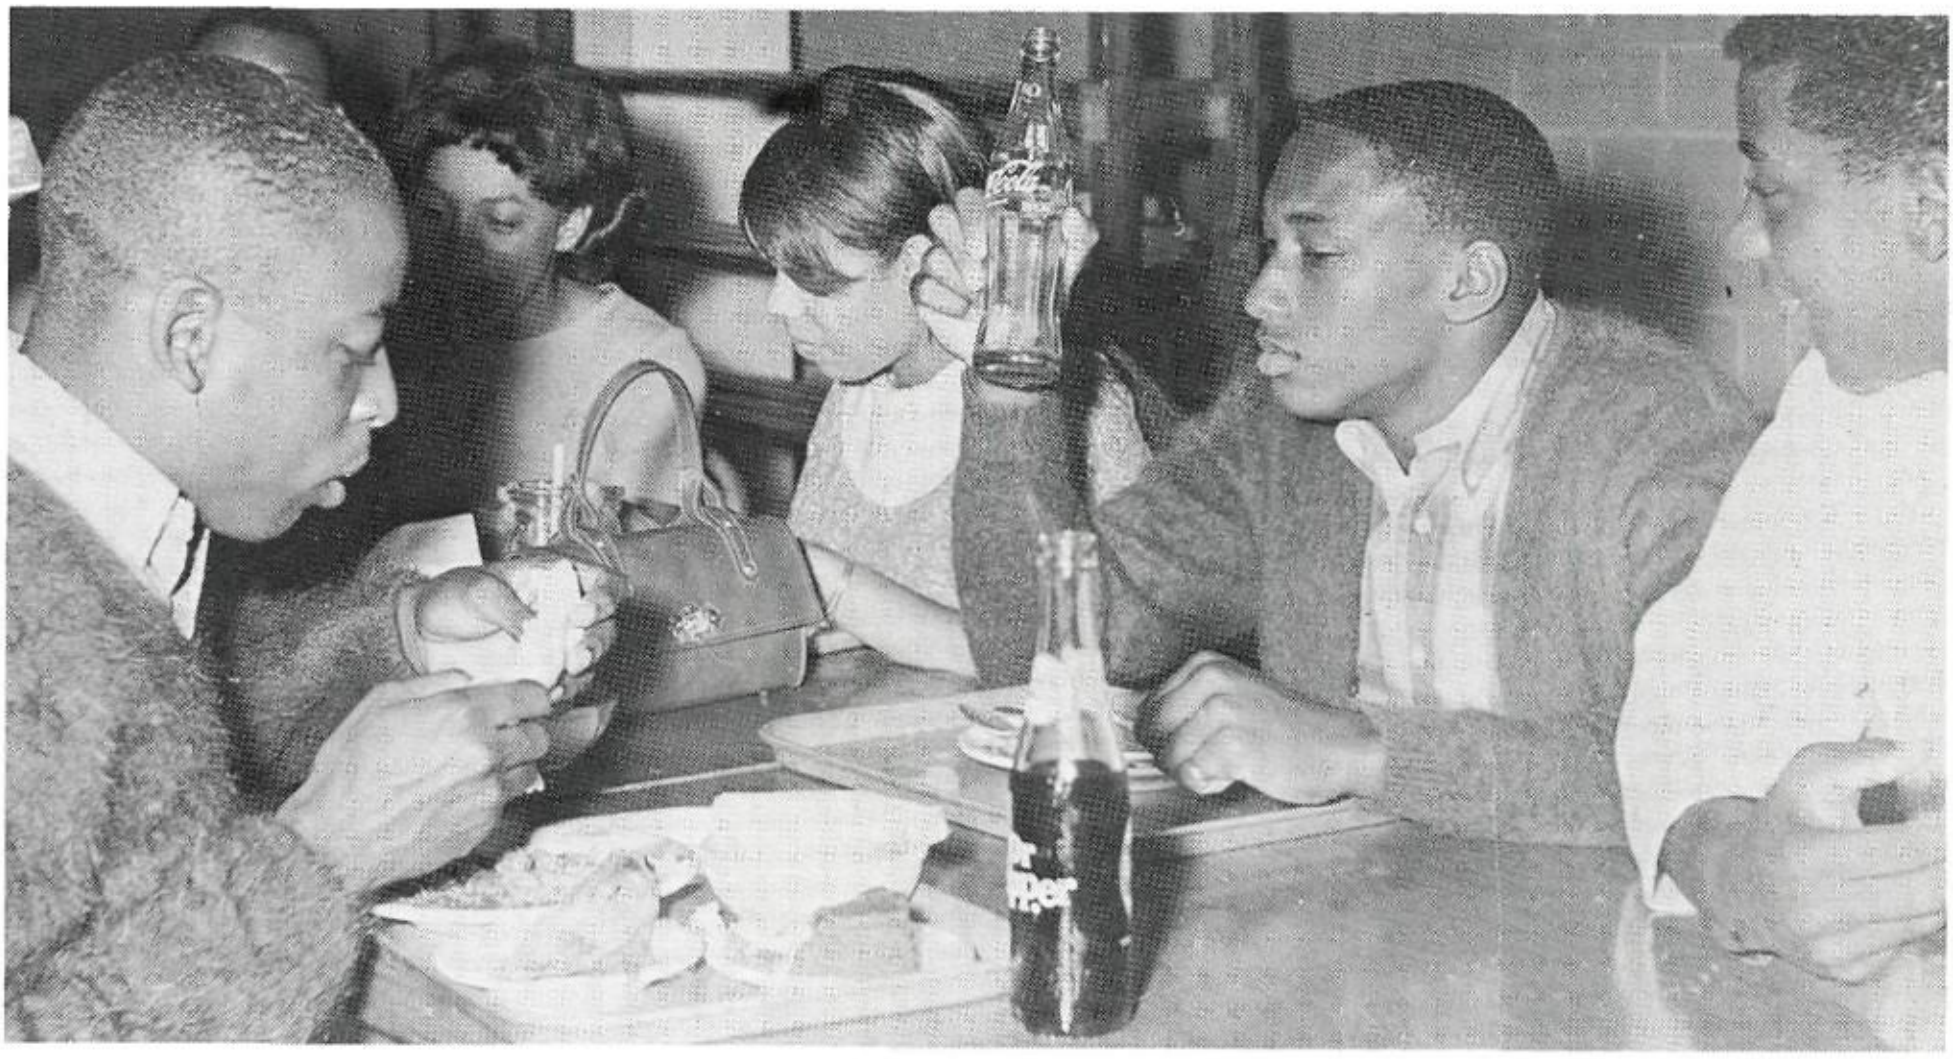
Before the commotion starts, Mrs. Savannah Blackwell, cafeteria worker, takes a minute to prepare herself for the onrush of students.



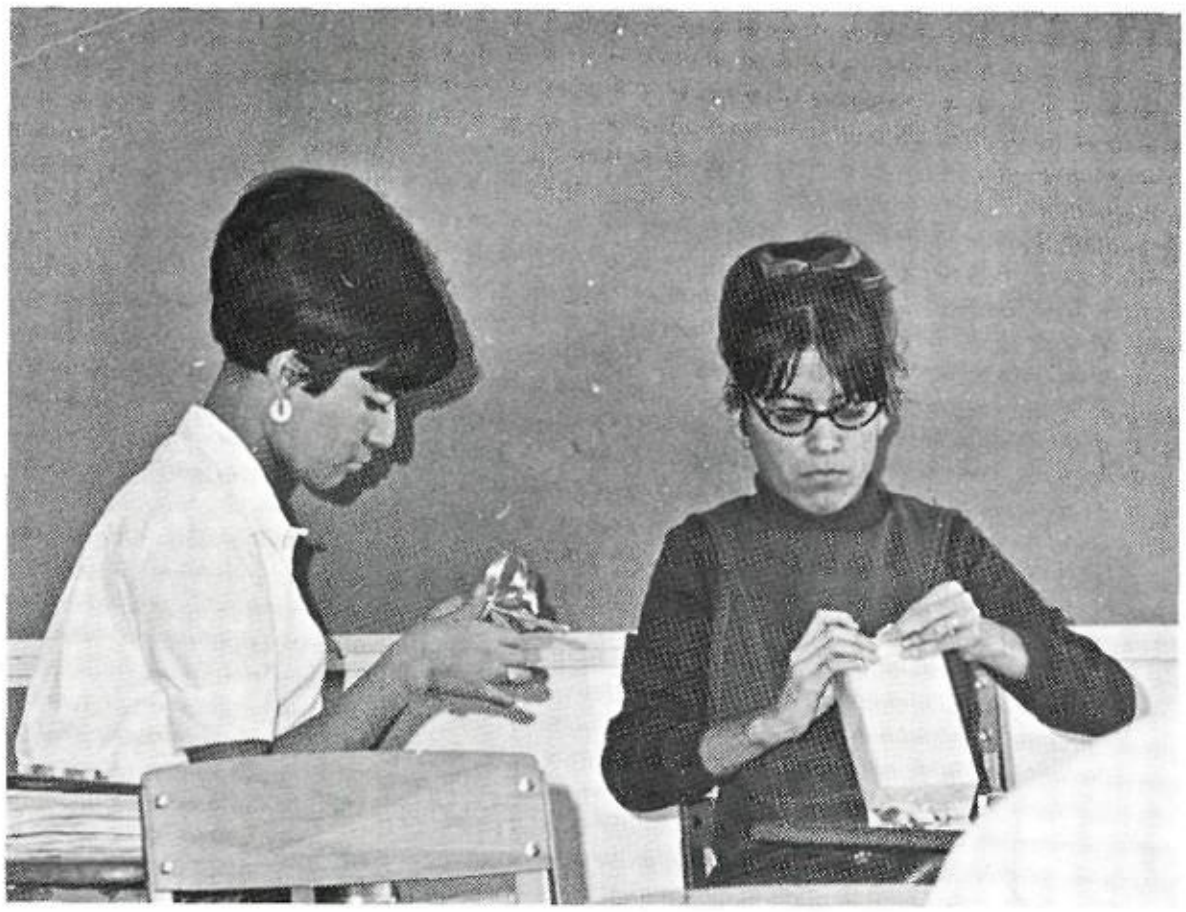
People Munch During Lunch



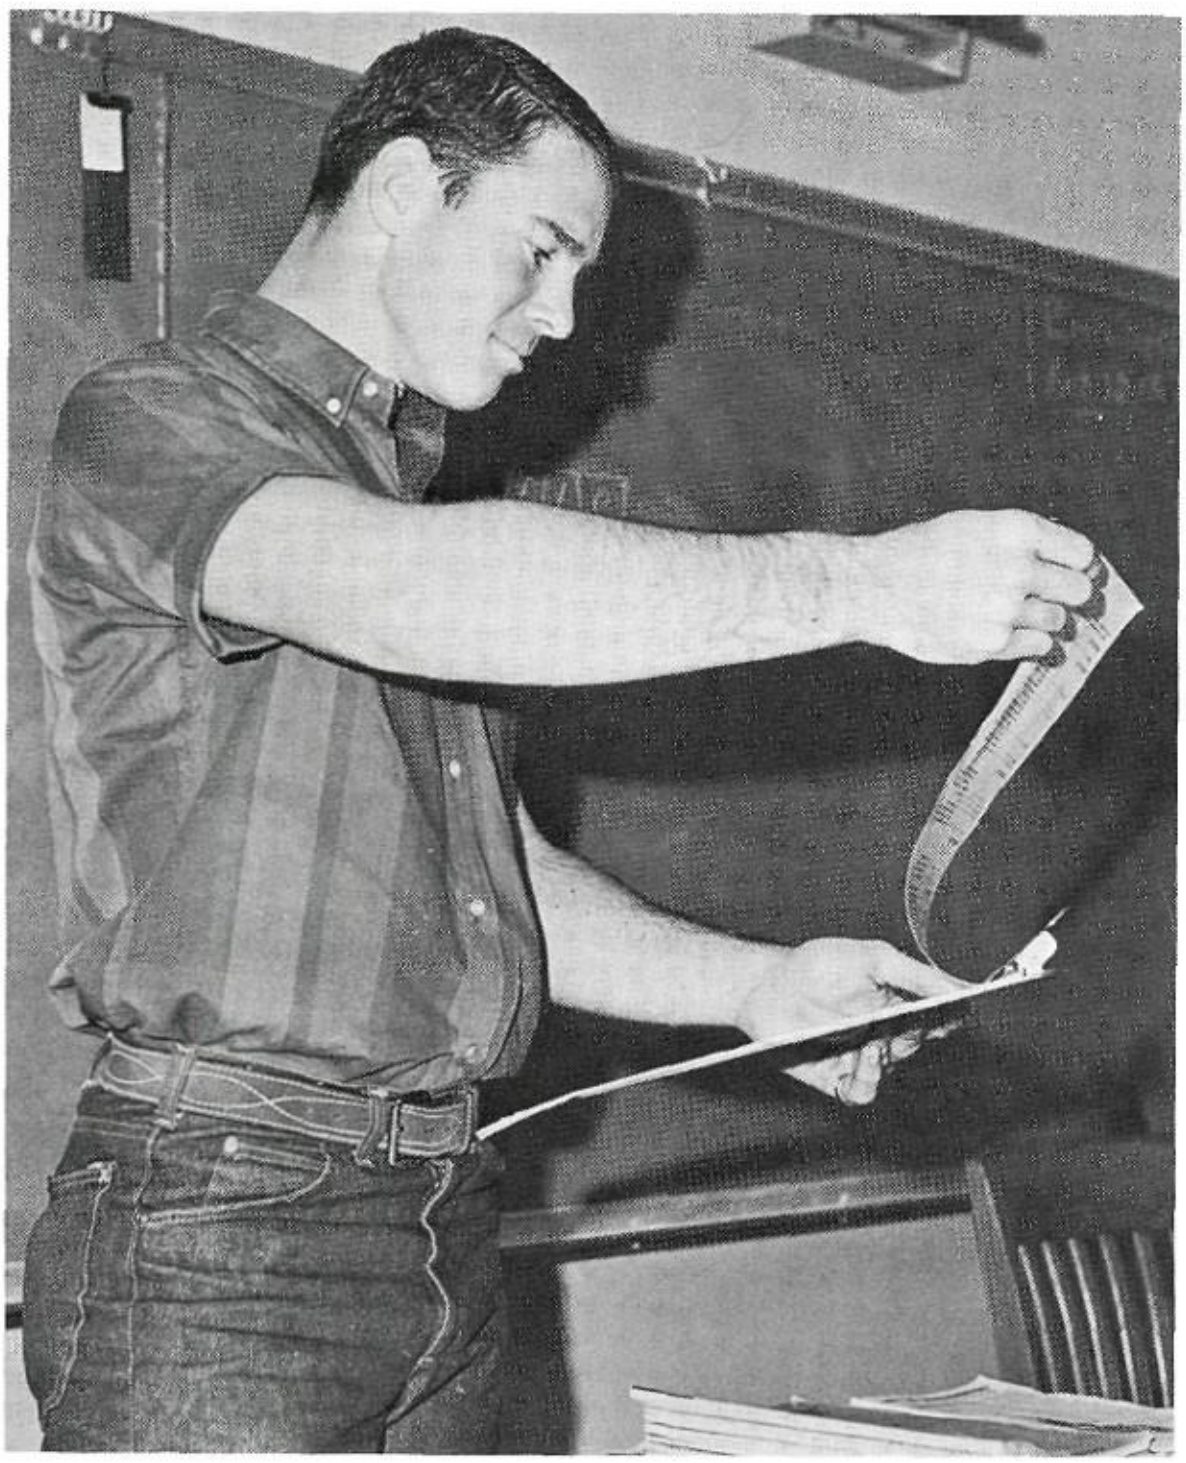
Thanks to Mr. Don Freiling, Vice-Principal, and Coach Gene Schwinge, the cafeteria is always run smoothly and kept in good order.



Too busy eating to indulge in conversation, students enjoy their lunches and the soft drinks provided in the cafeteria.

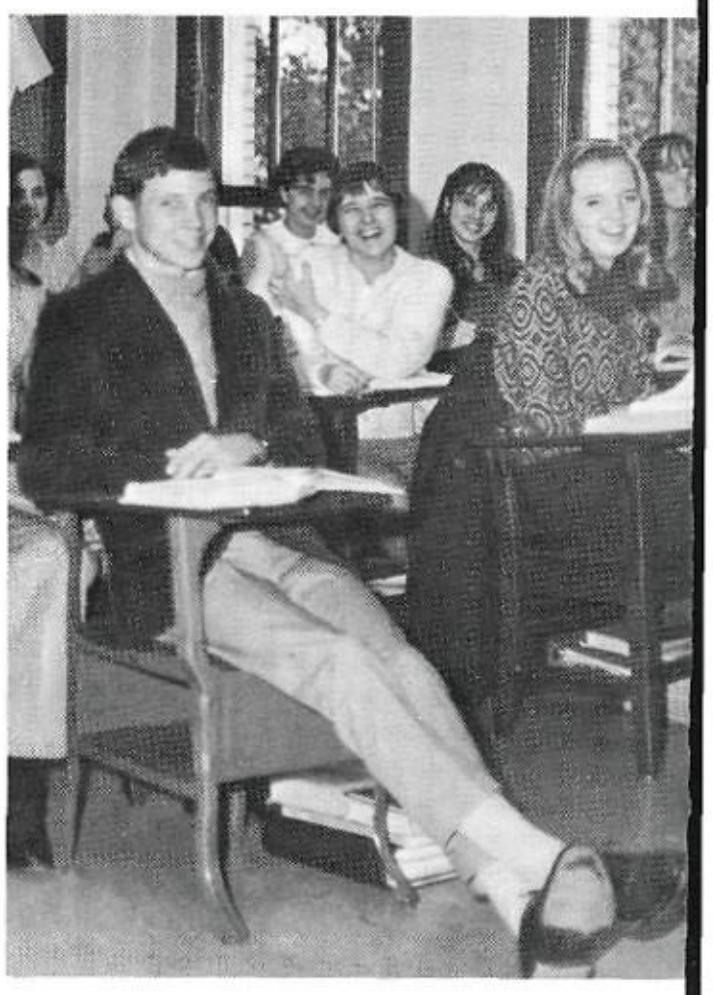


Many students do their homework during advisory, but few have homework as unusual as Maria Hernandez and Priscilla Rodriguez who are practicing gift wrapping for senior hostess classes.



Advisory President Alan Clendenen takes time from his other important duties to check the list of graduating seniors to make sure his name is listed.

Although others may prefer the halls during the noon hour, Sandy Cloyd awaits her friends outside near the Student Council patio.



Peals of laughter banish the normally studious atmosphere in this advisory.

Noon Hour Activities Vary

Sports

From the football field, basketball court, tennis court, putting green, and track field came a confluence of young men and women whose matchless dedication, intense desire, and inexhaustible energy labeled them as outstanding members of our campus community. Whether celebrating a joyous victory or bearing the painful disappointment of defeat, their spirit of sportsmanship and their desire to do their very best could not be subdued. Indeed, through their participation in sports, they earned a priceless dividend that could not be measured in points or seen in laurels, and that is learning to be satisfied only with a total, uncompromising effort. It is this indomitable zeal to wrest the best performance from oneself that reached out, inspired, and uplifted the lives of competitor and spectator alike.

Mustangs Drill in

For the Mustangs, the football season started early in the spring of 1967 when they began training and practicing for this year's district race. Led by George "Red" Forehand, a thirty-six year veteran of coaching and member of Texas Football's Hall of Fame, and his capable staff of assistants, Bob Burk and Frank Arnold, a new addition to the Mustang coaching staff, the Hosses showed great potential in early season practice and promise to be one of the major powers in District 15-AAAA this year.

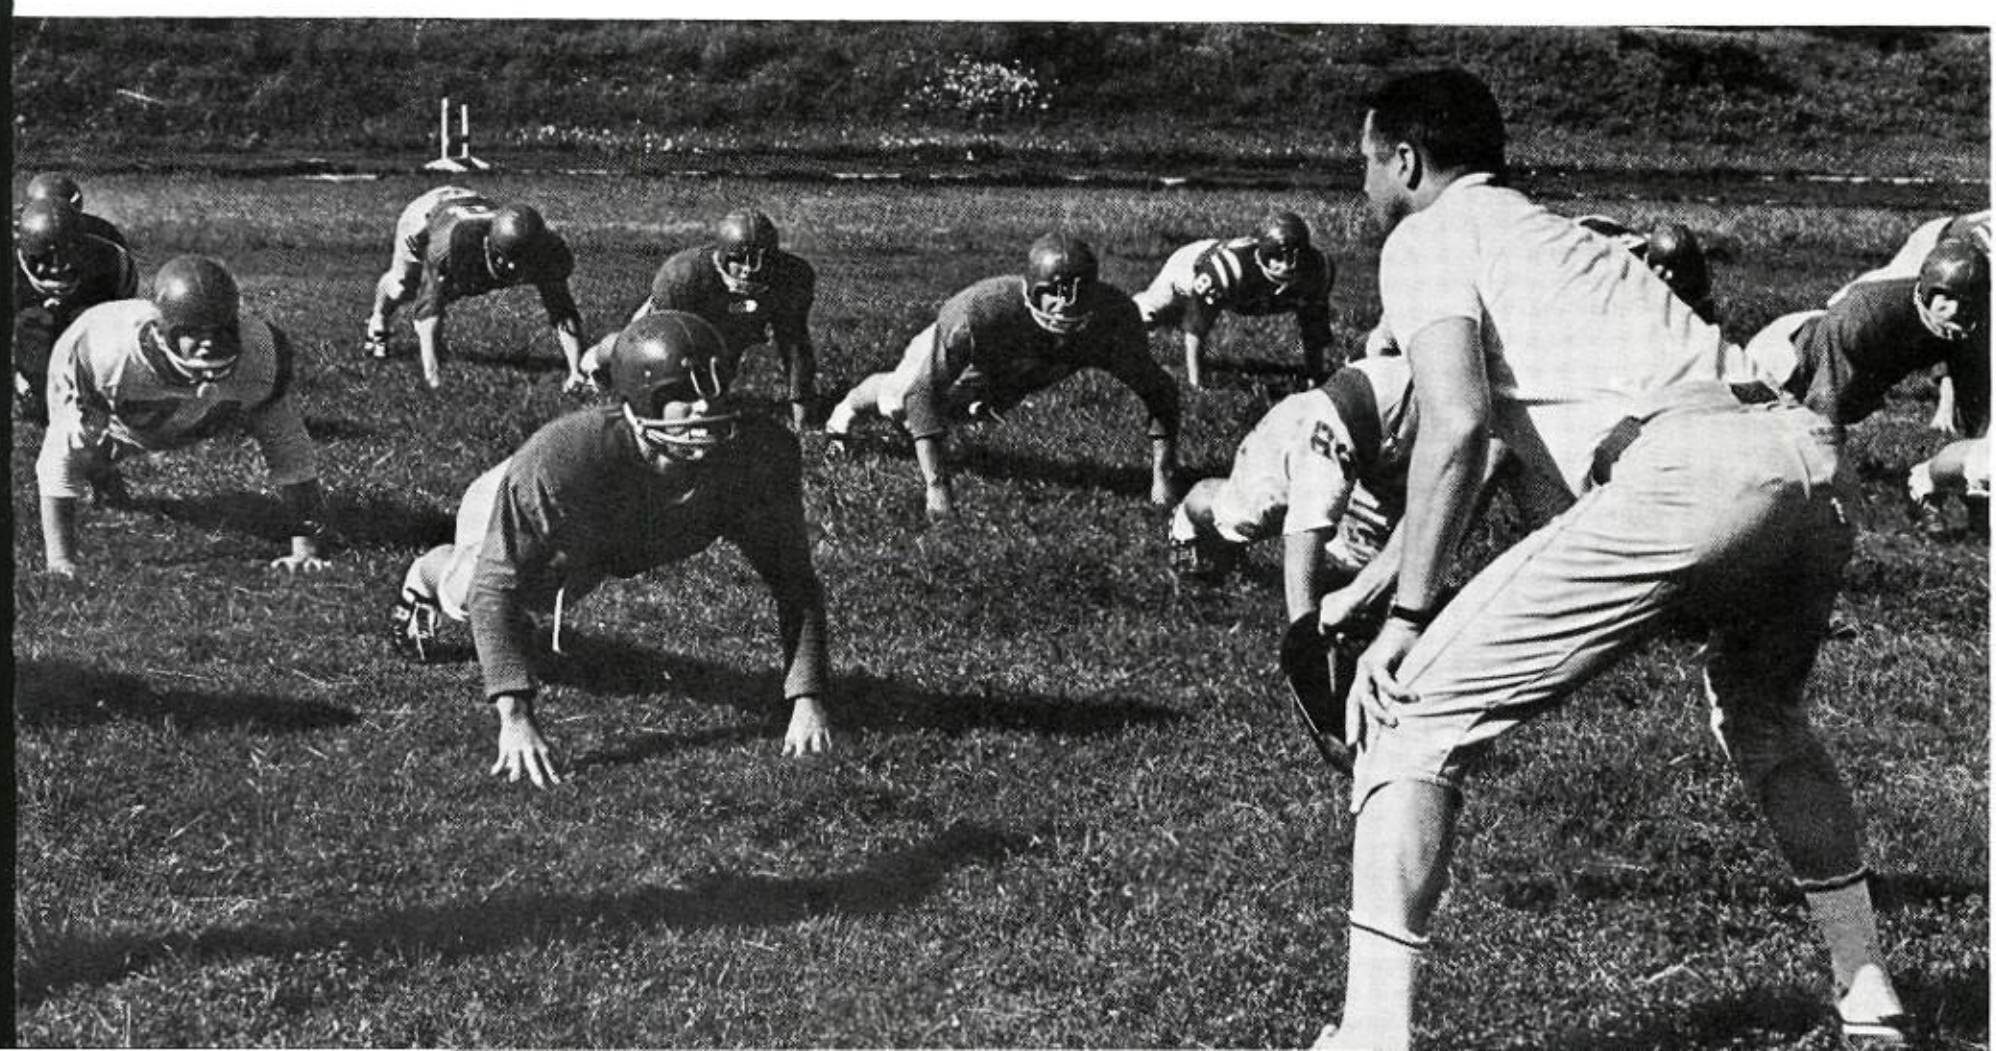
Preparation for District Race

While their coaches think about and discuss plans for the day's workout the Mustangs use a stretching exercise to limber up.

Coach Frank Arnold gives the Mustangs a few points to help improve their passing attack.

Under the watchful eye of Coach Bob Burke, the Mustangs do pushups to get into shape for their next game.



Mustangs Drop Opener to Carroll

Alamo Stadium; September 9: Long range aerial attacks of the Carroll Tigers brought them from behind as they went on to smash the Mustangs 32-7 in a non-district contest. Two fumbles and a blocked punt made things easier for the Tigers as they turned Jefferson mistakes into touchdowns. The leading rusher for the Mustangs was David Martin who got 118 yards on 14 carries, including a 48 yard touchdown gallop. David Fluitt got 41 yards on 8 carries, and Pat Walker contributed 42 yards on 9 carries.

STATISTICS

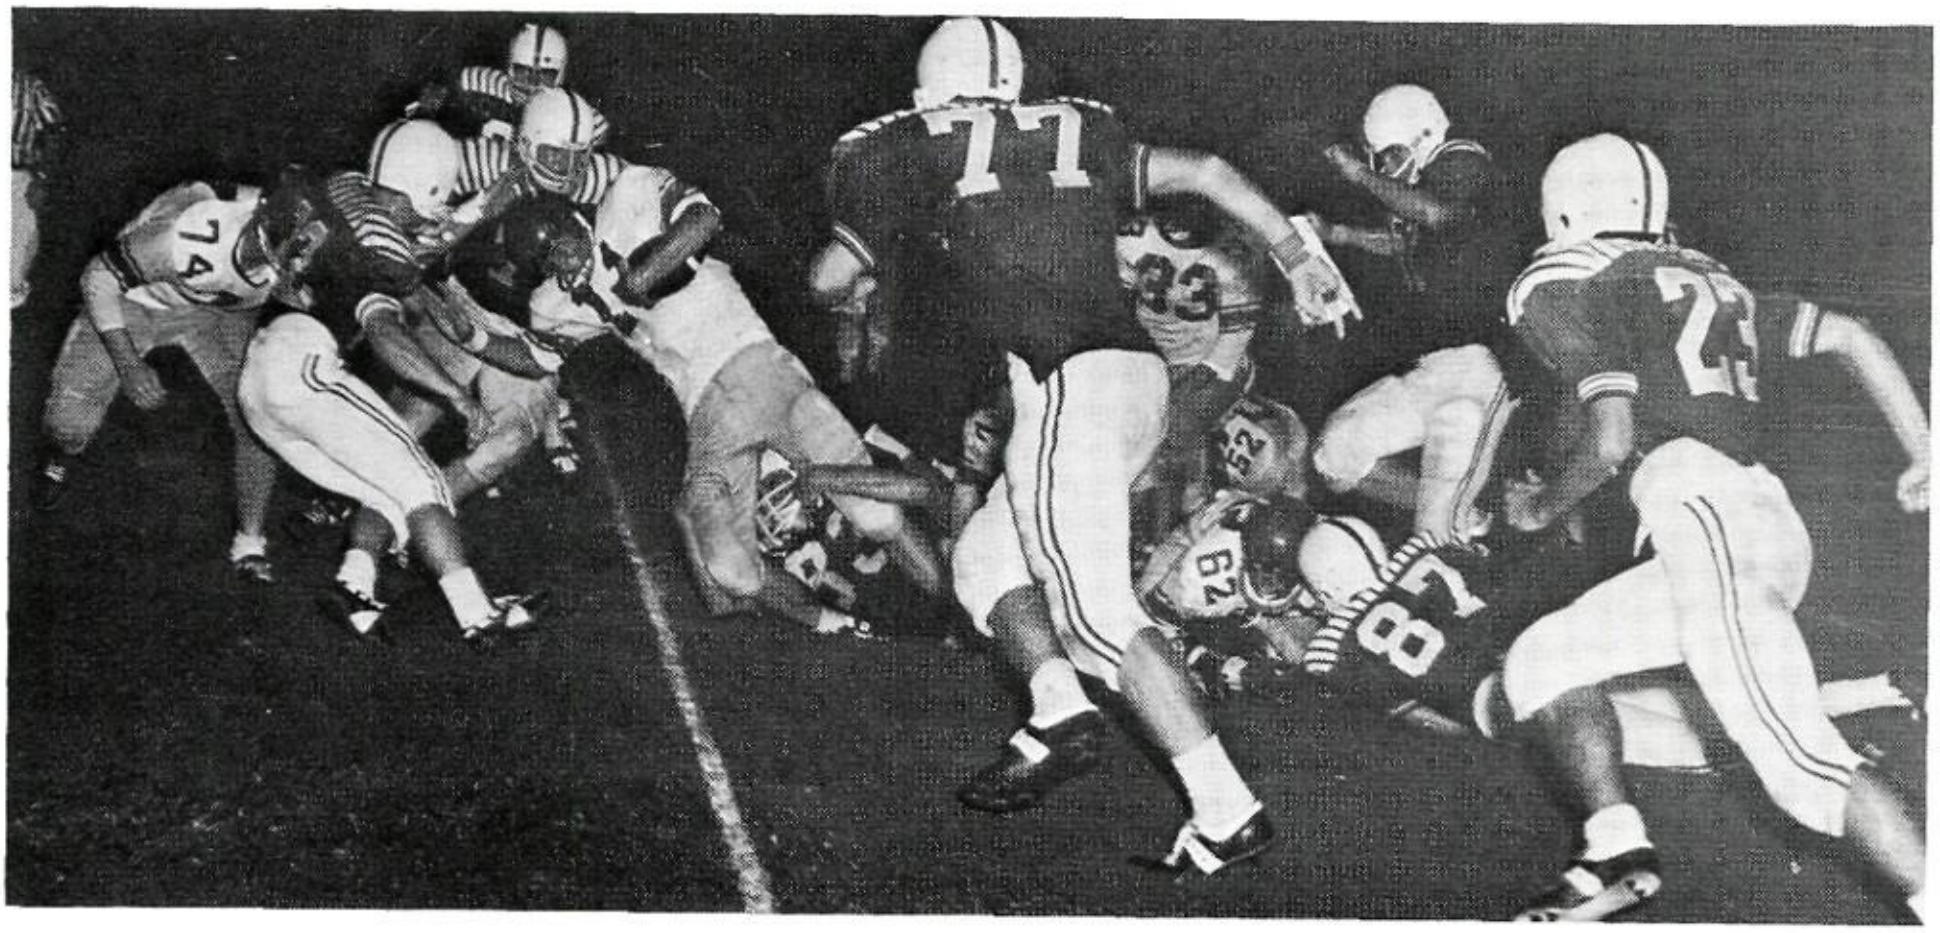
Quarterback Doug Lansing goes around end for good yardage as Larry Gallego lays a key block on a Carroll defender.



After picking up substantial yardage, quarterback Doug Lansing is brought to the turf by the formidable Texan defense.

Ray Interceptions Halt Mustangs

Corpus Christi; September 15: Four timely pass interterceptions enabled the Corpus Christi Ray Texans to blank the Mustangs 14-0. The first Ray touchdown was set up by a pass interception on the Jeff 35 yard line. Seven plays later Ray scored on a 5 yard full back blast. Ray capped its scoring on a 14 yard pass play in the second period. Jefferson mounted several defensive drives, but all were stopped by a stout Texan defense. The most crucial of these came in the third quarter when Mustang Guard Chris Guzzardo, a standout on defense, recovered a fumble on the Ray 24 yard line. The Mustangs drove to the 5 but were halted there. Halfback David Fluitt led Jeff runners with 53 yards on 13 carries while wingback Phil Barnett got 31 yards on 5 carries.

	Jeff	Ray
First downs	14	15
Rushing yardage	178	208

Hosses Romp Past Churchill, 20-0

Head cheerleader for the Churchill game, Kathleen Ferguson, leads the cheering as the Mustangs roll on to victory.

Northeast Stadium; September 22: Without throwing a pass, the Mustangs plodded their way over a muddy field for their first victory of the year as they trounced the Churchill Chargers, 20-0. The Mustangs completely dominated the game, running 65 offensive plays to Churchill's 37, and amassing 297 yards on the ground, while holding the Chargers to –2 yards rushing. Junior tailback Pat Walker led the way for the Hosses, as he scored two touchdowns and collected 135 yards on the ground in 24 carries. The other Jefferson tally came from wingback Phillip Barnett on a four yard scamper late in the second period. Tailback David Fluitt contributed 71 yards in 11 carries, while Lawrence Tatsch led the way for the defense.

Jubilant Claudia Marple, leads a cheer after Jeff's first score.

Alamo Stadium; October 6: With five seconds to go in the first half, the Robert E. Lee Volunteers tied Jefferson 6-6 then completely dominated the second half to score an impressive 18-6 victory. The Mustangs drew first blood when David Fluitt broke away on a 33 yard jaunt to make the score 6-0. A defensive battle followed until Lee got the ball with 1:45 left in the first half and scored the tying touchdown. The second half was all Lee with their defense stopping the Mustangs, led by junior quarterback Ray Keller, while their offense scored two touchdowns. Keller did a fine job filling in for Doug Lansing, but it was obvious that the offense lacked Lansing's experienced play calling. Larry Gallego, Jeff Harrison, and Lawrence Tatch all played fine defensive games.

Mustangs Scalp Cherokees

Fullback David Martin breaks through the Cherokee line and gallops towards the goal posts on a 32 yard dash from scrimmage.

Alamo Stadium; October 12: Knocking off highly-ranked, undefeated teams seems to have become the pastime of the Mustangs, as they did it again, downing the Sam Houston Cherokees, 21-6. The previously undefeated and high-scoring Tribe managed to score only once against a tough and stubborn Jefferson defense. The Mustangs made it obvious they came to play, as they covered 67 yards on their first possession with David Martin going the final 32 yards on an off-tackle run, to put the Hosses ahead 7-0, with 9:21 left in the first quarter. The next Mustang tally was set up by David Fluitt who intercepted a pass on the Jefferson 41. The Mustangs marched 59 yards in 11 plays with Martin capping the drive going over from the five. The final Mustang score came on a 27 yard pass from Ray Keller to John Mercado with 20 seconds left in the half. Larry Gallego made all three conversion attempts good, and Fluitt led all rushers collecting 100 yards in 14 carries while Martin gathered 88 yards in 16 attempts.

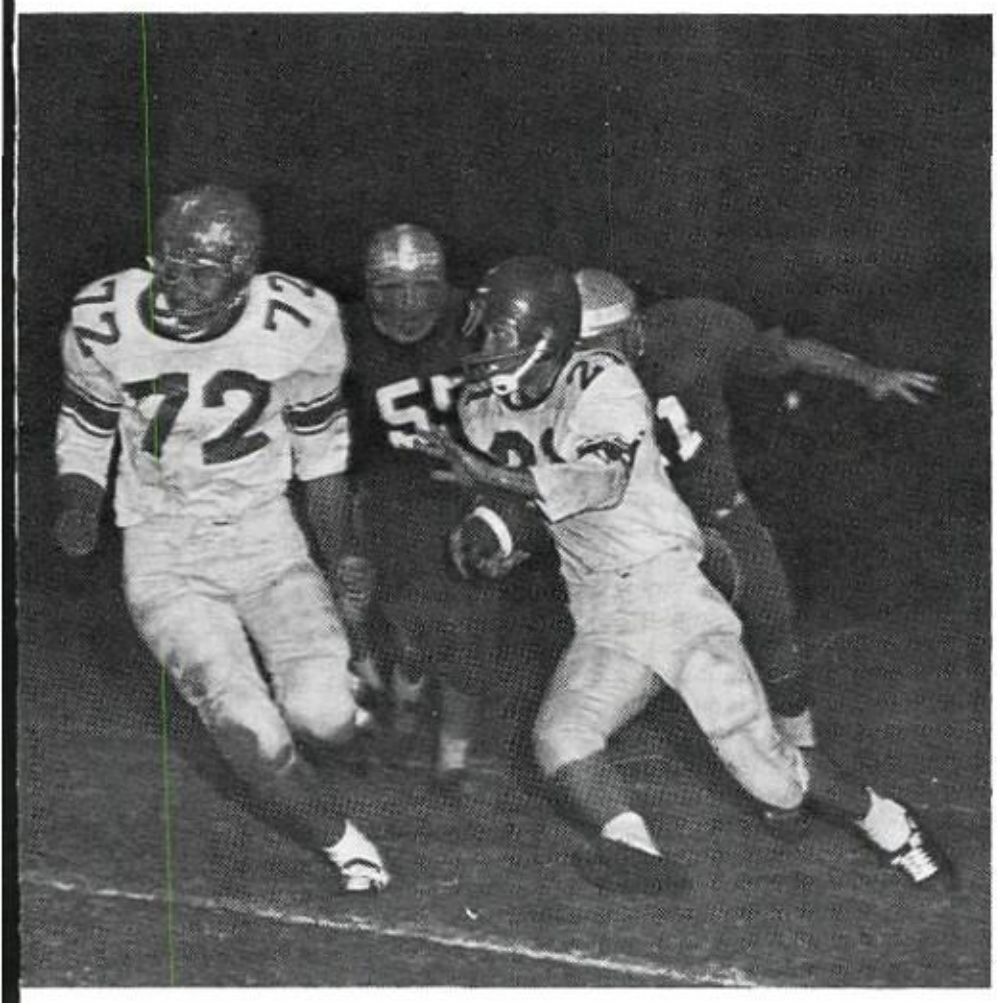
Brahmas Dump Mustangs, 21-6



Leading interference, Gus Bueno sets up a key downfield block for tailback David Fluitt as he crashes through the MacArthur line.

Alamo Stadium: October 20; Despite David Fluitt's 97 yard run back of an intercepted pass, the MacArthur Brahmas outclassed the Mustangs, 21-6, in a hard fought 15-AAAA clash. The Brahmas scored twice in the first period and added another seven points in the third period. The only highspot for the Mustangs was Fluitt's score which came in the last play of the first half. The Brahmas seemingly intent on nothing but a three touchdown lead going into the half drove to the Mustang 10 where Fluitt intercepted the pass and raced for the score. Doug Lansing paced Jeff runners with 35 yards and completed two of their passes for 31 yards. MacArthur's victory put them right back in the thick of the district race while virtually eliminating the Mustang's hopes of winning the district crown.

Mustangs Rout Rough Riders, 27-0

Alamo Stadium; October 26: Living up to their names, the Mustangs ran wild and gave the Roosevelt Rough Riders a "rough ride," soundly trouncing them 27-0 in the two teams' first gridiron encounter. David Fluitt and Doug Lansing led the way for the Hosses, scoring two touchdowns each and accounting for most of the Mustangs' yardage. Fluitt scored first, capping off a 57 yard drive with a four yard scamper around left end. Five plays later, after Larry Gallego had recovered a fumble on the Roosevelt 23 yard line, Lansing scored from ten yards out. Lansing's other tally came in the second quarter as he ran around left end and galloped 62 yards into the end zone. Fluitt's second touchdown came on the Mustangs' first play in the second half, as he ripped through the Roosevelt defense on a 66 yard gallop. Altogether, Fluitt totaled 123 yards rushing in 11 carries, and Lansing gained 63 yards in five carries. Defenders Ray Keller, David Applewhite, Fred Mazuca, and Lawrence Tatsch were standouts as the Rough Riders were held scoreless.

Alamo Stadium; November 4: After running up a 21-0 half-time score, the Mustangs romped home with a 29-8 victory over the Alamo Heights Mules in a district 15-AAAA clash. The Mustangs scored on their first possession, marching 80 yards in eleven plays, with Pat Walker going the final two yards for the score. A muffed punt attempt by Heights set up the Mustangs second score as they took over possession on the Mules 12 yard line. It took only three plays for the Mustangs to score, with David Fluitt going in from the one. The Hosses next tally came as they took a Heights punt and got into scoring position on a 15 yard penalty again at the Mules. Doug Lansing galloped 24 yards around left end for the score just as time ran out in the half. Larry Gallego's third conversion gave the Mustangs a 21-0 lead at half-time. The Hosses final score of the game came as they recovered a fumble on the Heights 46, and started a drive with Fluitt scampering the final 30 yards. The conversion try for two points was good as Ray Keller tossed a pass to Phillip Barnett in the end zone, making the final score 39-8. Fluitt led all runners with 87 yards on 17 attempts and David Martin contributed 61 yards in 10 carries, while Lansing collected 59 yards on 8 tries and completed four of seven passes for 58 yards.

Hosses Grind Out Victory Over Edison

Alamo Stadium: Neither the mud, nor the Edison Bears were able to stop the mighty Mustangs as they rolled on to their third consecutive victory, boosting their league record to 5-2. Although the Bears scored first, the Mustangs came back soon afterwards, taking an onside kick on their own 46 and marching 54 yards in 12 plays with David Martin going over from the one. Larry Gallego missed the conversion, and the score was deadlocked at halftime. David Fluitt put the Mustangs ahead to stay late in the third quarter as he took a pitchback and zipped 75 yards through the fog for a touchdown. Gallego kicked the point and repeated the performance after the Hosses' third tally, which came on a two yard drive by Doug Lansing early in the fourth quarter. Immediately afterwards, the Bears bounced back a 92-yard kickoff return, but then the Mustang defense dug in, and the final score was 20-12. Fluitt again was the outstanding runner as he picked up 202 yards on 24 carries to outgain the entire Edison team. Quarterback Doug Lansing added 51 yards on the ground and completed one of two passes for 11 yards, while fullback David Martin contributed 37 yards rushing.

Mustangs Smash Owls 25-6 in Finale

Alamo Stadium: November 17; Again the Mustangs lived up to their reputation as "giant killers" by knocking off the highly favored Highlands Owls 25-6 in front of more than 6500 people in Alamo Stadium. The win, which assured Jefferson no less than a tie for second place in district 15-AAAA, was made possible by an alert defense which intercepted two passes and recovered three fumbles opening the gate for many Mustang scoring opportunities. The first Mustang score came early in the second period as Doug Lansing went over from the one capping a 44 yard drive. Less than three minutes later the Hosses got back on the scoreboard after Lawrence Tatsch recovered a fumble on the Owl's 47. Phil Barnett hauled in a Doug Lansing pass to put the Hosses in scoring position on the 21, and on the next play Mirylon Clark dashed around left end 21 yards for the tally. On the next Mustang possession it was Clark again, as he galloped 23 yards to the Owl's 21 before being run out of bounds. Pat Walker and David Martin worked the ball to the 11, where Lansing went in for the score. The last Mustang score came easily as Terry Hall and Billy Centeno tackled Owl quarterback Terry Peel on his own 1 on a fourth down play. Martin went over on the next play to close the scoring.

Although the entire team played a thoroughly outstanding game, defenders Centeno, Hall, Larry Gallego, and Lawrence Tatsch were exceptional as were backs Mirylon Clark, Phil Barnett, David Fluitt, and Doug Lansing.

After getting off to a slow start, dropping three of their first games, the Mustangs made a strong comeback near the end of the season, winning all of their last four contests by sizeable margins. Much of the credit for this improvement goes to the Mustang defensive unit which like the offense, seemed to get better as the season progressed. They held their opponents to 26 points in their last four games, while the offense rolled up 101 points in the same period.

This late season display of power, coupled with the fact that the Ponies went through their season undefeated, is ample proof that the Mustangs will be hard to beat next year and could very likely run away with District honors.

However, not all is bright for the Mustangs next year due to the late season announcement that Coach George "Red" Forehand would be leaving his post as Mustang mentor. After 38 years of coaching, Mr. Forehand was named Assistant Athletic Director of Health and Education of the San Antonio Independent School District. Coach Forehand, who is a member of the Texas Coaches Hall of Fame, will be missed by everyone at school, but the people who will feel the loss more are the athletes who have grown to respect, admire, and appreciate this great coach.

Although Mr. Forehand's tenure here was relatively short, he left a strong and lasting impression especially on those fortunate enough to have been associated with him.

Led by Coaches Jim Shuler and new arrival Gene Schwinge, the Ponies for 1967 demonstrated that they had the power to capture the district crown in the junior varsity division of high school football.

The season began with the Ponies defeating their opponents by impressive margins, downing the Cherokees of Sam Houston 27-8. Following their season opener, the Little Hosses displayed their unbeatable junior varsity skill as they smashed Churchhill 54-0. This same spirit kept them alive as they routed the Central Catholic Buttons 53-0 and just squeaked past Lee 14-13. After the close decision with Lee, the Ponies kept their poise with a 43-0 score over the John Jay Mustangs, a victory which rounded out the first half of this season.

The second half showed the Ponies still undefeated. After mid-season, they quickly trounced MacArthur 39-6 and romped past Roosevelt 45-26. Only two games remained on the season's schedule. After being rained out for the Edison tilt, tension began to build as the undefeated Ponies took on the also undefeated JV's from Highlands. The Ponies decisively showed who deserved the district honors this year. A 27-8 victory gave the Ponies their first undefeated and untied season in several years.

Cagers Set Sights on District Crown

Led by veteran basketball coach Jim Heiser, the Running Mustangs seemed certain to improve on last year's dismal 15-15 season, and were a solid choice to rank as one of the top teams in District 15-AAAA.

Although the only starter returning from last year's team was 6'10" center Bill Beeson, his experience and height proved to be invaluable to the Mustangs. Jerry Merck and David Barnes, both of whom logged much playing time last year, were the only other lettermen on this year's team, and both should prove to be great assets. Also returning from last year's squad were Larry Orozco, David Bastress, Steve Bartley, and Greg Hess.

The Mustangs were fortunate to have fine reserves this year in Robert Saenz, Marty Gummer, Lee Cardenas, Garry Junot, and Mike Allen, all of whom helped lead the Ponies to a 19-3 season last year. Rounding out the squad were Mark Sosa and Robert Lee, both juniors who starred for the Colts last year.

Alamo Stadium Gym; December 7: After a close, hard fought battle during the first half, the Highlands Owls used a zone press and a fast break to overcome the Mustangs' towering zone defense and win 64-49 in the first District game of the year for the two teams. The Owls, who went into halftime with only a two point lead, were troubled by the presence of the Hosses' 6'10" center Bill Beeson, who continually blocked shots and led the Mustangs with 19 points.

Alamo Stadium Gym; January 16: Despite the worry and tension caused by mid-term exams, the Mustangs managed to rise to the occasion and defeat the Highlands Owls 61-51 to stay in contention for the 15-AAAA title. The Hosses rode in behind the 16 point shooting of David Barnes and the 14 point performance of Marty Gummer. Bill Beeson managed to contribute 11 points to the total before fouling out early in the third quarter.

Blossom Athletic Center Gym; December 12: After jumping off to an early lead, the Mustangs were never seriously challenged, as they rolled to an easy 76-56 win over the Churchill Chargers. Twelve players saw as Coach Jim Heiser flooded the court with reserves during the second half. Three Mustangs hit in double figures, with David Barnes leading all scorers with 22 points, followed by Bill Beeson with 19 and Jerry Merck with 12 points.

Alamo Stadium Gym; January 20: Led by guard Jerry Merck and center Bill Beeson, who scored 21 and 17 points respectively, the Mustangs walloped the Churchill Chargers 70-57. The Hosses, who needed the win to stay in contention for the District title, took an early lead and held on to it as the hapless Chargers tried desperately to upset the Mustangs. Steve Bartley scored 11 points and Greg Hess chipped in 10 to add to the Mustangs' total.

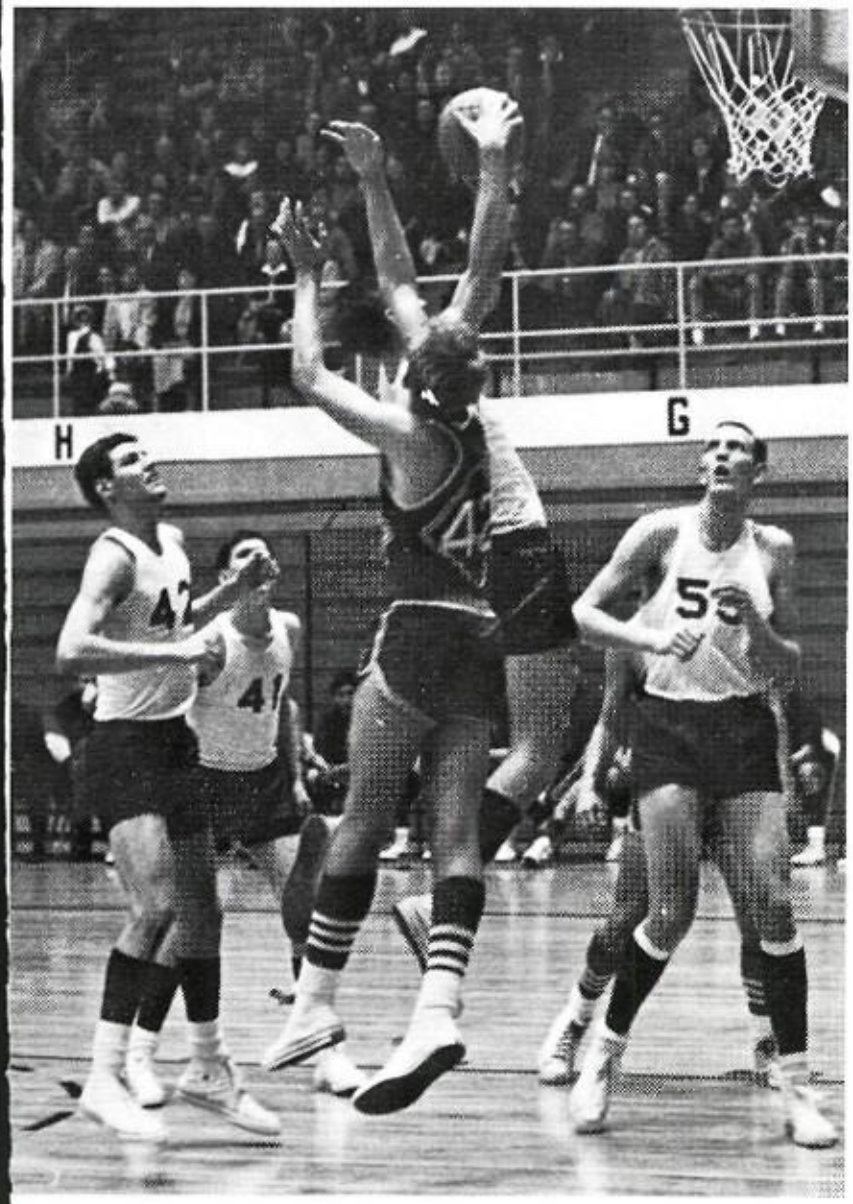
Hosses Thump Lee Twice



Alamo Stadium Gym; December 15: Behind the shooting of 6'10" center Bill Beeson, the Mustangs posted an impressive victory over Lee, 50-40. Towering over the entire Lee squad, Beeson led the scoring with 24 points, followed by Jerry Merck and David Barnes with 8 points, and Steve Bartley with 6 points.

Blossom Athletic Center; January 23: Although Lee jumped off to an early lead, the Mustangs fought back behind the shooting of Jerry Merck and dropped the Vols 51-46, in a hotly contested battle. Merck, who scored the Hosses first 12 points, was hot as a firecracker leading the game's scorers as he punctured Lee's defenses for 23 points. The lead changed hands 14 times, 11 in the second period, until the Mustangs finally pulled ahead to stay in the fourth quarter.

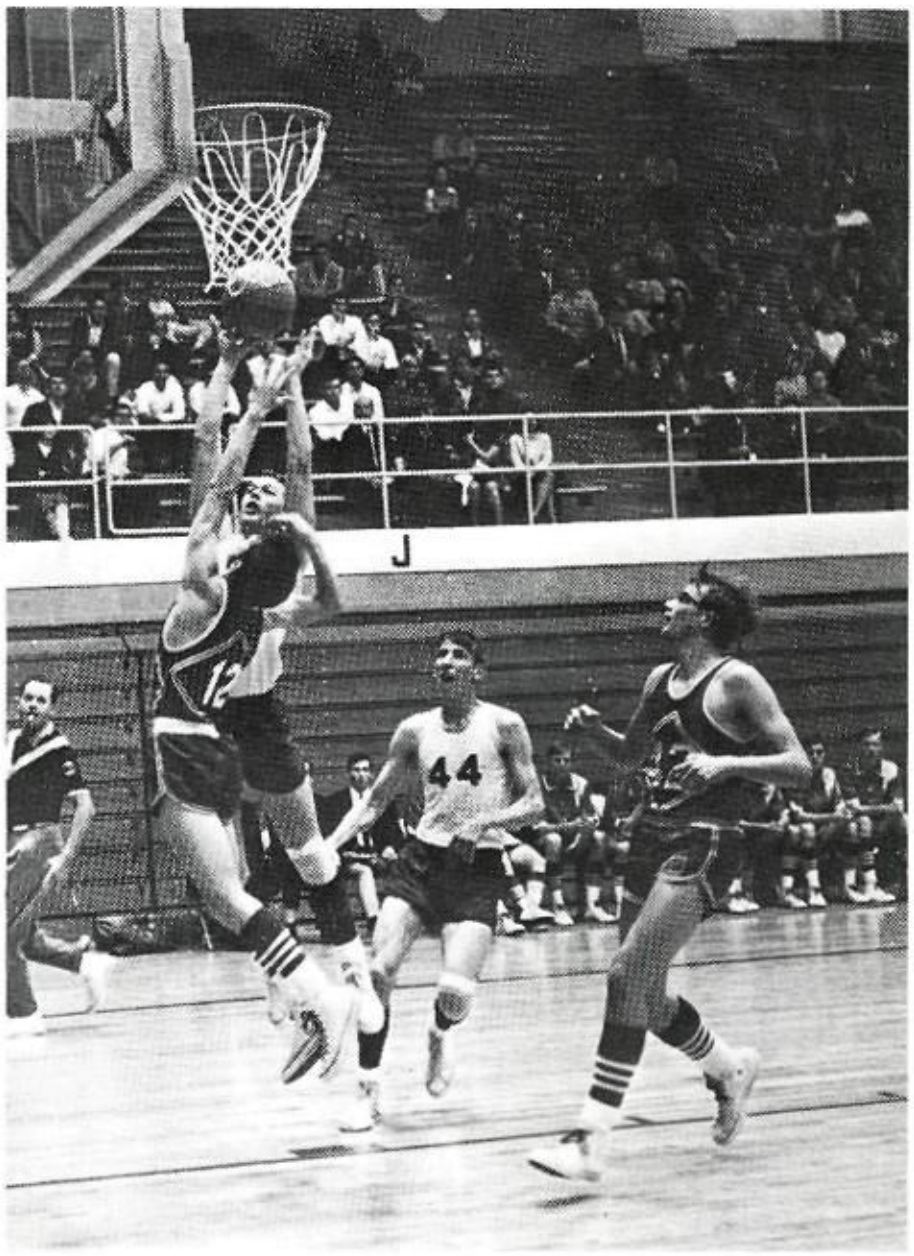
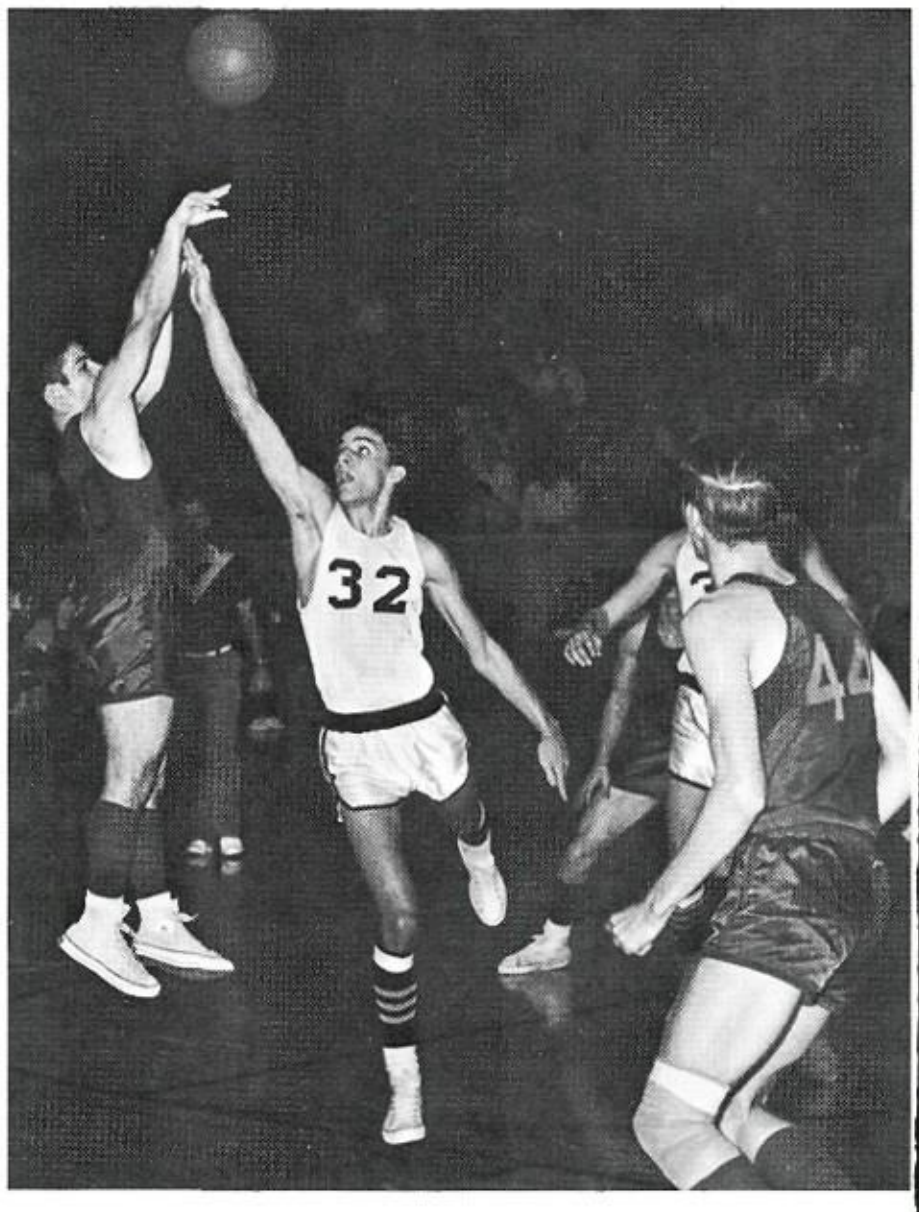
Despite the presence of a Lee defender, Marty Gummer drives in for the layup and adds two more points to the Mustangs total.



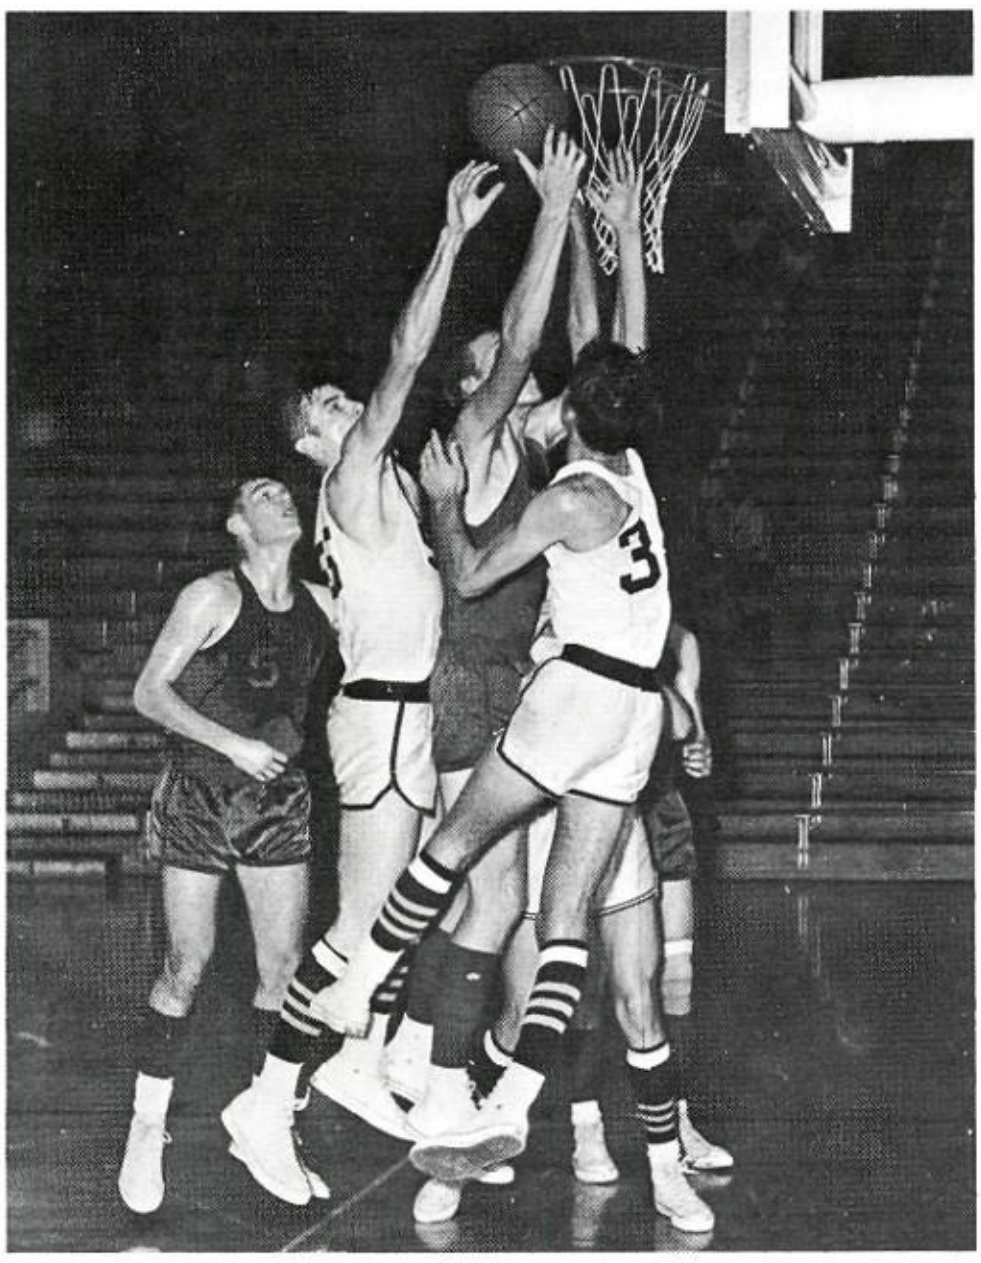
Alamo Stadium Gym; December 21: Taking advantage of their great height superiority, the Mustangs romped over the lowly Edison Bears by a score of 69-45. Leading the Hosses' attack were David Barnes and Bill Beeson, the two tallest players on the squad. Barnes, who tossed in 24 points, led the scoring, while Beeson added 22 from his post position.

Alamo Stadium Gym; January 29: Led by the sharp shooting of Jerry Merck, who ripped the nets for 28 points, the Mustangs breezed past the Edison Bears, 63-51. The victory was gained more easily than the final score indicated as the Hosses held a 20 point lead early in the final quarter until Coach Jim Heiser sent in the reserves and gave his regulars a rest. Bill Beeson tallied 19 points, and David Barnes 12 to assist the Mustang scoring.



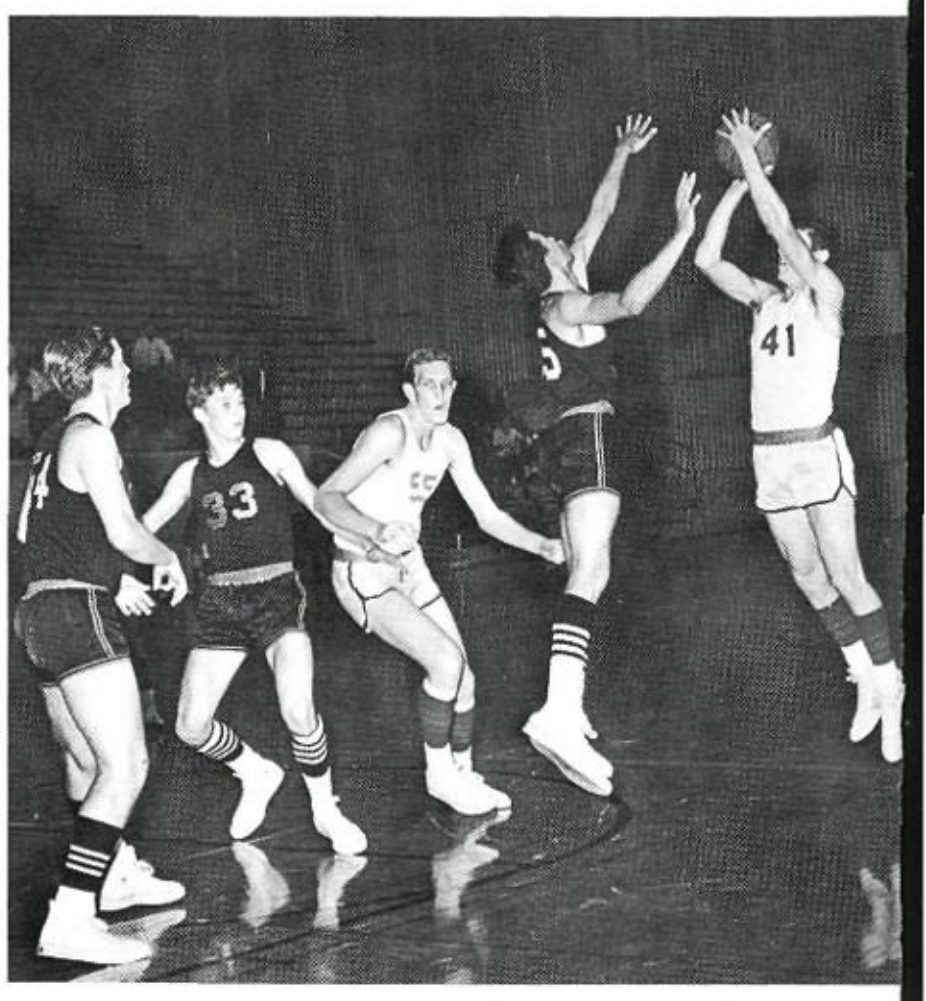
Despite his small size, senior Larry Orozco is deadly from the outside, as he proves here by sinking his shot.

Hosses Thump Edison's Bears



Taking two Edison defenders with him, center Bill Beeson goes up for two points.

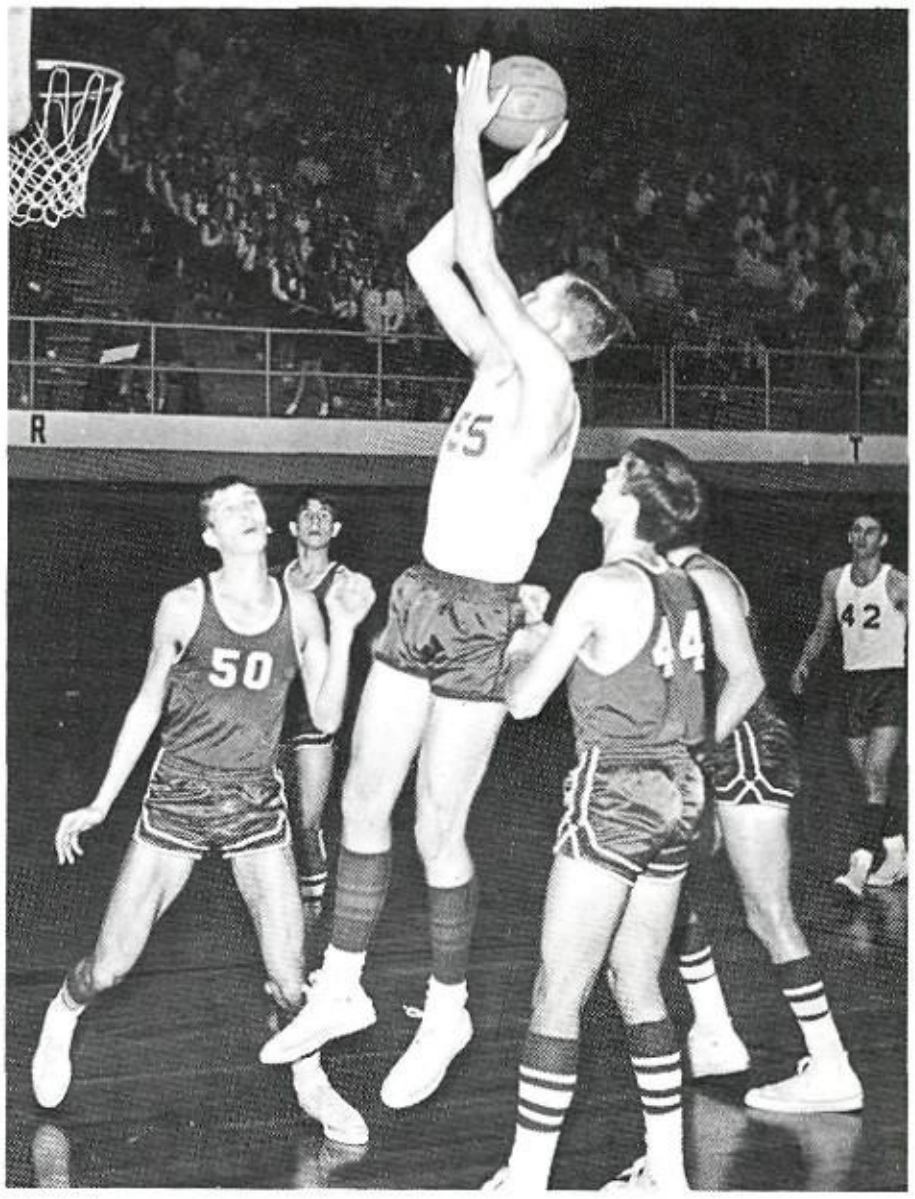
Using a screen set up by Bill Beason, senior Jerry Merck jumps high to sink another two pointer.



Mustangs Rough Up Roosevelt

Alamo Stadium Gym; January 2: Despite their poor season's record, the Roosevelt Rough Riders proved to be tough competition for the Mustangs as they led the Hosses throughout most of the first half. However, a strong second half effort by the Mustangs was just too much for Roosevelt, and the Hosses came back to win by a score of 59-48. Leading the attack for the Mustangs were Jerry Merck with 22 points and David Barnes with 14.

Blossom Athletic Center; February 2: Friday night was a big night for Mustang forward David Barnes as he ripped the nets for 24 points and hauled in 15 rebounds to lead the Hosses to a 69-53 win over the Roosevelt Rough Riders. The Mustangs put a check on Roosevelt's scoring threat, Mark Burden, permitting him only 16 points, eight of which came after the game was out of reach. Jerry Merck added 14 points to the Mustangs' total, and Bill Beeson chipped in 11.



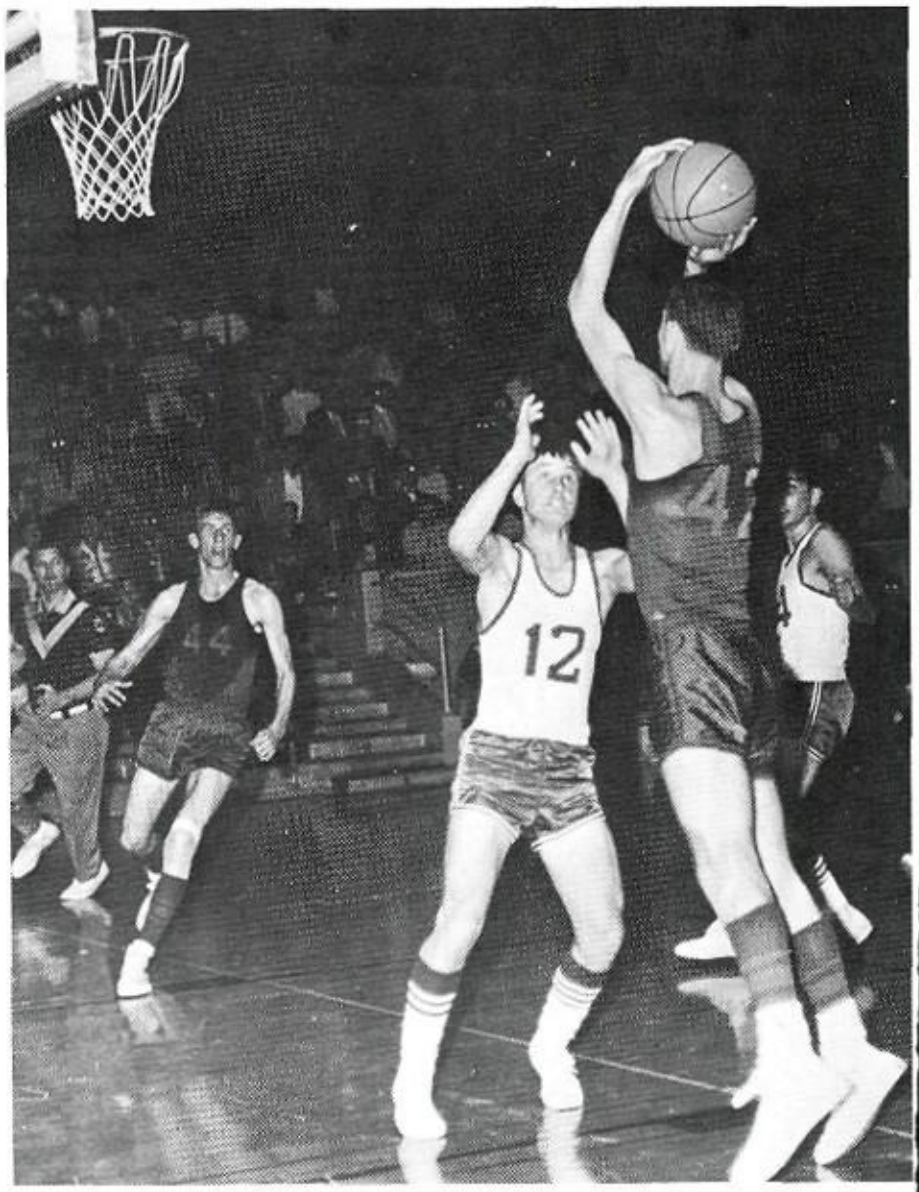
Center Bill Beeson leaves four Roosevelt players earthbound, as he adds two points to his game total.

Leaping high into the air to avoid the outstretched arm of a Rough Rider is Mustang David Barnes, as he sinks another two pointer.

Hosses Fall to Mac; Get Revenge

Blossom Athletic Center; January 5: Despite a late rally, the Mustangs dropped a crucial game to MacArthur, 67-63, in a district tilt which knocked them out of a second place tie. The Hosses, behind the strong shooting of Jerry Merck with 19 points, David Barnes with 15, and Bill Beeson with 14, could muster nothing better than a one point lead in the final quarter which the Brahmas soon overcame.

Alamo Stadium Gym; February 6: "Revenge," was the cry as the Mustangs clobbered the MacArthur Brahmas, 64-45, to avenge an earlier season defeat at the hands of the Bulls. Jerry Merck, high point man for the night with 20 points, again led the Hosses' attack. Bill Beeson, who scored 12 points, continually blocked shots and hauled in rebounds to guarantee the Mustangs their victory.

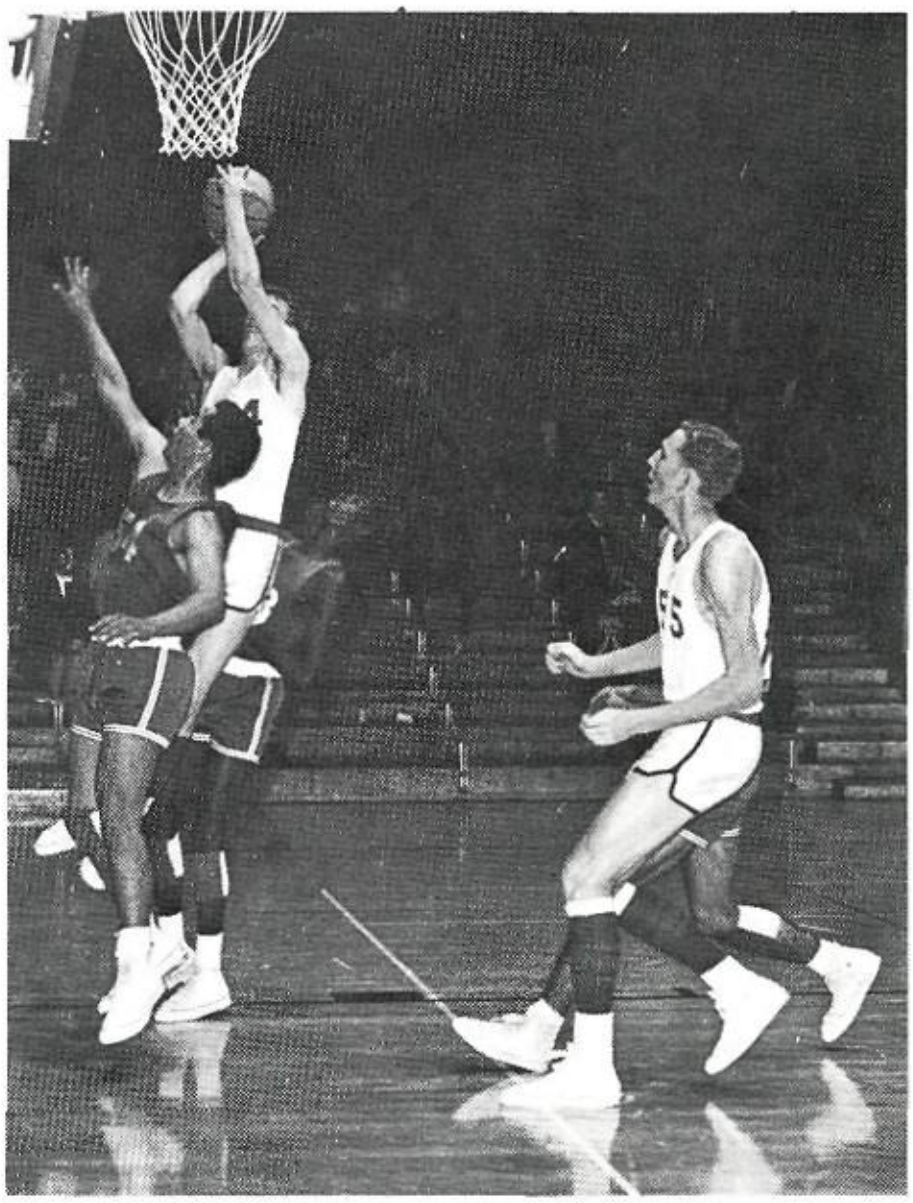


Although he takes only a few shots per game, senior Steve Bartley is an accurate shot, as he proves here by sinking his shot from the corner.

Everyone on the court watches in awe as 6'10" Bill Beeson takes one of his deadly shots to add two points to the Mustangs' total.

Alamo Stadium Gym; January 9: After seeing their 22 point lead whittled away by the determined Sam Houston Cherokees, the Mustangs came back to salvage a 67-65 victory. With 50 seconds remaining and the score 65-65, a missed foul shot by a Houston player gave the Hosses possession. They then proceeded to run out the clock until time was called to plan the strategy; 7 seconds remained. When play resumed, the Cherokees fell back on Bill Beeson expecting him to shoot, but it was Jerry Merck who sunk the final shot giving the Mustangs the win. Leading scorers for the Mustangs were Merck with 19 points, followed by Beeson with 16.

Alamo Stadium Gym; February 9: After winning six consecutive district games, the Mustangs fell prey to the powerful Sam Houston Cherokees, by a score of 61-57. A strong attack led by Jerry Merck's 26 points, kept the fighting Mustangs' spirit up throughout the game. Also contributing to the Mustangs' total were Bill Beeson with 13 points and David Barnes who added 11.



Despite the presence of two Cherokee defenders, David Barnes makes his shot good for two points.

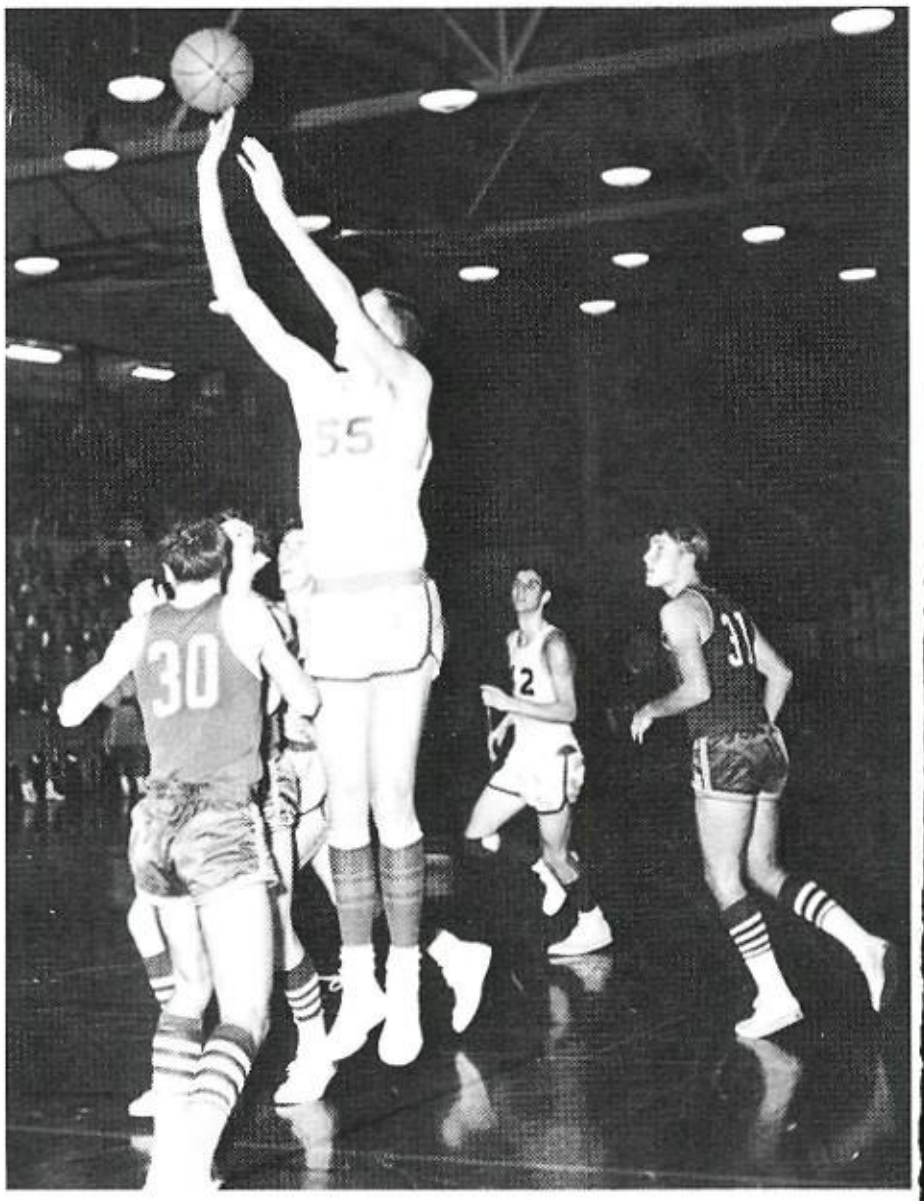
Mustangs Gain Split With Sam Houston

Mustangs Bill Beeson, David Barnes, and Steve Bartley anxiously await the results of a jumpball, even though their teammate Jerry Merck appears to have the situation well in hand.

Mustangs Break Even With Heights

Alamo Heights Gym; January 12: With a last minute rally, the Alamo Heights Mules ended a see-saw battle and posted a 57-50 victory over the Mustangs. Trailing at halftime 21-19, the Mustangs came back to lead most of the second half. But even with the tremendous effort of Bill Beeson, who tallied thirteen points in the last period, the Mustangs were seven points behind when the final buzzer sounded. High scorers for the Red and Blue included Beeson with 24 points and David Barnes with 14.

Alamo Stadium Gym; February 13: Finishing their season in fine shape, the Mustangs closed with a 61-57 victory over Alamo Heights. Led by the shooting of Jerry Merck who scored 23 points and David Barnes, who added 21, the Hosses were never in serious trouble as they ended their action with a 12-4 record, and 20-8 district record for the year.



Although he is known primarily for being a deadly shot from up close, Bill Beeson proves he can hit from outside as well.

Ponies Pulverize Foes . . .

Long sixth period practice sessions, that stressed teamwork precision and shooting accuracy and that often extended into the late afternoon, resulted in a fine season's record of 11-6 and district record of 9-3 for Coach Jim Schuler's Powerful Ponies. This record, which captured for them 3rd place in junior varsity play, reflected victories over such opponents as Roosevelt, MacArthur, Sam Houston, Lee, Churchill, and Alamo Heights. Only Edison and Highlands dealt the Little Hosses district losses.

Besides the favorable won-loss record, the Ponies also took pride in their impressive string of victories earned towards the end of the season. The Ponies smashed Alamo Heights twice 45-24, and 57-41, dumped Sam Houston 48-24, blitzed by Lee 63-31, and devastated Churchill 65-25.

In their most exciting non-district cage play, the Ponies came out on the short end of an 84-72 scoring marathon with Wheatley's Little Lions.

The Little Hosses numbered among their big guns Napoleon Davis, Jo-Jo Galindo, Gerry Smith, and Carl Waddle, each hitting in double figures on many occasions. With these Powerful Ponies, Coach Jim Schuler certainly offered the Running Mustangs a strong bench for next year's district loop action.

Colts End Season With 18-5 Record

First period every morning, the gym echoed with the sounds of the Colt Basketball Team drilling and perfecting the finer points of offensive and defensive basketball as taught by their coach, Mr. Richard Kirkpatrick. Their intensive training paid off with a 16-4 record for district play and an 18-5 effort for the season. In the process of compiling this fine record, the cagey Colts downed such teams as Marshall, South San, and Brackenridge in non-district cage play and such teams as Churchill, MacArthur, Sam Houston, and Edison in regular season action. They split a pair of games with their perennial rival Lee. Their one bleak point in the season was the Highland Owls. Besides dropping two games to them in district play, the Colts also lost to Highlands in the finals of a sophomore basketball tournament the Colts hosted at our school.

With such bright prospects as Bill Schindler, Tim Brown, David Dullnig, and Glenn Stroh coming through the ranks, the Colts assured the Mustang and Pony teams of a bright future.

Girl Racketeers

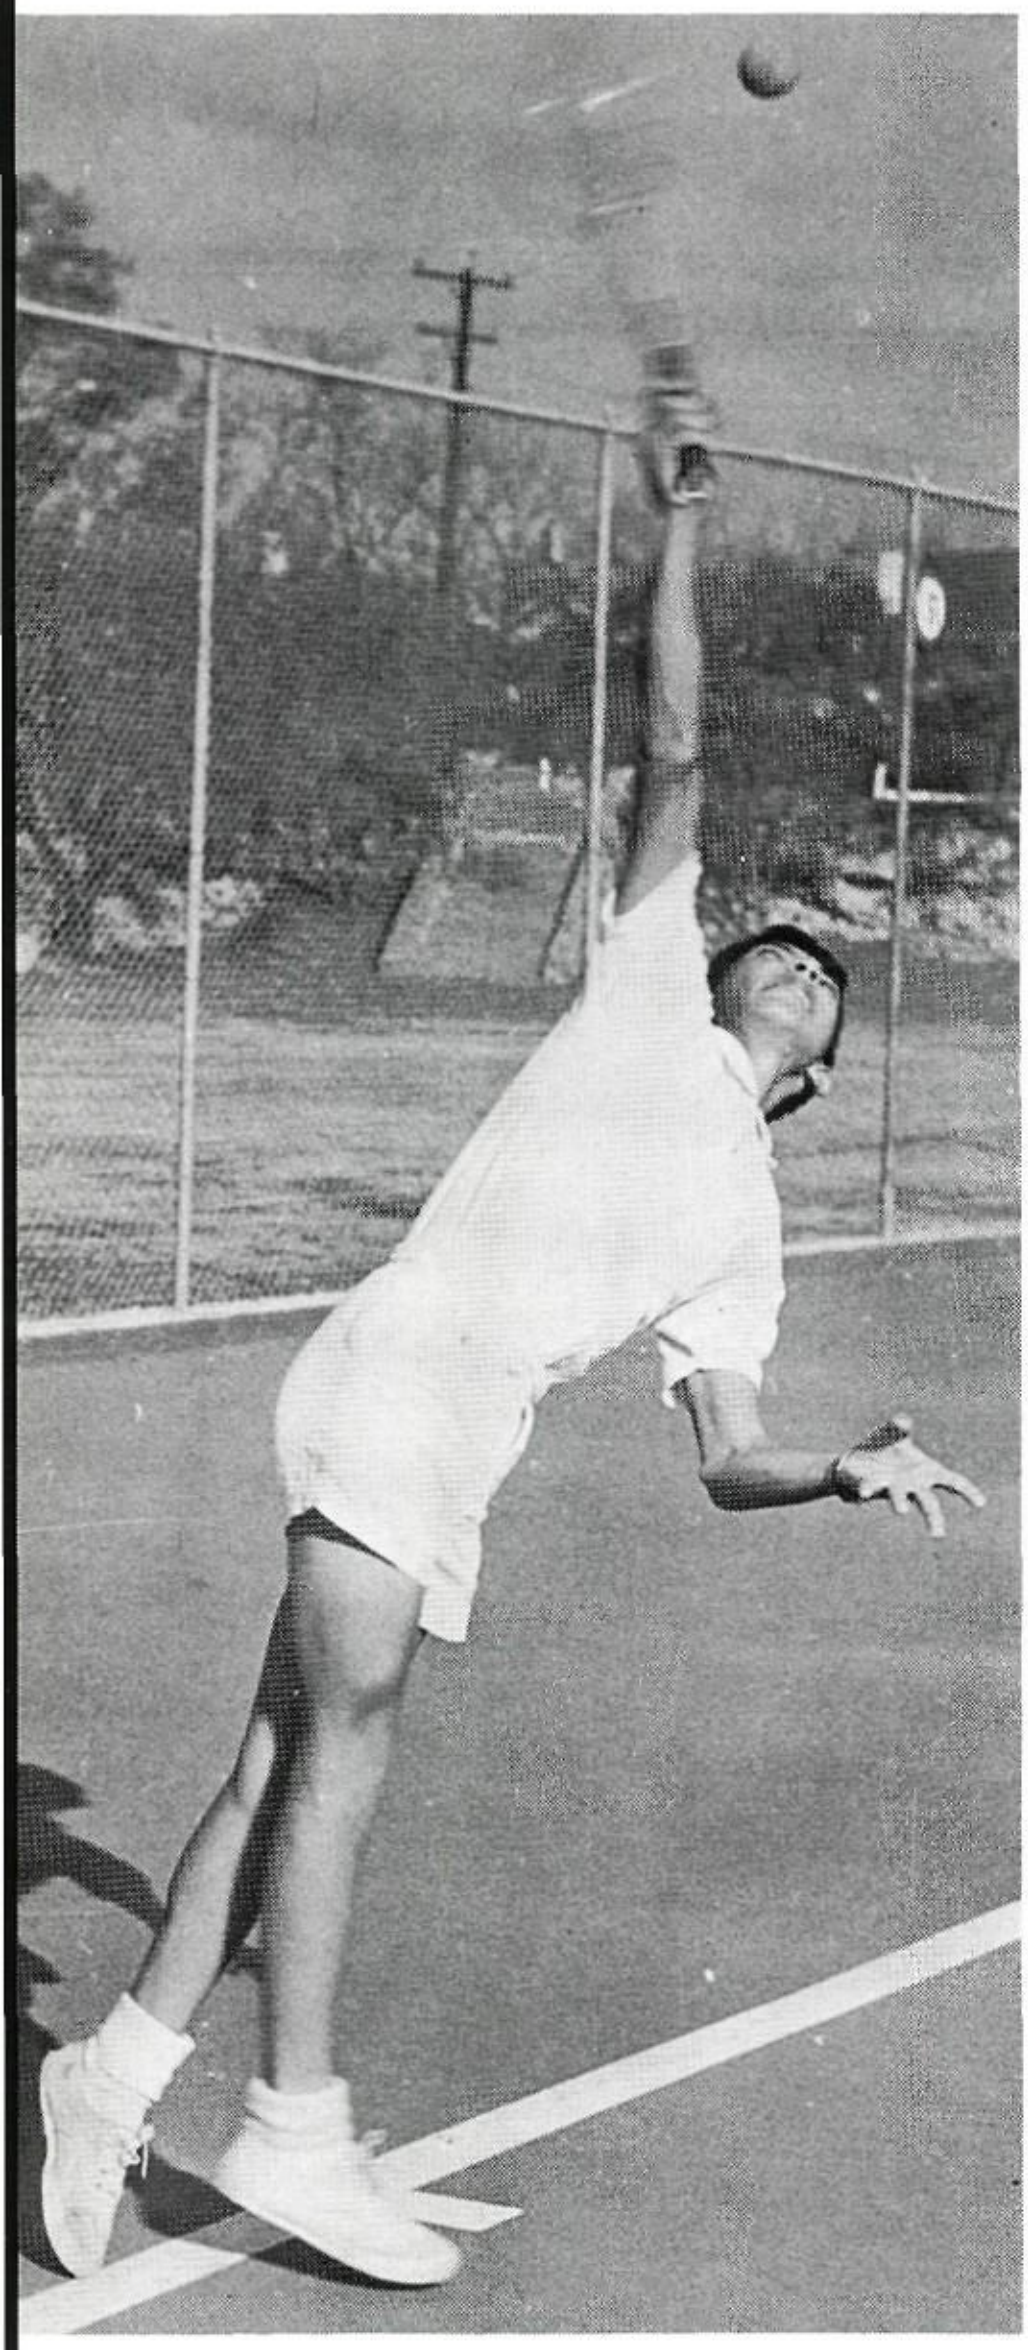
Senior members of the Girls' and Boys' Tennis Teams spent many hours at the San Pedro Tennis Courts during sixth period and after school, practicing and giving pointers to the new sophomore, junior, and senior members of the Tennis Team in hopes of gaining the highest ratings in District AAAA standings.

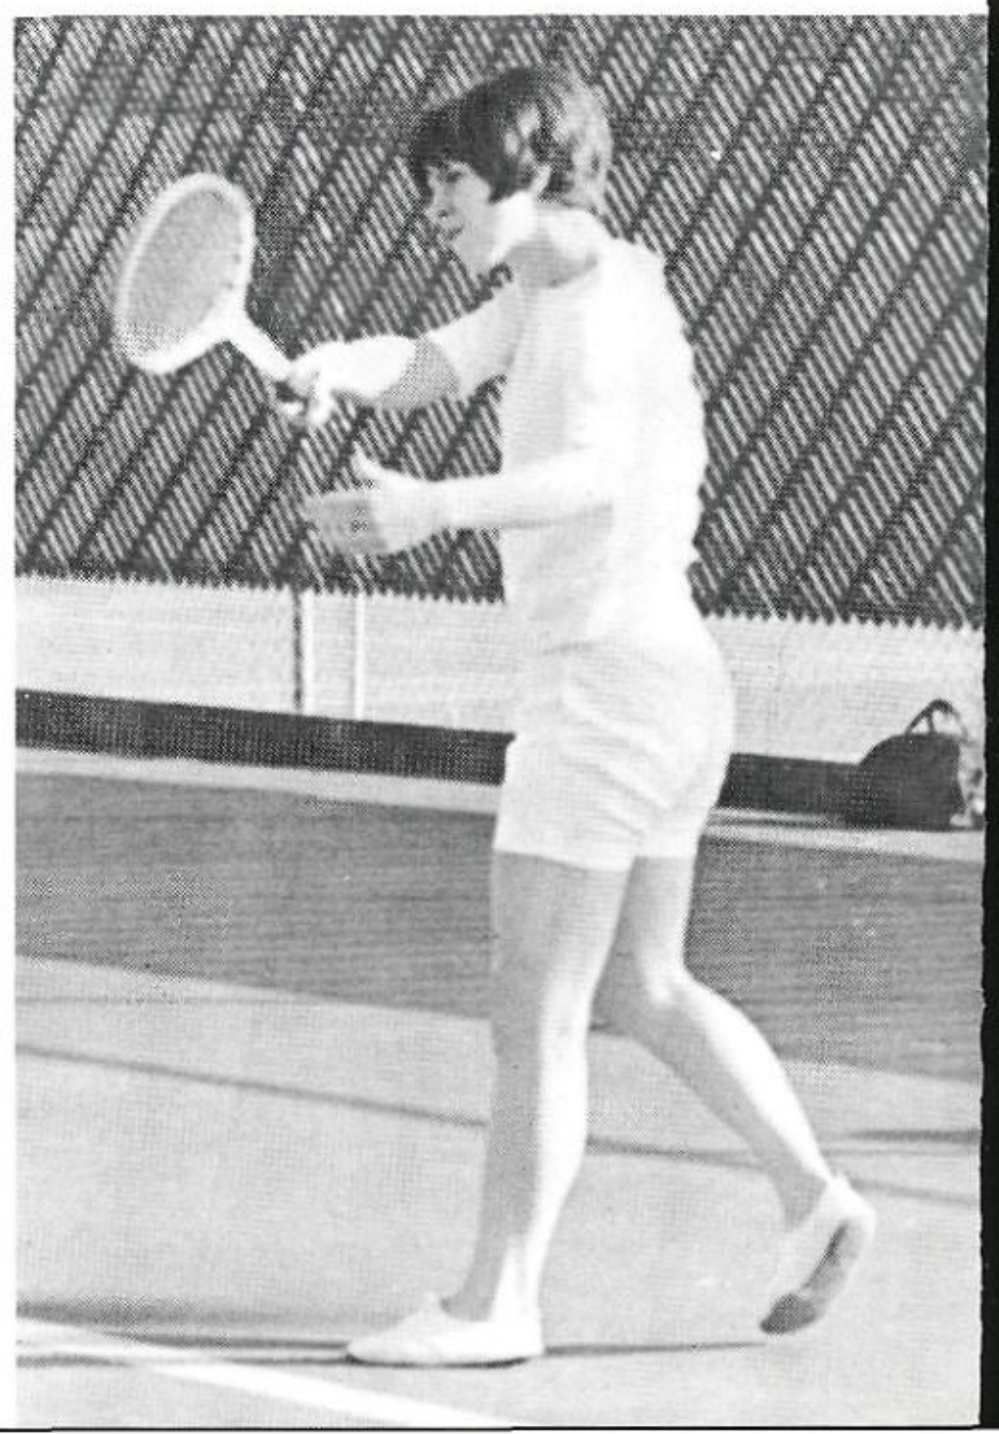
Continually striving to improve their game, these thirty-one girls and twenty-three boys worked each day to perfect their swing and serve. These long hours of practice prepared them for the spring competitions with rival schools.

Besides the district tournaments against Robert E. Lee, Alamo Heights, Roosevelt, Edison, and other district schools, both teams, participated in the annual Corpus Christi Invitational, the Falfurrias Tournament, and the Austin Jaycee.

Outstanding members of both teams included Sue Clay, Ron Samples, Sam Rotman, Sam Aparicio, and Keith Suttle.

With the addition of some promising sophomores to the already experienced junior and senior teams and the guidance and practical knowledge of Coach Charles Tedford, who is a court champion in his own right, the Girls' and Boys' Tennis Teams seemed assured of winning the district honors.





Mainstays of the tennis teams, Sam Aparicio and Sue Clay display the form that ranks them high among their teammates. Sam shows a strong service while Sue answers a serve with a strong forehand stroke. Long hours of daily practice prepared them and their court companions for district tournaments in the spring.

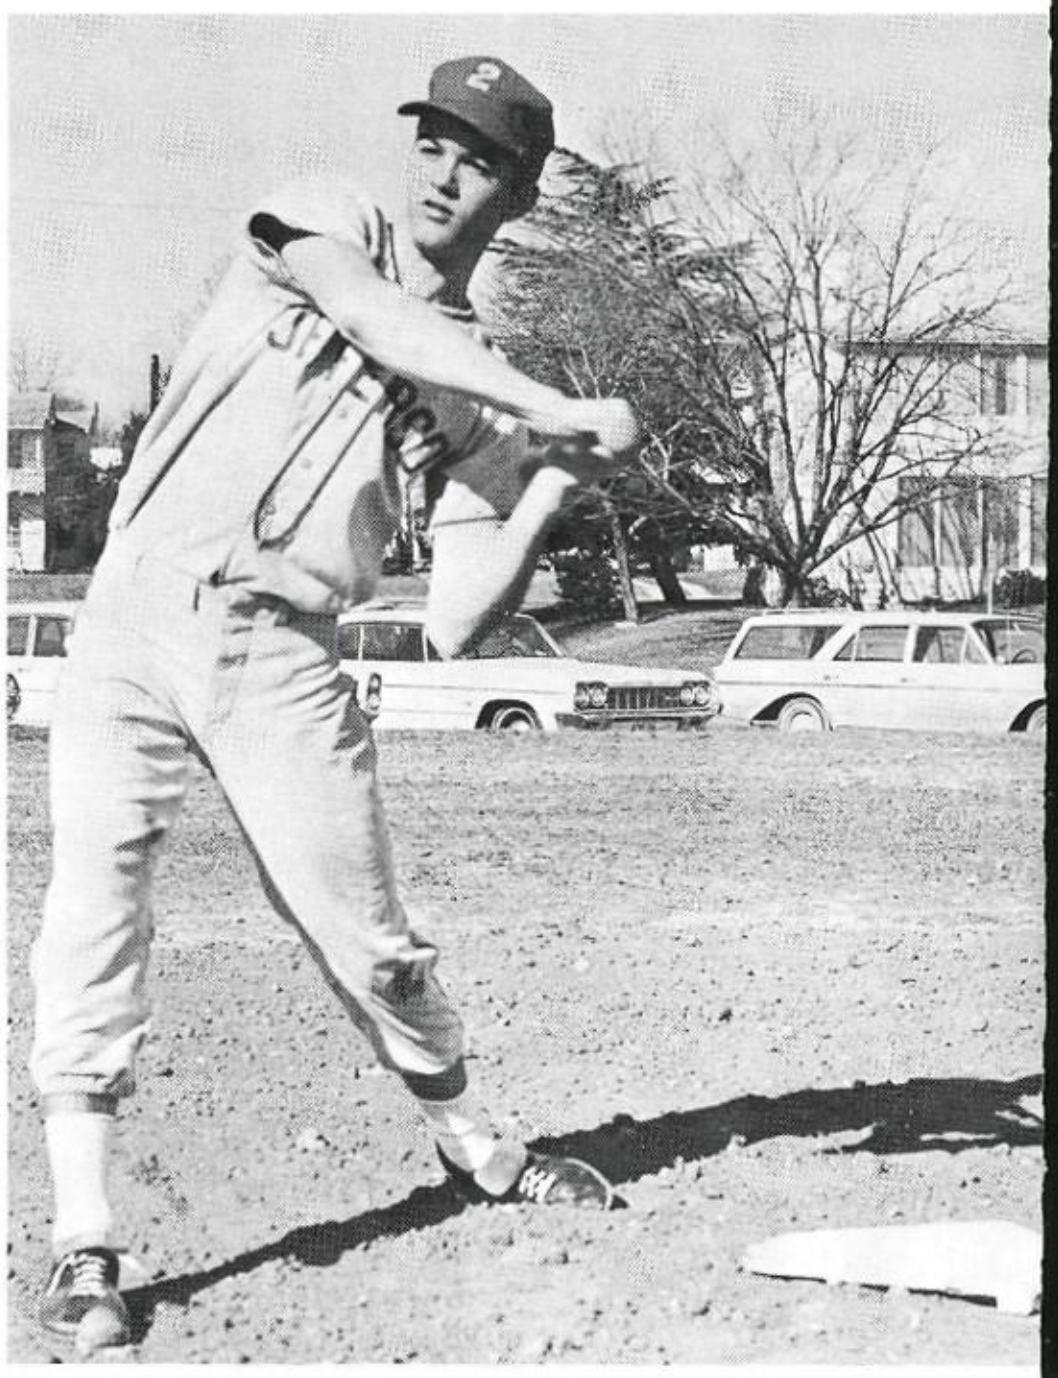
Leading pitcher for the Mustangs this year was Eli Borunda, a returning letterman.

When all the fury of construction had subsided on the campus grounds a new baseball diamond appeared. For the past two years, the Mustang baseballers played their games at the opposing team's diamond or at Olmos Park. Now with their own baseball facilities, they hoped to encourage greater interest in Mustang baseball in the student body by playing some games "at home."

Besides the outstanding playing grounds, the Baseball Team also boasted of an equally impressive lineup. Returning lettermen for Coach Frank Arnold included Eli Borunda, Pat Denzer, Ruben Fuentes, Lee Cardenas, Leon Brimhall, Don Brooks, and Eddie Guerrero, with the team's pitching strength lying in the threesome of Borunda, Denzer, and Fuentes. Mustang Baseball showed great promise in its third year of competition.

Talent Abounds on Mustang Diamond



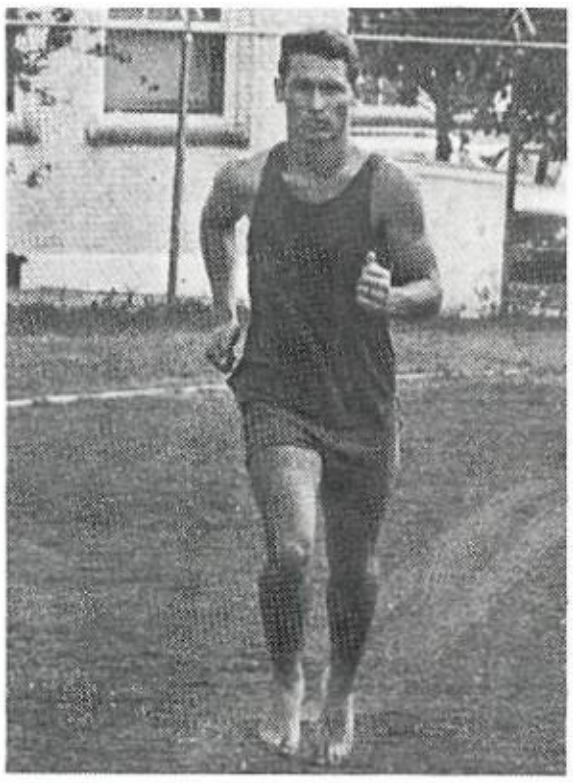
First string—second baseman, Jay Robison practices his swing, while Eddie Guerrero expertly fields a linedrive.

Tracksters Prepare for District

The race is on as miler Edward Cantu outruns his opponents to place in last year's district meet.

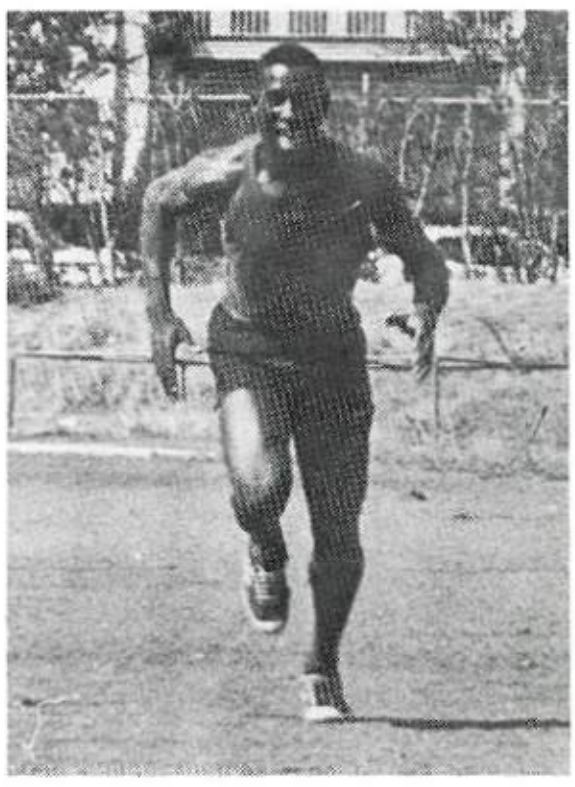
Under the direction of Coach Bob Burk, the track team showed great potential in early season practice and promises to be one of the major contenders in this year's 15-AAAA race.

With many outstanding trackmen returning from last year's second place team, the Mustang tracksters might surprise a few people and run away with all the honors at the District and city track meets. Among the lettermen returning from last year's team are Jeff Harrison, Lawrence Tatsch, David Cantu, Jim Fusselman, David Villegas, and Daniel Flores, all of whom took part in last year's District track meet.



Trackster David Fluitt jogs around the track in preparation for the coming track season.

Shotputter Jeff Harrison makes tossing the iron ball look easy as he heaves it during practice.

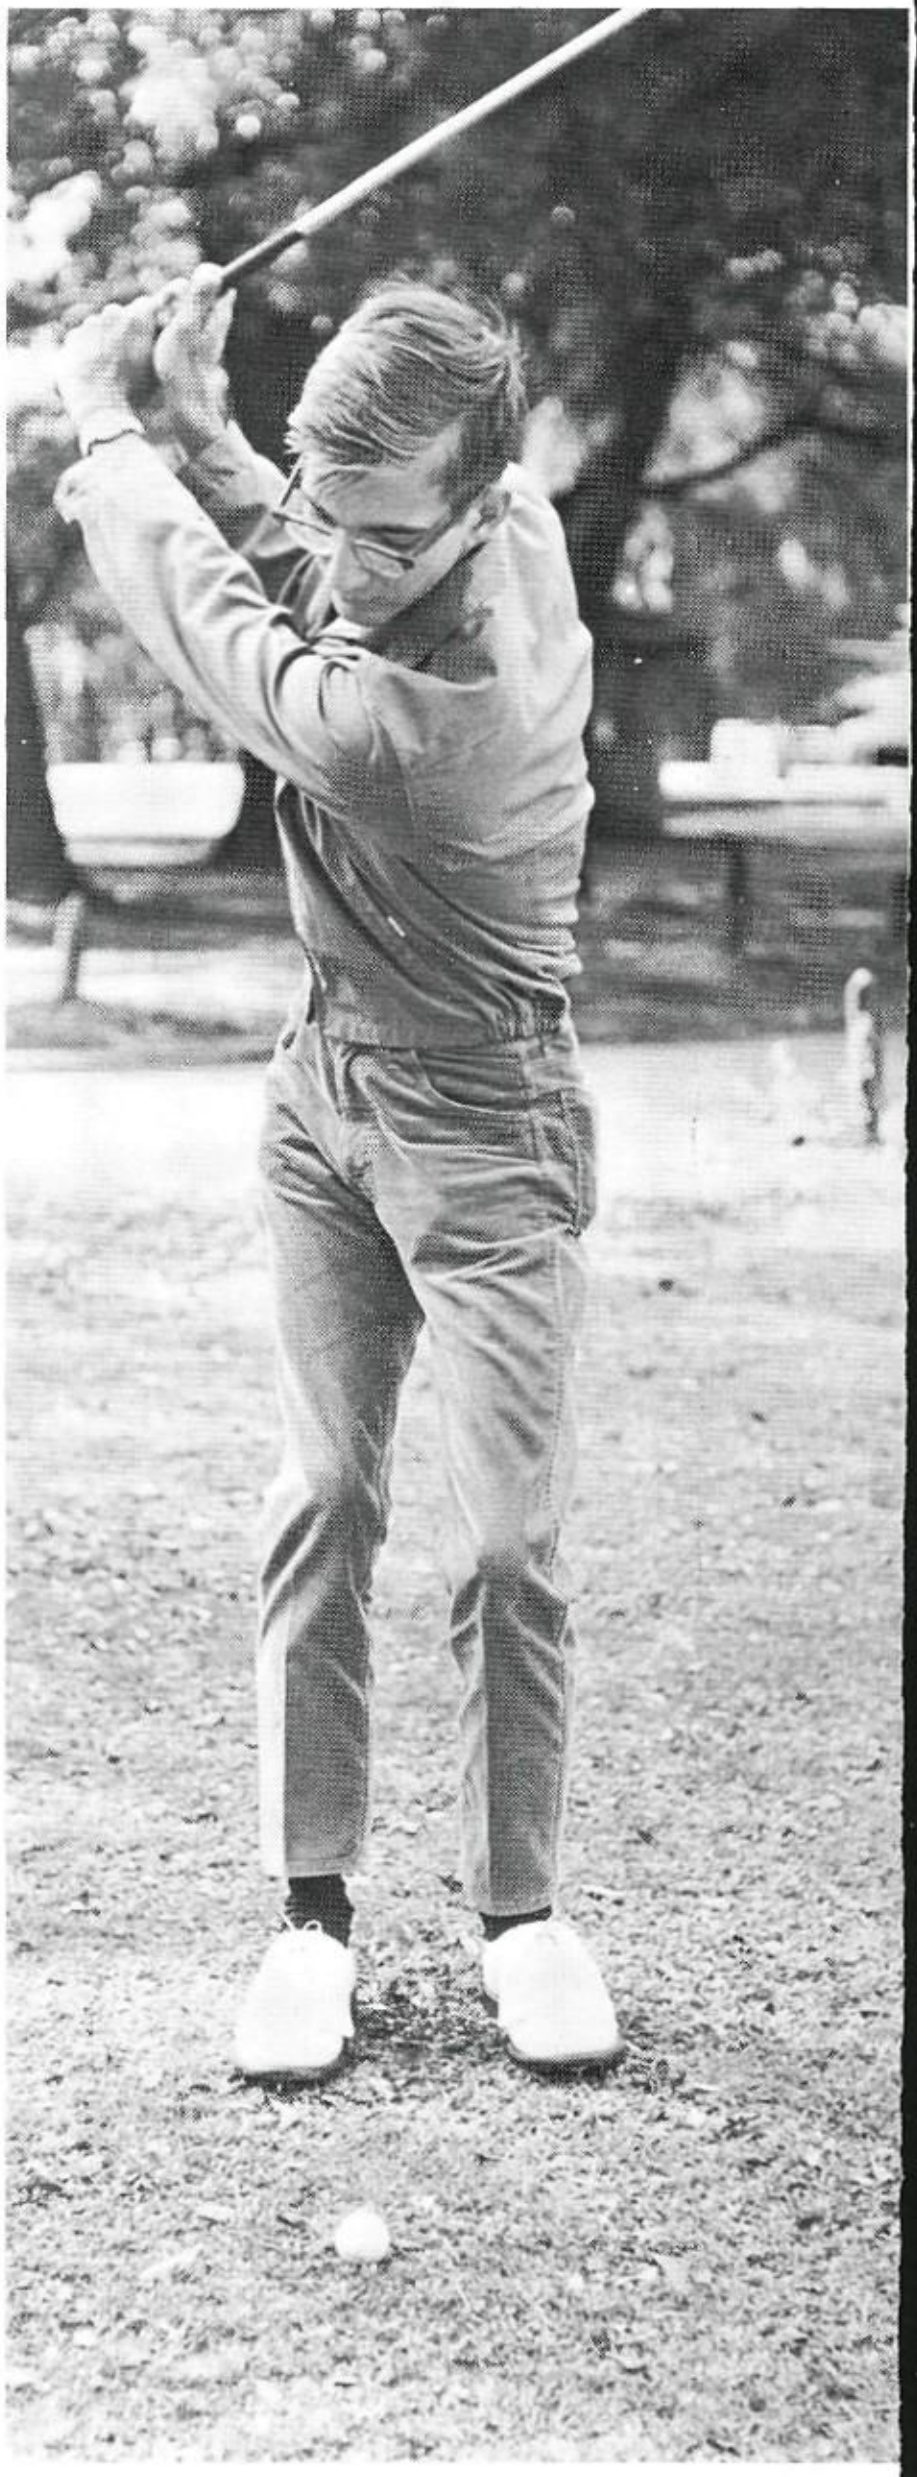


Letterman Mirylon Clark sprints around the track as he tries to get in shape before the beginning of track season.

Golfers Swing for District Honors

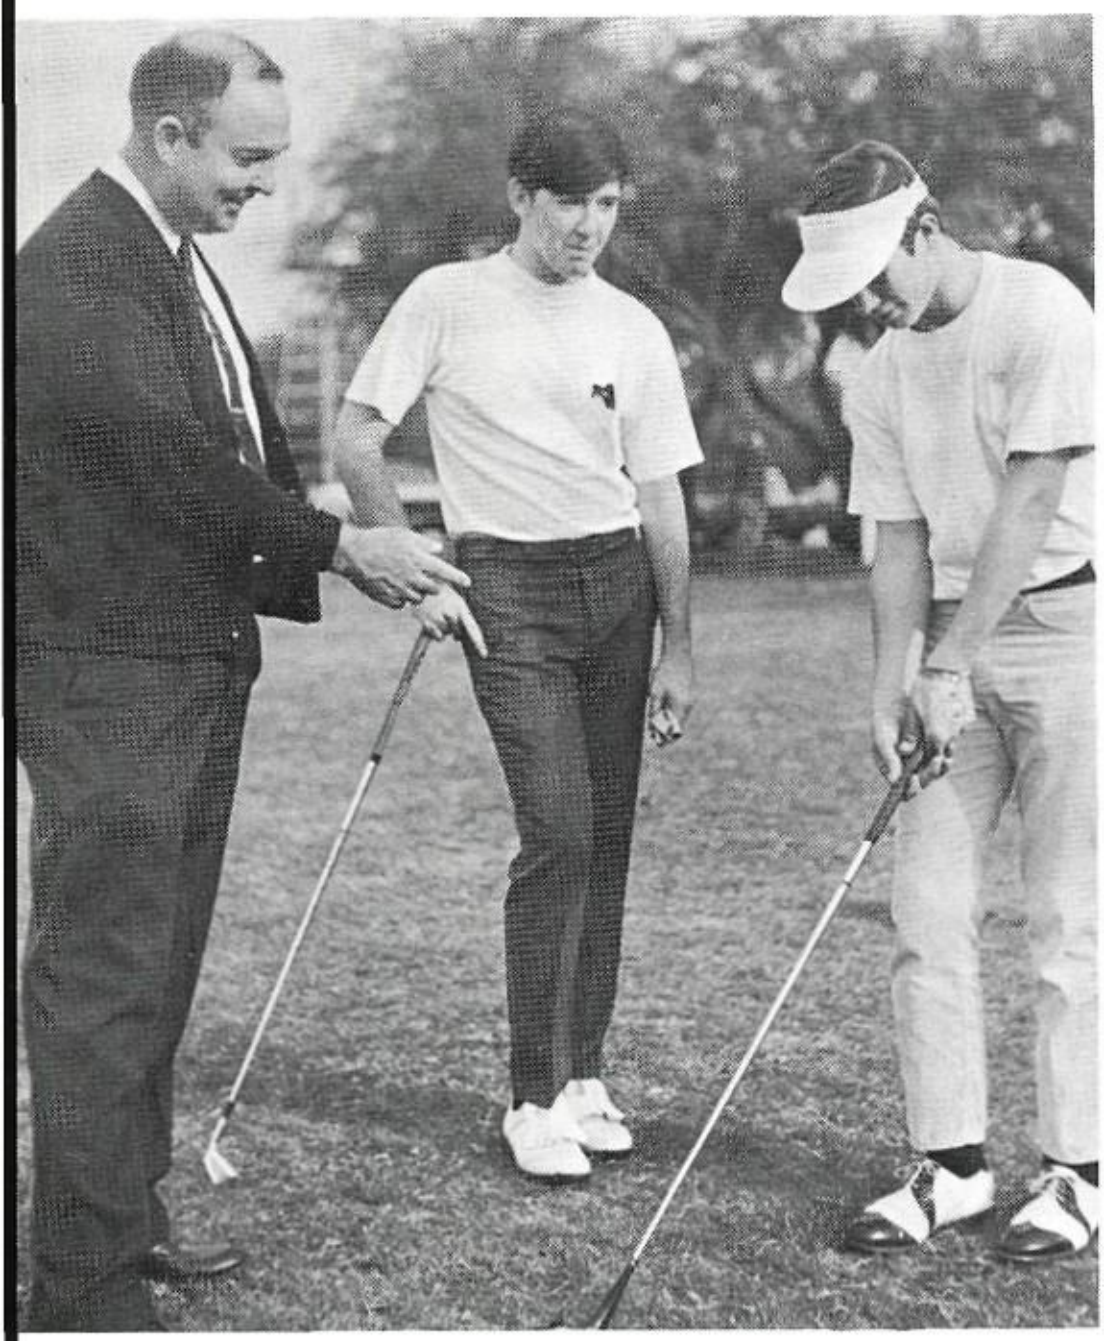
This year's golf team coached by Mr. William Pitt had the potential to capture district honors. A well-balanced squad of sophomores, juniors, and seniors showed promise in their qualifying rounds, held every Tuesday and Thursday at either Oak Hills or Olmos Basin golf courses, played at many out-of-town tournaments, and hosted the first San Antonio Independent School District Tournament which was held at the Willow Springs Golf Course.

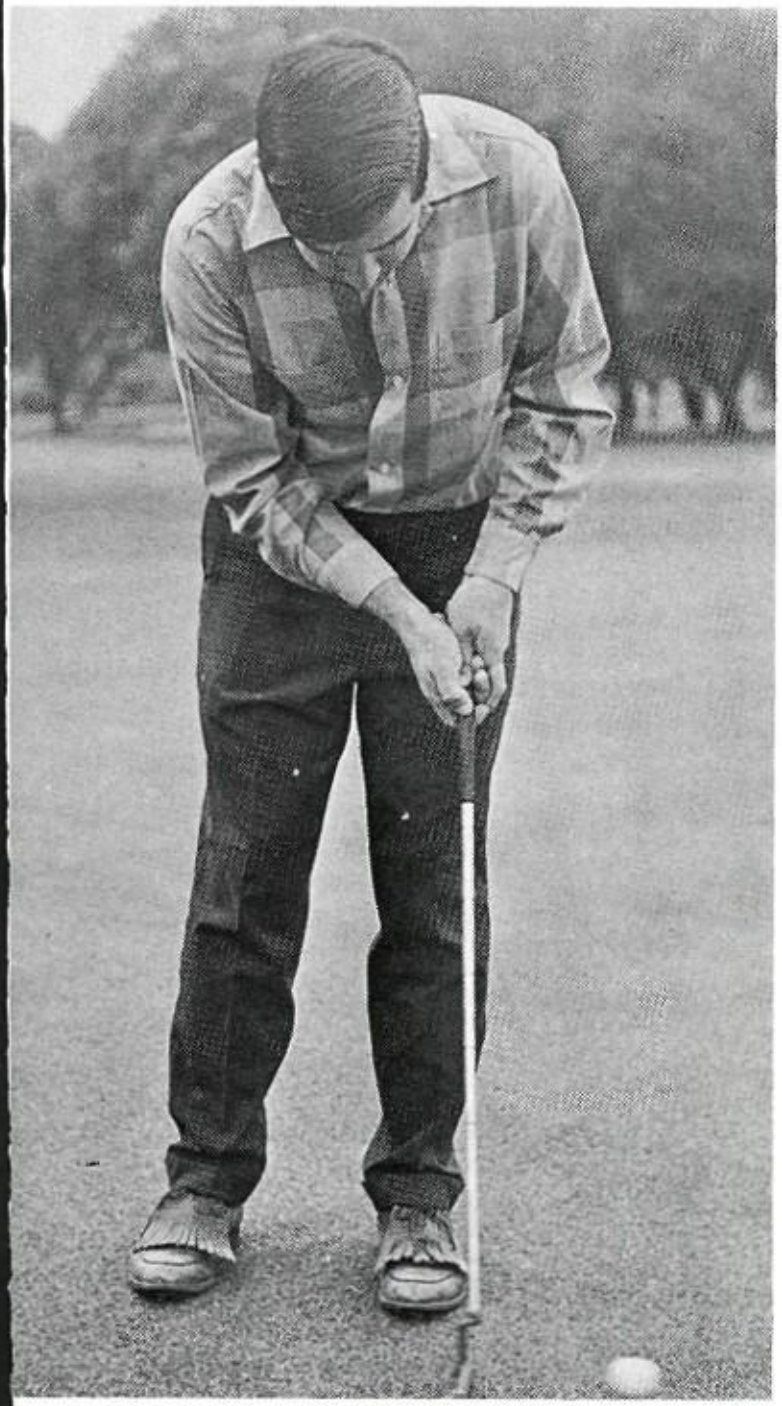
Stand-out players returning from last year's team are seniors Jim Trevino, Craig Pattie, and Paul Adkins and juniors John Fitchner, Bard Holbert, and George Horcasitas.



Hitting an iron shot from the first fairway at the Brackenridge Course is Michael Flannery, a returning member of last year's team.

Coach William Pitt gives a few pointers on the grip to top rated seniors Paul Adkins and Craig Pattie.





Senior Jim Trevino makes sinking a putt look easy as he saves his par on the second hole at Oak Hills Golf Course.

Clubs

Confluences of people with similiar interests and common goals comprised the clubs and organizations of our school. Together, we explored new concepts and new avenues of knowledge, learned to value the opinions and ideas of fellow members, and cherished the good times we had. Whether the organizations was a service club, special interest club, departmental club, social club, or honor society, each member experienced the joy of working with other people, and because we worked with other people, we gladly looked beyond our own self-interests to the general welfare of the club. The sound of a gavel rapping a rostrum will always remind us of the importance and value of cooperation, a shining quality which, if we can answer its demands of sacrifice and selflessness, can smoothen our future relationships with people beyond these campus walls.

Students Merit Honors

Proudly receiving his certificate signifying membership in NHS, Gordon Kuenemann is congratulated by Mr. Bob Chambers, principal.

Bestowing the highest honor a student may receive, the National Honor Society accepted 161 members early last fall. Juniors in the top 5% of their class and seniors in the top 10% of their class became eligible for membership. Newly elected members were initiated in a ceremony which outlined the Society's goals: scholarship, leadership, service, and character. With feelings of pride and honor, initiates happily received their pins of red, gold, purple, and white—colors which signified this Society's purposes. Following the ceremony, new members and their guests celebrated the occasion with a reception.

Included on their list of activities, planned under the guidance of Mrs. Lorraine Kirk, was a special tutoring service every Monday and Friday morning. The main purposes of this Society included creating an enthusiasm for scholarship, stimulating a desire to render service, promoting leadership, and encouraging character development.

Creativity in Service

Officiating during the initiation, Vice President, Rodney Hoffman speaks to the candidates about the creative purposes of the society.

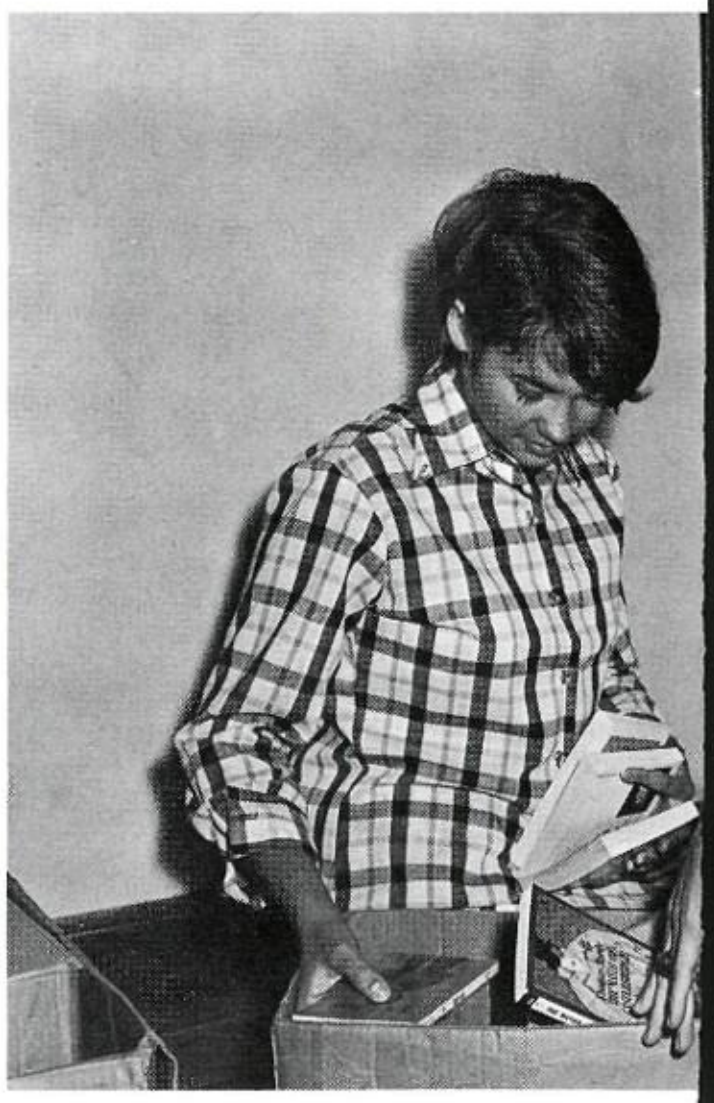
Submission of original poems, essays, prose, or art work which were impartially judged by a panel of teachers, comprised one of the prerequisites for membership in the English Honor Society. Besides these creative efforts, students must maintain a 3.0 over-all average in addition to high English grades for membership. The members, chosen from the junior and senior classes, strove to encourage creativity in all students and to cement a life-long friendship with good literature.

This year on December 1 the Society presented its annual assembly to launch Each Has Spoken sales. This presentation featured past and present works published in the literary magazine. The theme of this year's EHS assembly and literary magazine, "The Challenge of the Unexplored," allowed all students the chance to express themselves and to submit compositions hoping that they may see their own work in print.

Wishing to serve our school in every way, members also maintained the op-art book store located in the main hall, and in December, they held the annual Book Fair that offered a wide selection of books which managed to please everyone.

Mrs. Martha McCall and Mrs. Josephine Lindsey guided the Society in its many endeavors.

Disappointment is discovering that you are trying to sell the literary magazine to someone who is trying to sell it to you! Greg Yamin and Rita Agler illustrate this lesson.



Unpacking books for the EHS Bookfair keeps Larry Dyer and Nancy Barra busy.

Journalists Capture Year's Activities

Outstanding journalists, who had done outstanding work on the publication staff of the Monticello, Declaration, or Each Has Spoken, became eligible for membership in Quill and Scroll. In order to gain acceptance into this national honorary organization, a member must acquire an enthusiastic interest in journalism as well as maintain a "B" average. Members competed in several national contests proving and improving their skill in journalistic writing.

In a ceremony conducted last January under the direction of Mrs. Nell Van Horn, Quill and Scroll inducted their new initiates at Manor Baptist Church. A reception following the ceremony honored the new members and their guests.

Sponsor Mrs. Nell Van Horn always finds time to advise club members in need of ideas. Club members gather in the DEC Room to discuss initiation plans.

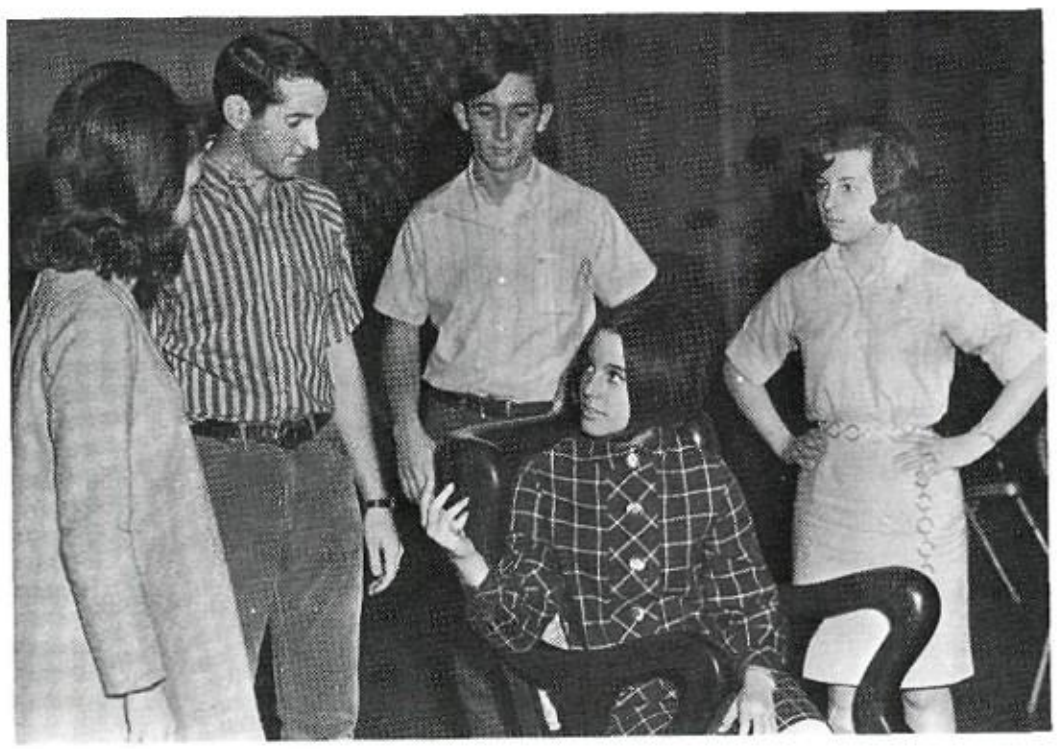
Masque and Continually striving to improve itself, the Masque and Gavel National Honor Society culled the best from the school's speech and drama classes for its membership. Dedicated to the promotion of good speech, members must have at least an overall "C" average and an "A" in a speech or drama class. The most important event of the year, the annual Trinity Speech Festival, brought together students from all over the state to compete in speech, poetry reading, and extemporaneous speaking categories for first, second, and third places. Masque and Gavel members prepared long in advance for the speech competition. Sponsors for the club were Miss Betty Anne Janert, Mrs. Peggy East, and Miss Susan Middleton.

Curiosity prompts Jennie Davis to take a peek with Sherilyn Flurry at the new membership cards and pins.

Huddling together, Masque and Gavel members confer on plans for the annual Trinity Speech Festival.



Centering their attention on Kay Klein are Jane Williams, Tim Craig, Gordon Kuenemann, and Cathy Pryor.

Serving and controlling two hundred students every hour managed to keep the Library Council busy this past year. Elected by the students in their own library period, the Council members, sponsored by Mrs. Lynda McCutcheon, fulfilled their responsibilities of attending council meetings every week, checking roll at the beginning of each library period, checking in magazines at the end of each period, and making sure that all books taken from the library were properly checked out. Lastly, the Library Council members strive to maintain an air of quietness and an atmosphere conducive to study.

At the beginning of the year, David Fluitt informs students about library procedures.

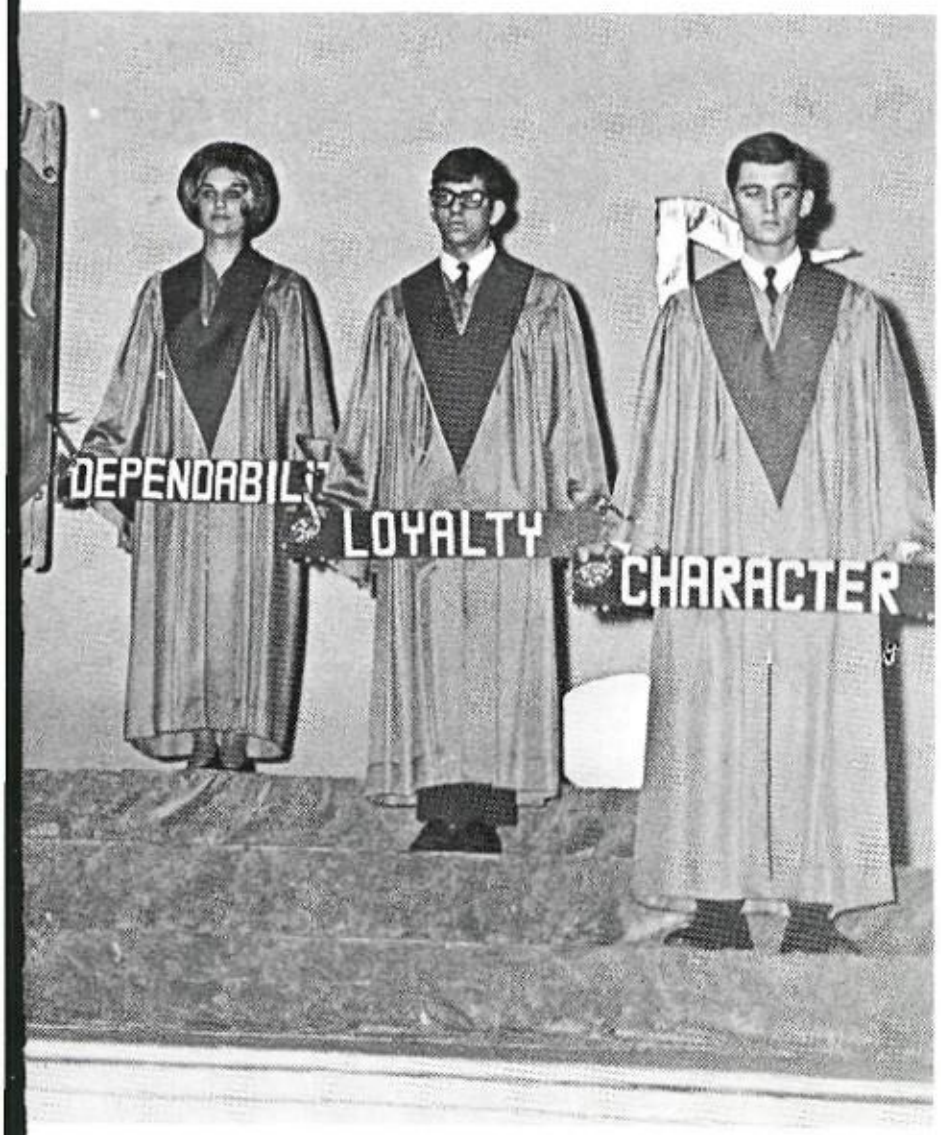
Service Comes Naturally to S.C.



Helping the school in its every endeavor became the motto of the Student Council. Starting the year with Sophomore Orientation, they continued their service by checking in and out textbooks during registration, selling Monticello and Declaration subscriptions, publishing the Student Directory, distributing parking decals, hosting victory dances, and maintaining the lost and found.

With the approach of the wintry season, they held their annual Snowman's Ball on December 16. In keeping with the spirit of this joyous season, the Student Council sponsored a Christmas cheer project in which advisories provided for families.

Realizing the need for car protection in the parking lots during the day the Student Council began the "Rat Patrol" under the leadership of Ron Renker and James Graham. During classes and advisory, members of the "Rat Patrol" carefully watched the parking lots.

Throughout the year the Student Council representatives notified their advisories weekly of the happenings of the school.

Lending her constant help and enthusiasm to make every project a success was Mrs. Louise Aderhold, sponsor.

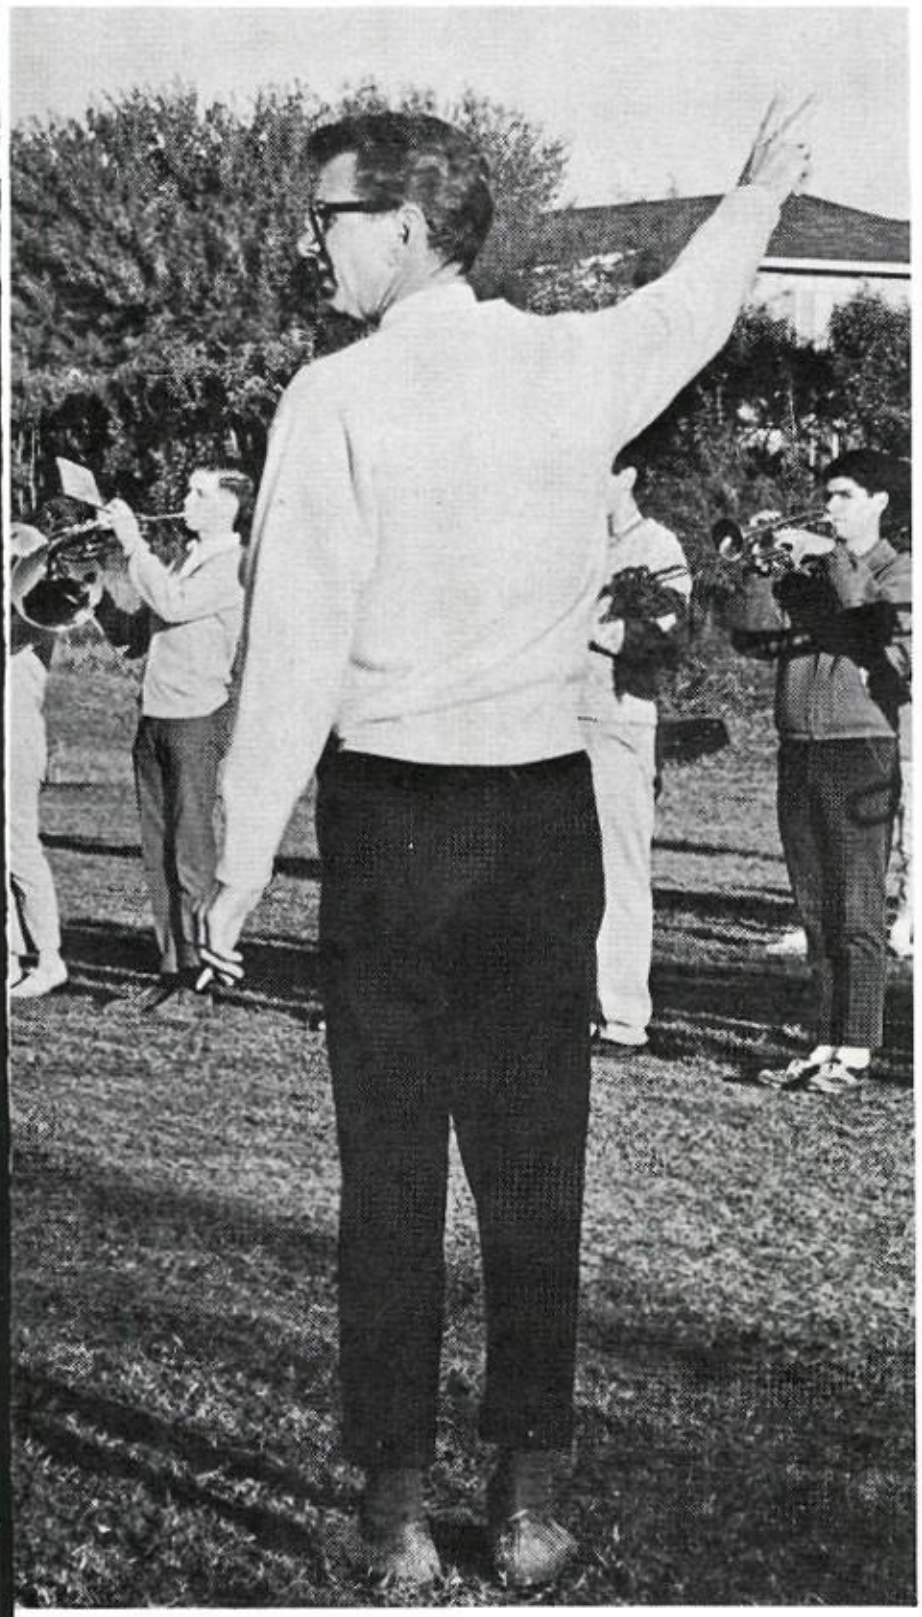
Marchers Make Music Magic



Success factors in each Band performance were hard work and Band Director Moddie Smith's critical ear and faultless rhythm.

Whether relaxing or performing, the Majorettes added sparkle to each pep rally.

Mindful of files and diagonals, the Mustang Band stands at attention to practice the fanfare for the MacArthur game.

High-Spirited

"Pride, Practice, and Produce" was the Mustang Band's motto this year. Pride was instilled in each member from the first day of Summer Band to the last command on Chuckwagon Day. Practice took place during first period, and during football season, 103 Band members met before school at 7:30 to perfect halftime routines. The result of such pride in practice was some fine performances in both marching and concert playing.

The Jefferson Band program consists of more than the uniformed group which performs at football games. Many Band members also took part in Stage Band, which specialized in the swinging sound of the Big Band era. These groups performed at Hemisfair 68.

The Mustang Band's full schedule began with a halftime performance the first week of school. Concert season followed, climaxed by the Spring Concert in March and the UIL Concert and Sightreading Contest. The Mexican Supper, a candy sale, and two cake sales were the annual money making projects. During Fiesta Week, the Band marched in the Battle of Flowers Parade, and took part in the Band Festival at Alamo Stadium. The last performance of the year was on Chuckwagon Day, when the new Drum Major and Majorettes were announced by Director Moddie Smith. Throughout the active year, Mr. Smith and Mrs. Ermine Armstrong, Band mother, provided organization, enthusiasm, and encouragement.

High-Stepping Highlights Mustang Band

As the quarter ends and halftime draws near, Drum Major Bobby Emery carefully spaces Band members before they march up to the goal line.

Loyal Leadership Lends

High-heeled sneekers, the result of a muddy practice field, became high fashion as Mrs. Ermine Armstrong can testify.

Another 7:30 rehearsal session ends as Bobby Emery blows his whistle of authority to dismiss the Band.

Early morning rehearsal means practice, practice, an more practice.

Luster to Performances

Another football game ends, and the Band breaks into "sweet soul music" causing crowds to linger long after the stadium lights have dimmed.

Flashing a smile to fans in the stands, Feature Twirler Jeannie Schoch strives to make the halftime a success with her expert baton routines.

Lassos Support School

Whether urging Mustangs, Ponies, and Colts to victory, doing important clerical work, or participating in community projects, Lassos served the community and our school. In addition to performing at football halftimes, this busy organization held an April subscription drive, sponsored all the athletic banquets, conducted charity drives, and made spirit boxes and letters for the players. Social events of the year included Backwards Week during the last week in March when boys and girls exchanged dating roles. Lassos took an active part in HemisFair when the roping team entertained fairgoers with their expert roping. Spring afternoons saw the trainees hard at work learning marching skills, and the awards day ceremonies on May 2, Chuckwagon Day, climaxed the Lasso year. From the first spirit yell of summer practice to sponsor Miss Bess Richards' announcement of the new officers following the Lasso Play in May, the Lassos support our school in its every endeavor.

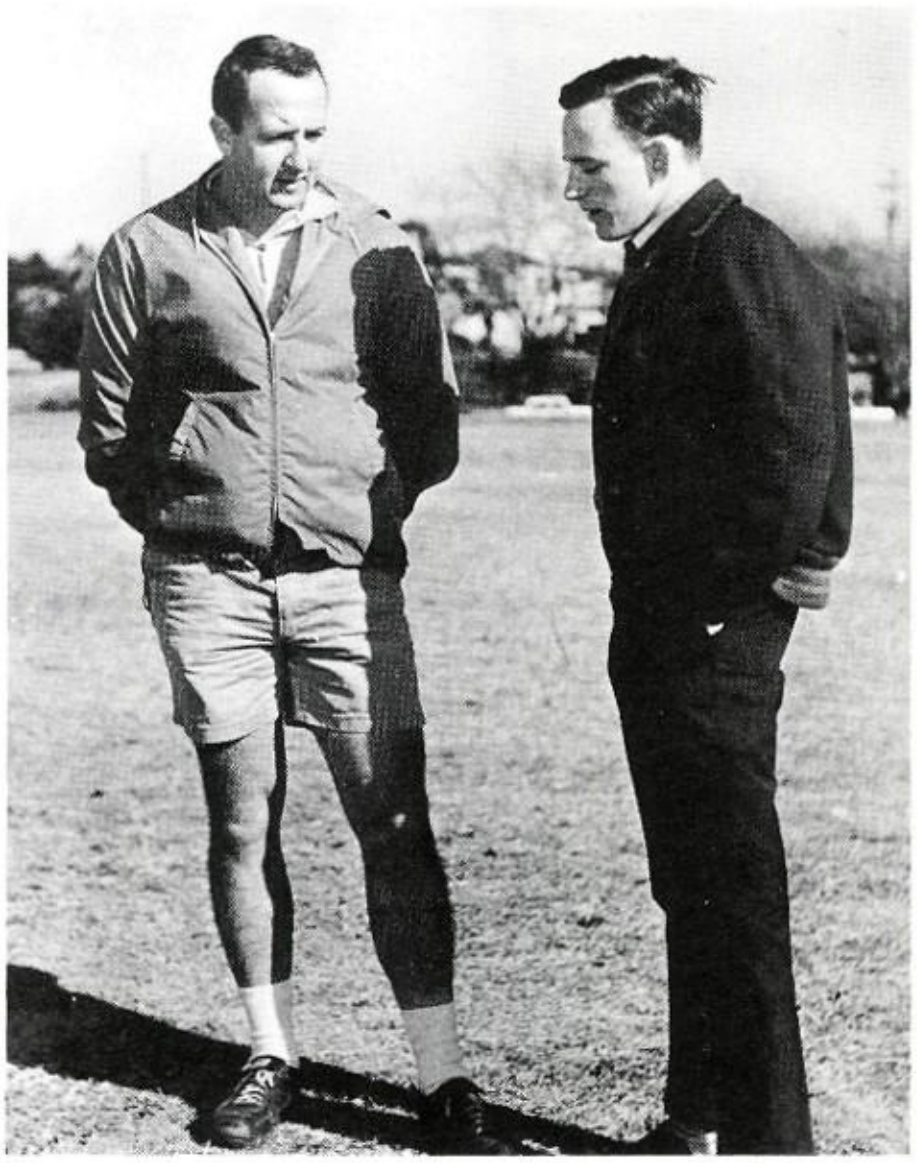
Red and Blue Stands for Sportsmanship

Wearing the red and blue jacket was a proud feature of the boys in the "J" Club. The Club was organized in 1944 by Coaches Harry Hamilton and Barlow Irwin. Red and blue, the club colors, were shown on the diamond-shaped pen that displayed a gold "J" on the front. The member's motto "team work" represented the healthy relationship among students, athletes, and faculty members. They chose this motto because it helped to explain the importance of co-operation between teammates, a very necessary factor for the winning teams which our school has produced. Besides having a Basketball Banquet, at the end of the season, the club also sponsored a basketball game between the school athletes and the faculty. The club, sponsored by Coach Robert Burke, ended their year with an outing on April 29.



President, Phil Barnett discusses the Faculty basketball game with Coach Robert Burke.

Lariats Boost

Besides providing a colorful card section at football games, the Lariats served their school and community. Early in the fall, the Lariats sold candy to raise funds for a Christmas party. Also included on the Lariat's social calendar was a picnic which they hosted for school athletes.

Under the able leadership of Barbara Glomski, the Lariats added 53 card stunts to their routine. The Lariats most outstanding card stunt, "Mr. Mustang," typifies this group's spirit and enthusiasm. The Hemisfair theme is displayed by the Hemisfair symbol and tower. Barbara, highly respected by students and teachers alike, is mainly responsible for this group's success.

Attendance at all football and basketball games is compulsory. Membership in the Lariats, under the sponsorship of Miss Dolores Dyer, is open to all junior and sophomore girls who maintain a good scholastic average.

In the final moments of the game, Betty Tiller and Maria Mireles display their interest and concern as the Mustangs try to move down the field.

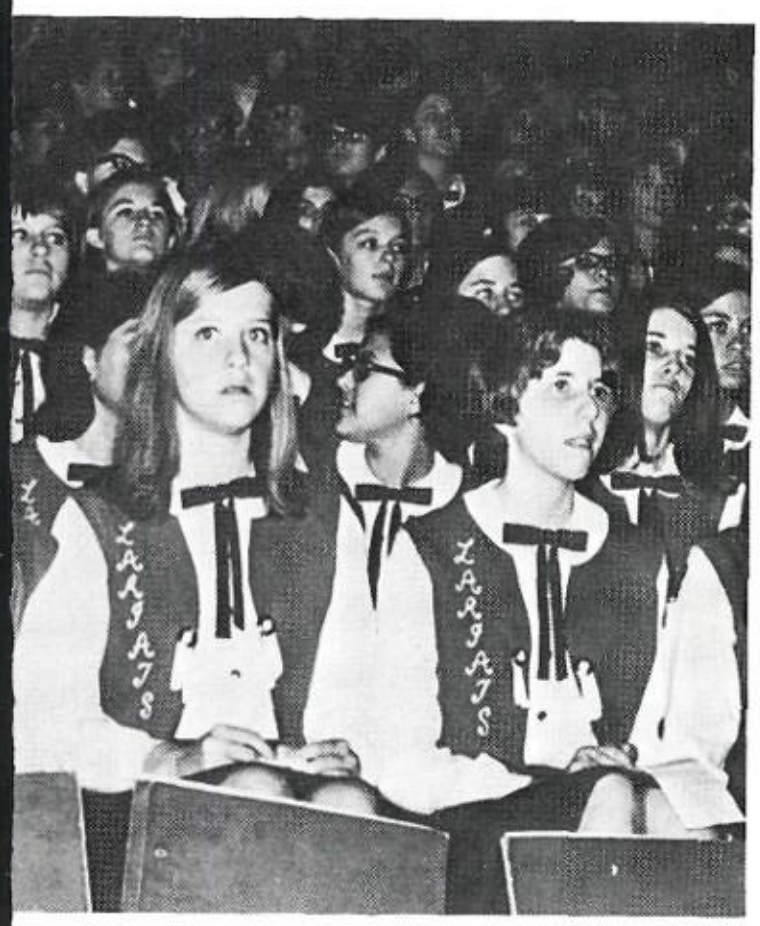
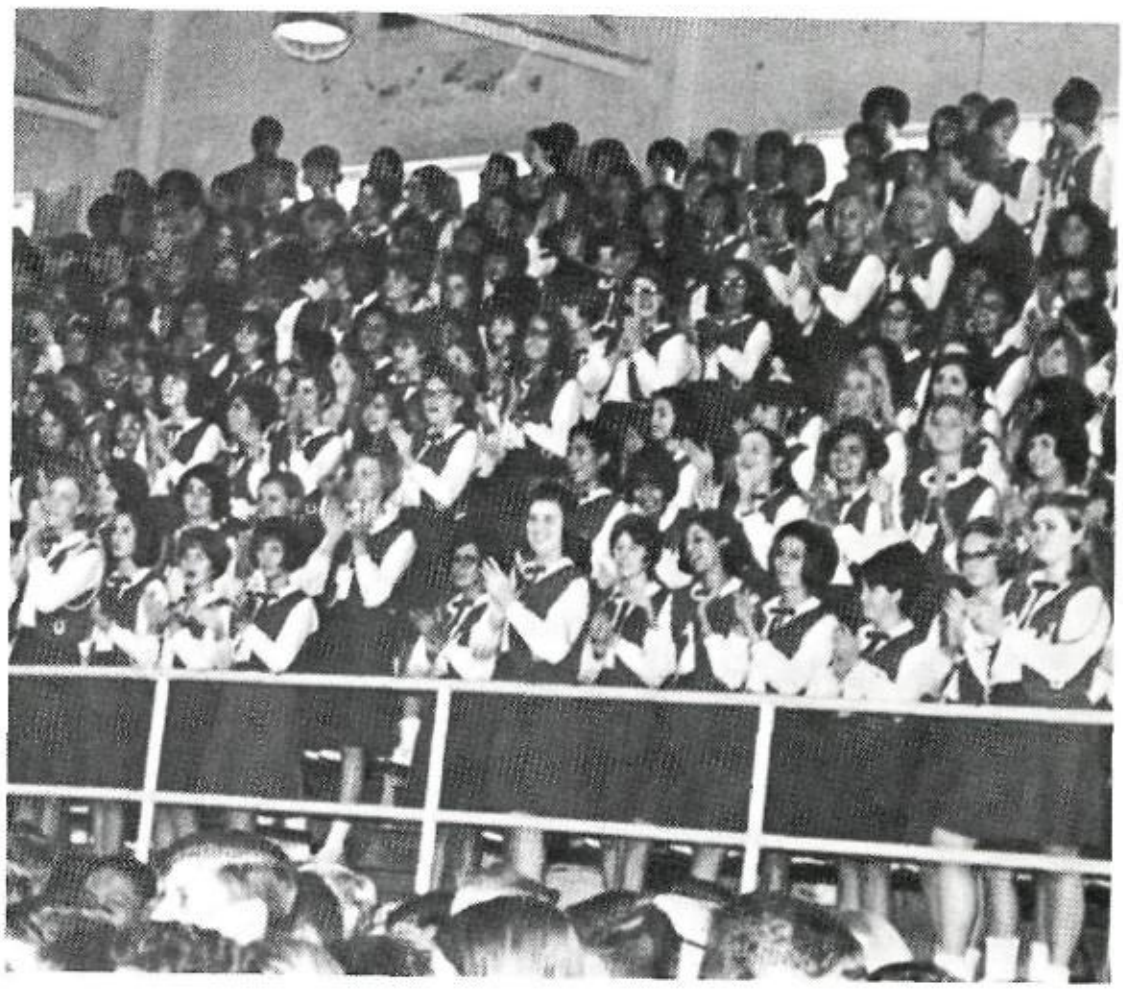
Spirit at School Functions

While the drum roll is played, the Lariats, led by Barbara Glomski, give a respectful salute and join the student body in singing the school song.

After the number of the next stunt is called, Betty Settlemeyer and Sandra Dunklin prepare their cards, making sure they hold up the correct colored card.





During afternoon pep rallies, the colorful mass of red, white, and blue on the east side of the gym inspires the student body to yell and cheer loudly for their team.

ROTC Serves

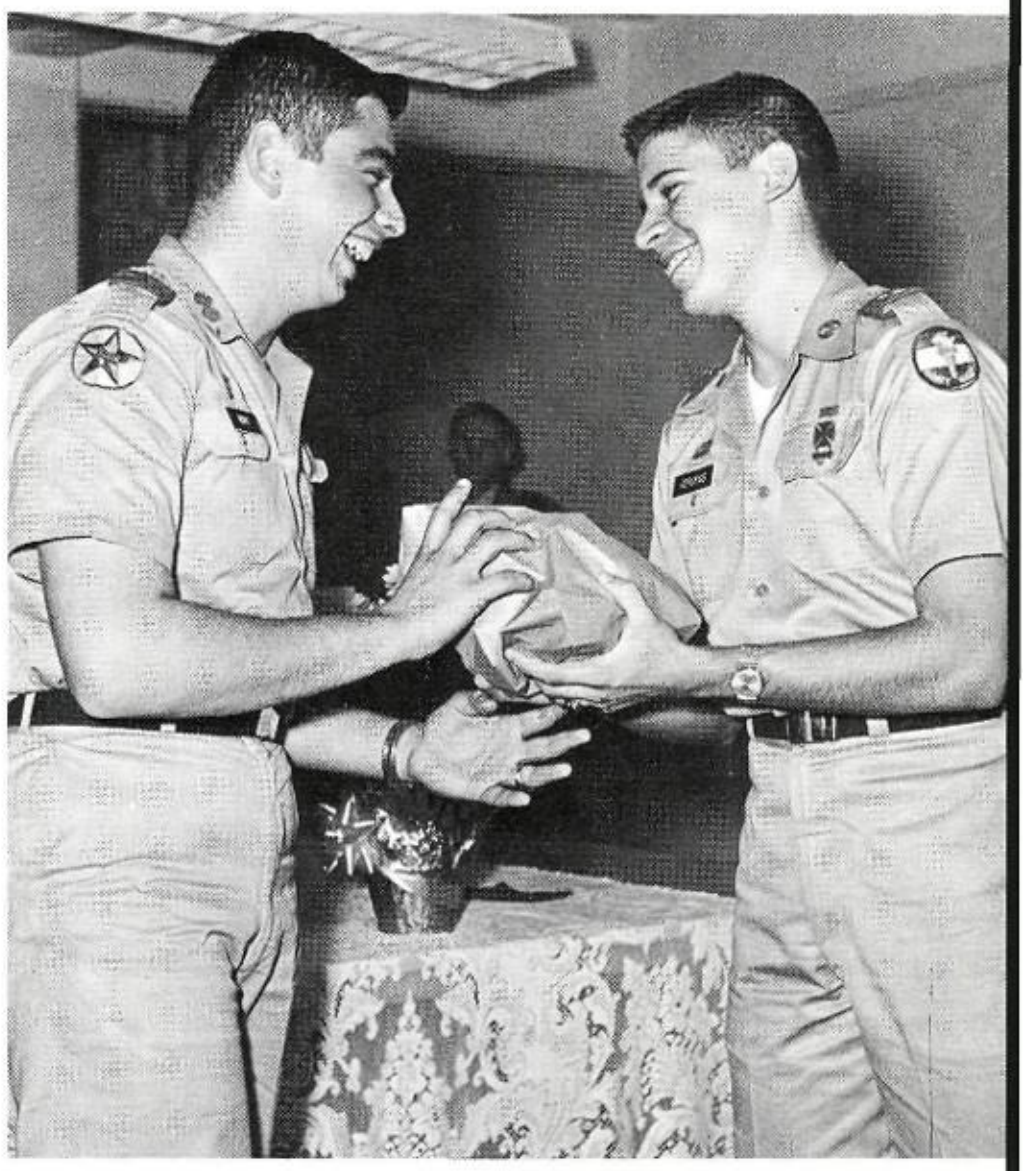
Developing and improving characteristics of patriotism, respect for authority, strict discipline and obedience, and precision at its highest, ranked as goals of every ROTC cadet this past year.

The ROTC cadets participated in many activities and events during the nine months of school. In November, with the help of Sergeants John Long and Harold Mineer, instuctors, the cadets sponsored the popular Turkey Shoot for the student body and faculty. The Cadet Drill Team traveled to Kingsville for Drill Team Competition on December 10, where they received a third place trophy. The Rifle Team competed in Austin during the same weekend. The Drill and Rifle Teams also spent weekends in Houston and Arlington where they engaged in competition. Serious practice and preparations were begun for the all-important Federal Inspection in April. In May, the cadets participated in the city-wide meet at Alamo Stadium.

The cadets offered their services to the school in several ways. During football season, they guarded the Lariats at games. Cadets also stood at various stairways throughout the school to insure quiet advisory periods for those in classrooms. Various cadets were also assigned duties in the several parking lots to prevent vandalism and parking congestion.

Social events for the year included the Military Ball at the Colony House in Colonies North. The corsage formal was held March 8. Cadets also enjoyed the Officers and NCO Club Picnic.

The announcement of next year's Cadet Colonel brought the busy nine months of ROTC activities to a successful close.



As he receives a packaged ham as an award for placing in the Turkey Shoot, Steve Novy gives Cadet Colonel Pete Gerukos a happy smile.

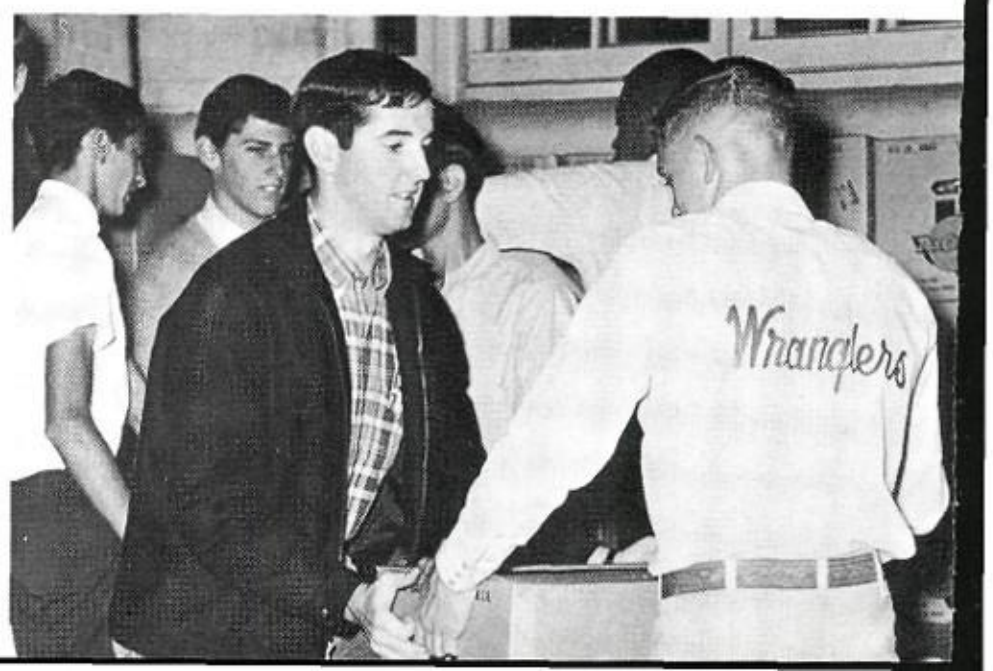
Wranglers Expand Activities

During a basketball halftime, Wrangler Robert Duffin awes the audience with an excellent acrobatics feat.

For the Wranglers, the 1967-68 school year will be remembered as the year they received uniforms, participated in the basketball halftimes, enlarged their membership, and in general took a more active part in the life of the school. The Wranglers have always operated the visual aids projectors, kept score at the Pony games, and handled the sound equipment and speakers at the football games. This year saw the Wranglers selling tickets to basketball games, performing various trampoline acrobatics during basketball halftimes, and wearing a new uniform on certain designated days of the week. With the capable leadership of their officers and their quartet of sponsors, Mr. Bert Pfeiffer, Mr. Harold Tillman, Mr. Charles Miles, and Mr. Maurice Turner, the Wranglers truly emerged this year as one of the school's finest boys' service clubs.

As Tim Craig and Pat Dicks carry a box of oranges to a customer's car people see the new Wrangler shirt.



"Show Must Go On"

With each assembly and presentation, the Spotlighters maintained their famous motto, "The show must go on," with their highly professional backstage work. The boys handled the sound equipment, scenery, and lights, while the girls worked strictly with make-up and costumes. Without the supervision of their most able sponsors, Mrs. Peggy East and Miss Betty Ann Janert, the Spotlighters could not have attained their smoothness of organization. An integral factor in each successful auditorium presentation, this club welcomed all people interested in doing backstage production work and willing to donate long hours of hard work.

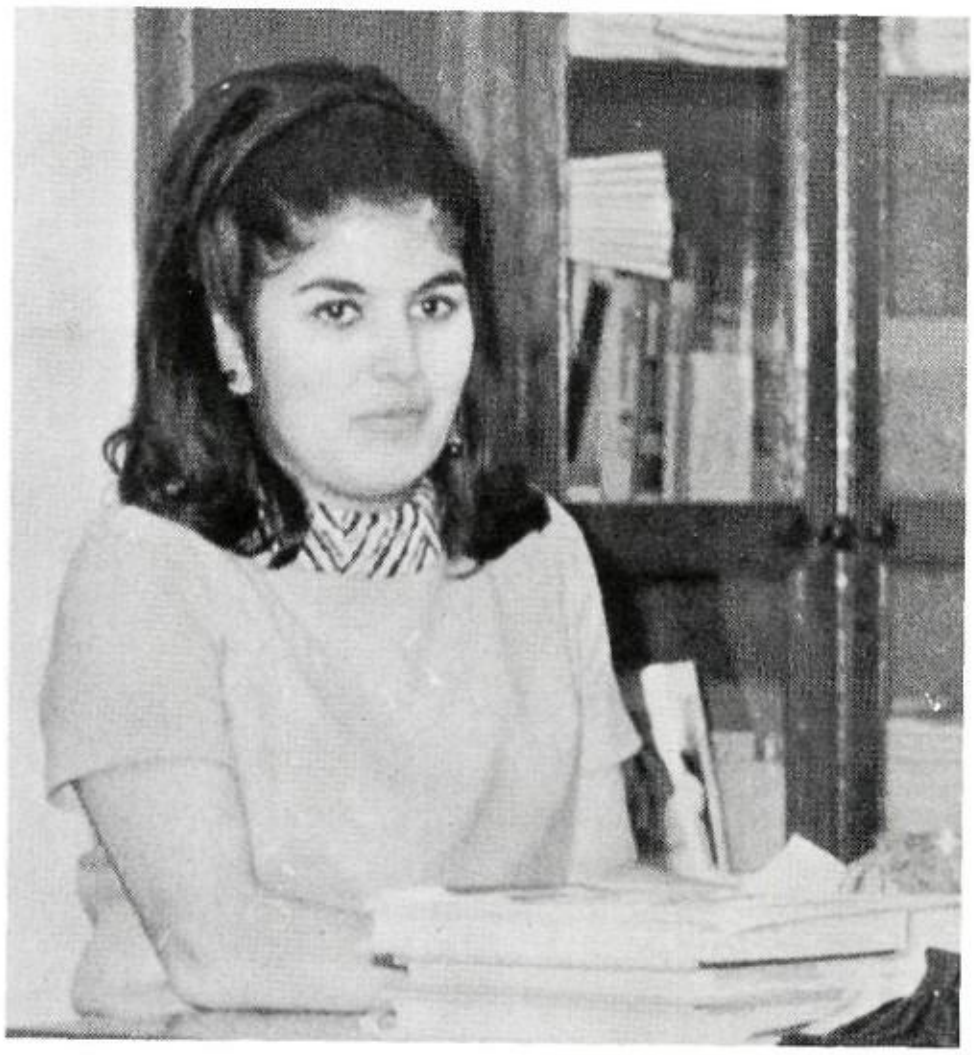
FBLA Enjoys Busy Year

For those students both enrolled in a commercial subject and interested in the business world, Future Business Leaders of America offered helpful opportunities, guest speakers, and interesting field trips during the year. Requirements for membership in FBLA included a C average, self-control, dependability, and the proper attitude toward school subjects. Memorization of the FBLA creed was also required for membership in the club.

Mrs. Beverly Carson and Mrs. Elizabeth Younger, sponsors, helped members become more dependable and hard-working, and helped the girls develop good business principles, practices, and techniques. Developing all of these traits was the goal of every individual in FBLA.

FBLA members enjoyed speakers from the Texas Employment Commission on good grooming and office behavior. Representatives from the Civil Service spoke on placement in the Texas Employment Commission and the Civil Service itself. The year progressed with the Christmas Luncheon and visits to the USAA building and HemisFair. The enjoyable Spring Tamalada brought the busy nine months of FBLA activities to a close.

Discussing events planned for the year is one of President Norma Contreras's many jobs.



During one of their regular meetings, Miss Sylvia Martinez spoke to member about job opportunities in the Texas Employment Commission.

FTA Teaches Students

Those students wishing to enter one of the branches of teaching found that the Future Teachers of America satisfied their search for knowledge of the teaching profession. The group was sponsored in all their activities by Mrs. Marty Marshall and co-sponsor Mrs. June Settlemeyer, and its members received first-hand knowledge of teaching by helping teachers with clerical work and tutoring at community centers. Affiliated with the Texas State Teacher's Association, the group found inspiration with various speakers from area colleges.

Our school's chapter participated in both state and local FTA conventions. With members from other schools, they learned many of the opportunities of the teaching profession. They also learned the joys of being able to watch people learn.

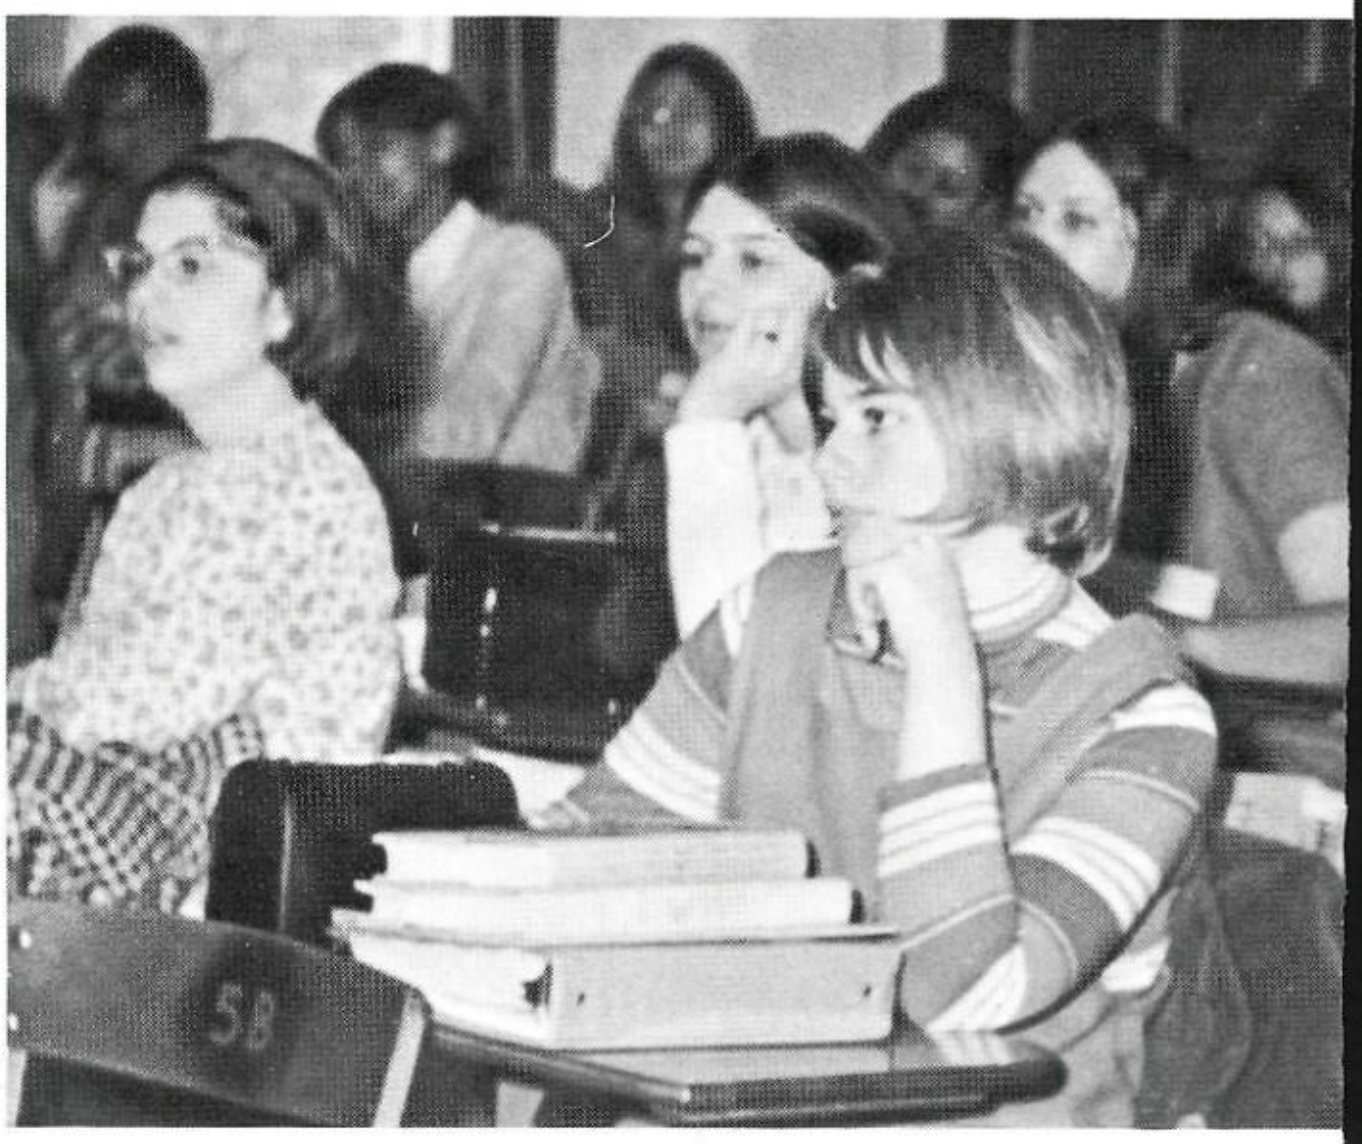
As Mrs. June Settlemyer prepares to enter the car on the way to the Dallas FTA convention, she is assisted by Edward Willers.

During a regular business meeting, Chairman Cindy Flores reports on her committee's activities. Below attentive members listen as the calendar of coming events is read.

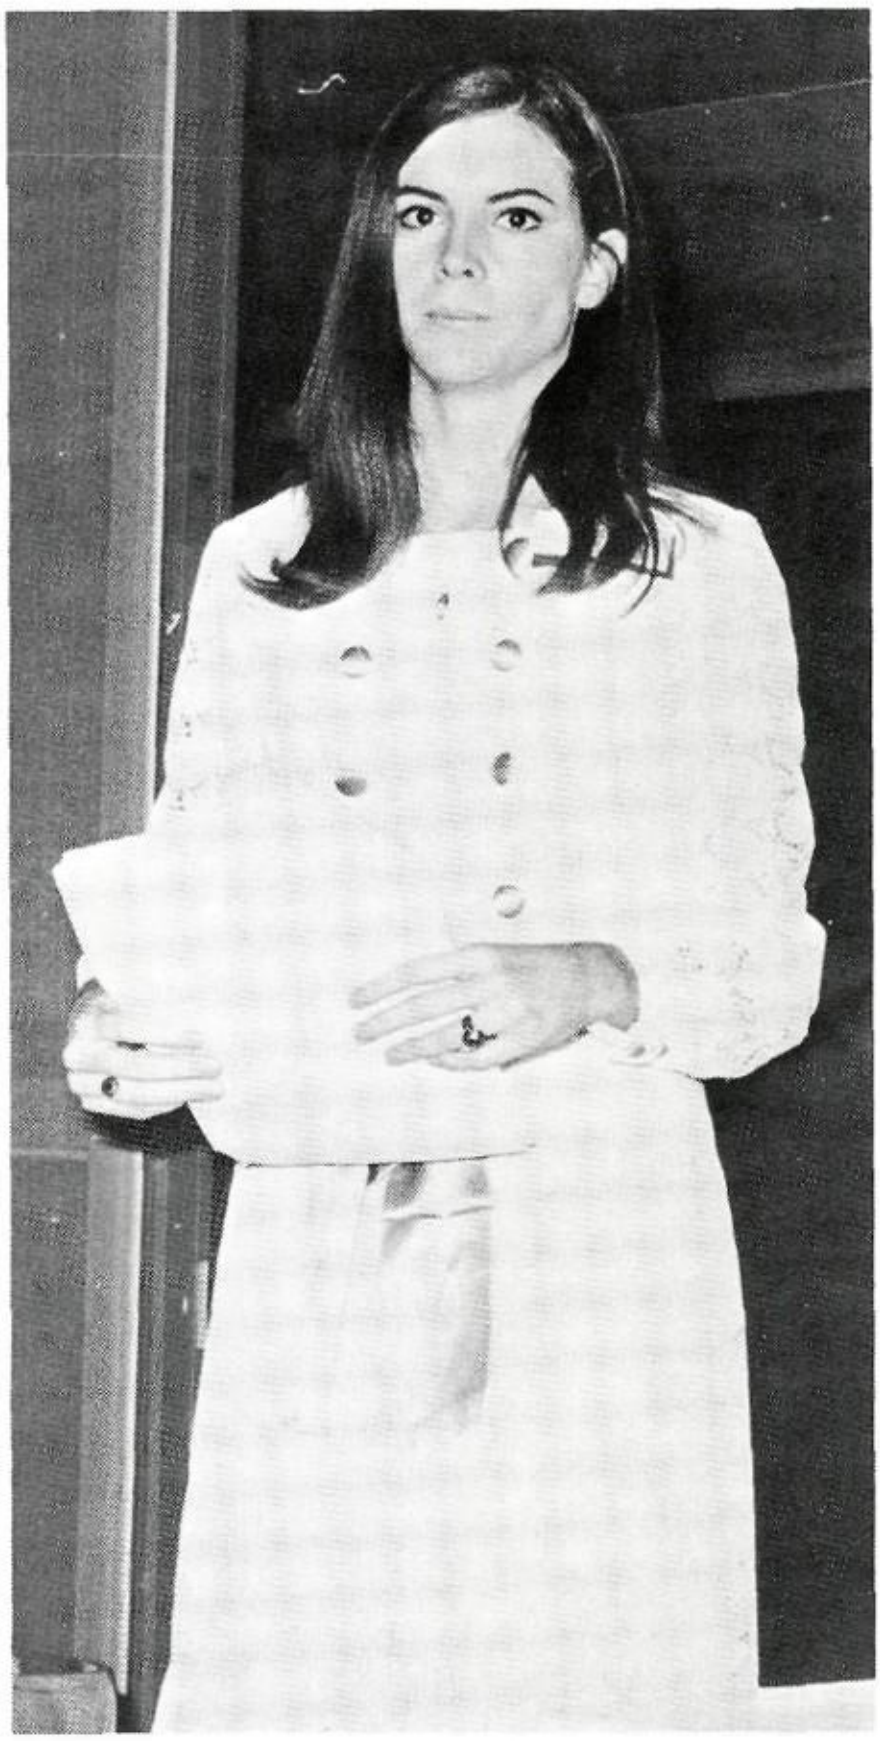


Installation Launches FHA Year

During their meetings members of the Future Homemakers of America learned skills valuable to all homemakers. After listening to knowledgeable speakers present their ideas and views on those subjects, they had the opportunity to practice and perform these skills. Besides sponsoring the club Mrs. Louise Anderson and Mrs. Pat Stevens also benefitted from the many talks and demonstrations given throughout the year.

Installation of officers at President Cindy Center's house launched the year. Following the installation, all who attended enjoyed a social hour. During the year FHA'ers took on a project every month. Some of their projects included collecting clothing for Beulah vctims, providing for a needy family as part of the Thanksgiving atmosphere, and in December as part of the Christmas spirit they went to Laurelwood Rest Home where they sang traditional Christmas carols. Besides those projects they had two cake sales at which FHA'ers showed their ability to produce outstanding and delicious pastry.

ollowing the installation of officers, Joan Short, Vida Eudy, and Nicki ichards enjoyed cookies and punch during the social hour afterwards.



Ready to begin, President Cindy Center glances over the FHA officer installation program.

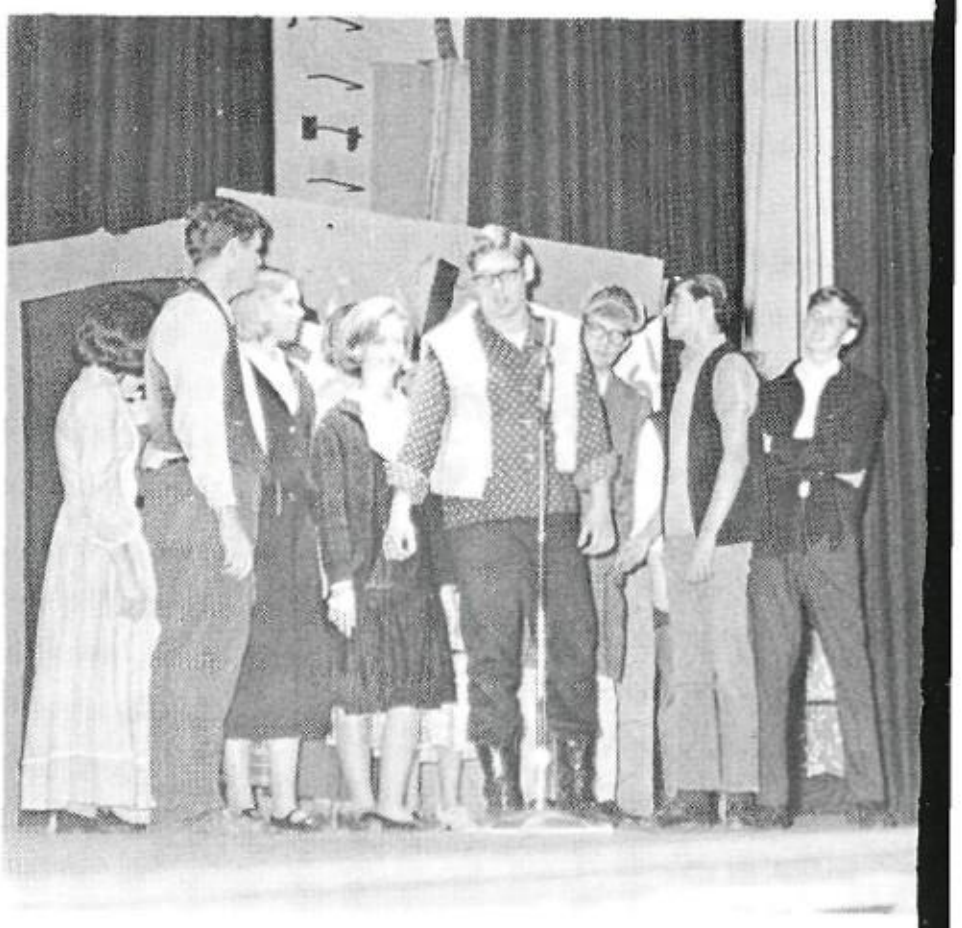
"The Pendulum of the Past" Highlights

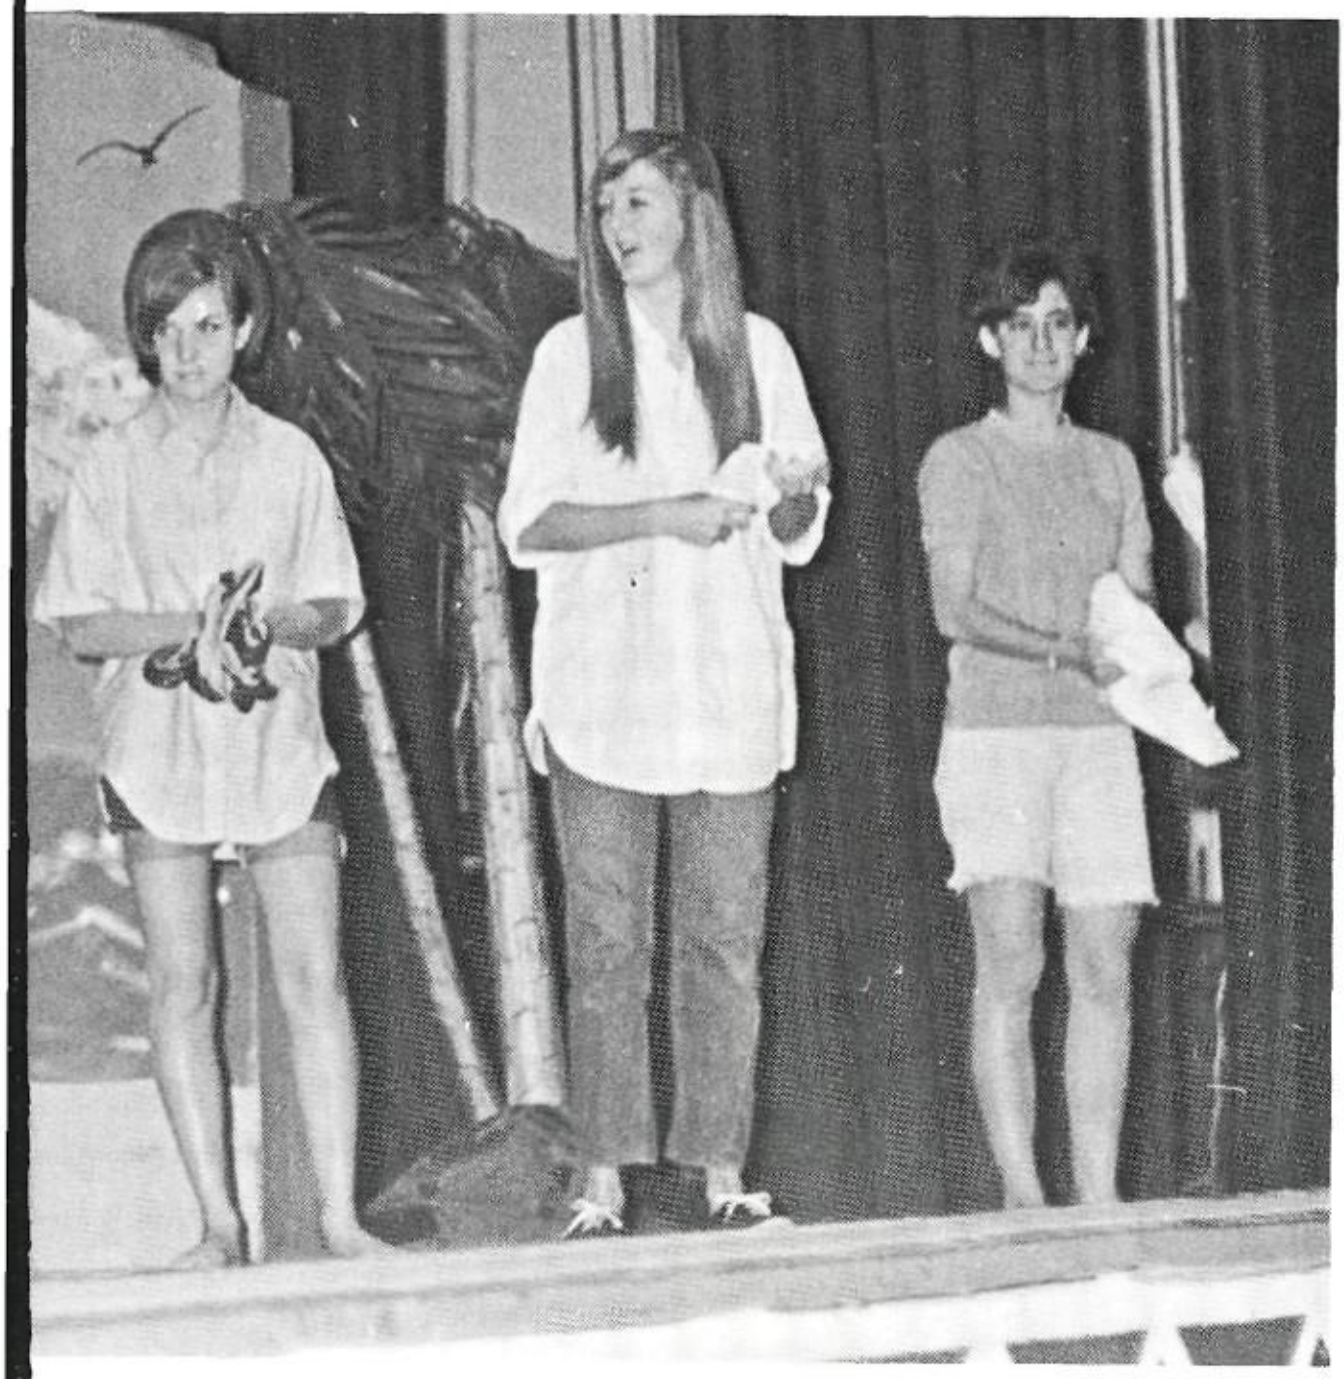
Talented students from almost every field of the performing arts entertained the student body, faculty, and parents with one of this year's most enjoyable Talacades' productions, "The Pendulum of the Past." On December 14 and 15, the group of fifty enthusiastic performers exhibited their various talents with the dancing, acting, and singing of well-known scenes from several Broadway hit shows. Scenes from "Oklahoma," "South Pacific," "West Side Story," "My Fair Lady," "The Soundof Music," and "Fiddler on the Roof" were cleverly organized into a two hour play by President Sam Rotman and with the combined efforts of sponsor Mr. Raymond Moses, and director Mrs. Peggy East. "The Pendulum of the Past" was immensely enjoyed, and was the first Talacades school production since 1964.

Talacades also performed at various military bases, service clubs, old-age homes, and hospitals.

At the beginning of each school year, interested students may audition for membership in the club.



Led by Josh Rubio, several members of Talacades entertain the student body with "Sunrise, Sunset."



During Talacades auditions, Laura Galindo exhibits her dancing ability.

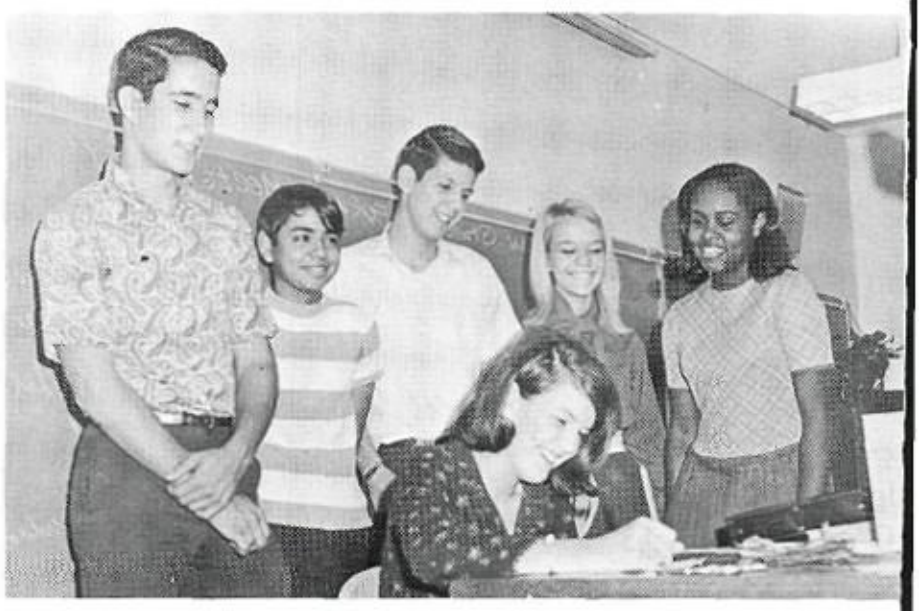
Parties and Piñatas Produce Pleasure

Jefferson's newest club, the Pan American Student Forum, was organized this year. The 56 members of the state affiliated club met bi-monthly under the guidance of Mrs. Inez Palm, sponsor.

On December 20th, Karam's Mexican Restaurant was the scene of the first annual Pan American Forum Banquet. The members performed a skit illustrating Mexican Christmas customs, and afterwards a large Mexican piñata was broken. The papier-mache animal held candy and trinkets.



Before the meeting is called to order, Christie Schoch, recording secretary, checks the roll.

Club Explores Computers

With the whole world of math and machines to explore, the Mu Alpha Theta Math Club found itself busy with a multitude of activities this year. Some of projects include field trips to Lackland A.F.B., Brooke Aerospace Center, and the Trinity Engineering Building. While touring these large complexes, the Math Club studied and learned all about the many I.B.M. computers and machines from a consultant assigned to help them.

Having a "B" in math and a "B" for the overall grade average enabled students to join. The Math Club, led by President, Paul Canales, and sponsor, Mr. Ralph Oliva, opened its door to all students that have thoughts of a career in mathematics or engineering.

Members discuss the two-hour national math test held in early February.

Engineering tests dominate the conversations of David Dobyns, Tom Wernick, and Karen Tracey.

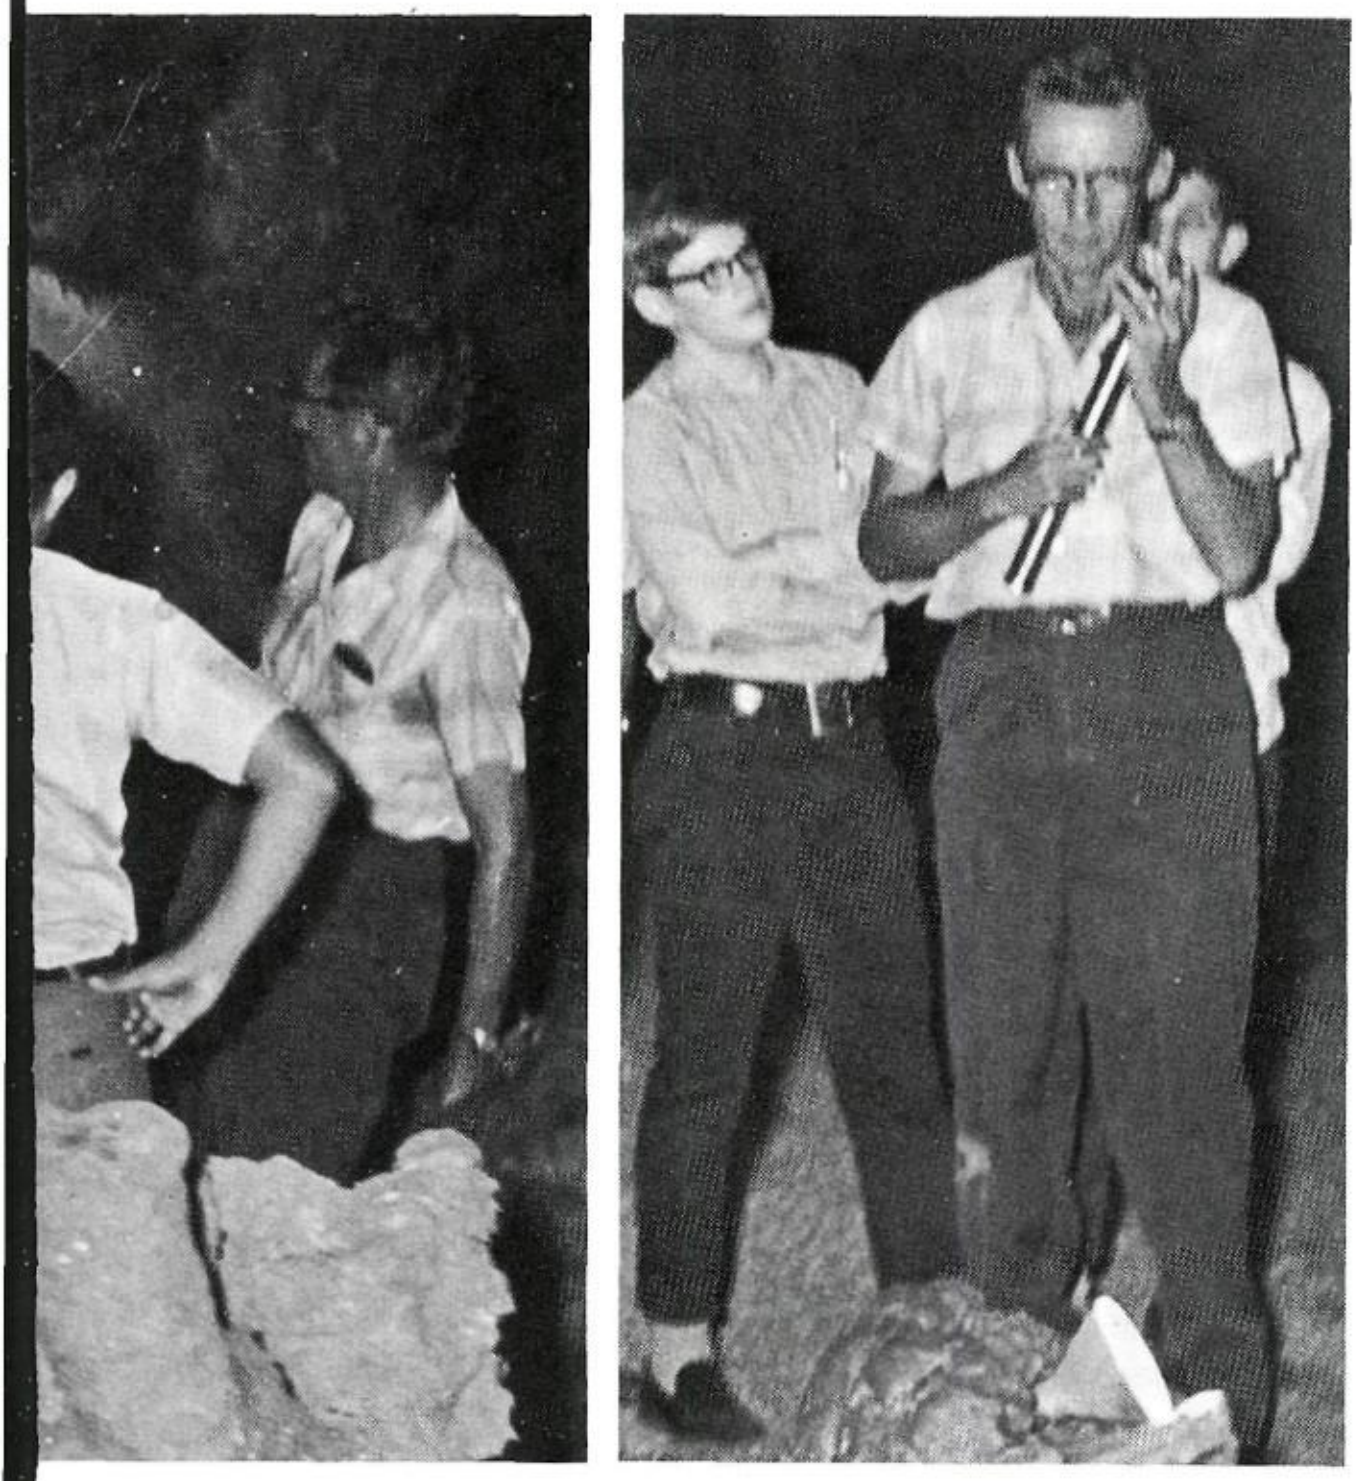
Bi-Phy-Chem Tours the Lone Star State

Places interesting and scientifically curious abound in the Lone Star State. In the past nine months, the Bi-Phy-Chem has explored many of these sites. In their first trek, members toured the Century Cavern in Boerne, Texas. Later in the year, the club took two field trips to Port Aransas to observe the various types of animal and plant life found on the Gulf shores.

Besides field trips, the Bi-Phy-Chem enjoyed guest lecturers and various science films. Mrs. Anne Barron, sponsor, and the club closed the year with a dinner honoring senior club members.



During their first field trip, members observe and marvel at the unusual cave projections pointed out by a Century Cavern guide.

Historians Visit HemisFair

Many interesting activities were scheduled for History Club members as they worked toward furthering their historical knowledge. Working to promote the 250th anniversary of San Antonio through HemisFair '68 provided the basis for History Club projects, as they toured HemisFair grounds in January. Encouragement of historical research in cooperation with the Junior Historical Society of Texas ranked high on the members' list of objectives. Attending a state convention in Austin, Texas, completed the members' year after visits to the Bexar County Archives and the San Antonio Police Department. Social activities included a banquet for Seniors and a cake sale, held to help raise funds for the sponsorship of club functions.

Under the leadership of Mr. Robert Henderson, History Club members strived to attain club goals, inspiring an interest in social studies, and furthering historical insight and knowledge.

Club Savors Fine Things of Life

Composed of members who savor the finer things of life—such as drawings, paintings, and sculptures, the Fine Arts Club has attempted to instill in its members an interest in the fine arts.

To accomplish this goal, the club members have participated in a full year of events consisting of going on sketching trips, visiting local art centers, and watching art films.

This year the club was given a new sponsor, Mr. Alexander Yamin, who was inaugurated to take the place of Miss Ruby Dugosh.

Quick and eager to notice artistic talent, the members of the Fine Arts Club observe the drawings on Mr. Alexander Yamin's bulletin board done by students in his drawing classes.

Baptist Memorial

As the center of a great medical complex, San Antonio offers many opportunities to investigate a career in the health service fields. Caduceus Club members took full advantage of this fact. Many films were shown presenting various facets of medicine. Speakers from the Southwest Texas State Hospital and the Brooks Burn Center focused attention on the special operations of their organizations. Tours through Baptist Memorial Hospital and Cutter Laboratories added to the members' knowledge of the health fields.

Club members made Easter favors for the Santa Rosa Chidren's Hospital as their service project for the year. Social events included the December Christmas Party and the banquet on May 13, which was the last function of the year. The club was sponsored by Miss Kinkler and Mrs. Hughes.

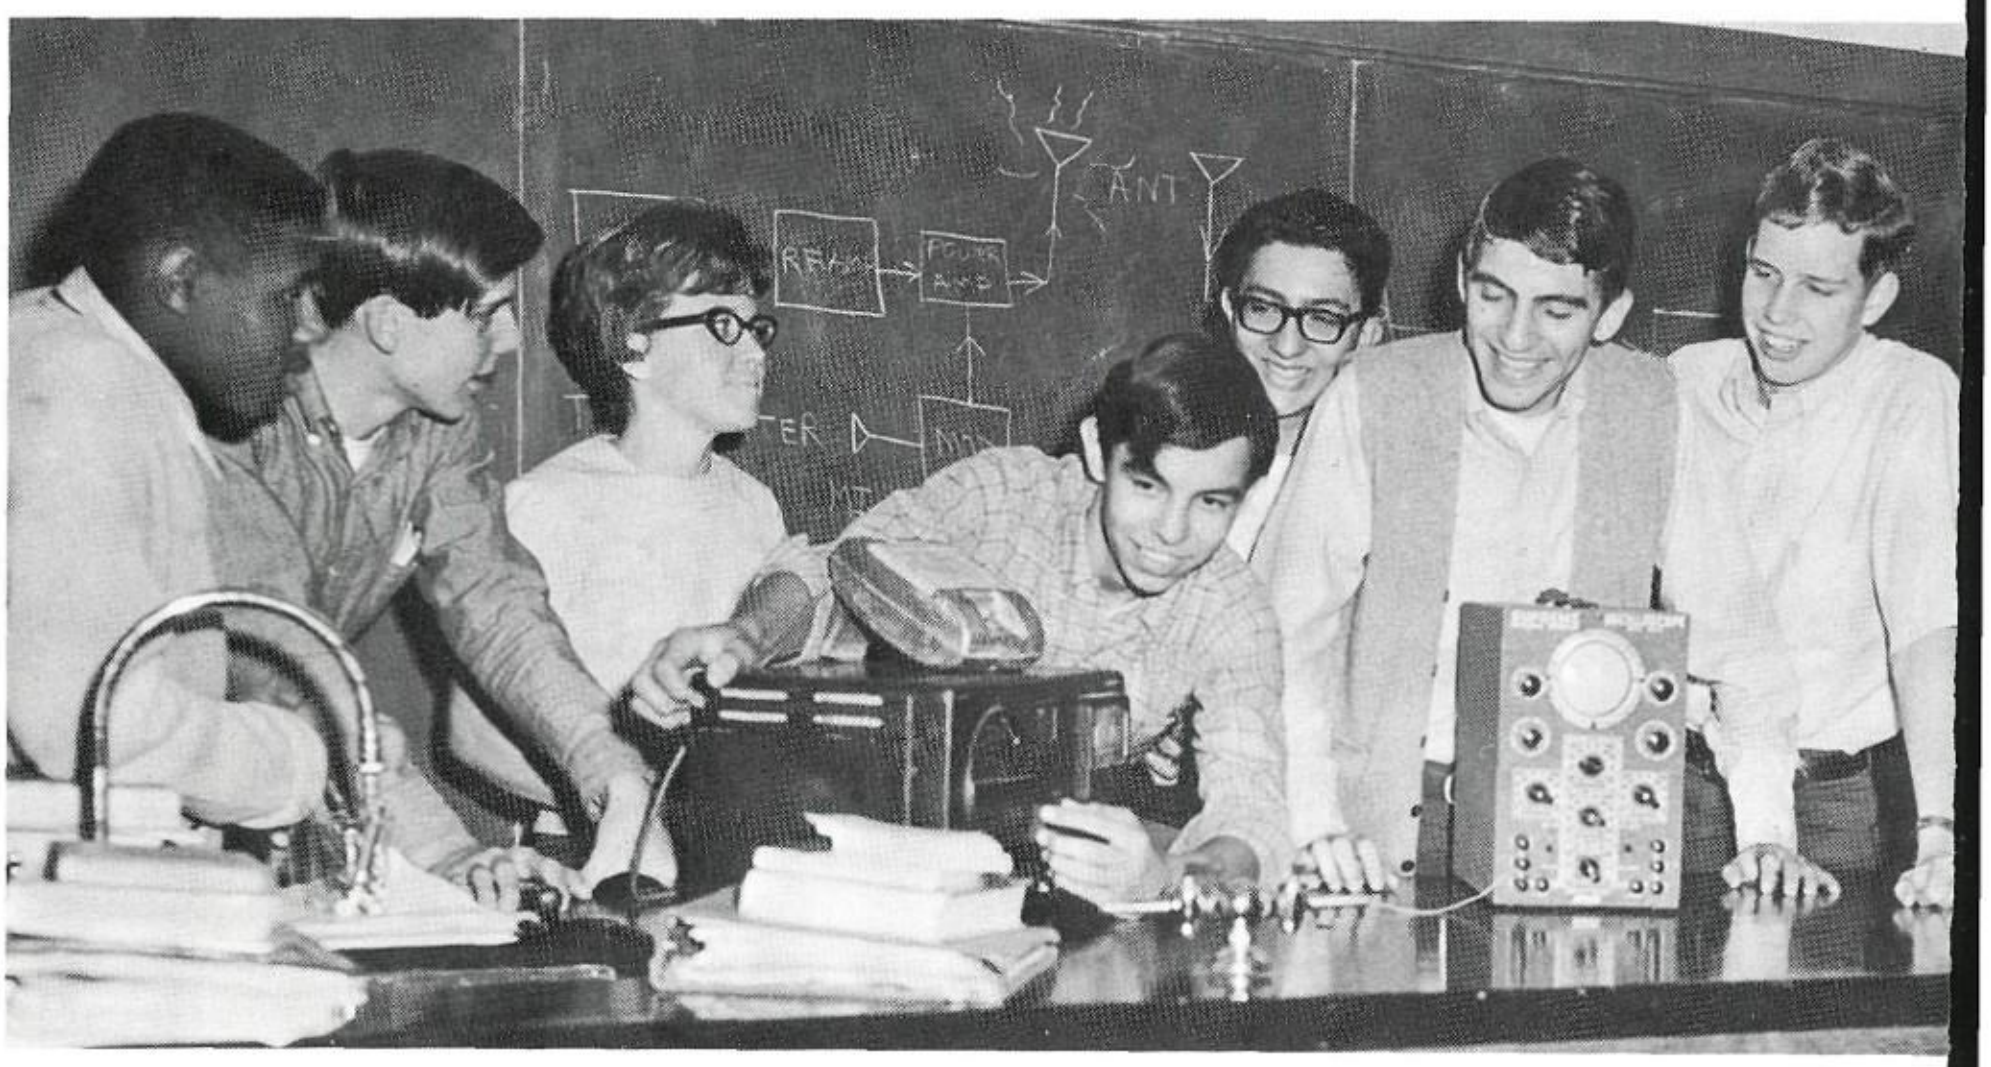
Radio Buffs Learn Skills

Radio signals and Morse Code lessons occupied many Monday afternoons for Radio Club members. By repairing and building radios, these amateur ham operators became familiar with the technology of transmitting messages.

Various events and activities sparked the members' year. Competing in numerous contests, participating in a Civil Defense course, and learning the dots and dashes of Morse Code helped members as they worked for their operator's license. Their activities were under the sponsorship of Mrs. Karlene Manning.

With Marshall Beeber at the controls, Happy Howeth offers helpful suggestions on operating an oscilloscope.



Under the approving gaze of Mrs. Karlene Manning, members are encouraged to experiment with new techniques of radio transmitting.

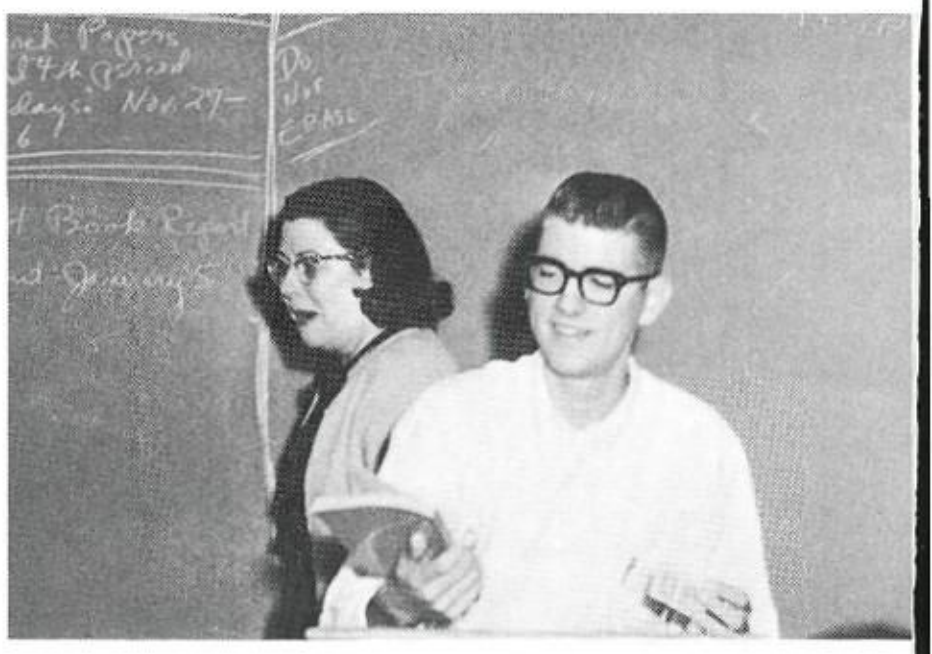
Collectors Combine Hobbies

In order to promote an interest in stamps and coins, the Philimatics Club held programs and auctions for the benefit of members. At auctions, unwanted or duplicate stamps and coins were traded or sold. A "bourse," the private exchange of coins and stamps between two members, became a regular feature of each meeting.

Lectures, panel discussions, and several field trips added to the members social calendar. In December and early spring, members held "picks" allowing them to purchase various coins or stamps. Members of the Philamatic Club, under the leadership of Miss Gloria Sain, enjoyed various activities and events arranged around their interests.



While lecturing on the history of various coins and stamps, Jim Korp receives Miss Gloria Sain's quiet approval.

Chess player Xavier Vasquez contemplates the best strategy to beat his opponent Michael Noels.

Acquiring special techniques which helped the members of the Chess Club to play a better game of chess occupied many of their after-school hours. Using these techniques, the members spent the rest of their meeting absorbed in a stimulating duel of wits and strategy. In addition to presenting his knowledge of chess to the members, Mr. Baston Massey, sponsor and an avid chess fan himself, also learned much from them.

During the year members competed against chess fans from other schools and cities. Playing students from other schools also awarded them with many enjoyable and exciting sessions of the sport of kings.

In participating in this stimulating and thought-provoking game, these students have acquired a hobby that they can enjoy throughout their lives.

To inspire greater competition, Miss Dyer, sponsor for the club, initiated a point system. The individual girls and teams who received the most points for placing in different events, garnered recognition at the spring picnic held at Brackenridge Park.

Russian Culture Fascinates Students

Students curious about Russia, its language, culture, and impact on today's world found the Russian Club and its sponsor, Mr. Richard Kirkpatrick, a wealth of information. The school's newest departmental club, the Russian Club enjoyed a busy first year of organization. Last year, the members, not fully organized, met during class periods. This year, although small in number, its membership met faithfully every other Wednesday. At each meeting, the members discussed the Russian language and culture and, generally, added to their knowledge of that country. As their social function for the year, the club held a spring banquet.

Modern Students Present Old Drama

Old world customs come alive through feasts and style shows for the members of the Latin Club. The Roman Banquet, which featured the traditional foods of Old Rome, brought the ancient world a little closer to modern day America. The regular bi-weekly meetings consisted of guest speakers, informal style shows of Roman apparel, and slides of Rome. At the annual Christmas Party, Latin Club members sung the traditional Yuletide carols in Latin. Membership in this language club is open to anyone interested in the language and customs of ancient Rome. Sponsor Mrs. Antoinette Moore and President Suzanne Lutz led the club as it furthered the knowledge of those who study and enjoy the language of scholars.

Furthering their knowledge of the Spanish language, the members of the Spanish Club conducted every meeting in Spanish. The club initiated their new members at a pinata fiesta in September. On November 9, they held a cake sale to raise money to invite a guitarist from Mexico to play for them. They also showed films of Mexico contributed through the courtesy of the Mexicana Airlines. In the spring, a banquet was held at Casa Rio to honor the senior members and to announce their President and Vice-President for next year.

The requirements for joining the club, sponsored by Miss Charlotte Wright, include having a 2.5 average and at least one semester of Spanish. The members must also show a sincere wish to further the club's aims of promoting and extending the understanding of the Spanish language and its culture.

Discharging her duties as President, Nancy DeLaZerda conducts a regular meeting of the Spanish Club.

Club Goes French

Although it seems that a Martian has landed from outer space—it's just John Cannavino lending his services to the French Club as he helps to decorate for Mardi Gras.

By way of its many activities, the French Club proved itself one of the most active departmental clubs at our school. Known to its members as Le Cercle Francais, this club boasted some 65 members for their thirty-fifth year of organization.

Business meetings and colorful activities dominated the year. On November 8th, the club held its annual "petite gouter" where the members socialized while eating pieces of French bread and chocolate. In December, a Christmas party was held at which the members sang carols in French. Between these social activities, films from the Council of France in Houston enlivened the meetings. February 23rd marked the date of the most important social event of Le Cercle Francais—the Mardi Gras. The French Clubbers invited all the other language clubs to participate in this colorful event. At the spring banquet, the club announced the president for the following year. A strong executive committee composed of conscientious French Club members and aided by sponsor Mrs. Virginia Creed proved invaluable in conducting their alternate Wednesday meetings.

With one of the largest club memberships at school, the German Club brought together over one hundred students who desired to learn more about the German language, customs, and foods. Proving that all this learning can be fun, the club visited the nearby New Braunfels Wurst Fest in November. A Christmas banquet at the Bavarian Inn gave members a chance to display their talents at playing water glasses, as well as an opportunity to enjoy really delicious German food.

Under the leadership of their sponsor, Mr. Carl North, the club's football team tallied a number of victories in intramural competition. Other highlights included a spring banquet and picnic as well as the bi-weekly meetings that featured socializing and sing-alongs.

At the Christmas Dinner held at the Bavarian Inn, "Fuhrer" Nelson Block commands instant attention from fellow German Club members.

Jeff-aires Find

Under the direction of Mr. Raymond Moses, the Jeffersonaires entertained at many public events in San Antonio. In the past, they have sung for soldiers at the many military bases and performed for radio and television stations. In December, they sang in a program at the National Bank of Commerce. They were also invited to sing at hotels for Hemisfair. Each year the girls caroled through the halls at Christmas time for the enjoyment of the students and teachers. One of their biggest events, the annual "Cavalcade of Melody," offered the Jeffersonaires the opportunity to show fellow students their musical ability. The year ended with their annual banquet where their new officers were announced.

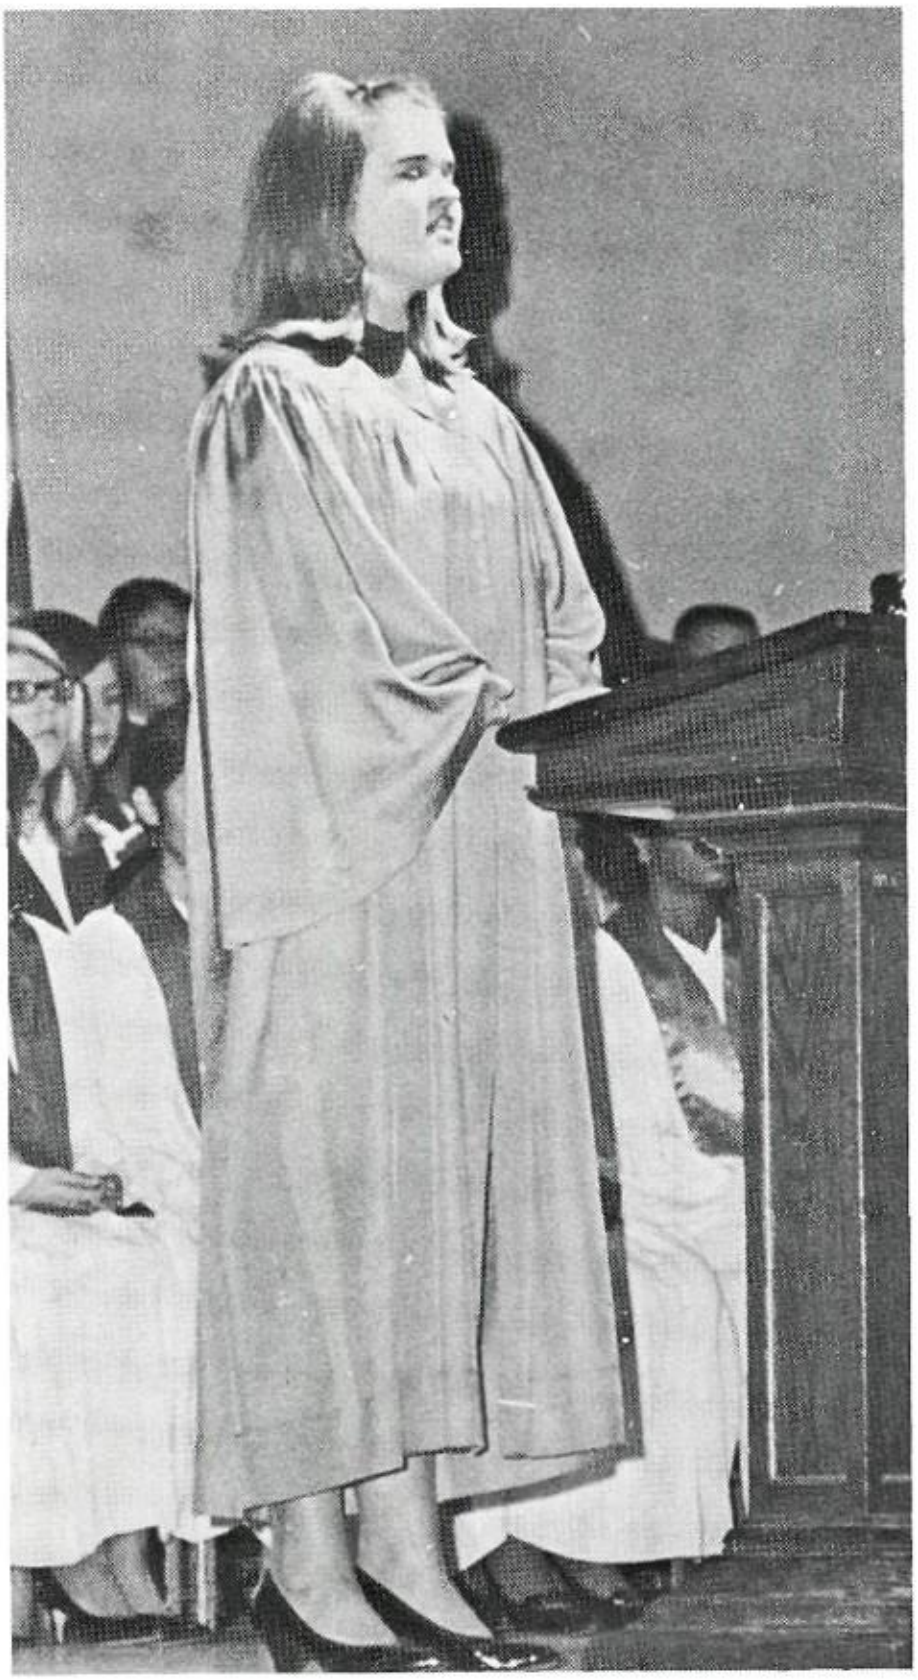
Practice

With a perfect blending of voices, the A Capella Choir delighted audiences with their moving performances. Among their numerous presentations throughout the year was a virtuoso performance of "These Things Shall Be" and "The Star-Spangled Banner" at the EACH HAS SPOKEN assembly December 1. Earlier in the fall, the choir accompanied the San Antonio Symphony Orchestra in its explosive rendition of Tchaikovsky's 1812 Overture. Also included on their busy schedule, was "A Calvacade of Melody," a paid assembly presented in the spring. As a result of their widely recognized talents, the choir was selected to sing at Hemisfair last April.

The talented songsters sang at many school functions as well as public events, providing an entertaining background of harmony and melody. Members of the choir relaxed at their picnic in early spring. Composed of 30 boys and 32 girls, the choir achieved vocal perfection under the experienced guidance of Mr. Raymond Moses.



Utilizing her talents to the fullest, Charlotte Forrest gives a moving rendition of "The Impossible Dream" at the EACH HAS SPOKEN assembly.

Vocalists Provide Harmony

With a desire to develop their vocal abilities, girls joined the Glee Club. Correct speaking, ear training, and proper breathing comprised a great part of what this small, 38-girl member club had to learn. They also became acquainted with the history of music and learned to build harmony into their voices.

With the help and guidance of their sponsor, Mr. Raymond Moses, the Girls' Glee Club traveled far on the road of musical training.

Chorus Explores World of Music

Learning and mastering the many aspects of fine singing claimed most of the energies of the Mixed Chorus. Constant practice and diligent, hard work helped the members acquire the musical knowledge they gained throughout the year. Thanks to this knowledge, they were able to perform under the direction of Mr. Raymond Moses and reach new heights of achievement. The performance at HemisFair, highlighting the year, showed that their efforts and diligence paid off. This exhibit proved to be an experience which they will never forget.

With patience and dedication to his work, Mr. Raymond Moses directs and aids the Orchestra in mastering one of their favorite pieces.

Working on a number together, David Mings, David Feiganbaum, and John Di Giaromo toiled for quality n their music.

To entertain people with a variety of music became the goal of the Orchestra. Throughout the year, under the baton of Mr. Raymond Moses, they performed for different civic clubs and assemblies, such as the National Honor Society Initiation in the fall and the "Cavalcade of Melody" in the spring. The Orchestra also numbered the Talacades Program "Pendulum of the Past" among their many performances.

After listening to their tapes, judges for the All-State competition chose certain Orchestra members to participate in the contest. In Austin, the musicians realized the stiff competition they faced and sought to work doubly hard to bring honor to our school.

To top off their successful year, the Orchestra showed their excellence in music by giving performances at HemisFair. Delighted by the many types of music played listeners relished hearing such a fine group. Members of the Orchestra enjoyed performing at the exposition and found this venture an unforgettable experience.

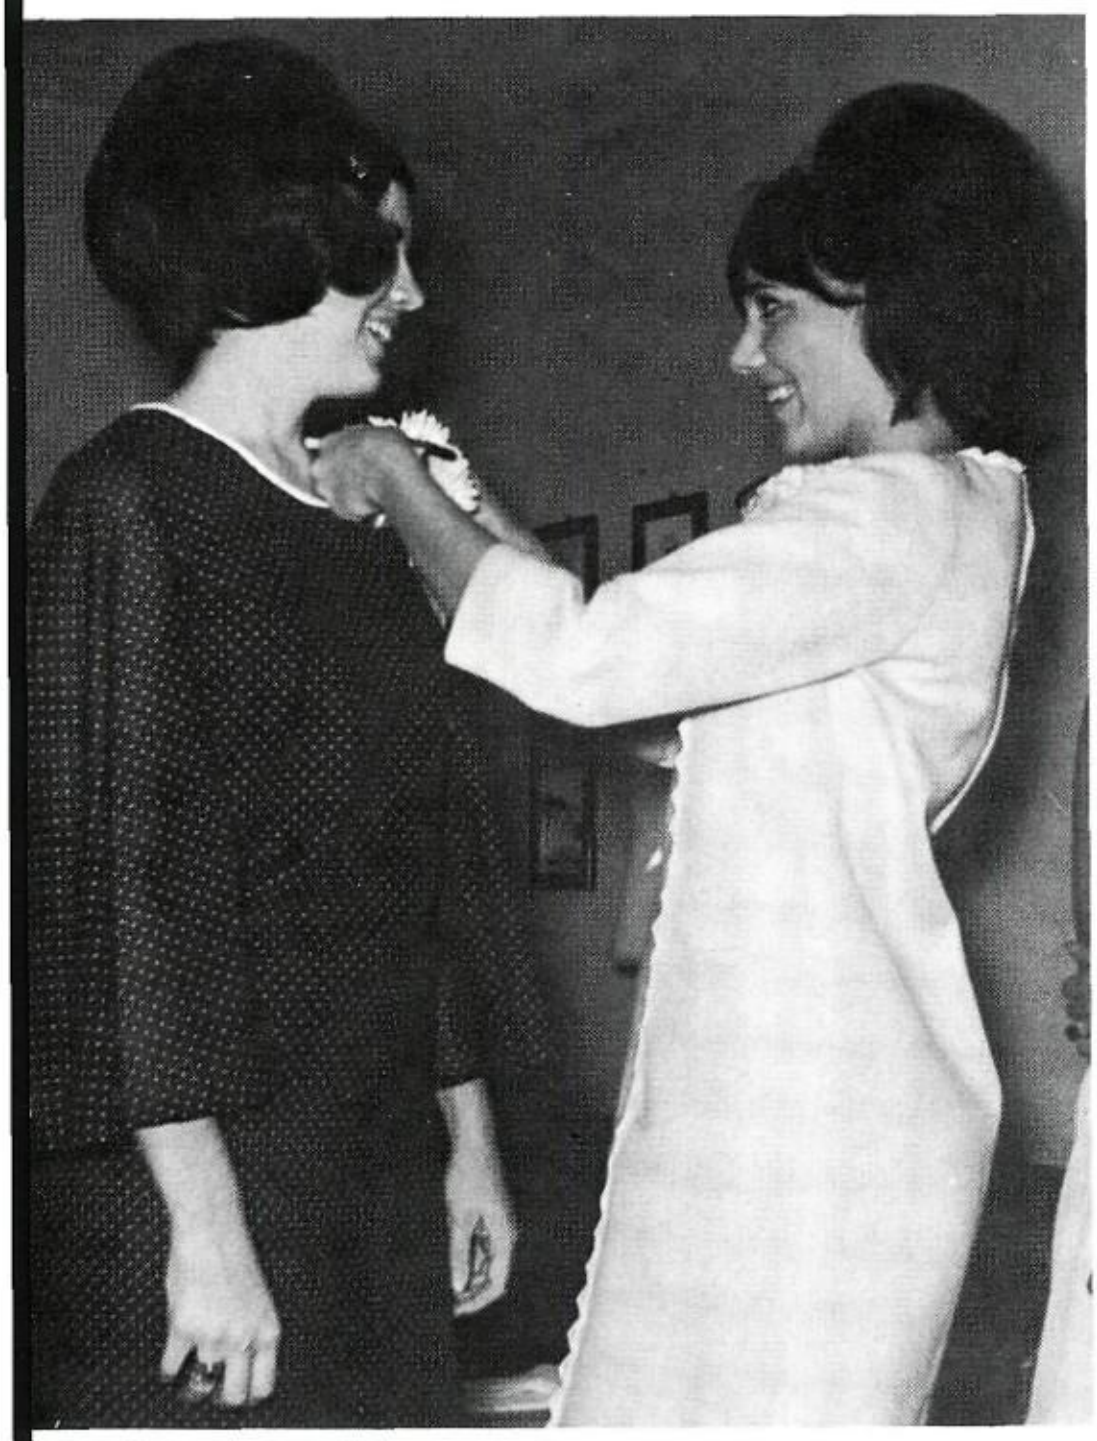
Jaspers Beam With Activity

With a brand-new sponsor, Mrs. Maxine Wolfinger, Jaspers launched their year with an informal initiation of new junior and senior members on December 9. The following week, installation of officers and formal initiation of new members were conducted. Later in the year Jaspers admitted new Sophomore initiates.

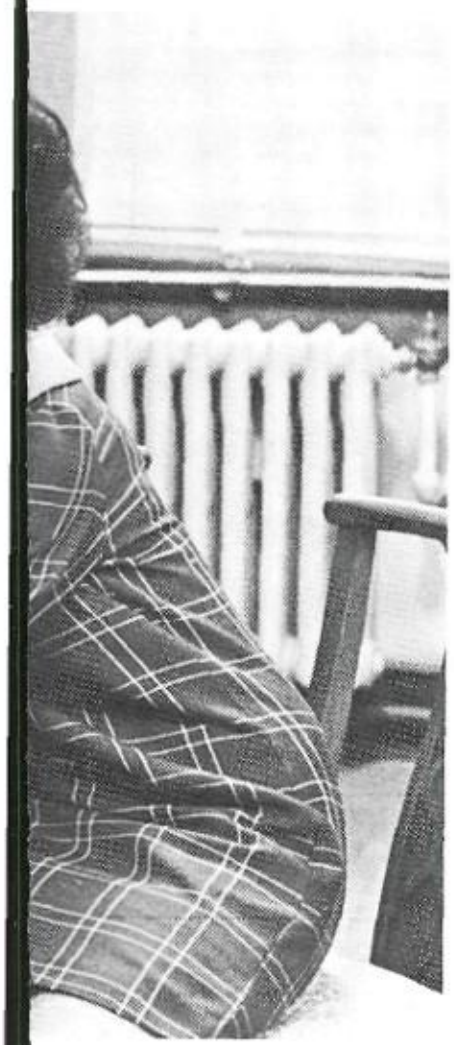
During the Christmas season Jaspers kept busy with their Christmas dinner at La Fonda's and a party immediately after the dinner at the home of the sponsor, Mrs. Maxine Wolfinger.

Starting of the new year, Jaspers began planning their annual Shamrock Ball, held March 2. Throughout January and February Jaspers worked hard on the decorations, refreshments, and the traditional green and white shamrock pillows.

Ending a successful and wonderful year the spring banquet honored the club's seniors.



After initiation of new members, Rosie Kesterson happily receives from Lois Loeffler her mum signifying membership in Jaspers.



After-school hours find Corine Villareal, Jan Gonzales, and Lois Loeffler busy working on one of the many Jasper activities.

After little persuasion from Corine Villareal and Lucy Almaguer, John Yates buys a bid to the Shamrock Ball.

Holding the traditional Shakespeare rose, senior Bette Butler makes her appearance at the style show in an elegant white formal.

Flashing a friendly smile, Cheryl Allen models a casual outfit featuring the latest styles.

Providing the style show entertainment, junior Shakes Arnette Ingram, Jackie Voges and Neta Saathoff sing "California Here I Come" denoting the "San Franciscan Nights" theme of the show.

Each year, the sophomore Shakes entertain the crowd at the Sweetheart's Ball, and Bette Jo Duffin and Alice Pevoto do their best to keep this tradition alive.

For Lorrie Rubin, president of the Shakespeare Club, the long hours of careful planning and hard work were rewarded when she and her escort, Charlie Nichols, walked proudly through the heart at the dance.

Shakespeares Work, Participate

These smiling faces show that everyone has a good time at the Sweetheart's Ball.

Through their involvement, participation and hard work, sixty-five girls made the Shakespeare Club one of the most "on the go" organizations at school. As a very active social club, the Shakespeares opened its membership twice in the autumn of the year. Both times, one of the members hosted the formal initiations at her home.

Girls throughout the school awaited the coming of the Shakespeare Style Show. This year, the latest styles from Siegal's were modeled by senior Shakespeares. A colorful streetcar depicted the style show theme of "San Franciscan Nights." February 10th saw the arrival of the long anticipated event of the year—the Shakespeare Sweetheart's Ball. Decorations in keeping with the theme, "Carousel of Hearts," adorned the setting of the dance. The focal point of the decorations was the large, red and white heart through which the senior Shakespeares stepped when introduced.

The varied activities of the club, carried out with the help of Mrs. Marion Asher, gave each girl fond memories of the beautiful fashion, Valentine heart, and romantic dance that made 1968 a special year in the Shakespeare history.

While gathered around the gift-laden table, MJR members watch intently as president Ronni Jacobs opens her gift.

Sponsor Mrs. Mary Jo Smith eagerly eyes the delicious salad she will soon eat.

Holiday Luncheon Highlights Season

Among the social clubs enjoying a busy and event-filled year was the Martha Jefferson Randolph Society. Beginning with the announcement and initiation of new members, the year progressed with the traditional Christmas Luncheon. Held at the Barn Door, on December 9, all members of MJR brought gift-wrapped toys for later distribution to needy children.

February 3 was chosen as the date for the annual Hayne-MJR Dance. The Colonies House in Colonies North welcomed the MJR's and their brother club Hayne when they held their joint dance there. The members also planned a cake sale for February 12.

Under both the excellent leadership of president Ronni Jacobs and the efforts of sponsor Mrs. Mary Jo Smith, the last MJR social function for the year, the annual Dinner Dance, also claimed success. The event, held this year on May 11 at Ramada Inn, honored out-going seniors.

The announcement of next year's MJR president brought the active MJR year to a close.

As Cynthia Tomasek gives her drop to new member Rita Agler, president Ronni Jacobs beams a happy smile.

Looking on, MJR member Peggy Denison happily watches Sally Sanders traditionally "drop" Tessie Hill.

Surrounded with such a large array of food, Missy Blass finds it difficult to decide what to eat next.

Hayne Swings and Socializes

As the school's oldest social club, Hayne continued its long tradition of service coupled with the promotion of friendship among its members.

Hayne social functions premiered with the Hayne-Senate Western Dance at Mountain Top Inn on November 11. The year progressed with the Hayne-MJR Dance at Colony's North. The annual event with MJR, Hayne's sister club, was held on February 3. The social scene continued with the Dinner-Dance at Canyon Creek on February 21, and an open dance on May 4. The Hayne outing on May 11 concluded an active social year.

Hayne members also served their school during the year. At football games, Hayne helped the Lariats carry and box their cards. For this service, the Lariats honored Hayne with a Christmas Party. During football season, Hayne also helped put up the breaker banners.

Under the able guidance of sponsor, Mr. Lewis Hutchinson, and President Ron Samples, Hayne enjoyed an outstanding year.

Presents and Parties

From the first short meeting to the Senior Banquet in May, members of Martha Skelton Literary Society talked, laughed, and danced their way through another active year. The new officers were honored at the formal candlelight installation, which was the Skelton's first-social event of the year. Pink carnations, shimmering drops, and the exchange of presents were the highlights of the Christmas Party for the new members. The Senate-Skelton Spring Formal was the high-point of the year for members of the two clubs. Shangri-la was an exciting place to be on the night of March 23, as hours of hammering and decorating paid off. The last gathering of the year was the Senior Banquet on May 11, which honored the graduating Seniors. The annuouncement of next year's president was made at the banquet. Mrs. Betty Crain, Sponsor, guided the club throughout the year.

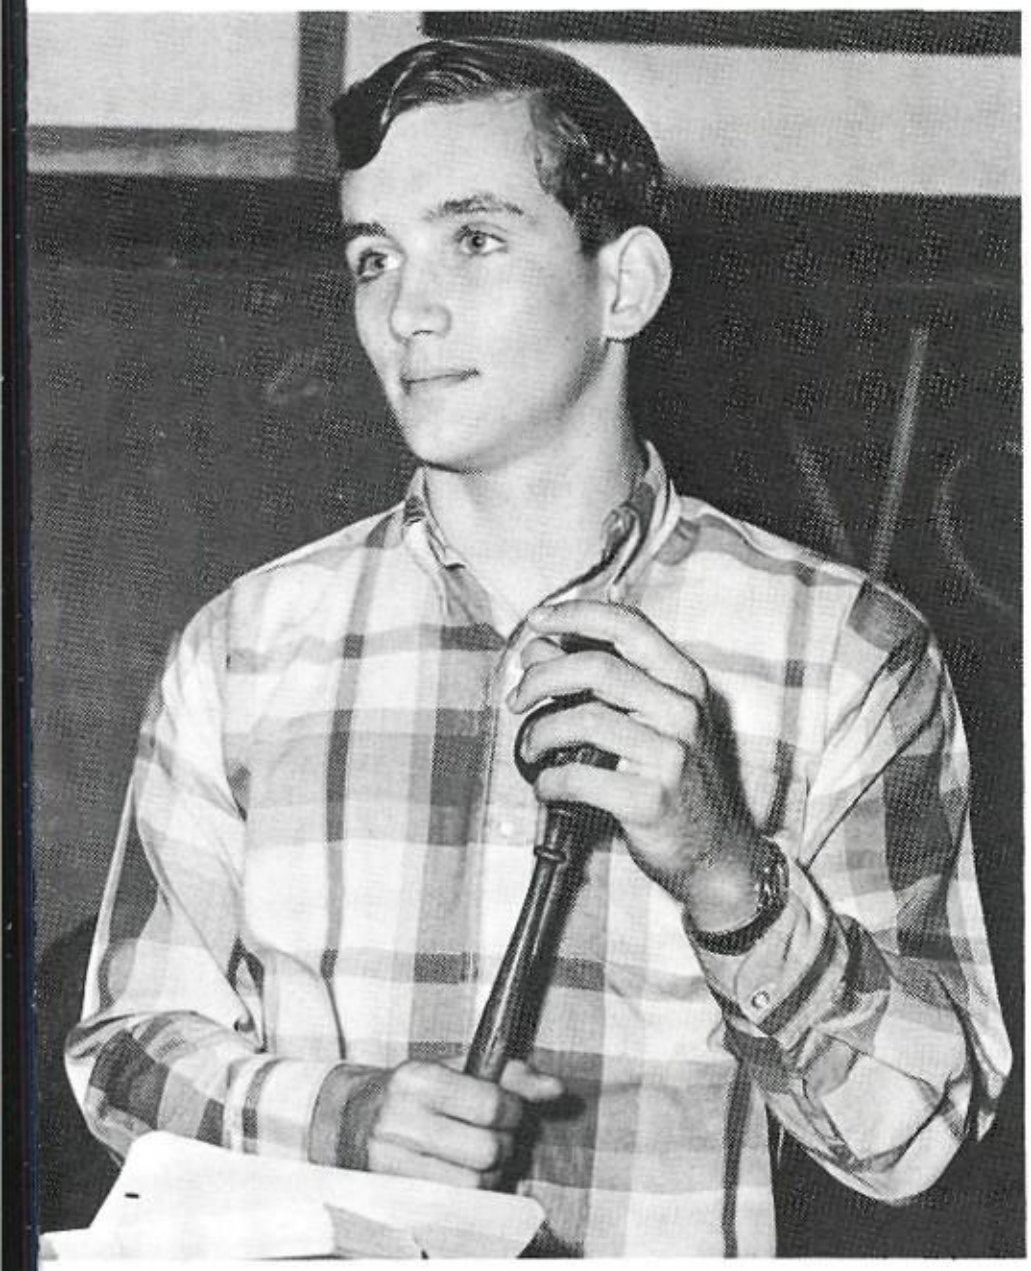
Senators Serve With Sincerity

Founded in 1912 at Main Avenue High School as the Congress Debating Society, the Senate Debating Society was reorganized at Jefferson in 1932 and became a social club in the mid 1940's. Today's Senate combines service, spirit, and a lively social calendar for an active, enjoyable year.

The Senate social scene began on November 11 with the Senate-Hayne Western Dance at Mountain Top Inn. After the mid-term finals, the Senators and their dates relaxed at a closed dance on January 27. Many hours of planning and decorating added up to success on the night of March 23 at the annual Senate-Skelton Formal. Carrying out the Shangri-la theme, oriental tapestries and fountains added to the evening's exotic mood. As the end of the school year approached, the Senators and Skeltons gathered in the sunny Skelton Patio to enjoy their traditional Tamalada. Climaxing the Senate's year was an outing-dance at Alzafar Camp at which the announcement of next year's president was made.

The total membership of the Senate Club corresponds to the membership of the United States Senate. To become a member, a boy must have a "C" average. After approval by the deans, random selections are made to fill the club's vacancies.



esident Donald Drane is the authorative voice at each Senate meeting.

Sports Editor David De Los Santos whistles while Diane Grey and other Sports Editor Arthur Fagan work to meet the deadline.

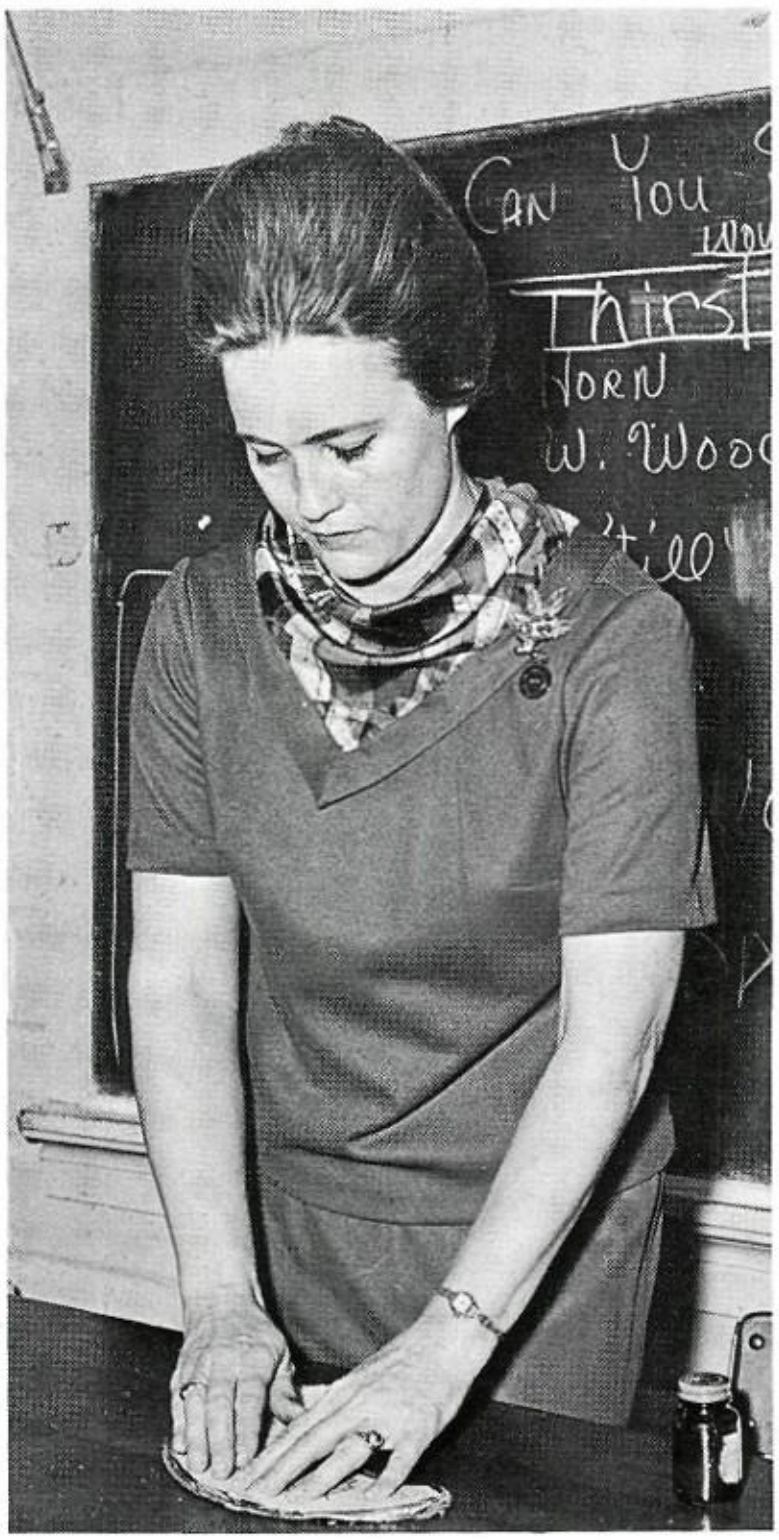
Armed with the proven skills of journalistic communication, the Declaration staff strived to broaden its outlook in many ways; through statewide conferences, and by earnestly examining the new wave of student social demands.

The staff was also busy developing the outlook of the students towards community and national affairs. Important matters concerning Vietnam, the district bond issue, and other subjects were probed by the energetic and methodical involvement of the newspaper with the student body.

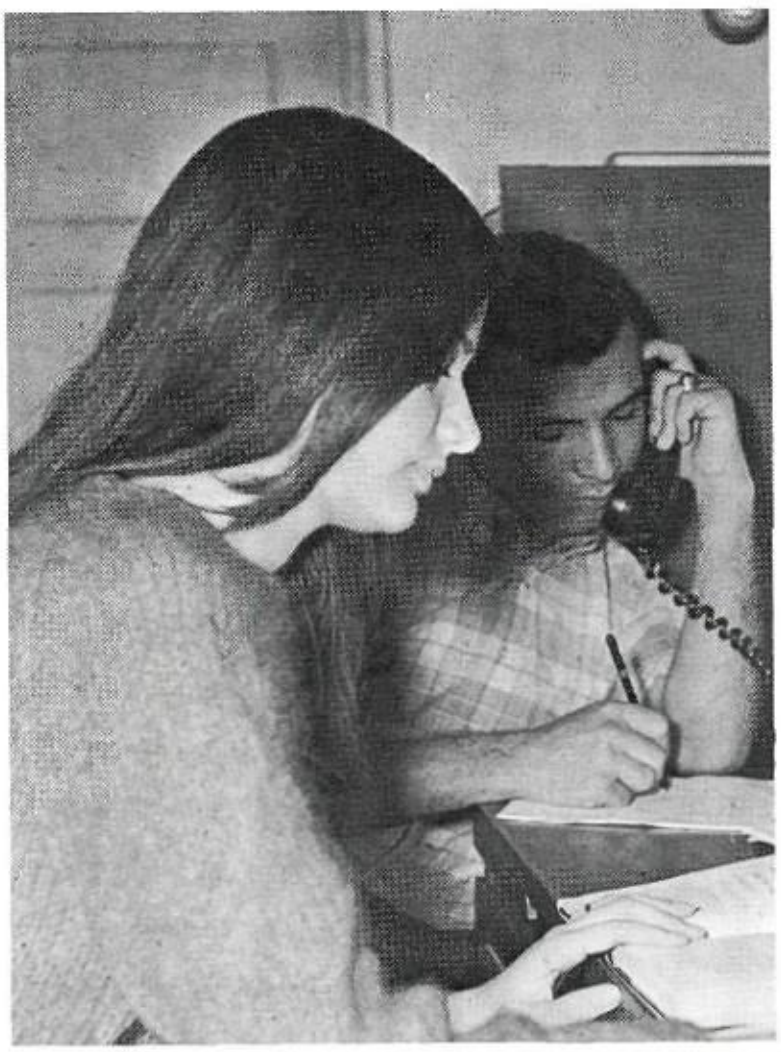
In keeping with the traditional activities of the Declaration, the staff greeted football season with a red and blue spirit issue and celebrated Christmas by sponsoring a door decorating contest.

The ultimate deadline arrived in May at the annual Publications Banquet with the nomination of the new editors and the conclusion of the veteran staff esprit de corps.

Esprit de Corps Unifies Dec Staff

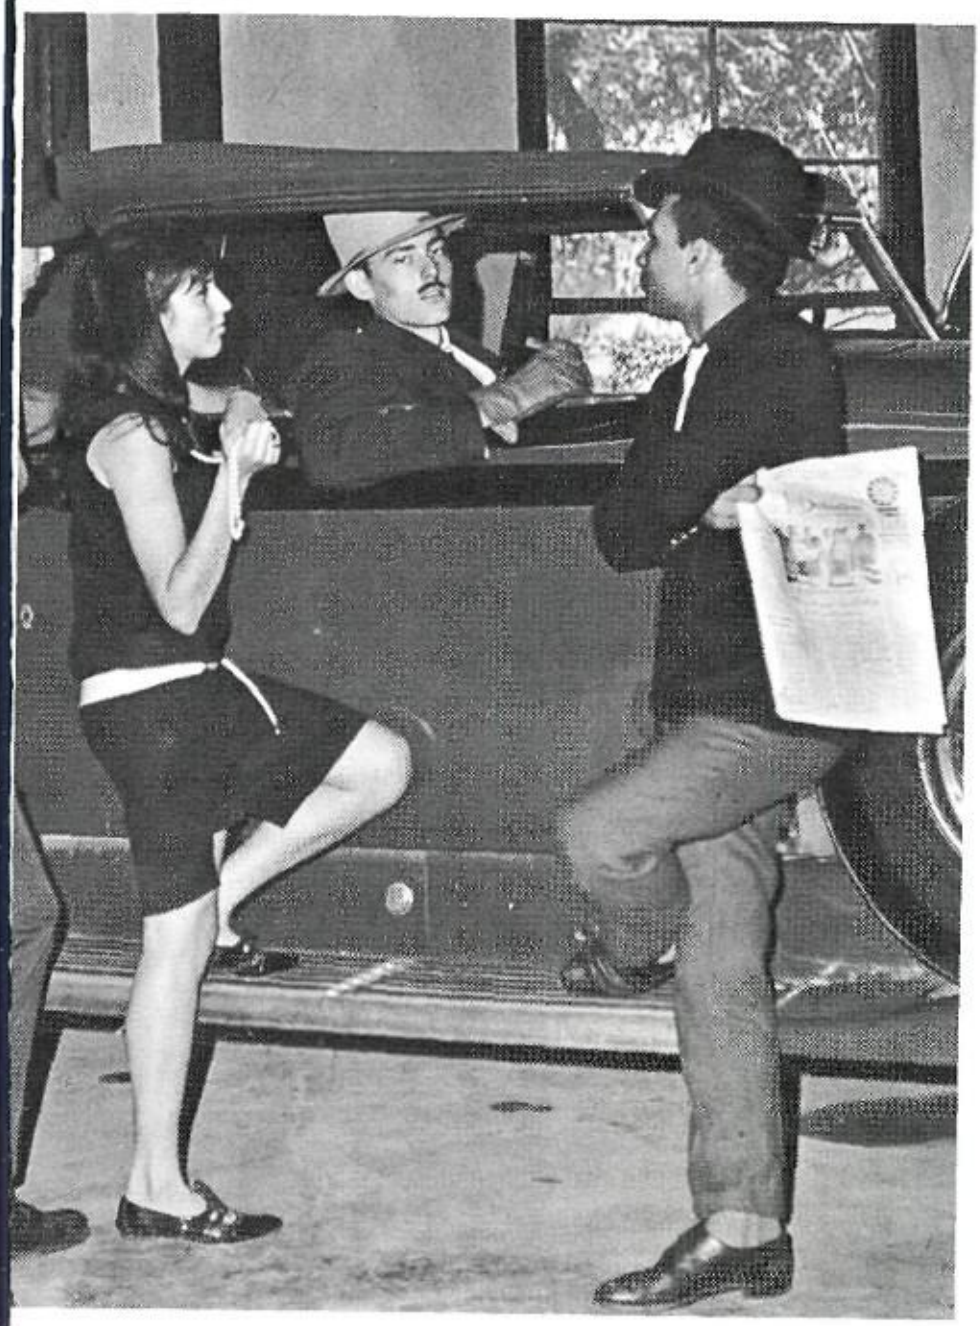


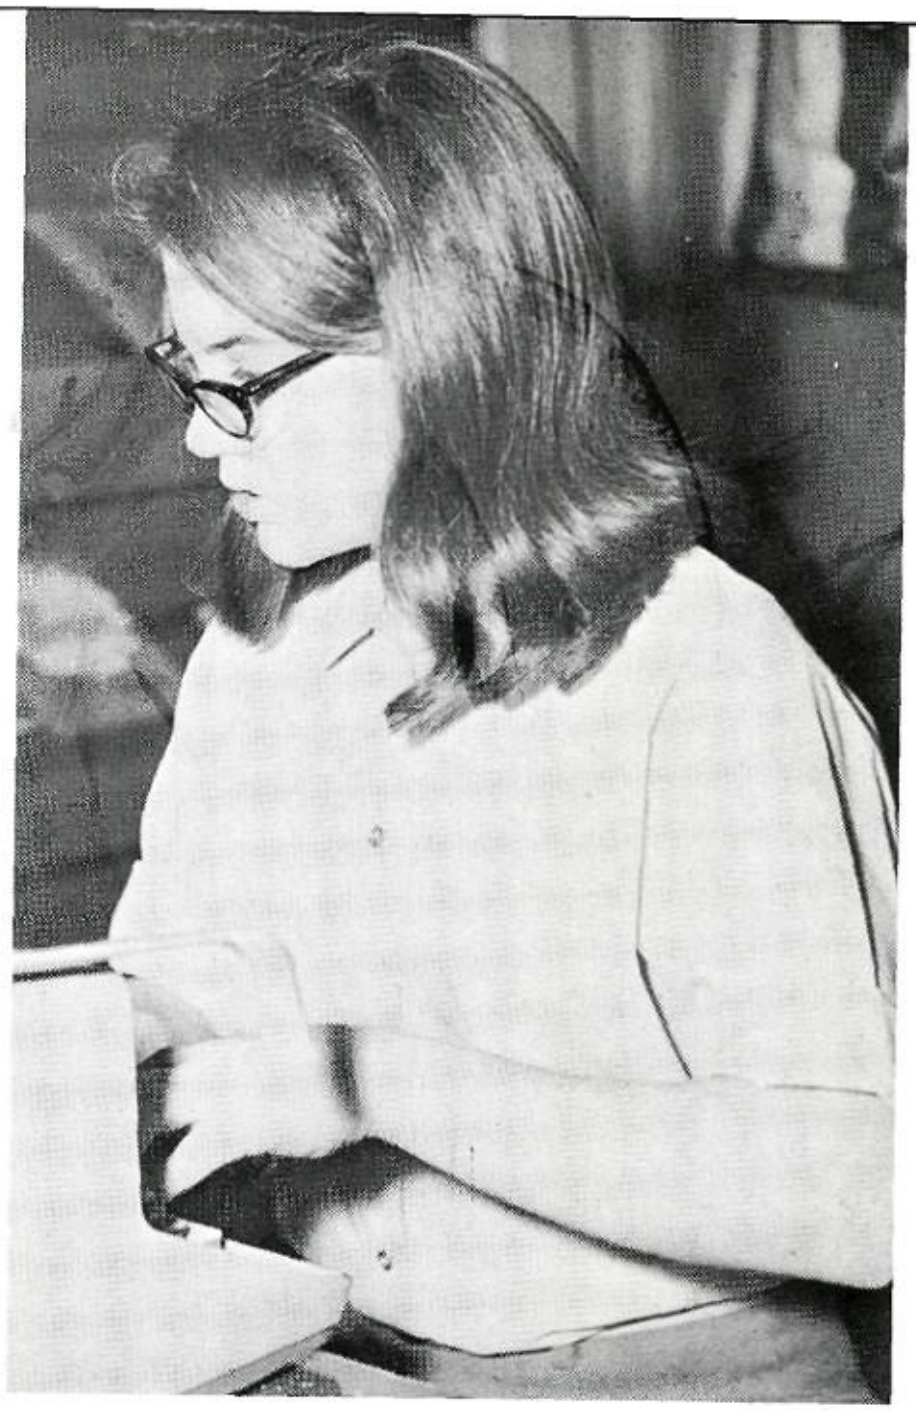
After a hard day's work is done, Mrs. Nell Van Horn puts her desk in order.



While Editor Chuck Sutton checks on a story, Fashion Editor June March bones up on the latest fashion cues.

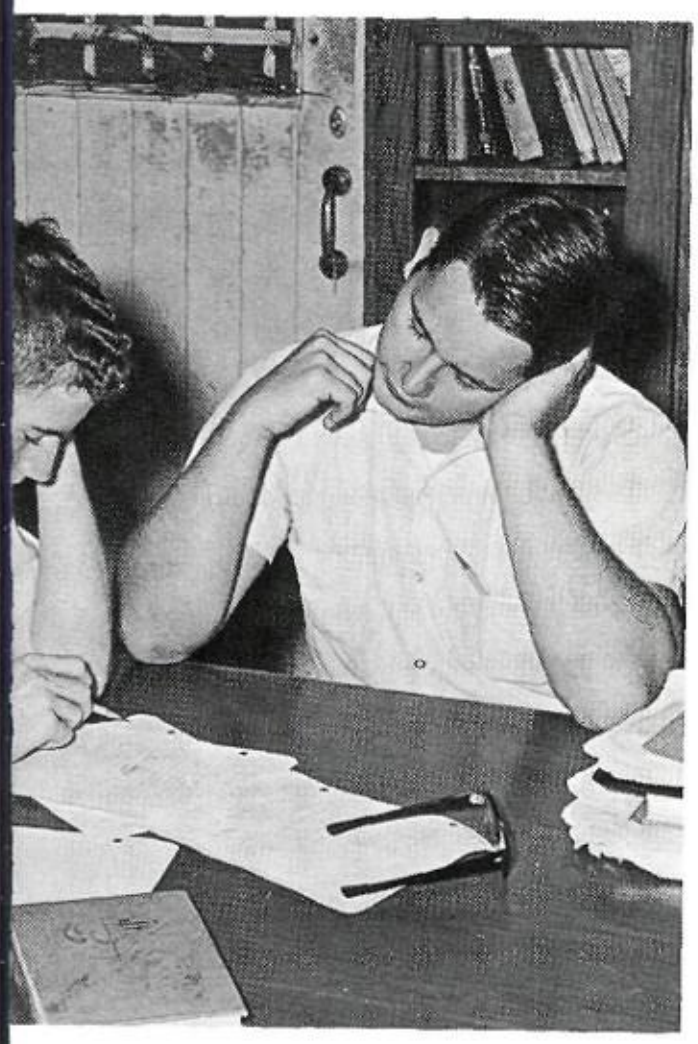
First general meeting of the Declaration 1937 is lead by Editors Chuck "Bear" Sutton, Ronnie "Dancer" Walker, and Exchange Editor Anna Rodriguez.



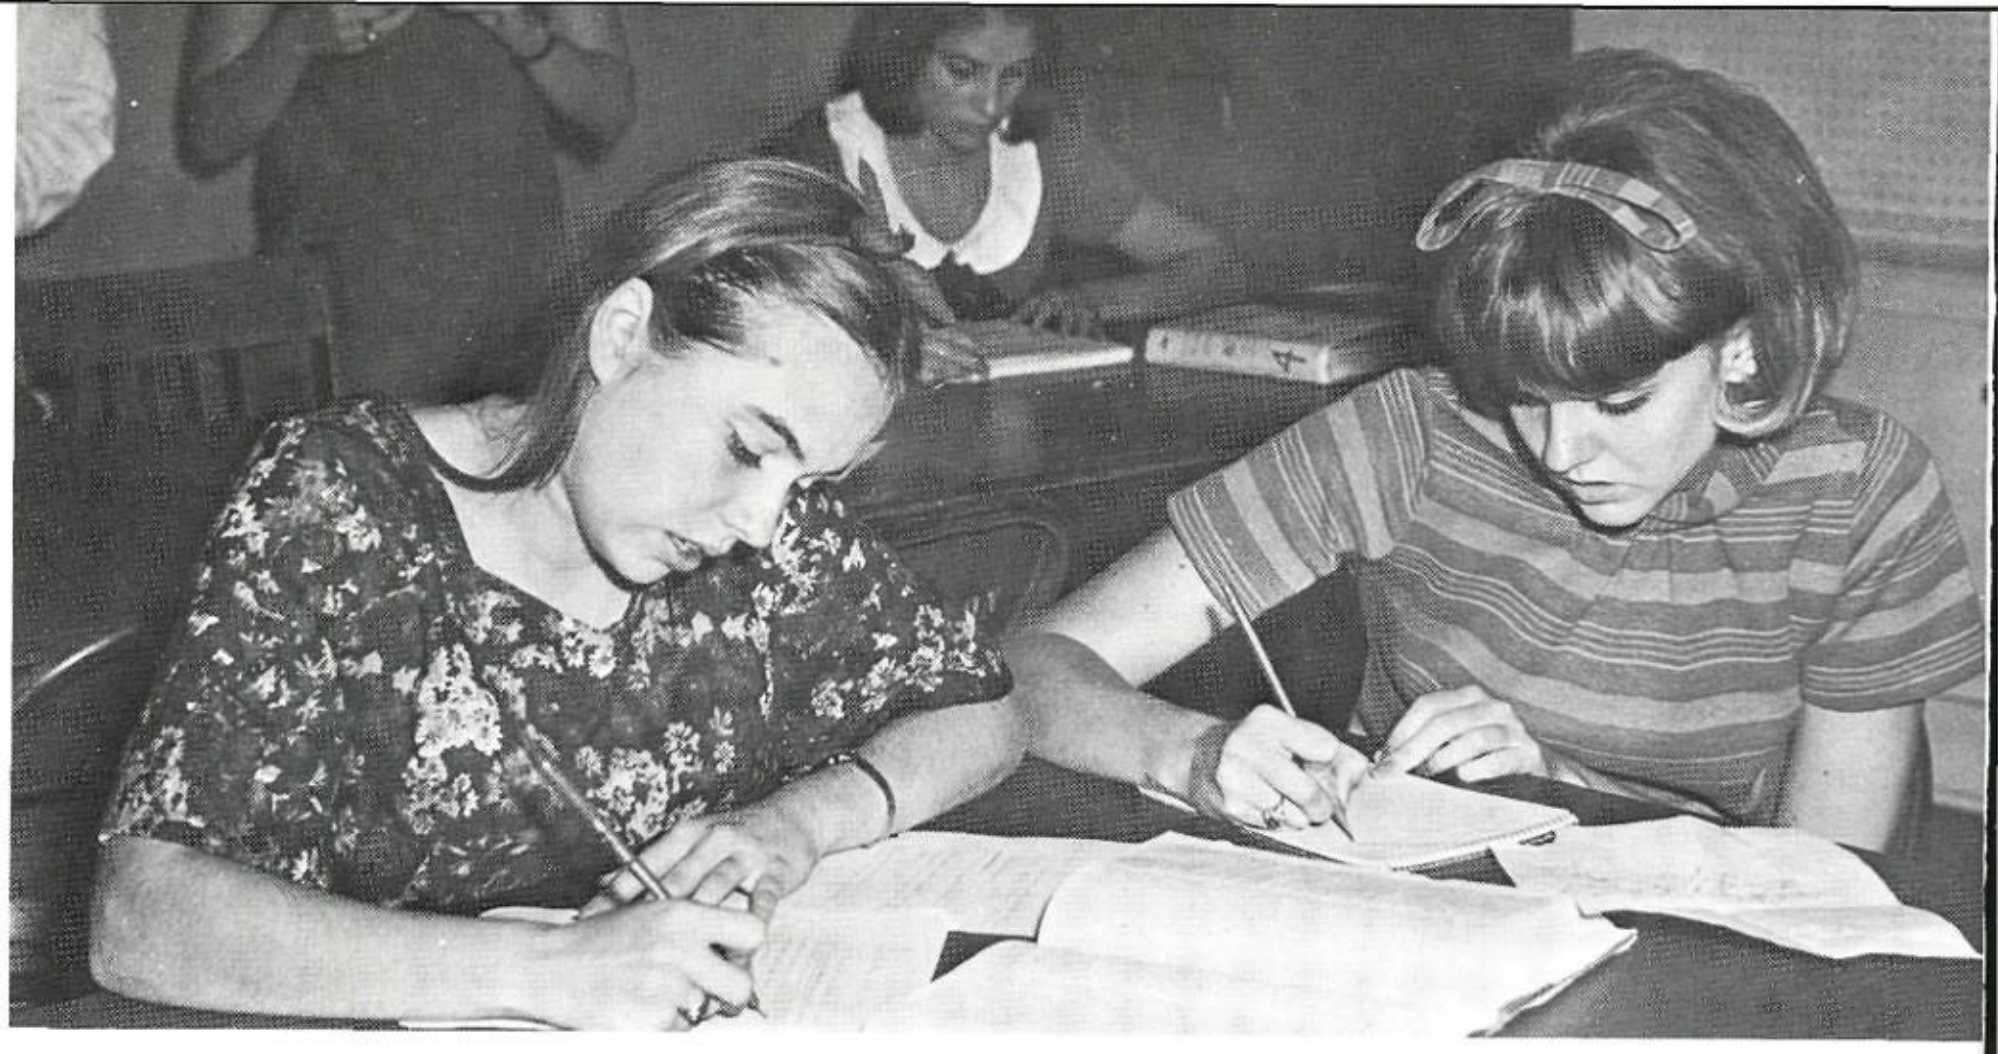


Getting out a newspaper on time requires the busy fingers of Clubs Editor Nan McCraven.

Two heads are better than one when trying to solve a business problem, as Business Manager Greg Reidel and Larry Dyman well know.



Before boarding the bus to the THSPA Conference, Jose Centeno hungrily eyes the cake being passed from Della Johnson to Gene Williams while Martin Basaldua hands him some soft drinks.



Writing articles for the next issue of the Declaration typifies a normal publications class period for Linda Rhodes and Karen Wilson.

During the staff Christmas party, Cathy Carvel temporarily lays aside her duties as Editor of the Monticello in favor of fun.

Using the enlarging machine poses no problem for Photography Editor David Strawn.

Staffers Work and Relax Together

With the room decorated for the holiday season, Declaration and Monticello staffers gather for an mpromptu portrait.

Clubs Co-Editor Lilyan Wong finds it necessary to pull mugs as the deadline for her pages looms closer.

Deciding to take it easy for a while, Marvin Rotstein and Jack Weiss watch the World Series on a elevision in the Declaration room.

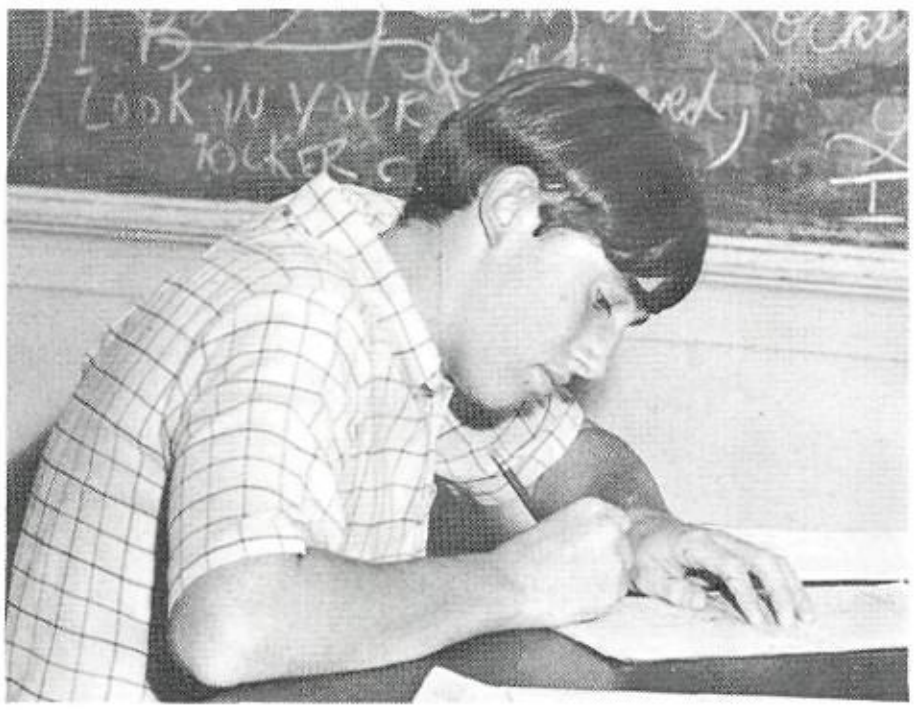
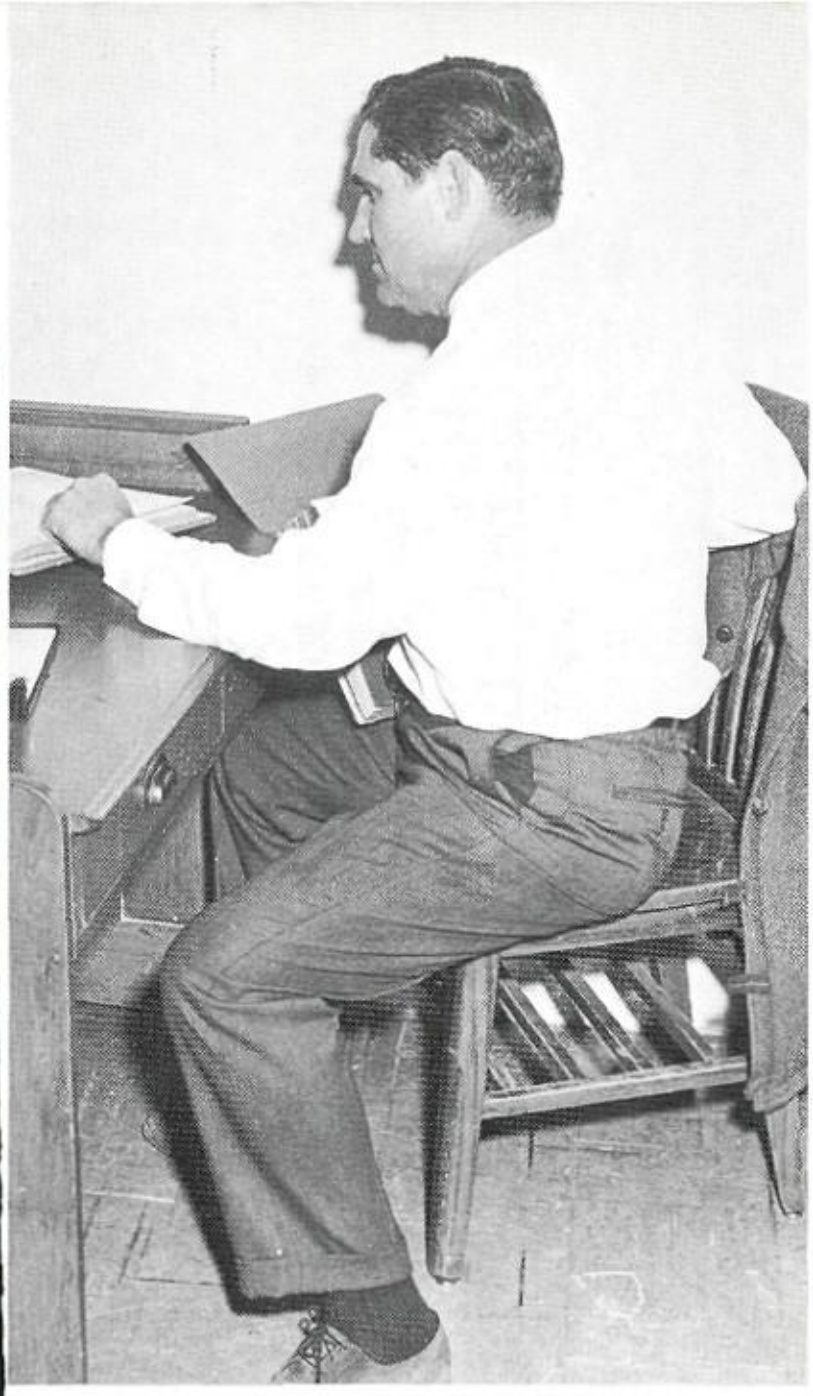
Cropping pictures and proportioning them accurately is vital to a good year book as Sports Editor Jack Weiss well knows.

Each page in this yearbook was the product of dedicated staffers: section editors, section staffers, Editor-in-Chief Cathy Carvel, and sponsor Mr. Maurice Turner. Layout designs and copy ideas tested each person's ingenuity and creativity. Every school day afternoon, and on Saturdays and holidays, too, Monticello staffers utilized the best techniques of yearbook journalism to produce the best annual possible. By March, all the pages had been submitted to the publisher. By May, the finished products had been distributed, and the annual Publications Banquet had announced the new editors for the upcoming year. But this annual would not have been possible without the business staff who handled the fall sale of yearbooks with professional efficiency, nor would it have been possible without the photographers who sacrificed long hours, trekked all over town, and attended school functions both large and small to record the events of this school year in this school annual.



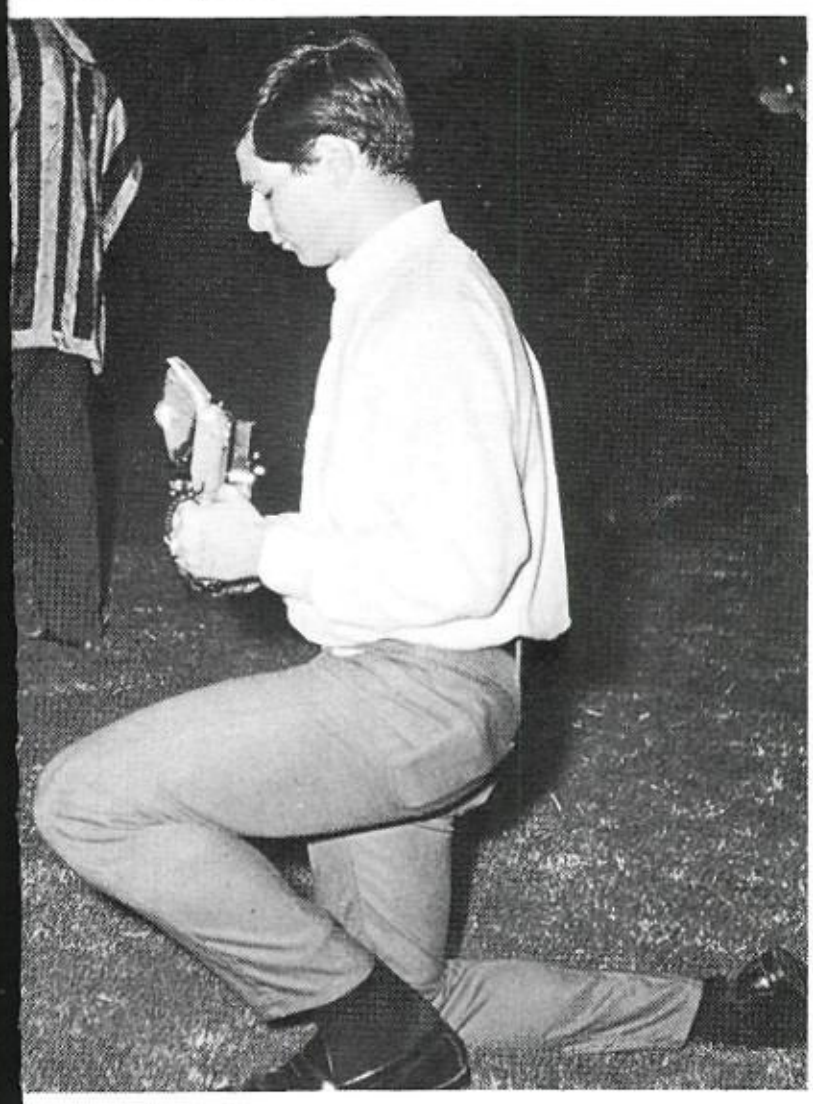
Working hard to meet his deadline keeps Royal Payne busy.

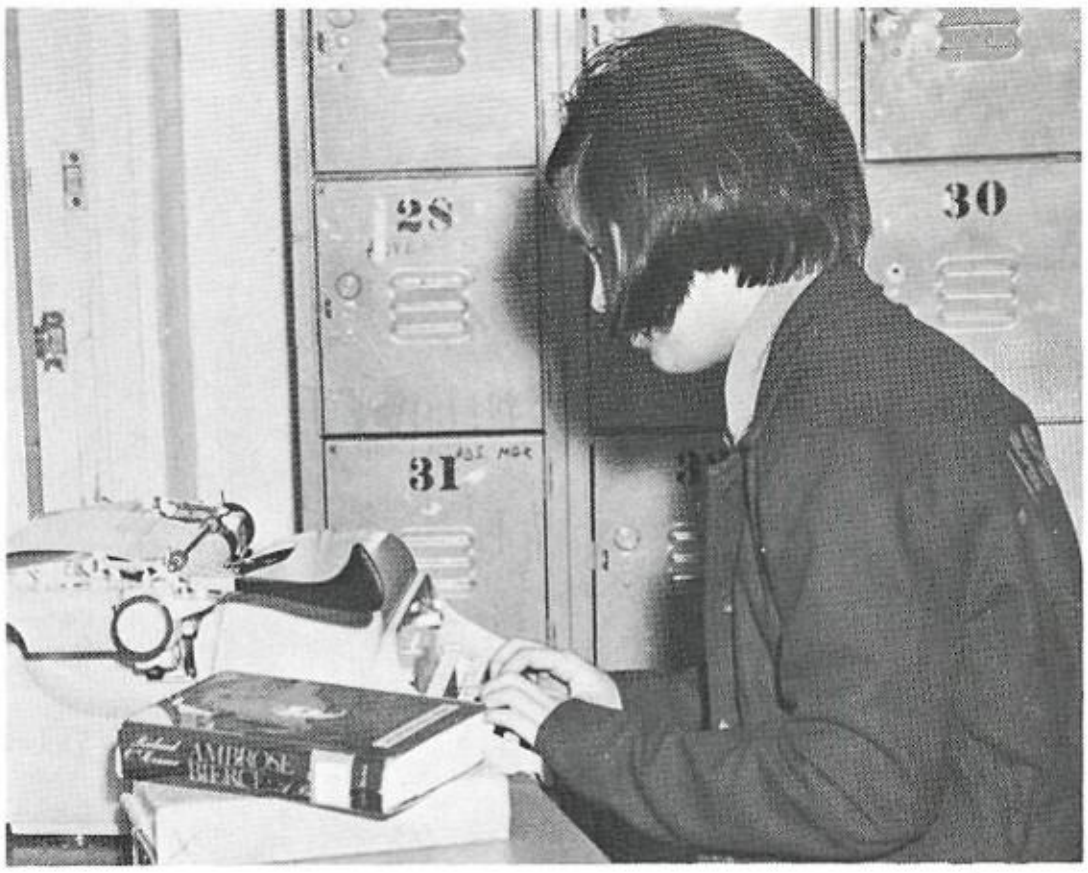
Even with lots of work coming up, Layout Editor I. B. Mackey takes tim out to assist Classes Editor Sally Sanders in the latest dance steps.



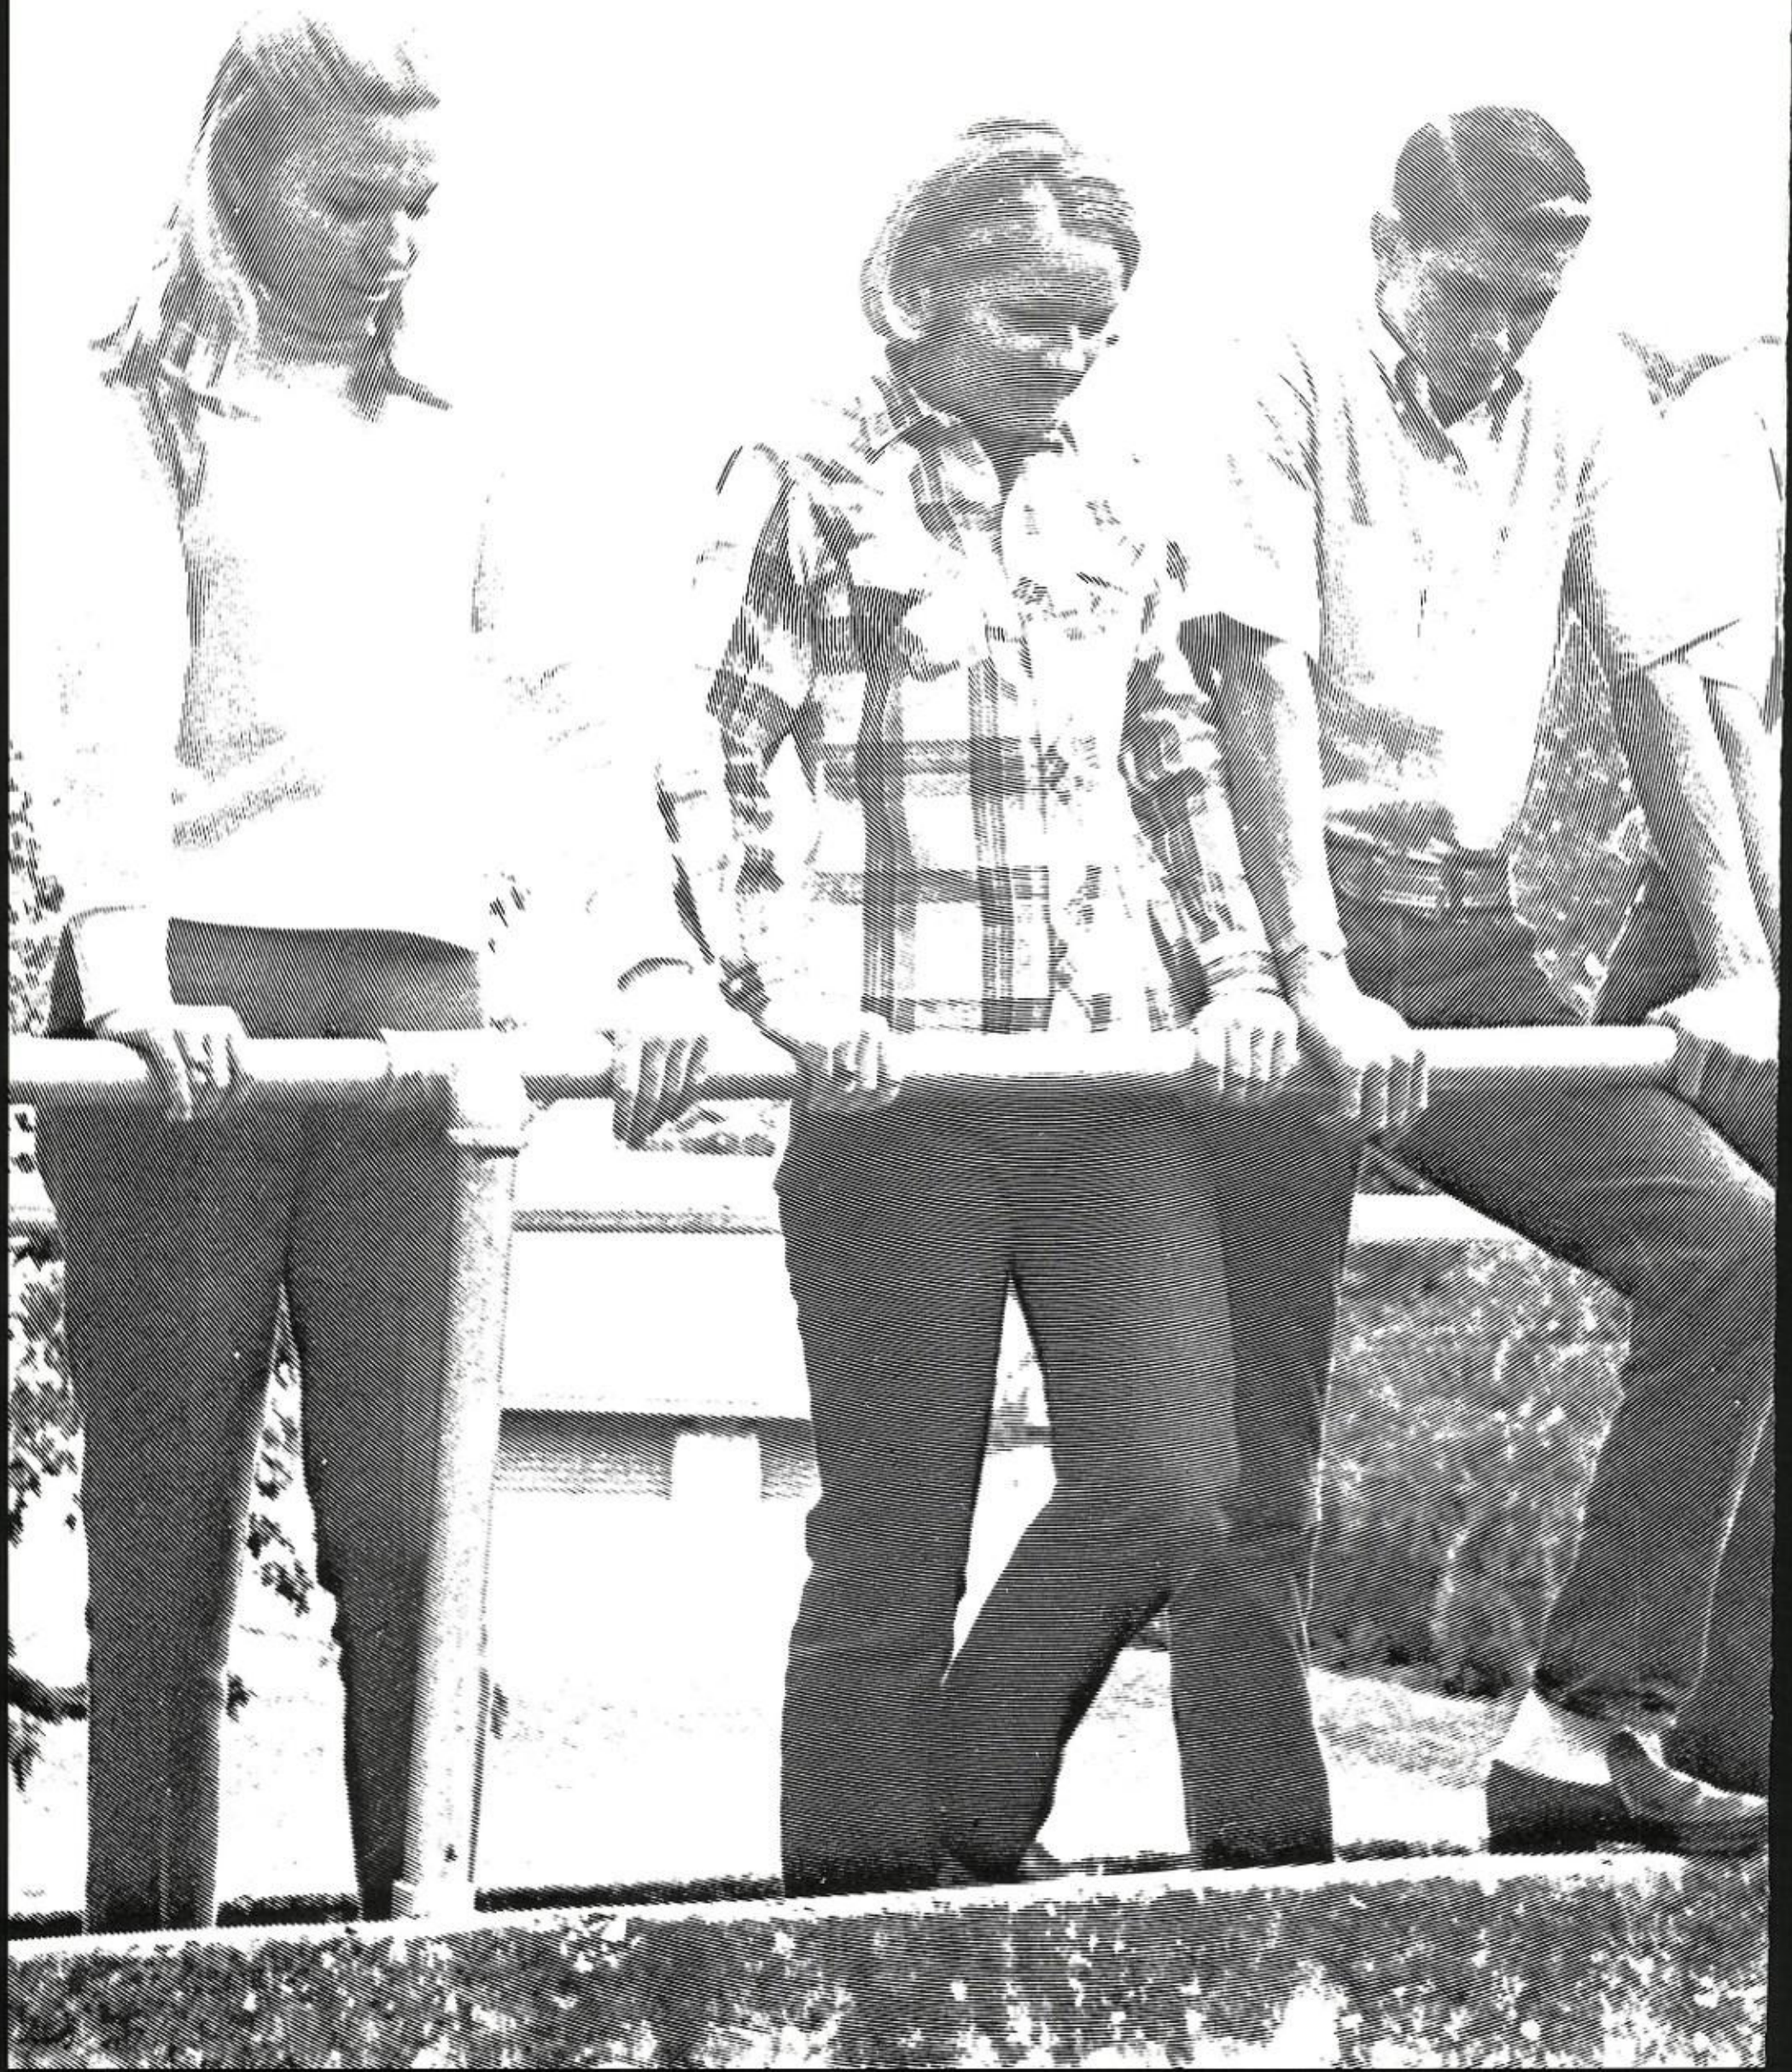
Hard at work, as usual, Mr. Maurice Turner proves his worth and willingness to work as new sponsor of the Monticello.

With a knee on the sideline turf, photographer Marvin Rotstein readies his camera to capture the color and excitement of a gridiron clash.





Despite their own heavy workloads, editors always find time to help, whether it be with mugs, layout, or copy.



Administration and Classes

From universities and colleges from every part of the country came a confluence of educators and administrators whose gigantic job was the education of some three thousand students. With imagination and enthusiasm, they sought to root our ignorance and supplant it with knowledge. Whether as counselor, friend, or disciplinarian, these dedicated people sacrificed time and material gains to teach us and to impress upon us the power of knowledge in today's world. Their reward lay in the realization that they had in some way influenced the lives of scores of young people. With the responsibility of training and educating this younger generation, faculty members gained a foothold in the future, for surely their influence will live as long as their students.

Into this school building came a congregation of students every weekday morning for nine months: sophomores, a little perplexed at first but quickly adjusting to high school life; juniors, at ease and familiar with the routine; seniors, busily anticipating their futures while entrusted with the responsibilities of leadership. Each class had its own activities, elections, dances, and outings. Each student took pride in the achievements of his class. But first place in the hearts of all students was our school. The result was a confluence of young adults who strengthened the traditions of our school.

Faculty Meets Challenge of Teaching

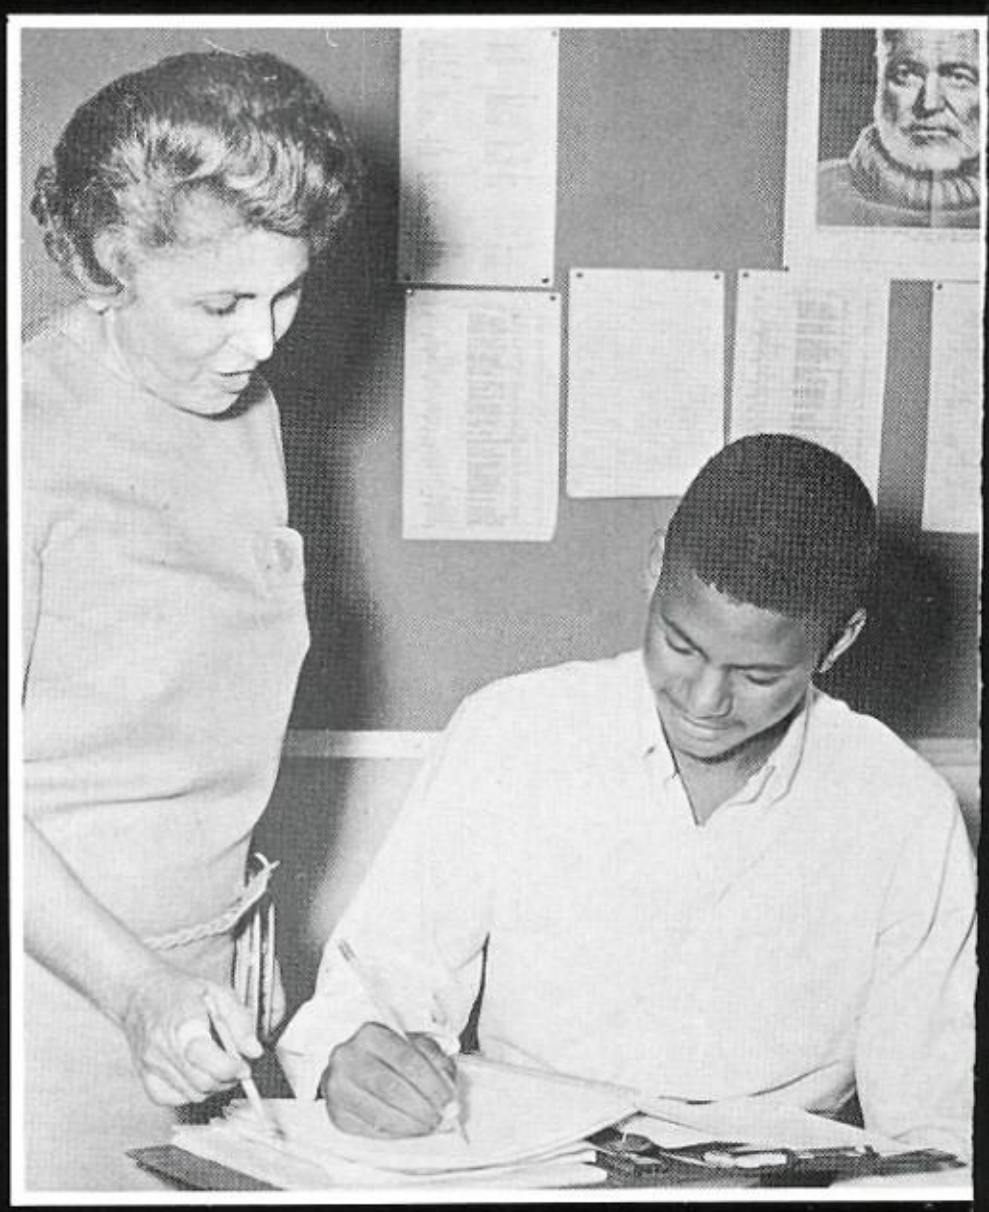
Even faculty members take time out to eat and discuss their teaching problems with other teachers.

Teachers' numerous duties require skills beyond those of any other profession. They are called on by students for advice, information, and sympathy. They are called on by the administration for consultation, special talents, and further information. In addition, they are on constant call as public relations personnel and experts on education.

To effectively teach today's high school students, teachers must demonstrate a degree of patience, awareness, and responsibility unsurpassed by any other occupation. Teaching is the most vital work in today's rapidly-changing and demanding world. It is a full-time job, and it needs concentration, good judgement, and dedication. Leadership, honesty, idealism, optimism, and a true love for the teaching profession are a few of the intangible qualities that are required of a teacher.

Despite all its demands, teaching is also one of the most rewarding of professions. The personal satisfaction gained from helping a student is a teacher's most prized memory. It gives a teacher the priceless feeling of accomplishment and pride in achievement. Finally, the teacher also receives the greatest reward of any occupation: he is making his life count.

During registration, Mr. John Hedglin signs up Susan Peery for his second period economics class.



Showing her extra care and dedication, Mrs. Julia Goerner helps I. B Mackey with a grammar problem.

Away from the crowded dance floor, Senior Class officers take a moment to collect their thoughts before their introduction at the Senior Dance.

Seniors Climax High School Careers

Beginning with the outing in October and ending with graduation in May, a busy fun-filled year brought members of the Class of 1968 to the end of their high school careers. First, on a warm October day they invaded College Park in San Marcos for the Senior Outing and dance featuring the "Strawberry Alphabet." To signal the start of the new year, seniors got together on January 19 at the Sheraton Motor Inn for the Senior Dance where couples danced to the beat of the "Infinite Staircase." John Patrick's three act comedy "The Curious Savage" was this year's Senior Play. Presented in three performances, February 15 and 16, the play supplied the Senior Class with funds to buy their gift to the school. The Junior-Senior Prom highlighted the month of April. Held at Villita Assembly Hall, the Prom was given for the seniors by the Junior Class. After racking their brains for finals, seniors welcomed the arrival of May 23 and Class Day, a presentation of class happenings during the past three years. Then they dashed to Alamo Heights Swimming pool for the annual swim party, barbeque, and dance. On Friday evening, May 24, members of the Class of 1968 donned caps and gowns and gathered at Municipal Auditorium for commencement exercises, the climax of a year filled with work, fun, and countless memories.

Striving to keep his balance after catching the pigskin, Gordon Kuenemann seems surprised to discover that his date could throw a football so hard.

Pondering the days when they will reign as supreme seniors, Junior Class officers look over the spacious campus with thoughts for an active year.

Juniors Look Forward to Seniorship

Active was the word for this year's Junior Class. As early as November they began the year with their annual outing. Held at Landa Park on a cool Saturday afternoon, the outing was filled with many activities ranging from a powder-puff football game to a dance later in the evening. Next on the agenda was the annual class meeting. Members of the Class of '69 gathered in the gym where they were entertained by fellow classmates and brought up-to-date on class projects. After Christmas vacation anxious juniors ordered their senior rings and began their long wait until late April when their rings arrived.

Peanuts proved to be a Junior favorite as the theme for the Junior Dance was "Happiness is Peanuts at the Junior Dance." Pictures of Peanuts and his gang were used in decorating the main hall. Early in March the curtain went up for the Class of '69 as they presented the comedy, "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay." Proceeds from the two performances were used in buying the class gift.

March was significant to the juniors for another reason, the election of Senior Class officers. Though the elections caused much excitement the high point of the year for all juniors was the Junior-Senior Prom. Held April 6 at La Villita and given by the Junior Class for the seniors, the prom was every junior's pride and joy.

As the end of the school year drew near, juniors realized that their senior year was fast approaching, and with their officers to lead them, they began to look forward to the year ahead.

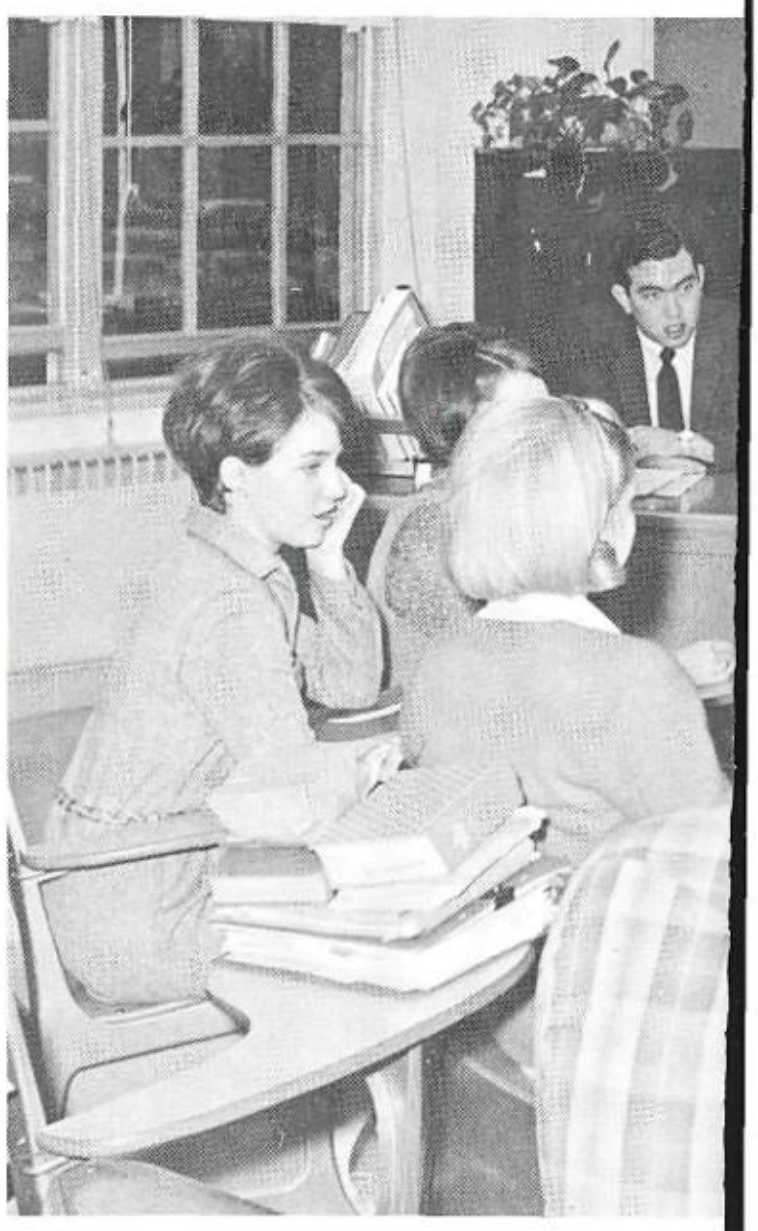
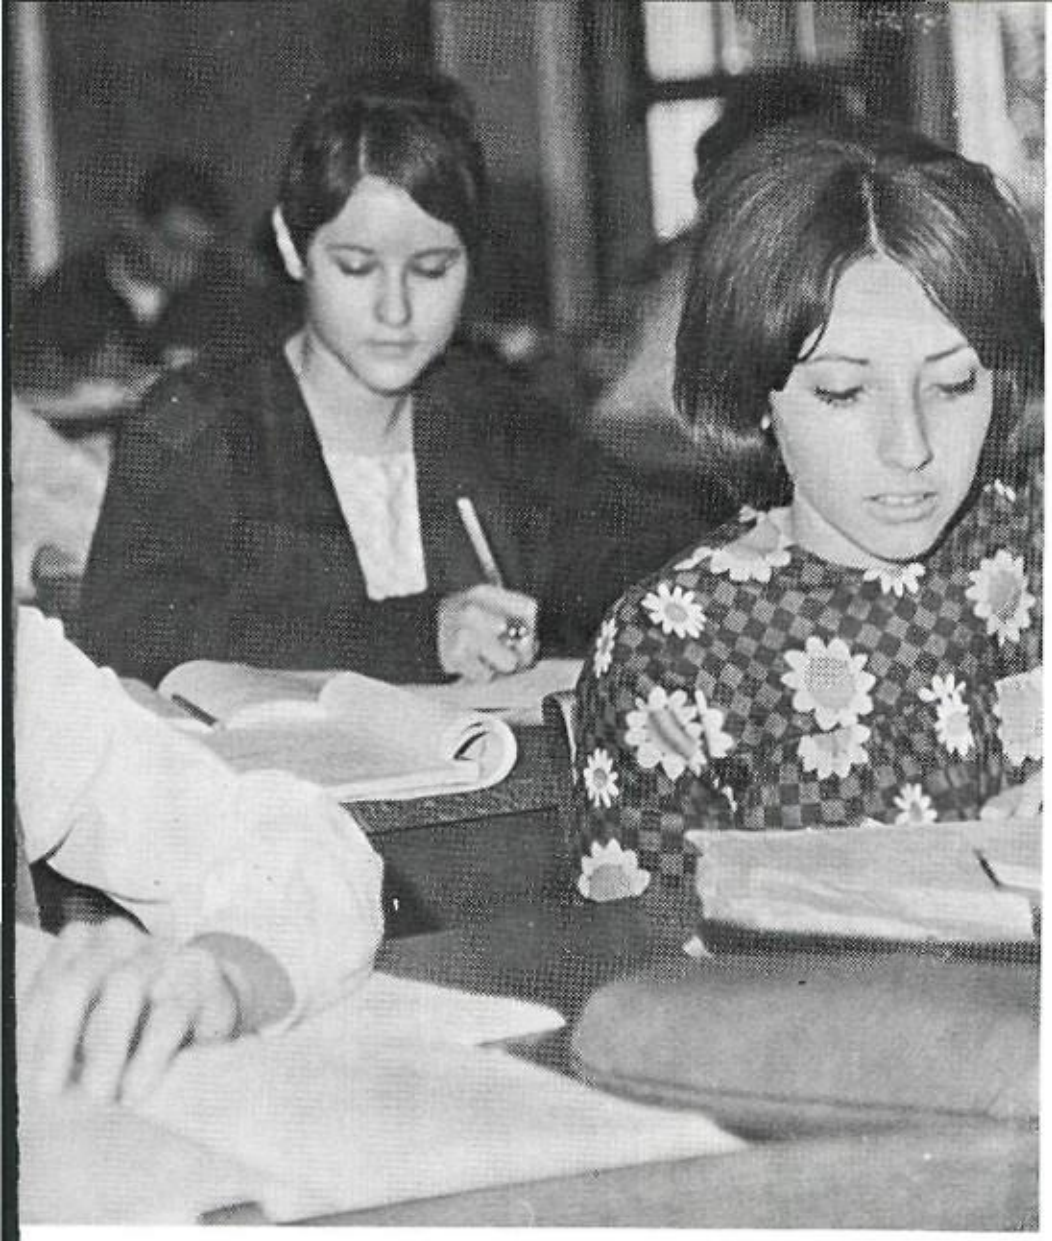
Concentration pays off for Juniors. As they watch the overhead projector, the faces of Lulu Lopez, Rosie Sanchez, and Carolina Pineda illustrate the fact.





"Pink!" Mr. Lanny Naeglin, Junior Class Sponsor, finds it hard to believe that Pat Glomski's committee thinks the feminine color would spur the Junior Class on to greatness.

A high point in the life of a junior is ordering his senior ring and looking forward to the day he will be a senior.

Working on the Junior Class committee provides a chance for Rod Donaldson to state his views to Sarah Macow.

Juniors Cast Sails Away to Paris

Maxi-skirts and chic chapeaus transport these juniors back to the 1920's for the comedy, "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay."

Costumes for the junior class play receive a feminine touch from these twelve girls. Obviously, they know that working together makes the job more fun.

Before snuggling into their bunks, Sarah Macow and Ann Burk just have to talk over the exciting events of the day.

These smiling faces reveal the joy of being young and in Paris.

Trunks and suitcases begin piling up for Milliard Stetler, but Admiral Mike Greenberg stands ready to offer his services.

Staunch Sophs Strive to Serve

August orientation assembled a record number of sophomores for their first comprehensive look at our sprawling campus gained through excursions conducted by Student Council members. Their first glance at teachers occurred during registration, an exhausting and frustrating ordeal. After three months of adjusting to the rigors of high school life, renewing old acquaintances, and making new ones, the Class of 1970 held their elections and selected an impressive slate of officers—all worthy and capable of leading their one thousand compatriots. Other business included class meetings which dispensed testing dates and general information about social functions such as the traditional outing held under spacious skies and the annual dance conducted within the gym-tiled walls. As the year progressed, the sophomores became accustomed to the friendly gibes of upperclassmen. But what they lacked in experience, they made up in boundless enthusiasm. The Class of 1970, a thousand strong, will undoubtedly reach new milestones in myriad fields of endeavor.

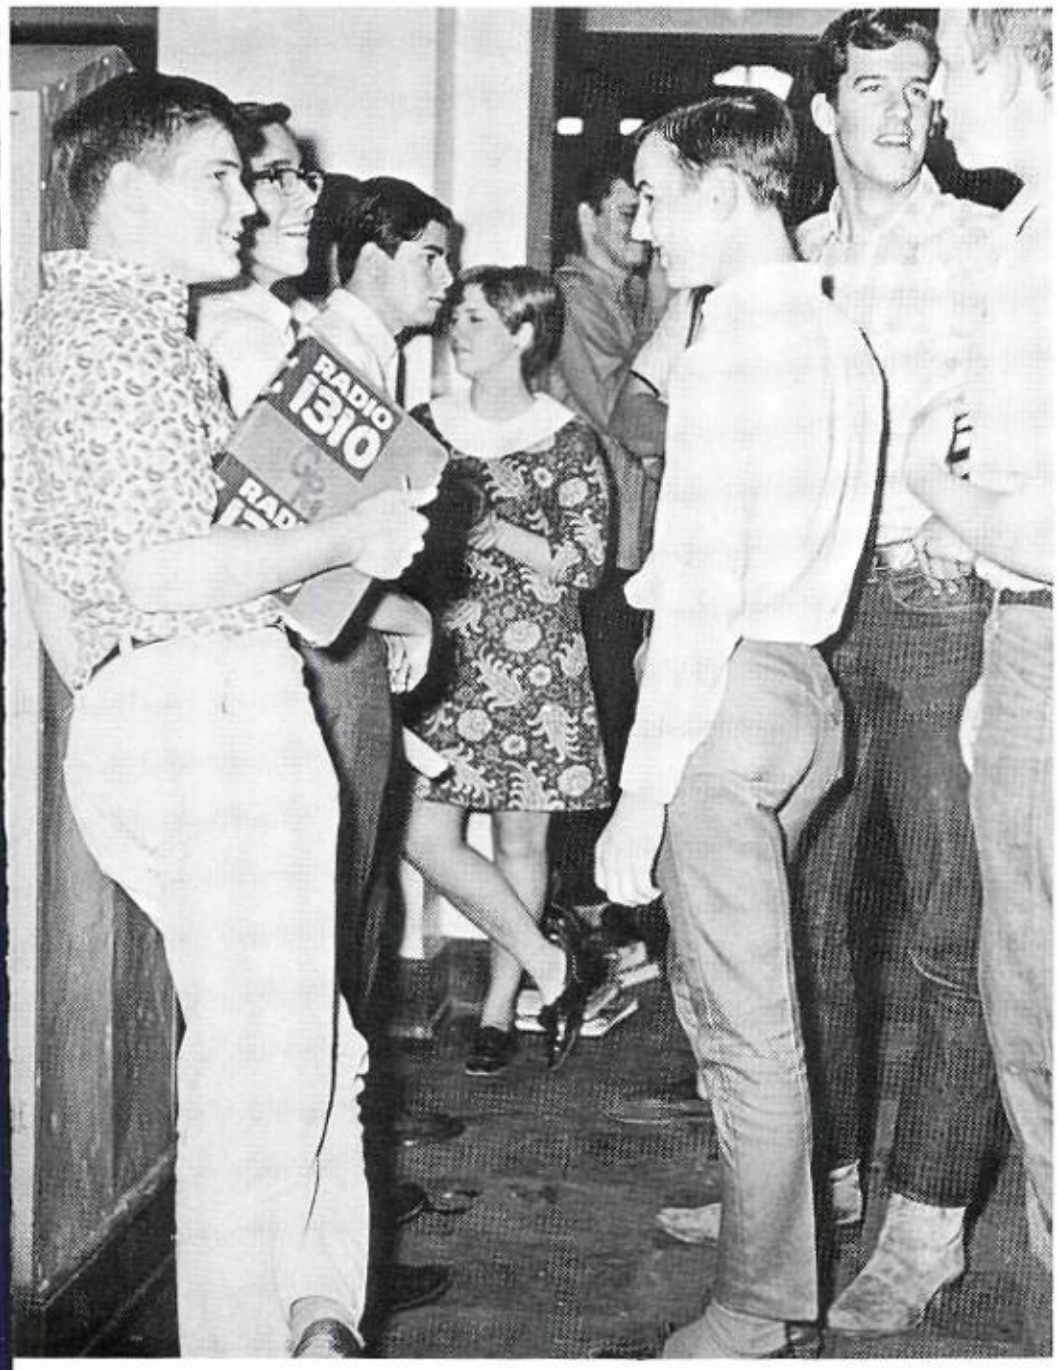
Listening to some soothing music helps sophomore Kent Porter recuperate from the strains and stresses of registration.

Gossip Traded in Halls

Having found one of the few hallways not claimed by juniors or seniors, these sophomores make use of the spot for their noontime chats.



Stopping by her locker between second and third periods, Susan Maddox asks Paulette Cornesi about the English assignment for the next day.

Administration and class sponsors stand as they are introduced to the class of 1970 at the class meeting.

Sophs Meet, Plan Year

One of the talented sophomores who entertained at the class meetings was guitar player Danny Ryan.

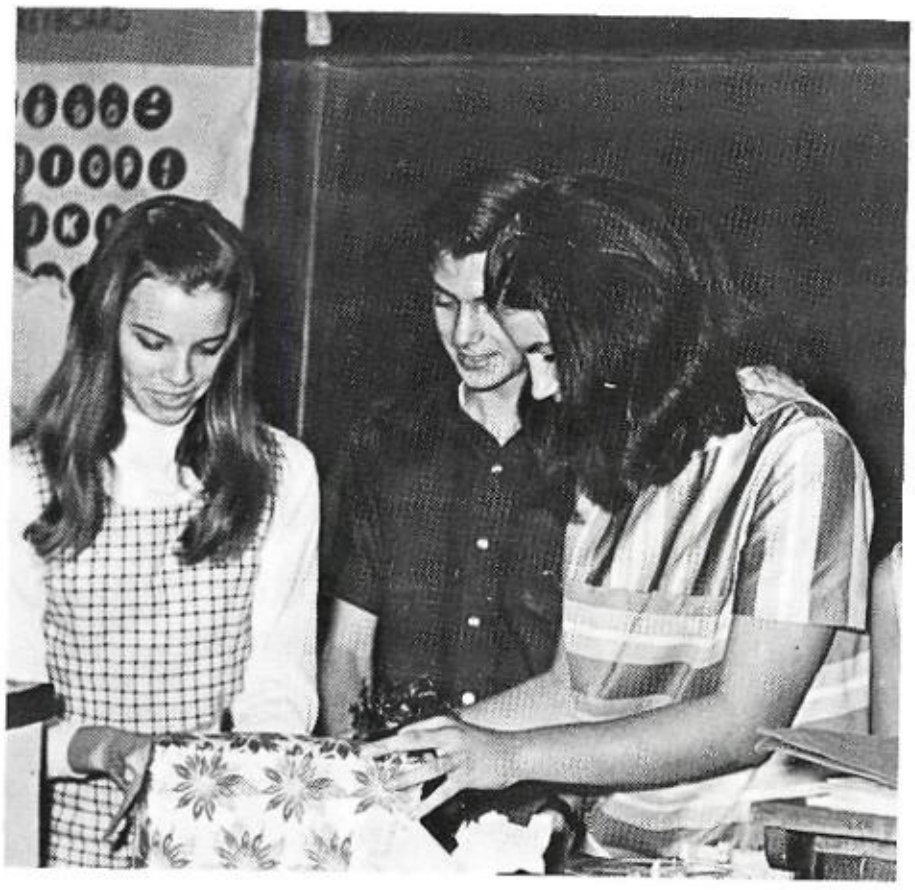
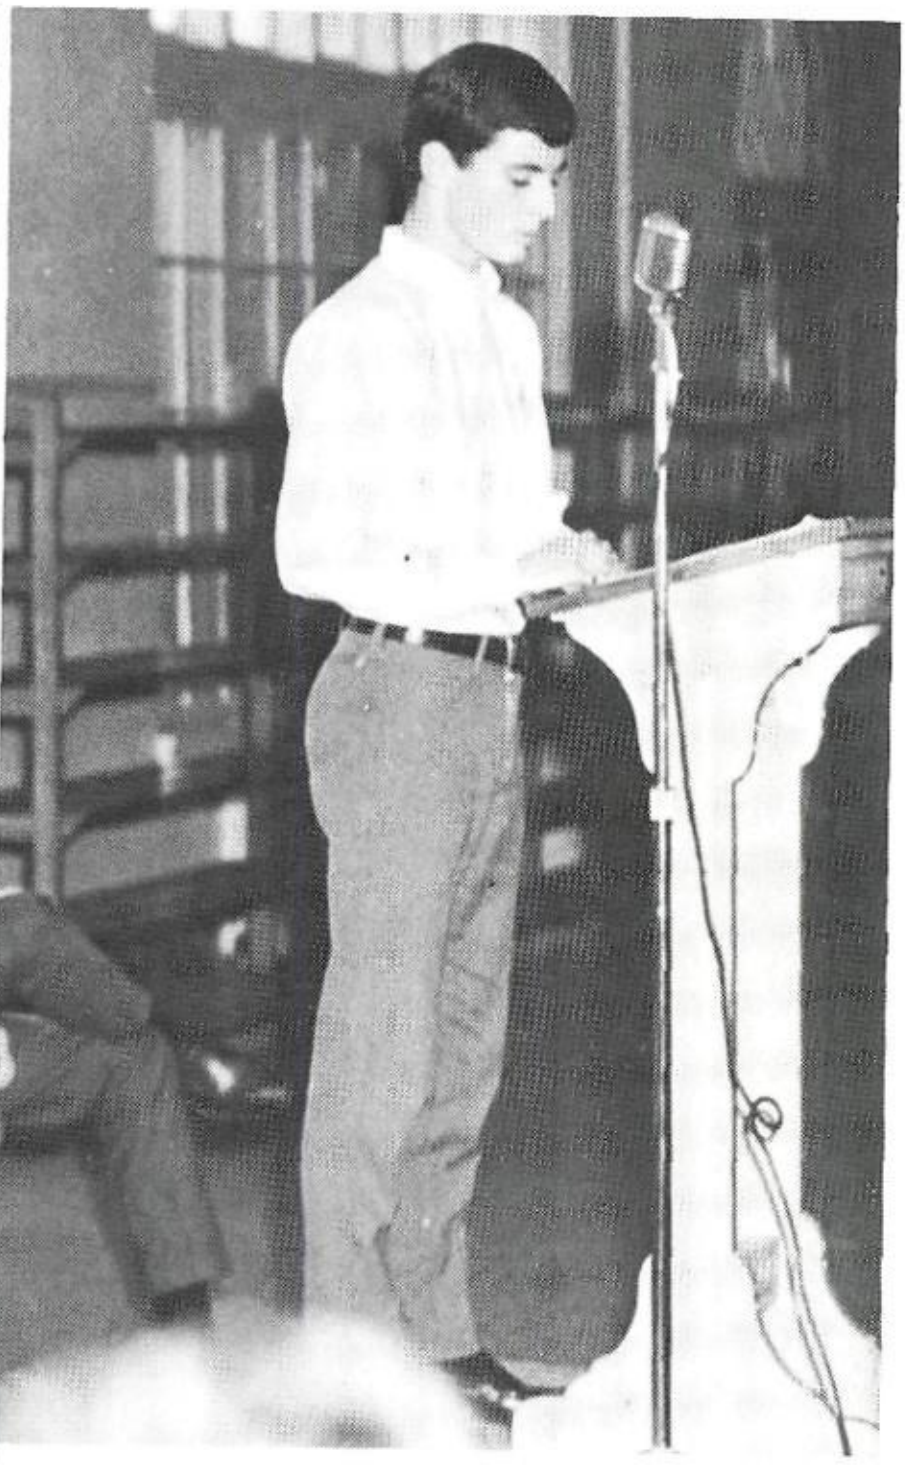
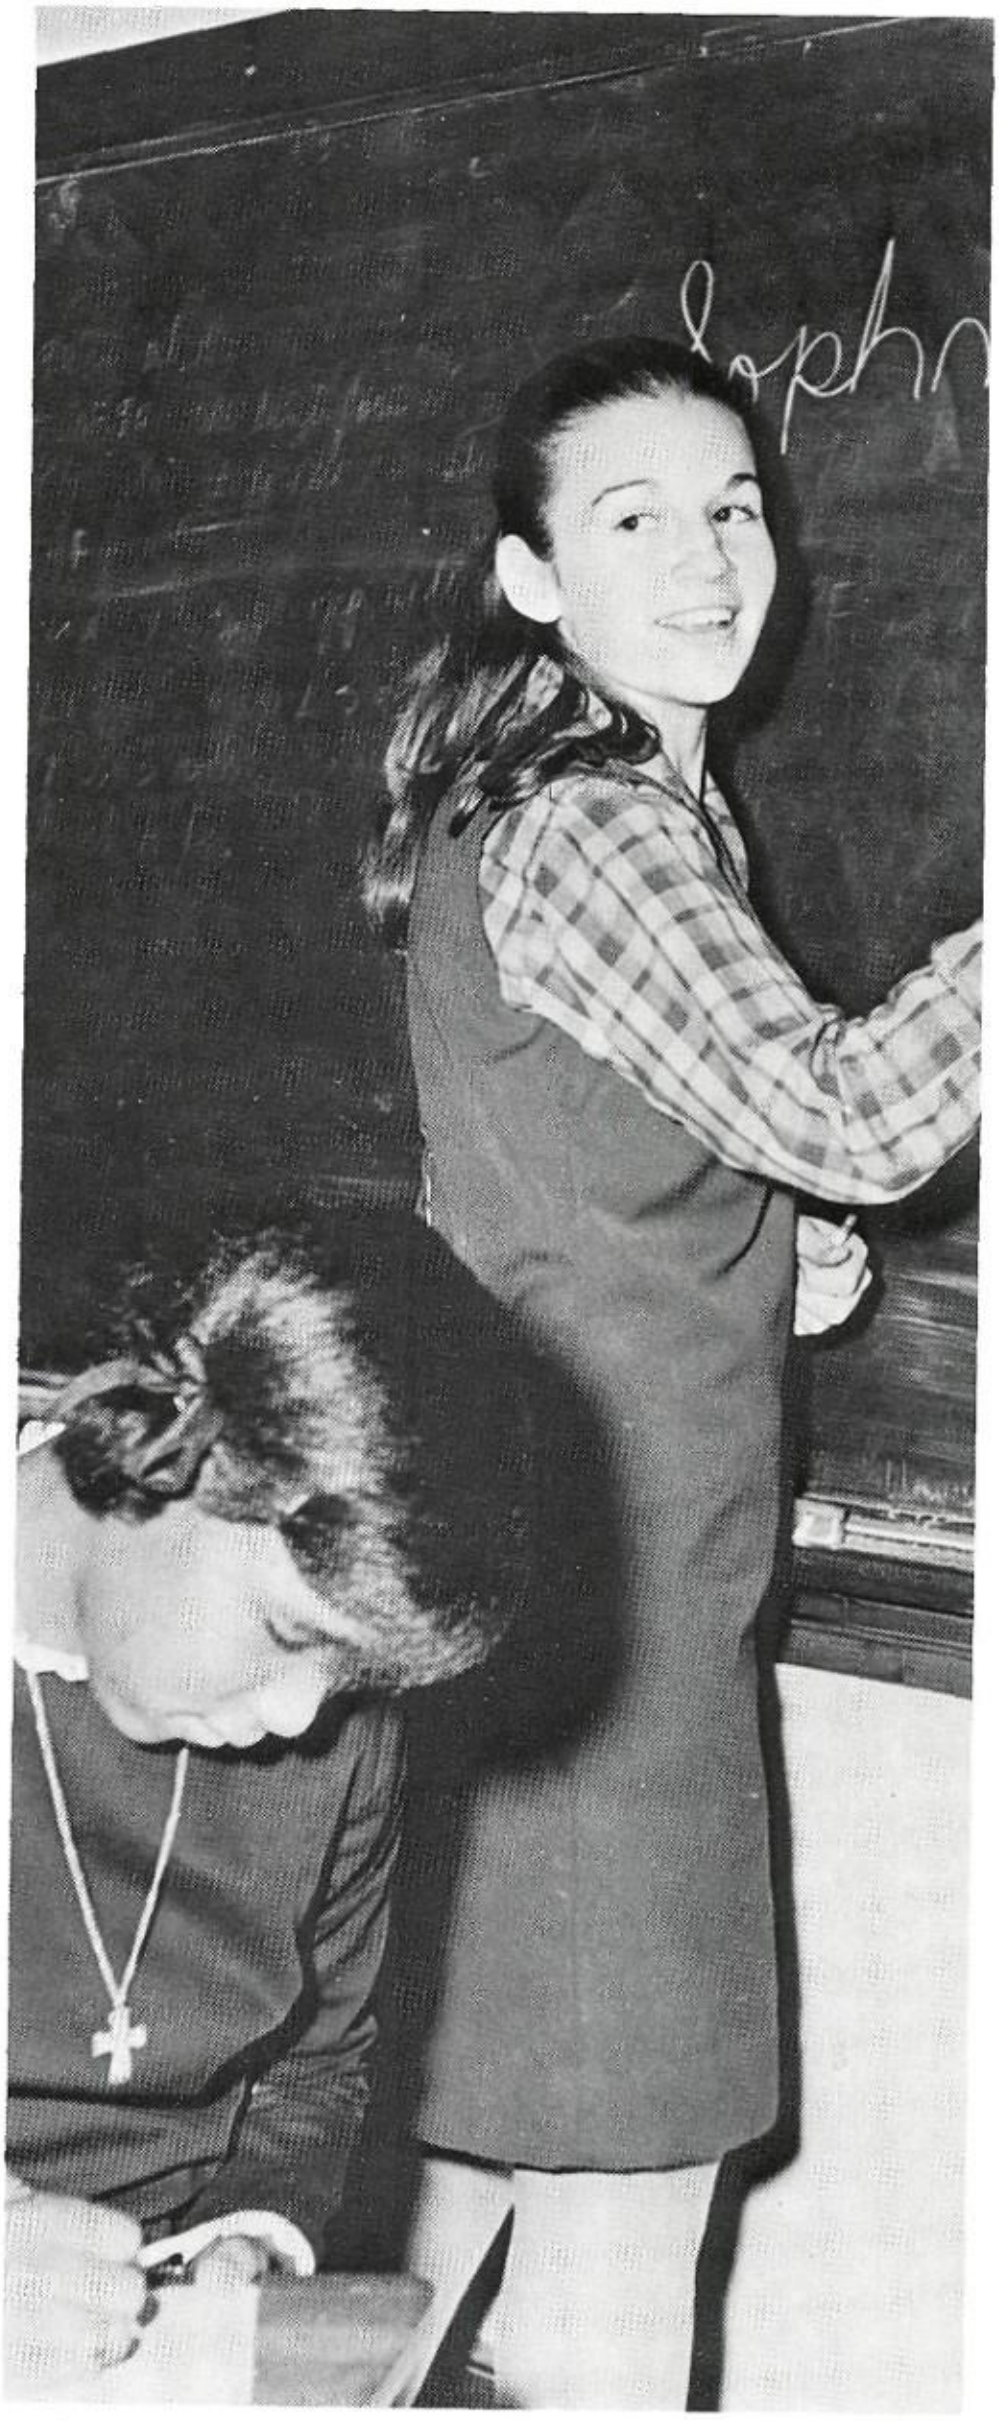
Parties, Election Crowd Year

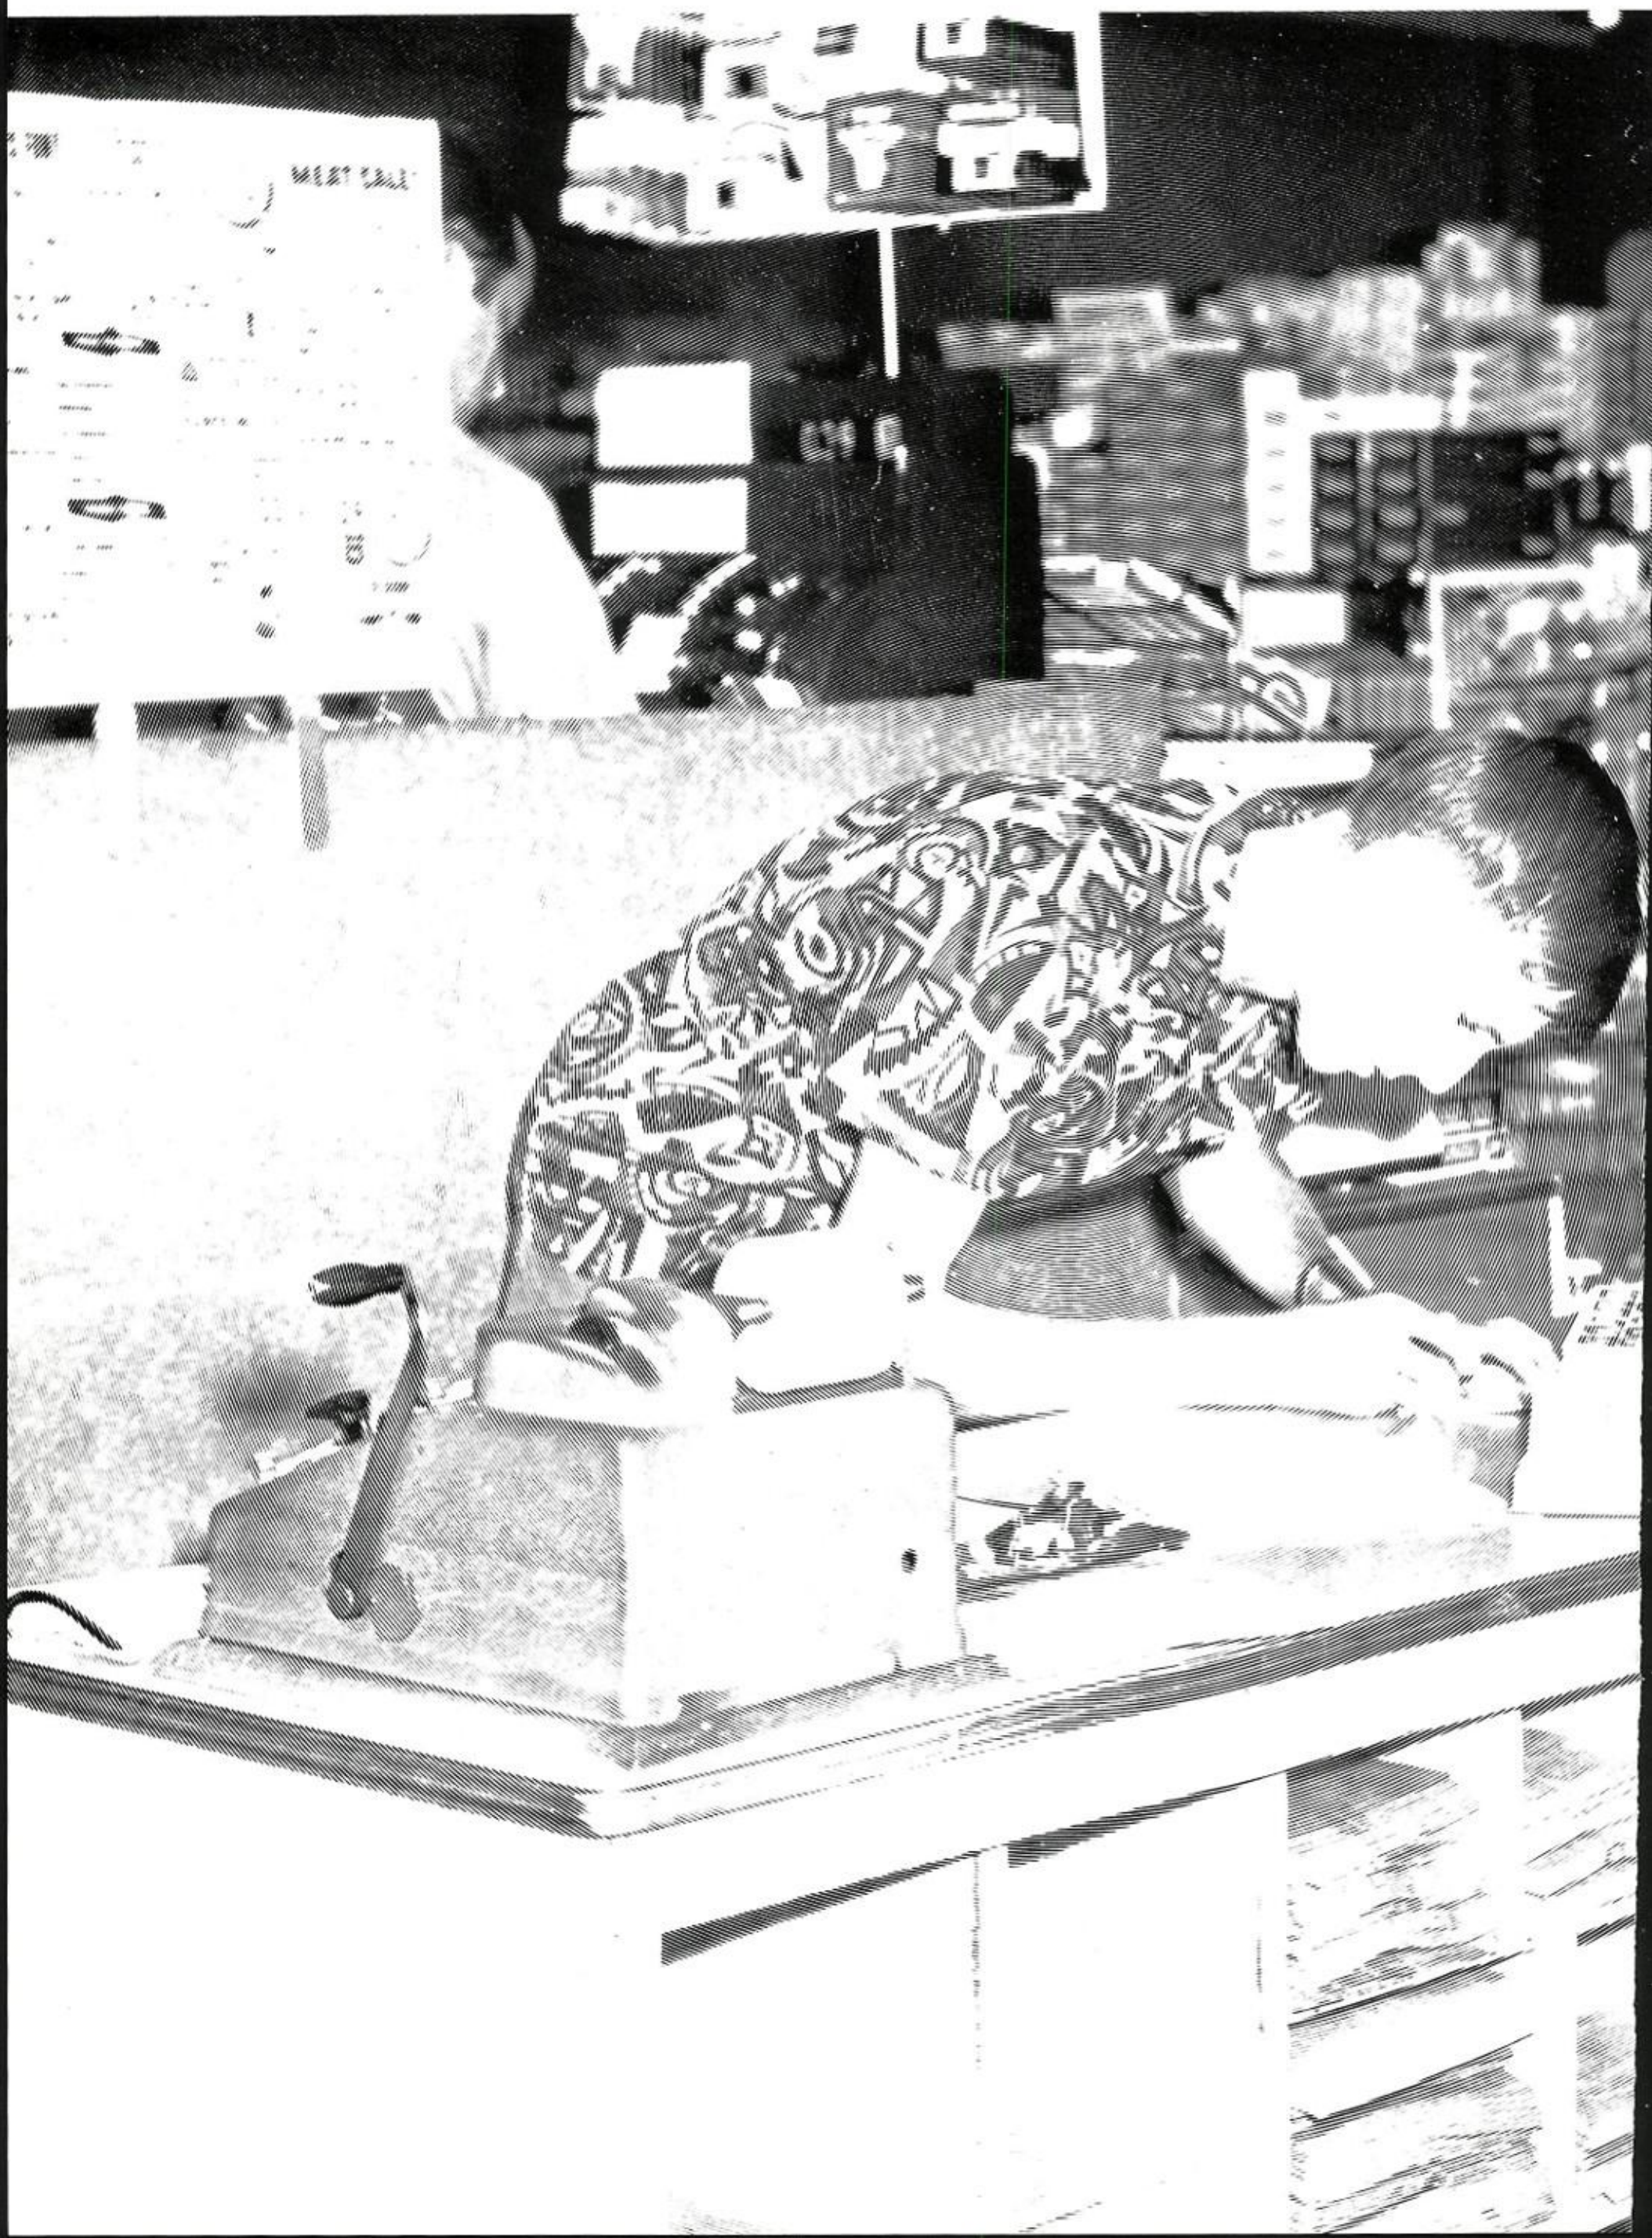
At their Christmas party, sophomores Pam Ivey, James Loyd, and Janet Adams in Mrs. Gay Sweet's advisory have fun exchanging gifts with each other.







In charge of sophomore class elections were Anna Marie Davis calling off names of nominees and Mary Bendele, writing the names on the board.



Advertising

From all over an Alamo City alive with a fiesta spirit evoked by Hemisfair came a confluence of service vendors and product merchants whose advertisements on these succeeding pages evinced their confidence in this yearbook as a selling medium. We appreciate their esteem, but most of all we appreciate their support of our school, for just as we students exhibit our loyalty in our special ways—like cheering at pep rallies and at athletic contests—so have these active businessmen evidenced their support of our school in their own special way—this concluding section of advertising.

Monticello 1968

extends its thanks to these persons and groups

Mr. Bob Chambers, principal, for his continued support.

Administration and faculty members, especially Mrs. Lou Pyka and Miss Gloria Sain, for their cooperation and understanding.

Mr. Ray Armstrong, representative from Newsfoto Publishing Company, for his valued professional guidance.

Mr. Victor Weiss, for his expert advice and work in color photography.

Mr. Bill Hoffman, for his much appreciated help with the class section.

Student Council members and Sponsor Mrs. Louise Aderhold, for encouraging yearbook sales in all the advisories.

Mrs. Mildred Schmidt, Mrs. Louise Fake, and Joske's Portrait Studio, for efficiently managing the taking of class portraits and for filling our request for extra mugs.

Mr. E. L. Goldbeck, for the use of his panoramic group pictures of the Lassos, Lariats, and Mustang Band.

Rosanna Medellin, Wilma Rios, and Dennis Maggard, for countless hours spent in typing triplicates to help us meet our deadlines.

Commercial department, especially Mrs. Edith Tunnell, Mrs. Evelyn Lowery, and their classes, for typing the general index and advisory lists, respectively.

Shirley Flesher and Shirley Schentrup, for their assistance with the class section.

San Antonio Symphony, for the use of several pictures of that outstanding musical organization.

San Antonio Express and News, for the HemisFair pictures and aerial shots of the Tower.

Advertisers, for their confidence and support of our yearbook as expressed through the purchase of advertising space.

Student Body, for their support shown throughout the sales campaign, and for their unique individual and group contributions evinced in every picture of every facet of student life shown in this yearbook.

Miss Dolores Dyer, Miss Bess Richards, and Mr. Moddie Smith, sponsors of the color groups, for their kindly cooperation and unfailing patience which made possible the full-color endsheets.

Mr. Maurice Turner, for his inestimable long hours of work and invaluable encouragement and praise that elicited the staff's best efforts and their sincere admiration.

Behind These Closed Doors Exists a Confluence of People Making Jefferson a World Within a World

For those who leave us in the midst of their youth, we cherish their love and friendship, and console our hearts knowing that a happier home awaits them.

Royal Payne

We dedicate this book to him for his invaluable contribution to this year's annual as a member of the Monticello Sports Staff that helped make this yearbook possible.

Paul—

Well, I guess we made it, didn't we? I just don't really know what to say. You know. You're such a "decent-old woman." I'm such a "decent-old adversary." Yeah! we've been in the same boat. I get to know you 3 years and I'm so glad you've been so well. I depend on you to know you've been so well. I depend on you to know you've been so well. become a little bearable after I have you've been so much of you're really helped me so much—but you're really helped me so much—but you're really helped me so much—but
